SPECIAL SENTIMENT CALENDAR

In accordance with House Rule 519 and Joint Rule 213, the following items:

Recognizing:

the Honorable John David Kennedy, of North Yarmouth, an at-large judge of the Maine District Court, on the occasion of his retirement after a distinguished career serving the people and the State of Maine. Judge Kennedy, the recipient of the 2013 Judicial Branch Career Performance Award, received his bachelor's degree from the College of the Holy Cross in 1973 and his law degree from Boston University School of Law in 1976. He also completed postgraduate training in negotiation theory and mediation at the Program on Negotiation at Harvard Law School in 1996. Judge Kennedy was an attorney in private practice in Portland and served as Executive Director of Pine Tree Legal Assistance before serving as the Revisor of Statutes, heading the office that is the Legislature's central production office for all legislative instruments and that produces and maintains the Laws of Maine. Judge Kennedy became part of the judicial branch when he served as a Case Management Officer in the Family Division of the Maine District Court and as a Regional Court Administrator. In 2002, he was appointed as a Judge of the Maine District Court and regularly sat on the West Bath District Court. He is also an adjunct faculty member at the University of Maine School of Law. We send our appreciation to Judge Kennedy for his many years of service to the State and his dedication to the law. We congratulate him on his retirement and send him our best wishes;

(HLS 703)

Presented by Representative GRAHAM of North Yarmouth. Cosponsored by Senator WOODBURY of Cumberland, Representative MORIARTY of Cumberland.

On OBJECTION of Representative GRAHAM of North Yarmouth, was REMOVED from the Special Sentiment Calendar. READ.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from North Yarmouth, Representative Graham.

Representative GRAHAM: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. It's always an honor to be able to stand and recognize someone who is your neighbor, someone whose son went to high school with my kids. But, more importantly, someone who has dedicated his entire public life to his neighbors, his friends, his state, he is the epitome of what one would say is a public servant, just like us. I have, again, known David since I moved to North Yarmouth, his wife Kathryn and his sons Andrew and Jamie. I want to point out to you where this public service has taken David. Being the Executive Director of Pine Tree Legal Assistance, he made a difference in people's lives who could not afford legal services. In the Revisor's office, he was the Revisor. From what I understand, he made a huge difference in that office, bringing in technology, helping individuals communicate, and to get their very important work done that we don't really stop and realize how important that is. We did not have a capable and strong Revisor's office, which we see today. Then to go on to be a case management officer in the Family Division of the Maine District Court. Again, how important a piece of work that is to all of us. Then as a judge. David is a good guy. I'm so happy that he is able to retire, to work on things he cares about, such as really cool Porsches and travel. With that, I will end it and thank you very much for recognizing this good, good man, Judge David Kennedy.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Bath, Representative DeChant.

Representative DeCHANT: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I wish to speak to this Sentiment. I had an opportunity to meet Judge Kennedy when I was bestowed with the honor of being on the Judiciary Committee. I was able to work with Marianne Lynch and she took me to the West Bath District Courthouse on a very, very snowy day. Judge Kennedy showed the patience of Job with my questions and trying to understand. I had never really been exposed to the third branch of government. I never had, luckily, the opportunity to intersect with it, but was confident after my visiting with him and understanding the workload and the passion and compassion that goes into doing his job as well as he did, for as long as he did, that I have an upmost respect for. I want to add my voice to the legions of others congratulating him on his retirement.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Buckfield, Representative Hayes.

Representative HAYES: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Women and Men of the House. I, too, have had the honor and the privilege of working with Judge Kennedy, although most of my work with Judge Kennedy was before he had that title. I learned much from this gentleman. He has immense respect for his fellow citizens, demonstrates incredible patience for those of us who are not quite up to his capacity, and he is immensely wise in conducting himself. It has been a privilege and he has given so much to the people of the State of Maine. It's his turn now to have some fun and I hope he enjoys his retirement. Thank you.

Subsequently, the Sentiment was PASSED and sent for concurrence.

In Memory of:

Charles John O'Leary, Jr., of Orono, retired past President of the Maine AFL-CIO. Mr. O'Leary was born in Bangor and was a 1955 graduate of John Bapst High School. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in history and government from the University of Maine. He also received a Fulbright grant to study at the American University of Beirut in Lebanon. Mr. O'Leary began his career as a high school history teacher and then left education to join the War on Poverty. He ran worker-training programs for former welfare recipients and spearheaded the Augusta-Gardiner Community Action Program, which included coordinating some of the first Head Start Programs in Maine. In 1968, Mr. O'Leary joined the labor movement, leading a statewide job-training program for the Maine AFL-CIO. In 1972, he became director of the University of Maine's Bureau of Labor Education, and, in 1978, he was elected President of the Maine AFL-CIO, a position he held until his retirement in 1998. As President, Mr. O'Leary worked tirelessly for fair wages, health benefits and safe working conditions for all workers, whether in a union or not. He was recognized during his labor career for his leadership and for his fight to keep jobs in Maine. He served on many boards and commissions, including the National Advisory Committee on Continuing Education, appointed by President Jimmy Carter, and the Board of Trustees of the University of Maine, appointed by Governor John Baldacci. We recognize his long and dedicated career in the labor movement and his commitment to workers and the State. Mr. O'Leary will be greatly missed and long remembered by his loving wife, Pamela, his loving family and his many friends whose lives he touched;

On OBJECTION of Representative TIPPING-SPITZ of Orono, was REMOVED from the Special Sentiment Calendar.

READ.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Orono, Representative Tipping-Spitz.

Representative TIPPING-SPITZ: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. From his time as a teacher to his work on the war of poverty, to his more than 20 years as a labor leader, "Chick" was a very important part of my community and the community of this state. From the first time I knocked on his door to the last time I spoke with him, not a single interaction did not end in a laugh. There is a lot I can say about him. When I first talked to him, he made sure that I knew the importance of actually getting out into the community, knocking on doors, interacting with every single member, regardless of party or political affiliation, or whether or not they intended to vote. That's something I will remember. I could speak for a long time about "Chick," but I know there are many in this chamber who worked with him long before I was born and I am sure there are many who will speak to him, so I will just say this. He will be sadly missed and I think one of the marks of a great man is knowing that after he's gone, he left a great mark on his community and on the state. Thank you.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Winterport, Representative Brooks.

Representative BROOKS: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House. I'm going to tell you a few things about "Chick" O'Leary that you may not have known. Many of you knew him as a tough negotiator. If you sat across the table from him negotiating a contract, you knew you were going to probably lose whatever that negotiation's point was. You may have known him as the history professor, you may have known him as a worker at the University of Maine, or you may have known him, like I did, as a graduate of John Bapst High School in Bangor. He was the upperclassman, as I referred to him. I knew him under totally different circumstances. I called, by the way, before I say what I'm about to say. I want those of you to know who will see the importance of his running and to me and vice versa, that I talked to his wife Pam who is a friend of mine for as long as Charlie was. Pam asked me if I was going to speak and I told her I was and she gave me the green light to discuss some things that I think very few may know about Charlie. We became friends way back, gosh, 30, 35 years ago. Even though he was an upperclassman, I really didn't know him at John Bapst. We became very close friends after that meeting and he said to me "Why don't you come to one of my parties I have at the house?" which is the house in Orono that Representative Tipping-Spitz talked about. The only problem was Charlie, with his sense of humor, only invited me back for Halloween parties and would say, "Don't bother to wear a disguise or costume." That was Charlie's sense of humor.

I first got to know the really intimate side of Charles when Governor Brennan decided to appoint a task force or a committee to draft the first alcohol and substance abuse policy for the State of Maine. That would have been in 1981 or 1982. He appointed Charles, "Chick" as he became known to me later, as the chairman of that committee and that was probably one of my very earliest introductions to the State Legislature. Right after I was appointed and you all know, at least I've mentioned it often times before, I was probably selected because, by that time, I had meager amounts but at least three years of recovery from substance abuse. My drug of choice then was alcohol. Then, and today, I am still a recovering alcoholic. So I sat in the cabinet room with the Governor, Charlie O'Leary and "Bing" Gross and about 10 others, and we were appointed to go out and visit with numbers of towns, from Presque to Machias, to Kittery, to Fort Kent and other places. We did that. We would travel as a group and we would travel by car to many of these places and, at times, Charlie, with his sense of humor, would call me five minutes before we were ready to leave to go travel to some place like Eastport or Calais, and he would say, "I can't go. I have a headache. You chair the meeting tonight." The little experience I had then with chairing meetings probably showed because some of the people that we spoke to in places like Eastport and Fort Kent approached other members of our study group and wanted to know if I was still drinking. So that's how good I ran meetings. We finally did draft, after a year of public hearings, the first substance abuse policy for the State of Maine and during all of that time, as we stayed in hotel rooms from the Swamp Fox to the Radisson down in Portland, wherever we stayed, Charlie always had his hand in pranks.

Five years later, I got a phone call one night from my friend and he was in agony. His family was breaking up. Pam, I think, threw him out that night, not sure, and he said to me "The program that we investigated, the program that we studied, please come help me. I need it." If you have ever seen someone who has lost complete control of his house, himself and his family, he was a good example of that. I mean that we talked for hours and I finally convinced him that he needed treatment in a program, so he joined that program. Now, for my friend Charlie, he called me every single night while he was there and he kept saying to me "Why are they keeping me so long? Don't they know who I am?" I said, "Yes, that's the problem. They do know who you are." I may have gotten back at some of his practical jokes, and maybe not, because once he sobered up, he showed me a whole different man, a man who made family first, a man who changed his attitude and his beliefs about society as a whole, and he became a wholesome, new husband for that family.

The only story I will impart you today is that when it was in, I'm not sure the year, '98, perhaps, when he and Pam adopted two children, even though his biological children now were growing and were up in age, he quit his job because he wanted firsthand to help them grow up, and he did that. If you talked to Charlie and you wanted to go do some things or to enjoy a poker game or a good cigar, you'd know he would say to you "Only if my grandchildren don't want me. Only if my adopted children don't need me." He was a totally different man. Had he lived, this year, he would have celebrated his 30th anniversary sober. When I talked to Pam the other night, we reminisced about a few things and she said, "Please talk, please tell the people that" because probably nowhere would that story have come out, and she said, "That was the Charlie that died and I buried, the love of my life." With her humor, she got the last joke back, because she said to me "Charlie is right here in my house, not in the same form that he was just a few weeks ago. But now I have the advantage because every night when I go to bed, I know where he is, on the mantelpiece." That's Pam and that's her love. Now, I don't believe any of his family are here, but I've sent along, of course, my condolences to the family and if they ever have a Halloween party in remembrance of Charlie O'Leary, I want to be there. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Saco, Representative Hobbins.

Representative HOBBS: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, Men and Women of the House. As you probably know, I've been involved in the political process for a long time and I want to share with you some of the experiences from the day I met Charlie "Chick" O'Leary, who he was called by many, and that was in 1971. He was working, at the time, for the AFL-CIO doing outreach work, labor education work, and he was considering going to work as the Director of the Bureau of Labor Relations. I had just transferred to the University of Maine, and this was October of '71, and I was introduced by one of my political science professors who was a very close friend of his. In the talking about where I came from, I mentioned I went to Saint Michael's College. Lo and behold, Charlie O'Leary spent two years at Saint Michael's College and transferred to the University of Maine at Orono, just like I did. So our friendship caught on very quickly and when Charlie took the directorship, he brought it, he elevated it to an incredible level of university. The University of Maine, when he was the director, Bureau of Labor Relations was nationally known and Charlie was a nationally known leader because of his unique abilities as an educator, as a social worker background because of the war on poverty during the Johnson Administration. Then, when he took the job, he also had experiences that many of us probably never had.

One of the other interesting parts about Charlie O'Leary, he was also a scholar, not the typical stereotype you would have, I suppose, if you heard politically about labor leaders. But Charlie O'Leary was a Fulbright Scholar that studied at American University in Beirut. I heard that from my professor friend, but it came to reality in 1982. I went a legislative NCSL conference and Charlie was there on a labor education panel and he introduced me to someone from the Chicago area that was a student of his, basically a student colleague of his, when he was in Beirut. So the person told me "Has Charlie told you that he knew Yasser Arafat?" I said, "No, I didn't know that." He said, "Well, believe it or not, we were all in the same league in school at the same time." Not many people know that because, quite frankly, knowing "Chick," as many of you do, he didn't really tell a lot of people because, obviously, Mr. Arafat was not one of the more popular people.

Charlie O'Leary became the leader and president of the Maine AFL-CIO in 1978. Again, he took all of his skills and brought the AFL-CIO to a different level. He was bipartisan when it came to talking about legislative leaders, when it came to social justice issues, when it came to issues involving the working people, the economy of the State of Maine and trying to rise everyone and raise everyone up to new level. He was respected by leaders in both parties at that time. He has a long and dedicated career, he did, with the labor movement and also was a devout supporter of the University of Maine System, having, in fact, served on the Board of Trustees of the University of Maine.

The other personal thing I should tell you is that, at one point in my life, I now have three children – 29, 26, and 20. Two of my children are adopted and, at the time, the idea of being childless, I knew that Charlie and Pam had adopted two of their children and so I went to Charlie and Charlie spent some time with me talking about adoption, along with Pam and my wife Donna. I can tell you, he's the type of person that he was there for all of the individuals, whoever reached out to him, and I reached out in a moment of loneliness and sadness and that's the type of person "Chick" O'Leary was. So I have to tell you that part of my life was really enriched because of all the issues and all the battles from the IP strike in 1987, when he, on one hand, had Dick Gephardt and, on the other hand, had the president of the AFL-CIO nationally for the paper workers. He is the type of person that will be missed sorely in the State of Maine. He is a true believer in raising people up from below and a true believer in the people of the State of Maine, and he will be sorely missed by the people of Maine, especially by his friends, including myself. Thank you.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Pittsfield, Representative Short.

Representative SHORT: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I joined the labor movement myself in 1975. I have a long history with Charlie O'Leary. I think the best thing, of all the things I've heard said about Charlie, which I believe are all to be true, all good things, the thing that I remember the most and I think the best way to describe him is a friend. My definition of a friend is somebody that is there with you through good times and bad. When Charlie first became the president of the AFL-CIO, the working men and women in the State of Maine, along with business, were celebrating some very good times. Charlie was always there to help the company, as well as the workers, celebrate in their expansion, whether it be the expansion of a paper mill and paper machines or a factory or whatever the case may be. In the '80s, things changed considerably and we went through some very tough times, which included plant closings and layoffs, and Charlie was always there ready, willing and able to lend a helping hand to those workers that needed help. Charlie, it never made any difference, whether you were an organized worker or not. He was there to help you in any way he could. He was a great spokesman for the working men and women of Maine, and a great leader for the working men and women of Maine. Whenever I think of great leaders for the workers of Maine, Charlie O'Leary's face will always come to my mind. My condolences to Charlie's family, and my condolences to the working men and women of the State of Maine. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER PRO TEM: The Chair recognizes the Representative from Madawaska, Representative Theriault.

Representative THERIAULT: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I go back and look at Charlie O'Leary, I definitely have to say he is a friend of mine, he was always a friend. Being elected to represent people in the place of work in the paper mill, I remember distinctly going to some of the first meetings with the then president of the AFL-CIO, Mr. Ben Dorsky. When Mr. Ben Dorsky got up and took over, if you didn't know the direction you were going in, you were told to sit down. Charlie O'Leary came in, took over and things changed in the sense that you could have an understanding with the man. I, for one, have always respected him. I, being a member of the Maine Labor Council, and also a member of the AFL-CIO, whenever we negotiated and things got out of hand or too tough, he was called in and, in many instances, called it like it was. That, I will always respect Charlie for that reason and if you were around here again today, I definitely would be able to say I had a friend and the word that always sticks in my mind is the word "respect." Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
