STATE OF MAINE
ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIRST LEGISLATURE
SECOND REGULAR SESSION
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

In Senate Chamber
Thursday
March 14, 2024

Senate called to order by President Pro Tem Matthew G. Pouliot of Kennebec County.

Prayer by Reverend Chad Poland of All Souls Congregational Church in Bangor.

REVEREND CHAD POLAND: I invite you into the spirit of prayer. God of all nations, tongues, and races, creator of all that was, that is, that is to come, in awe and wonder, we approach you in prayer. Receive us with grace and respond in wisdom and power to our petitions. May we discern your hand at work in and through our lives, your presence in our midst. We acknowledge before you that throughout history there have been those in positions of leadership. We give thanks that in our own place and time, such positions come not by might nor inheritance, but by the voice of the people. And so, we pray first not just for those gathered here, but for the whole electorate of which we are but a part. Grant to us all discerning minds. Renew in us the commitment to educate ourselves that we might exercise our rights responsibly. Keep us as a people from being tossed to and fro by petty disputes played out in the public sphere. Shield us from carefully constructed rhetoric that seeks to exploit or control. Help us to see past hollow promises to the substance and character of those who come before us. May we lift up those best fit for leadership, and in so doing, preserve our democracy for generations to come. We give thanks for those who answer the call, for those who dare to serve. Leadership is not for the faint of heart, and so I do pray now for all those leaders gathered here, that you would uphold them. Encourage them with each new day that their commitment to the people, to what is good and right and true, would not wane. I pray for their families who support them, who endure their absences and demanding schedules. I pray for their relationships together, for their health as a deliberative body. We are quick to divide ourselves, Oh, God, one party against another, one view against another, but may the focus always be the discussion of ideas, not the disparagement of any. Keep those who lead mindful of whom they serve and of the humanity shared by all. Grant to them patience, a willingness to listen more than they speak, to truly understand perspectives other than their own. Preserve in them a maturity of character that they might conduct themselves always with dignity and grace, intellectual integrity, that they might change their minds when the facts demand it, and a spirit of humility, that through compromise some measure of good might always be accomplished rather than none. We pray for ourselves, for the people of this state, for the leaders in our midst, but we pray as well, dear God, for all near and far who suffer and struggle, for the isolated and alone, for those wrestling with grief and despair, for those living in poverty, who hunger and thirst, for those living in homelessness, with substance use disorder, with mental illness. We pray for those who live in the fear of violence, some in their own homes, some caught up in the madness of war. Lead us toward a world in which justice abounds, and may peace find a way, oh, Lord. You promise a world set right, trusting in you. May we do our part and run out to meet it. Bless those that lead and those whom they serve. Bless our state and nation, bless our world, and all those in it. To you, oh Holy God, we humbly pray. Amen.

National Anthem Performed by Skowhegan Middle School Band.

Pledge of Allegiance led by Senator Peter A. Lyford of Penobscot County.

Sponsored by Representative DAVIS of East Machias.
Cosponsored by Senator MOORE of Washington.

The Joint Orders were READ.

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEM: The Chair will recognize the Senator from Washington, Senator Moore.

Senator MOORE: Thank you, Mr. President Pro Tem. I rise today to recognize two fantastic young people from my district; Dakoda Davis and Emerson Morris. Dakoda was named valedictorian and Emerson salutatorian of Washington Academy of the 2024 graduating class. I want to tell you a little bit about both of them. Emerson Morris is an incredible young woman. She is the president of the National Honor Society and a Co-President of the Student Council. She maintained the distinction of High Honors throughout her time at Washington Academy and received an award for being an outstanding student in pre-calculus. She is a member of the NRECA Youth Leadership Council and a commended National Merit Scholar, where she serves as a Washington County ambassador. Like Dakoda, she participated in the Cohen Leadership Program at the University of Maine, and she was the Eastern Maine Electric Cooperative Maine delegate. On top of her impressive Academy record, Emerson is a four-year member of the varsity soccer team and was awarded the Defensive Player of the Year her junior year. She has been a member of the track and field team for three years. Emerson is planning to pursue a career in nursing. Now, Dakoda Davis is the grandson of our colleague in the other Body, Representative Bucket Davis. He is very well-rounded and an involved student leader at Washington Academy as well. He serves as the Class President, the Student Council Co-President, and has been a member -- a three-year member of the National Honor Society, and has achieved High Honors throughout his time at Washington Academy, where he serves as an ambassador. In September, it was announced that Dakoda is a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Dakoda was one of only two Washington County students chosen to participate in the Consider Engineering Program at the University of Maine in Orono. He also attended the university's Cohen Institute High School Leadership Program, honing his leadership skills and passion for civics. Showing an early interest in civics, when he was in middle school, he urged his State Representative Will Tuell to submit legislation to increase youth engagement in hunting. His efforts were so convincing, that the Legislature enacted, and the Governor signed the bill into law, An Act to Establish a Thanksgiving Youth Turkey Hunting Season. On top of his accomplishments in the classroom and the Legislature, Dakoda is a great runner on the cross-country and track teams, and a four-year Raider athlete. Next fall, Dakoda plans to attend the University of Maine at Orono, pursuing an engineering degree. I wish them both the best of luck in their future endeavors. I know they will make Washington County proud.

The Joint Orders were PASSED, in concurrence.

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEM: The Chair is pleased to recognize in the rear of the chamber Dakoda Davis, Emerson Morris, Sharon Davis, and Judson McBrine of Washington Academy. They are the guests today of the Senator from Washington, Senator Moore. Would the guests please rise and accept the greetings of the Maine Senate.

Off Record Remarks

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEM: The Chair will recognize the Senator from Washington, Senator Moore.

Senator MOORE: Thank you, Mr. President Pro Tem. Request to speak on the record

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEM: Permission to speak on the record granted

Senator MOORE: Thank you. Again this month is women's history month. And so, today what I would do is share a little bit of information about Eleanor Roosevelt. She was actually born Anna Eleanor Roosevelt on October the 11th in 1884. She was an American political figure, a diplomat, and an activist. She was the first lady of the United States from 1933 to 1945, during her husband President Franklin D. Roosevelt's four terms in office, making her the longest serving first lady of the United States. Through her travels, public engagement, and advocacy, she largely redefined the role of first lady. Eleanor then served as a United States Delegate to the United Nations General Assembly from 1945 to 1952, and took a leading role in designing of the text of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. In 1948 she was given a standing ovation by the assembly upon their adoption of the declaration. President Harry S. Truman later called her the First Lady of the World in tribute to her human rights achievements. Eleanor was a member of the prominent and wealthy American Roosevelt and Livingston families and a niece of President Theodore Roosevelt. She had an unhappy childhood, having suffered the deaths of both parents and one her brothers at a young age at 15 — at a young age. At fifteen attended Allenswood Boarding Academy in London and was deeply influenced by its founder and director — and we needed that for Mark Lawrence to pronounce this because it is in French and I am not very good at that. Returned to the U.S., she married her fifth cousin once removed, Franklin Delano Roosevelt in 1905. Between 1906 and 1916 she gave birth to six children, one of whom died in infancy. The Roosevelts marriage became complicated after Eleanor discovered her husband's affair with her social secretary Lucy Mercer in 1918. Due to mediation by her mother-in-law Sara, who was a strong financial supporter of the family, the liaison was ended officially. After that both parents started to keep independent agendas and Eleanor joined the Women's Trade Union League and became active in the New York state Democratic Party. Eleanor helped persuade Franklin to stay in politics after he was stricken with paralytic illness thought to be polio at that time in 1921, which cost him the normal use of his legs and she began given speeches and appearing at campaign events in his place. Following Franklin's election as Governor of New York in 1928 and throughout the remainder of Franklin's public career in government, Eleanor regularly made public appearances on his behalf. And as First Lady, while her husband served as president, she significantly reshaped and redefined the role. Eleanor was, in her time one of the world's most widely admired and powerful women. Nevertheless, in her early years she was a controversial first lady for her outspoken — outspokenness particularly with respect to her promotion of civil rights for African Americans. She was the first presidential spouse to hold regular press conference, write a daily newspaper column, write a monthly magazine column, host a weekly radio show, and speak at a national party convention. On a few occasions, she publically disagreed with her husband's policies. She launched an experimental community at Arthurdale, West Virginia, for the families of unemployed miners, later widely regarded as a failure. She advocated for expanded roles for women in the workplace, the civil rights of African Americans and Asian Americans, and the rights of World War II refugees. Following her husband's death in 1945, Eleanor remained active in politics for the remaining 17 years of her life. She pressed the United States to join and support the United Nations and became its first delegate. She served as the first chair of the UN Commission on Human Rights and oversaw the drafting of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Later, she chaired the John F. Kennedy administration's Presidential Commission on the Status of Women. By the time of her death in 1962, Eleanor was regarded as one of the most esteemed women in the world, The New York Times called her the object of almost universal respect in her obituary. In 1999, she was ranked ninth in the top ten of Gallup's List of Most Widely Admired People of the 20th Century, and she was found to rank as the most admired woman in thirteen different years between 1948 and 1961 in Gallup's annual most admired woman poll. Periodic surveys conducted by the Siena College Research Institute have consistently seen historians assess Eleanor as the greatest American first lady. Now I will say the Roosevelt's did actually have a connection to Maine. They would travel Eastport, Maine, and travel by boat to their summer cottage on Campobello Island in New Brunswick, Canada. Today their summer cottage has been maintained as it was during their summer vacations and is open to the public during the summer months. I would highly encourage you to visit the next time you are Downeast, don't forget your passport. Thank you, Mr. President.
