Effect of amendments.—The first 1957 amendment, which became effective on its approval, April 16, 1957, inserted the clause making the section applicable to certain civilian employees of the Maine national guard, inserted the word "such" preceding the word "employees" and deleted a former phrase following such word which read "of the political subdivisions of the state", in the first sentence. The second 1957 amendment made the second sentence applicable also to "Maine Maritime Academy" and deleted the words "Provided, however, that" which formerly appeared at the beginning of such sentence. The third 1957 amendment, which did not refer to or give effect to the first two amendments, made the section applicable to employees of the state whether members of existing retirement or pension systems or not in the first sentence, deleted the former second sentence which applied to employees of the University of Maine, and inserted the third sentence. The fourth 1957 amendment, which became effective on its approval, October 31, 1957, re-enacted the section so as to give effect to the prior 1957 amendments and added the exception at the end of the section.
