ANNUAL REPORT

OF

THE INSPECTORS

OF THE

MAINE STATE PRISON.

[WM. T. JOHNSON, Printer to the State.]

REPORT.

To the Governor and Executive Council of the State of Maine :

THE Inspectors of the Maine State Prison respectfully submit their ANNUAL REPORT.

During the last year the operations of the several departments have been carried on to advantage, as will be seen by reference to the tables annexed.

Having gone into a careful examination of the affairs of the prison, the Inspectors have no hesitation in stating that its financial situation is as good or better than it has been at any former period.

By reference to the tables it will appear that the present liabilities of the prison are less than they were the last year, by the sum of $532·34, while the amount due to the prison on notes and accounts, exceeds the amount of last year by the sum of $1,024·81, and the present amount of stock exceeds that of last year by the sum of $400·33.

Taking the amount of stock ($13,222·30) now on hand, and adding the balance of notes and accounts ($6,190·40) in favor of the prison, will show the present situation of the prison to be $19,412·70; but it cannot be expected that the whole of the above amount is available funds, as a part of it is for tools in the various departments, and probably some part of the amount due from individuals will never be received.

It may be proper to state that the actual expense of the new prison is less by about $300 than appears by the tables, as an engine house has been erected, and a cistern constructed of granite and cement of sufficient capacity to contain about one hundred hogsheds of water. In addition to this two pieces of wall have been made, and the whole expense charged to the building and repairs department.

The amount of money received from the State Treasury during the past year, is $8,692.50. Of this sum $5,000 was appropriated for new prison—$400 for purchase of fire engine, and the balance is the amount of officers' salaries for the first three quarters. (The amount of the last quarter has not been received.)

As in the tables annexed no account is made of money received from visitors, or from convicts when they enter, or for amount paid for convicts discharged and officers' salaries, the Inspectors would refer to the general account in the Warden's report.

Having estimated the probable expenses for the current year and examined the resources of the prison, the Inspectors are of the opinion that no appropriation from the treasury will be necessary for the ordinary expenses of the prison; and they feel justified in making this assertion from their knowledge of the prudent manner in which the Warden has conducted the affairs of the prison.

As the Warden has given a minute description of the new prison in his report, the Inspectors will not go into the details of its construction.

In their almost daily inspection as the work progressed, they have had an opportunity of seeing the character of the work and materials, and have no hesitation in expressing their opinion that it has been done in a faithful, permanent, and workmanlike manner, and fully to their satisfaction—and while expressing this opinion of the character of the building, they are gratified in being able to communicate the fact that the whole expense has fallen below the estimate made by the Warden and Inspectors before commencing the work—and altogether below the estimate made by those who were opposed to its re-construction, and called our estimate nothing but, "an entering wedge to open the treasury" for large and often repeated appropriations.

It must be as cheering to the philanthropist to hear, as it is to the Inspectors to announce the fact, that Maine has now a prison that is not a disgrace to her—one that is second to none in the country for convenience, comfort and security. The cells are neat, easily warmed, ventilated and inspected—and while perfectly secure the doors are so constructed as to admit a sufficient degree of light. The Inspectors in their report of 1842, expressed the opinion that the quantity of granite in the old cells was sufficient for the construction of the new ones. This has been found to be the case, and there are still remaining twenty-two old cells. Some six or eight of these should be kept for punishment cells, and the materials of the remainder might be used to good advantage for the construction of a new hospital, which is much needed, as the old one is wholly unfit for that purpose, being damp, dark, poorly ventilated, and difficult of entrance. When the legislature sees fit to authorize this alteration, the present hospital may be used for a cook room to good advantage, as it is very nearly connected with the new prison.

In removing the materials of the old cells to be used in the construction of the new ones, many of the convicts were necessarily crowded together in the old cells and hospital; this gave them a good opportunity to lay plans and concoct mischief, and this they did not fail to do—for on several occasions they were found to be almost in a state of open mutiny, and it required great vigilance and circumspection on the part of the Warden and subordinate officers to detect them in their well matured plans for escape. During the summer two successful efforts were made by four of the convicts to escape. One of them was immediately retaken—the others soon after, and a reward paid by the Warden for their apprehension. It is but justice to the officers and guard to remark, that these escapes were not owing to any neglect on their part, but were effected wholly by reason of the operations connected with the remodeling of the prison.

Since the removal of the convicts into the new cells their behavior has been good; they now dread solitary confinement, as it is inflicted by removing from the new cells and placing them in old ones, which they soon find by the contrast to be a “terror to evil doers.” And it requires but a very short confinement in these dark, damp dungeons, to bring even the most refractory to good behavior.

This work of reform would probably long since have been accomplished, had the legislature and the people properly understood the situation of convicts while confined in the old cells. As the prison has been a constant bill of expense to the State, but little interest appeared to be felt in the subject, and the reports of Wardens and Inspectors for many years seemed to be nearly unheeded.

In the winter of 1842, the Inspectors with the Warden, feeling the importance of reconstructing the prison, not only as it regarded the situation of the convicts, but also in a pecuniary point of view, visited the legislature and presented the whole subject to them through their committee.

This committee entered into this matter with a laudable zeal, and introduced an order authorizing them to visit and examine the prison: this order passed the house, and the committee upon examination found that not only the dictates of humanity, but the interests of the State required an immediate and complete alteration, and recommended that an appropriation be made for that purpose, and a resolve authorizing the Warden to commence the alteration.

In conformity to resolve of last legislature the work has been continued. And now the building having been completed, the Inspectors would respectfully suggest the propriety of authorizing the committee on State Prison to visit it in order more fully and particularly than they have done, to inform the legislature of the manner in which the money has been expended.

The report of the Chaplain annexed will show the moral and religious situation of the convicts, and the result of his duties during the year.

The Inspectors would again call the attention of the legislature to the importance of increasing the salary of the Clerk and Commissary, as the present amount is hardly sufficient, when it is known that his duties require his whole time, and that he is made liable by his bond for any neglect. It is but justice to say that the present Clerk, Mr. Perkins, by his care, correctness and familiarity with all the affairs of the prison, has rendered the Inspectors much valuable assistance in their investigations. Notwithstanding the duties of the subordinate officers have been much increased during the last year by the operations on the new prison, they have all performed them satisfactorily.

The Inspectors take pleasure in recording their entire satisfaction of the manner in which the Warden, Mr. Carr, has performed not only the ordinary duties of his office, but the increased and responsible duties under the resolve of the last legislature. While these additional duties have required his constant attention, his situation has been rendered much more responsible, and even dangerous, on account of the crowded situation of the convicts during the season, which made it absolutely necessary for him to be constantly on the watch, both day and night, in order to prevent them from breaking into open mutiny. Yet with all this increased care, he has kept all the departments of the prison in a prosperous condition, and erected the new building at a much less expense than had been estimated, even by its warmest friends.

On settlement with the Warden, the Inspectors found that he had received—

From the State Treasury, . . .	$8,692 50
From sales of manufactures, . . .	1,864 85
	$10,557 35
His credit for same time is, . . .	12,259 10
Leaving balance in his favor, . . .	$1,701 75

The above balance is included in the amount due to individuals in the annexed tables.

MAINE STATE PRISON, }
 Jan. 9, 1845. }

To the Inspectors of the Maine State Prison :

GENTLEMEN:—In presenting my annual report as Chaplain of the Maine State Prison, I am admonished of the rapid flight of time, and feel called upon to render devout thankfulness to a kind and indulgent God, who has preserved my life through the past year.

As to my duties, and the religious order observed in the prison, no material alteration has taken place since my last report.

We have had two religious services on the Sabbath, one commencing at eight o'clock A. M., the other at three P. M. The Sabbath school is in connection with the afternoon service, and has consisted of four classes—two Bible classes, the other two are instructed from the spelling book. Of those who form the classes, most of them appear much interested.

Although some of the convicts appear totally regardless of the claims of their Maker, and insensible to the worth of their souls, yet I am happy to say that such appearances are not general, for the largest part of them are attentive to the word preached, and not unfrequently give proof of deep inward emotions.

With all my discouragements, I cannot but indulge the hope, that the word preached, and personal advice and counsel given them, together with my visits to the sick, have not only been received with evident tokens of esteem and gratitude, but that (in some cases at least) lasting good to the undying soul will be the result.

It is well known that such was the damp state of the cells in the old prison, that books were soon injured, and in many cases rendered unfit for use, hence no addition has been made to the library for some years. As this state of things no longer exists, it appears to me necessary, and I would respectfully recommend that some addition be made to the prison library.

I take great pleasure in being able to say that the new prison cannot fail to meet the wishes and desires of a humane and feeling community, who have long regarded the old cells as inflicting that species of barbarity on the unfortunate, that should never exist among a civilized people. This spacious building reflects honor on our State, and much credit is due to those who have had the management of its construction. Those who have friends here confined, and all who have not visited the prison, may rest assured that it is every thing for light, warmth, neatness and comfort, that a prison possibly could be.

With compassion for the unfortunate placed under me as their spiritual guide, relying on the power and goodness of a merciful God to give success to my feeble efforts, and requesting an interest in the prayers of the Godly that I may so discharge my duties as to savingly benefit souls, and meet the approval of my God and Judge,

I remain yours respectfully,

JOB WASHBURN,

Chaplain of the Maine State Prison.

Thomaston, January, 1845.
