STATE OF MAINE.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, December 31st, 1861. }

To His Excellency, ISRAEL WASHBURN, JR.,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

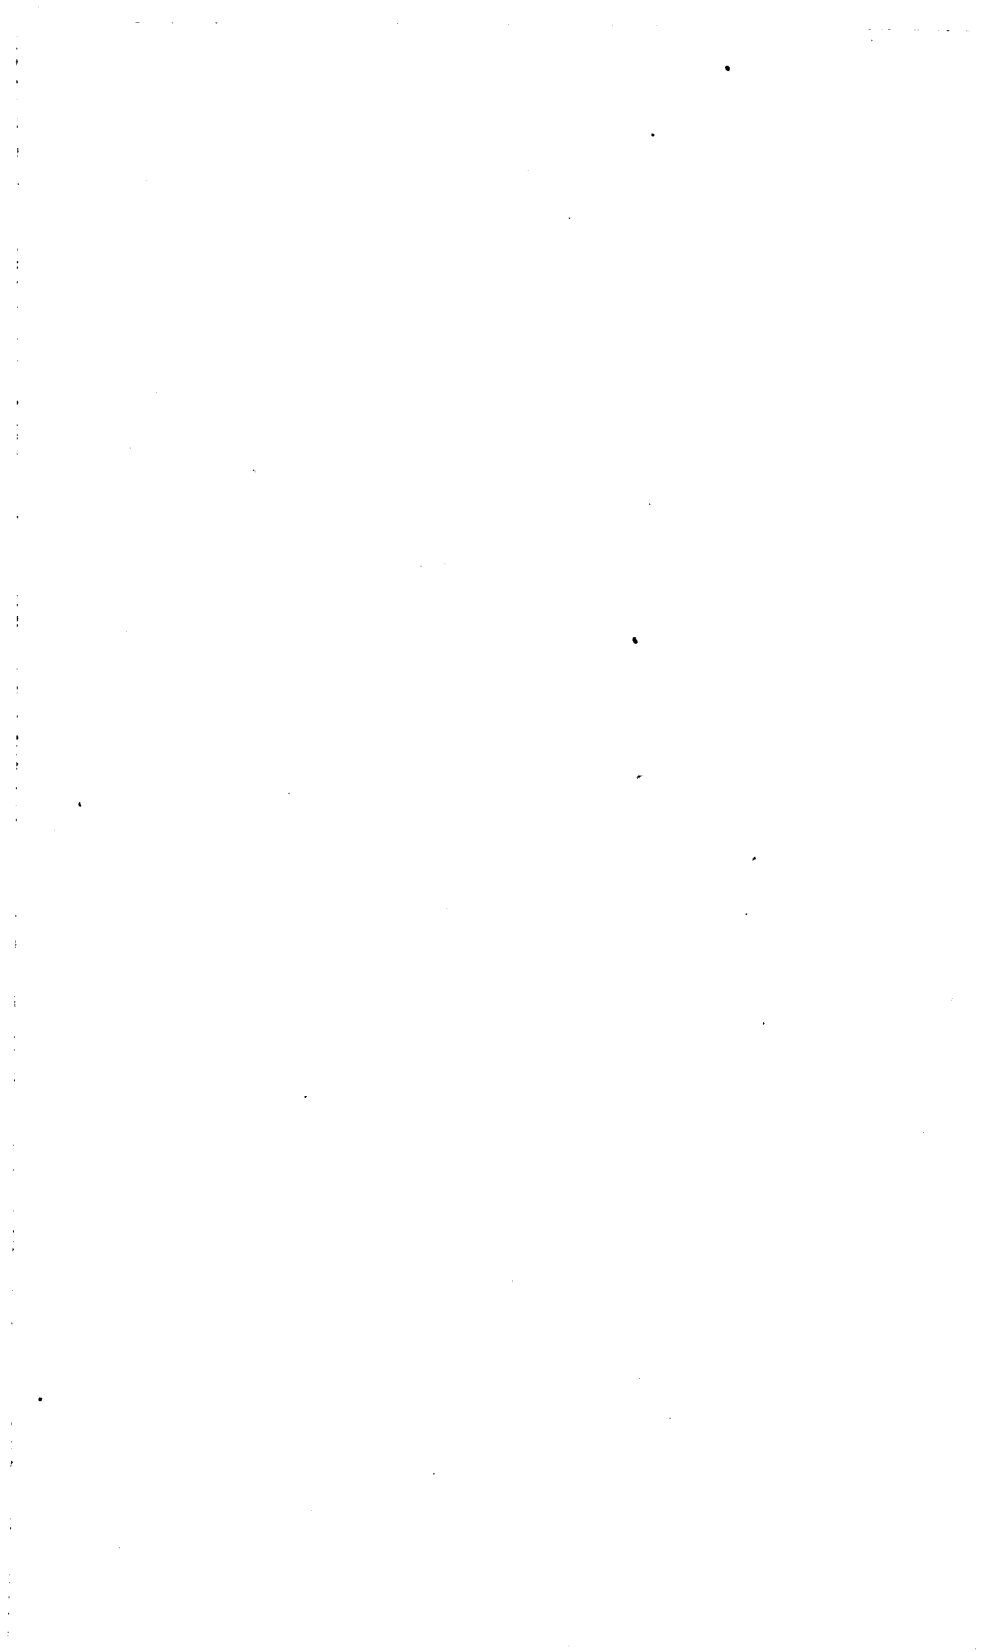

SIR:—Herewith I have the honor to submit my report as Adjutant, Acting Quarter-Master and Paymaster General, for the year ending December 31st, 1861.

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN L. HODSDON,

Adjutant General.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT.

The bombardment of Fort Sumter at Charleston, on the twelfth of April last, by those who should have been its defenders, found Maine as little prepared to furnish troops for maintaining the integrity of the Union as it is possible to conceive. With an enrolled but unarmed militia of some sixty thousand men, no more than twelve hundred, and these merely paper organizations, were in a condition to respond to calls for ordinary duty within the State, in emergencies contemplated by the constitution, while their uniforms, equipments and camp equipage were of a character totally unfitted for service in the field.

With a full knowledge of this state of things, and apprehending the embarrassments under which the general government would labor, in having three month's troops only in its service, our Legislature, at an extra session called to consider and provide for the exigencies of the hour, determined upon furnishing the government, at the earliest possible moment, with ten regiments, fully armed and equipped, to serve under a two year's enlistment. In order to facilitate recruiting, and to requite, in some measure, the sacrifices of the soldier, a bounty of two months' pay was appropriated to each non-commissioned officer, musician and private, residents of this State, who should thus enlist and be mustered into the service of the United States.

Prior to this action of the Legislature, the President, anticipating the wants of the government, by a requisition made on the fifteenth of April, called for one regiment of infantry from this State. This call demanded such prompt action on the part of our few military organizations, as should hasten the earliest possible response, and also enable us to comply with other similar requirements, which, as was anticipated, the national emergencies would demand at an early day. Hence the issue of general Order No. 6 (see Appendix A) to the several Major Generals, on the twenty-second of April.

Simultaneously with the promulgation of this order, enlistment rolls were issued from this office, prepared expressly to facilitate the enrolment and organization of companies, with a view to meet such action of the Legislature as was anticipated must be taken in regard to the tenure and term of service of troops furnished the general government. Such was the unexpected and unexampled rapidity of the action of officers and citizens in performing this service, that it was apparent that General Orders Nos. 7 and 8, (Appendix A,) of the twenty-fourth of April, could with propriety be issued and promulgated. This was done prematurely, from misapprehension of the date of the passage of the Act authorizing the raising of ten regiments, yet it was done legally and properly, inasmuch as the bill therein mentioned was enacted and approved the day following, thus ratifying and confirming the premises upon which these orders were based. General Order No. 9, (Appendix A,) with the three preceding orders, provided for most of the details required for the organization of four regiments of infantry, of which one each was from the First and Second Divisions, and two from the Third. Subsequent General Orders increased the number of regiments from four to six, taking two from each Division.

The first section of the Act passed at the extra session of the Legislature, and approved April twenty-fifth, entitled "An Act to authorize the raising of ten regiments, to aid the President of the United States in enforcing the laws and maintaining the government thereof, and to protect the same against its enemies, and in defence of the State," authorized and empowered the Governor to accept the services of ten regiments, and caused them to be enlisted for two years unless sooner discharged. The First and Second Regiments were thus enlisted; the former was mustered into the service of the United States for three months and the latter for three years. The Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Regiments were also thus enlisted, but subsequent orders from the War Department, requiring all State volunteers to be mustered into government service for three years, rendered an amendment necessary to our mode of enlistment. This consisted in signing a contract to serve for an additional year. General Order No. 29 (Appendix A) of the twenty-fourth of May, under direction of the Governor and Council, required the discharge and payment of all enlisted men who declined to enlist for an additional year's service, except those of the First and Second Regiments. Several hundred efficient men were thus for the time lost to the service, as was also the amount paid them, their subsistence, and the expense of enlisting them.

Within three weeks after the adjournment of the extra session of the Legislature which provided for raising troops for the public service, the patriotic response of our citizens to the supposed requirements of the government, in the prompt organization of companies, was so far in excess of the preparations which were possible to be made in the quarter-master and commissary departments by the authorities at Washington, that the commander-in-chief and the executive council deemed it necessary, in the exercise of a wise economy, not only on the part of the state and general government, but also in relieving our public-spirited citizens, thus volunteering their services, of the unavoidable sacrifices attendant upon keeping up military corps for which no promise or hope of immediate active service could be obtained, that all the organized companies in excess of those designated and necessary for six regiments, should be dismissed; or at their election, be placed upon such footing as to drill and compensation, as would measurably relieve them, and yet secure their services when called for. To this end an order was passed in council on the seventeenth of May, and promulgated, and General Orders Nos. 27 and 28, (Appendix A) were issued, carrying this into effect. Under these orders the following companies were duly mustered at their respective places of rendezvous, and paid for service from the date of their several organizations up to, and including, the day of payment:—

Captain West's at East Machias,
Captain Sawyer's at Dixmont,
Captain Roberts' at Dexter,
Captain Boynton's at Newport,
Captain Carlisle's at Bangor,
Captain Cass' at Bangor,
Captain Lawrence's at Gardiner,
Captain Norris' at Monmouth,
Captain Duly's at Phipsburg,
Captain Jones' at Waldoboro',
Captain Crowell's at Winterport,
Captain Robinson's at Unity,
Captain Jones' at China,
Captain Chase's at Fairfield,

Captain McDonald's at Buckfield,
Captain Houghton's at Woodstock,
Captain McArthur's at Limington,
Captain Andrews' at Biddeford.

Of these companies, Captains Duly's, Jones' of Waldoboro', Robinson's and Andrews', made their election to devote, not exceeding two days, or an equivalent, each week, to drill and instruction until otherwise ordered, and to be paid pro rata therefor, without quarters or rations. The other companies elected to take leave of absence, without pay or rations, until called for by the commander-in-chief. Twelve of these commanding officers with a large portion of their companies as then existing, have since gone into actual service in regiments subsequently accepted by the government, and this has also been the case with Captain Hutchins' company, of New Portland, which was organized May twenty-fifth, paid to June thirteenth, and put upon leave of absence.

On the thirtieth of April, the commander-in-chief, in view of the defenceless condition of the navy-yard at Kittery, and the large amount of national property there, designated Captain M. F. Wentworth's company of artillery at that place, to garrison Fort McClary, situated in immediate proximity to the yard, and afford it the desired protection. This company was relieved on the ninth of July by Captain Ira Andrews' company of Home Guards from Biddeford, which still occupies the fort.

It was also deemed necessary that the city of Portland and its commerce should be afforded some protection from the depredations of privateers, and Captain James Staples' company of Home Guards was placed in occupation of Fort Scammel, commanding the entrance to the harbor, and is still on duty at that post.

The general government has ratified these acts of the commander-in-chief, by causing Captain Andrews' company to be mustered into the United States service on the twenty-eighth of October, and that of Captain Staples on the following day, their mustering dating back to the time of their occupation of the forts aforesaid, and it has also caused a Lieutenant's command of forty men under Lieutenant George W. Sabine, to be enlisted for the occupation of Fort Sullivan at Eastport, which has been duly mustered into the service of the United States.

The Major Generals of the respective Divisions, with their several Staffs, having been constantly in the service of the State from the twenty-second of April to the twenty-eighth of May, engaged in raising, organizing and preparing for organization, the regiments within their limits, were paid and discharged at the latter date, at their respective headquarters. This step was deemed indispensable in consequence of the want of any intimations from the general government, that more than the six regiments would be required, and men for these had already been enlisted and companies organized. A reference to General Order No. 30, (Appendix A) will best exhibit the estimation in which the arduous and distinguished services of those officers is held by the commander-in-chief.

The first six regiments sent forward for the service of the government were raised and organized within Divisional limits, among which they were equally apportioned. The remaining four authorized by the act of April twenty-fifth, have been raised irrespective of Military Divisions.

The raising and organizing of the four regiments next following these, extended over a period of some two months. These organizations could, with the twenty discharged companies and as many more that were in process of enlistment at that time, have been completed and sent into the field by the first of July. Uncertainty seems for a time to have existed at Washington in relation to the character and amount of force required for the emergency. It was supposed that States nearer the scene of conflict could, at a less expense, be relied upon for such additional troops as should be required, and with greater certainty than States more remote. The subsistence and quarters, as well as arms for several hundred thousand men at Washington and vicinity, could not at once be procured. The Governor was induced to discontinue enlistments, from frequent letters and telegrams from the departments at Washington, intimating doubts as to the acceptance by the government of additional troops from Maine.

It was impossible, during this period of uncertainty, to afford any assurance to those raising companies, that they would be accepted. The enormous expense attendant upon every step in the progress of this war induced the repression of all unauthorized or doubtful disbursements which might devolve expense upon the States.

After Brigadier General Sherman had concerted measures with the War Department in regard to his great Naval Expedition, it was rendered certain that additional regiments would be required from this State, and energy and vigor were infused into the work and the organizations completed. Before the regiments assigned to his command were prepared for active duty, the wants and arrangements of the War Department for still more troops were communicated, and from that time the work progressed without interruption until the reception of recent orders relieving the State authorities from all further participation in this service from and after the first day of January next.

Of the ten regiments which have been raised, nine yet remain in the field. The First was mustered out of the United States service at Portland on the fifth of August, and put upon leave of absence without pay or rations, until further orders from the commander-in-chief. The respective companies of this regiment were ordered into camp at Portland by Special Order No. 67, (Appendix A,) and the regimental organization ceased to exist on the twenty-eighth of September, by virtue of General Order No. 50, of that date, (Appendix A.)

The Tenth Regiment, in the early stages of its organization, was intended to comprise, so far as was practicable, the companies of the First. This design was but partially realized, since six hundred and ninety-seven men out of the eight hundred and eighty-one in the Tenth Regiment, were paid bounty as newly enlisted troops. A portion of the remainder of the regiment enlisted in the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Regiments, and some were discharged upon the surgeon's certificate of disability. The remaining portion of the members of the regiment are still owing service to make up two years from the date of their enlistment in April last.

The completion of the organization of the ten regiments authorized by the Legislature, with the payment of bounty, wages and the requisite expenses of the outfit and equipment necessary for their efficient service in the field, exhausted the appropriation made for this purpose. More troops were however indispensable to the plans of the government in suppressing the rebellion, and our sister States, some of whom were already in advance of us in the quota of troops furnished, were rapidly progressing with still other military organizations. The general government proposed to furnish the requisite means for raising additional troops, and gave the State authority to organize five more regiments of infantry, (with power to increase the number to eight,) a regiment of cavalry and six batteries of light artillery.

General Orders No. 47 of September eleventh, and No. 48 of September fourteenth, (Appendix A,) were issued and promulgated, under which a regiment of cavalry and five regiments of infantry have been raised and organized; and in virtue of Order No. 106, of October twenty-third, six batteries of light artillery have also been enlisted.

It having been desired by General Scott and the Secretary of War that each of the free States should contribute a company of Rifle Sharp Shooters for the service of the country, the commander-in-chief directed the issue and promulgation of General Order No. 46, of September eleventh, (Appendix A.) Under this order, a company was organized and sent forward with the Eleventh Regiment, Col. Caldwell; and it is believed that this corps, in skill and intellectual and physical condition, has no superior in the service.

The raising of State troops for service under the general government, involved the necessity of observing so far as was practicable, all the requirements and details which years of experience in organizing armies have shown to be necessary for the greatest efficiency consistent with true economy, and the preservation of the rights of both contracting parties, the soldier and the government. This fundamental work required the services and personal expenses of "recruiting officers" and their assistants, in making enlistments; of physicians in examining candidates and attending upon sick recruits; of magistrates in administering the oath of allegiance, of rents, fuel, lights, stationery, printing, telegraphing, clerk hire, travelling expenses, subsistence, clothing so far as was indispensable, nursing and attendance upon the sick, and in some instances where previous authority had been given, compensation to drill masters and musicians, and doubtless other equally necessary items of expense. Large as the aggregate of these disbursements may appear, (and quite an amount yet remains unliquidated, not however, through any fault of this Department,) it is trifling compared with the ordinary expenses of recruiting for the regular army. Fifty dollars per man, and sometimes more, will hardly cover the expense of enlisting for the United States army. It must be admitted however that while our organizations comprise incomparably more intellectual and moral worth, and an infinitely better and more efficient class of men than the regular service secures, they have, in the preliminary stages of their formation, a larger proportion of unsound and old men, as well as youths under the age of eighteen, than experienced officers recruiting for the army, would accept. If any members of these exceptionable classes passed the mustering officer and got into service, the error, originating in an excess of patriotism, should be regarded with leniency. Although tables (Appendix G) exhibit the various items of the expenditures arising from the Ten Regiment Bill, yet inasmuch as enlisting and recruiting are exclusively within the province of the Adjutant General, it is fitting that I should exhibit the amount of such expenses proper as have been settled and paid :

For services of enlisting officers, their assistants and board, horse hire, travelling expenses, rents, telegraphing, printing, music, drilling, medical examinations and oath to recruits,	$5,860 18
---	------------

The unavoidable haste with which the troops raised in this State for the service of the government, have been despatched to the seat of war, has involved the necessity of enlisting men and organizing companies to complete the regiments up to the very hour of departure. When it is considered that there are none of the enlistment, descriptive, company, muster, bounty and pay rolls, indispensable to the protection of the soldier and the security of government, which are not required to be in duplicate and some in quadruplicate, and all to be signed and completed between the moment of enlisting and that of departure, and in addition to all this, in order to secure a correct settlement in the future, that each soldier must be clothed and equipped with almost equal formality, it is a matter of congratulation that the rolls and records required for the troops and this Department, as well as for the Adjutant General's office at Washington, are as full and complete as they are found to be.

I should be wanting in justice to the memory of my late clerk, Samuel H. King of Monmouth, were I here to omit honorable mention of his untiring labors in rendering these rolls and records perfect. The effects of the arduous and incessant duties attending the hurried departure of the Eleventh Regiment, Colonel Caldwell, upon his already overtasked energies, culminated in a profuse hemorrhage of the lungs, which terminated his existence, in this city, on the eleventh instant, at the age of twenty-three years. Mr. King was graduated at Bowdoin College in the class of 1859. He united a high order of intellect with the meekest of christian graces, and in the last hours of his life triumphantly illustrated the value of an unwavering faith in the principles and teachings of the Redeemer.

The losses sustained by our regiments at the battle of Bull Run, of company rolls and books, and officers' commissions, has devolved upon this office the labor of duplicating them from the records here; and if the regiments should no longer continue in service, the toil involved in the performance of this duty is richly repaid by the lesson inculcated (one invariably difficult to impress in the early stages of company and regimental organization) that of realizing the almost inestimable importance of having all the rolls and records of these organizations, carefully, elaborately and fully made at the proper time, and afterwards most jealously and sacredly guarded and preserved from injury or loss. Upon this may depend all the rights and interests of men in service.

Concurrent with the passage of the act of April twenty-fifth, was an act amendatory of the militia law of 1856. This, in effect, provided for the performance of additional duty by our volunteer militia, and a compensation therefor; but the absorption of almost the entire personnel and materiel, except artillery, of the organizations then existing, in the immediate preparation of regiments for service in the field, in response to the demands of the general government, has necessarily suspended almost entirely the operation of the act thus amended. No new companies have been organized under the provisions of this act, though numerous applications have been made. The following reasons, each in itself sufficient, will explain why this course has been taken:—

1. It was indispensable that the supply of volunteers for actual service, should be kept up equal to the demand, and no action be had to retard it.

2. The effect of recent military organizations for service within the State, has tended to discourage enlistments for the national service.

3. All the State arms, equipments and camp equipage have necessarily been in constant use by the regiments at their respective encampments, in completing their organization and perfecting their drill and discipline.

4. The claims of the various localities for these home organizations, were pertinaciously urged, and any principle that would admit one, would, of course, admit all. This would devolve such an amount of labor and attention to details upon the commander-in-chief, the executive council and the military officers of the State, in the organization of these proposed companies as would have materially interfered with the duties they owed the general government in responding to the requisition of the President for troops.

5. The number of the State volunteer force under the act amendatory to that of 1856 is limited; a large proportion of its best officers are in the service of the general government, and if organizations up to the permitted maximum were now allowed, these officers upon their return would be excluded.

6. A reorganization and filling up of our militia should not be undertaken, notwithstanding the act aforesaid, in the absence of those citizens who are now in service, and who, upon the suppression of this rebellion (which may be looked for at an early day) would bring to the aid of that work, an amount of practical knowledge, without which all our efforts in that direction would be but partially successful.

The companies from which returns have been received are shown in Appendix H. The military ardor of our citizens, developed by existing emergencies, has been demonstrated in every possible manner that could aid in accomplishing a speedy restoration of law and order throughout our distracted country. Informal voluntary associations for military duty have been numerous in various parts of the State, and during the last fifteen years, there has not been seen such an array of citizen soldiery parading for discipline and review, as was witnessed in the months of September and October of the present year; and this not only without compulsion, but after repeated refusals to their applications for organization.

The names of officers found upon the records of this department among those who have in years past aided in sustaining the volunteer militia at their own expense, who are either now in service or have given their lives to the country during the present conflict, are not few, comparatively, nor will their deeds and bearing as officers or gentlemen, bring discredit upon the State. While this view will not in the least detract from the great credit due the many efficient officers who entered the service without the advantages of previous acquaintance with the routine of military duty, no injustice will be done them by observing that it would have been impossible for any community to have furnished the government with a regiment of infantry, completely organized and equipped, in a few days from the passage of an act by the Legislature authorizing it to be raised, unless capable and efficient officers had been entrusted with the execution of the requisite details.

Colonel N. J. Jackson of the First Regiment, now in command of the Fifth, with a well-earned reputation as a disciplinarian, second to that of no one in the service, was one of the most capable officers in our volunteer militia, and he was fortunate in having the cooperation of many subordinates who had long held commissions in the same organization. Lieutenant Colonel Witham of Portland commanded, with great credit to himself, a company included by the new organization in this regiment. Captain Beal, the present colonel of the Tenth Regiment, was one of the most active and efficient of those, who at the call of the President, at once united with his command in making up the First Regiment for immediate service. The company officers of the original organization of the old State volunteer militia of General Virgin's Division, are foremost among those to whom the State and the nation are deeply indebted for a zeal and promptness in organizing the regiment, which has hardly been surpassed in the history of the rebellion.

Colonel Jameson with Lieutenant Colonel Roberts and Major Varney, and Colonel Berry with the lamented Marshall—names that have become widely familiar—brought to the discharge of their duties, in the organization of their respective regiments, a large experience acquired from their service in the volunteer militia. Colonel Jameson, now a brigadier general in the service, commenced his military duty more than ten years ago, as division inspector upon the staff of Major General Cushman of the then Third Division of militia, and was colonel of the only regiment of infantry in the First Division at the breaking out of the rebellion. He had but a short time previously tendered his resignation, but immediately withdrew it upon the first intimation of his being required for active service. Colonel Roberts, the Lieutenant Colonel of the same militia regiment, also served with honor upon General Cushman's Staff as aide-de-camp. Colonel Varney, who was chosen major of the Second Regiment at its organization, was one of the most accomplished soldiers and disciplinarians in the A company, formerly the Bangor Light Infantry, which was organized in 1853. The present Captain Wiggin and Lieutenant Deane are among the original members of this company, and served as non-commissioned officers for several years, with a high reputation as prompt, faithful and energetic soldiers and disciplinarians. Captain Bartlett came to Bangor from Massachusetts with a high reputation acquired while an officer in the volunteer militia of that State. This reputation he fully sustained up to the time of his resignation in August last, from continued ill health. Captains Devereux, Sampson and Carroll and the lamented Captain Jones of company C, formerly the Brewer Artillery, were military contemporaries of Colonel Jameson. Captain Sargent was also a member of Captain Jones' company of artillery and was always regarded as one of his most active subalterns. Captain Emerson served in the Argoos-took war. Adjutant Reynolds was the accomplished first sergeant of the Bangor Light Infantry, and subsequently was adjutant in the Bangor regiment, and brigade inspector in that division.

A natural desire on the part of the citizens of the State generally, and especially of those having relatives and friends in the service, has induced the preparation of the following summary of the history of our regiments, which may serve to gratify curiosity, as well as constitute a permanent record of their position and services.

FIRST REGIMENT.

N. J. JACKSON, Colonel.

ALBION WITHAM, Lieutenant Colonel.

GEORGE G. BAILEY, Major.

Eight of the ten companies comprising the First Regiment raised under the act of the twenty-fifth of April, were enlisted and organized from those existing, at the commencement of hostilities, in the Third Division, Major General Virgin. Some of these companies have a record and a fame of which the State has reason to be proud. Of these, the Portland Light Infantry, Mechanic Blues, and Portland Rifle Corps, have survived all the changes, and I may with propriety say, the utter neglect if not destruction of the militia system. The Lewiston and Norway Light Infantry companies, the Auburn Artillery, Portland Rifle Guard and the Portland Light Guard, though of more recent organization, enjoyed a deservedly high reputation for correct military deportment, and perfection of drill and discipline. Of the remaining companies, one from its organization is familiarly known as the Second Company of Portland Rifle Guards, and the other as the Lewiston Zouaves. The following gentlemen were in command of the eight old companies thus re-organizing at a moment's warning, up to the time of the regimental organization:—

Company A, Portland Light Infantry,	Captain Albion Witham.
“ B, Mechanic Blues,	“ George G. Bailey.
“ C, Portland Light Guard,	“ M. R. Fessenden.
“ D, Portland Rifle Corps,	“ Cha's H. Meserve.
“ E, Portland Rifle Guard,	“ William M. Shaw.
“ F, Lewiston Light Infantry,	“ N. J. Jackson.
“ G, Norway Light Infantry,	“ George L. Beal.
“ H, Auburn Artillery,	“ Charles S. Emerson.

The new companies to make up the quota for the regiment were the second company of Portland Rifle Guards, Captain William M. Quimby (which became company I) and the Lewiston Zouaves, Captain S. B. Osgood, (which became company K.)

At the regimental organization on the twenty-eighth of April, Captains Jackson, Witham and Bailey were respectively elected colonel, lieutenant colonel and major, and the vacancies occasioned thereby, were filled by their lieutenants, Stevens, Tukey and Walker, who were duly elected and commissioned as captains of these companies. At the present time, Colonel Jackson is in command of the Fifth Regiment; Captain Beal is colonel of the Tenth, and Captain Shaw major of the Eleventh. Captain Quimby holds a captain's commission in the regular army; Captain Walker is major of the Tenth, and Lieutenant Rust of Captain Beal's company G, is lieutenant colonel of the Thirteenth, and Lieutenant Blake of the same company is captain of company G of the Tenth. Captain Emerson commands company H of the Tenth, and Adjutant Fillebrown is lieutenant colonel in the Tenth. Lieutenant Pennel of company B is adjutant of the Eleventh, and Lieutenant Johnson of company K has been adjutant of the Seventh. Lieutenants Black of company B, Estes of E, Knowlton of F and Jordan of C, are captains of the same companies respectively in the Tenth. Captain Fessenden is captain of company I in the Twelfth, and Lieutenant Chadwell of company B in the Twelfth. This regiment completed its organization April twenty-eighth, and was mustered into the United States service for three months, on the third day of May ; but the unusual prevalence of sickness detained it in camp at Westbrook till June first, when it left for Washington and went into camp at Meridian Hill, and there remained in the performance of necessary guard duty at exposed points, till August first, during which time it earned an enviable reputation for drill and discipline. It returned to Portland and was mustered out of the United States service on the fifth of August.

SECOND REGIMENT.

CHARLES D. JAMESON, Colonel, promoted to Brigadier General of Volunteers.

CHARLES W. ROBERTS, Lieutenant Colonel, promoted to Colonel.

GEORGE VARNEY, Major, promoted to Lieutenant Colonel.

Company A, Bangor Light Infantry,	Captain Herman Bartlett.
“ B, Castine Light Infantry,	“ S. K. Devereux.
“ C, Brewer Artillery,	“ E. N. Jones.
“ D, Milo Artillery,	“ J. S. Sampson.
“ E, Bangor Company,	“ Levi Emerson.
“ F, Bangor Company,	“ Daniel Chaplin.
“ G, Gymnasium,	“ F. Meinecke.
“ H, Ex-Tigers, Bangor,	“ Daniel Sargent.
“ I, Grattan Guards,	“ John Carroll.
“ K, Oldtown Company,	“ F. C. Foss.

Five (A, B, C, D, and I.) of these companies, a part of Colonel Jameson's old command, were enlisted and reorganized for service in this regiment.

The regiment left Bangor on Tuesday morning, May fourteenth, and Portland on Wednesday, the fifteenth, since which time it has been located as follows :—

On Willet's Point, Long Island, N. Y., from May 17th to 30th.

On Meridian Hill, Washington, D. C., from May 31st to July 1st.

At Falls Church, Virginia, from July 2d to 16th.

On a line of march, from July 16th to 23d.

On Arlington Heights, Virginia, from July 23d to October 12th.

On Hall's Hill, Virginia, from October 12th to December 1st.

It was mustered into the United States service at Willet's Point, May twenty-eighth.

Captain Jones of the C company, and Lieutenant Richardson of Company E, were mortally wounded at the battle of Bull Run, and died shortly after at Richmond. Captain Jones' first lieutenant, John K. Skinner of Brewer, was made prisoner in his endeavors to rescue his disabled commander. Second Lieutenant David D. Wardwell of Castine, of Company B, was wounded and subsequently discharged on account of his injuries. Second lieutenant Sumner R. Kittredge of Milo, was taken prisoner at Hall's Hill and confined at Richmond. The captains of companies A, B, D, G and I, have resigned: Bartlett, Sampson and Meinecke on account of health impaired in the service; Captain Devereux on account of his official duties as collector of the port at Castine, and Captain Carroll for reason of his company's being greatly reduced and the remaining members being transferred to others. A company recruited at Bangor, and of which Daniel White is captain, has recently joined the regiment, taking the place and letter of Captain Carroll's company. Captain Chaplin has been appointed to fill the majorate vacant by the promotion of Lieutenant Colonel Varney. Lieutenants R. B. Wiggin of the A company, W. W. Sturtevant of D, Albion P. Wilson of F, and Augustus B. Farnham of the G company, have respectively succeeded to the command of these companies. Reference to the rosters (Appendix B) will exhibit the promotion of subalterns occasioned by these changes. For the manner in which this regiment performed its duty at the battle of Bull Run, as also the Third, Fourth and Fifth, I am proud to refer to the official returns of brigade officers in command, which were immediately spread before the public; and I would also refer to the permanent record of casualties, which may be found in the returns of the corrected rolls of each company, (Appendix D) with the history of each individual from the time he went into service up to the first day of December, 1861.

THIRD REGIMENT.

OLIVER OTIS HOWARD, Colonel, promoted to Brigadier General of Volunteers.

ISAAC N. TUCKER, Lieutenant Colonel.

HENRY G. STAPLES, Major, promoted to Colonel.

Company A, Bath City Grays,	Captain William Rogers.
“ B, Augusta Company,	“ Henry G. Staples.
“ C, Gardiner “	“ W. E. Jarvis.
“ D, Bath “	“ C. A. L. Sampson.

Company E,	Hallowell Company,	Captain J. M. Nash.
"	F, Skowhegan "	" E. G. Savage.
"	G, Waterville "	" F. S. Hesseltine.
"	H, Waterville "	" William S. Heath.
"	L, Augusta "	" Moses B. Lakeman.
"	K, Winthrop "	" Newell Strout.

This regiment went into camp in Augusta, and was mustered into the service of the United States June fourth. On the morning of the fifth it took its departure for Washington, where it arrived June seventh, and next day went into camp on Meridian Hill. Here it remained till the sixth of July, when it proceeded to Cameron Run, near Alexandria, Virginia, and remained there till July eleventh, when it marched to Clermont, Virginia. On the sixteenth it left that place, and marched to Accotink Creek, and on the seventeenth proceeded to Sawyer's Station, whence in the afternoon it took up the line of march towards Centreville, where it bivouaced July eighteenth. On the twenty-first of July it left for Bull Run, and was in that engagement, after which it fell back to Centreville, thence via Fairfax Court House to Alexandria, where it arrived on the twenty-second. Next day it left for the old camp at Clermont, where it remained till the fourteenth of August, when it encamped at Flag Hill Station, on the Leesburg Turnpike. On the second of October the regiment left Flag Hill, and pitched its tents on the Old Fairfax Road, about three miles southwest from Alexandria, designating the station as Camp Howard, at which upon the thirteenth of December it still remained.

The only company of this regiment, which existed under former militia laws, was the Bath City Grays, organized in 1850 under the auspices of Colonel E. K. Harding, the present efficient Assistant Quarter-Master General, who commanded it from the time of its organization till he was elected colonel of the Second Regiment in the Second Division, at its formation in 1855. Among the volunteer companies, in the State, of that period, this corps had no superior in discipline and the soldierly bearing of its members. It comprised many of the best citizens of Bath, and enjoyed an enviable reputation, not only in this State, but throughout New England. I am happy to bear testimony to the fact that all the State arms and other military property in its possession were returned last April, upon requisition from this office, in as perfect condition and as duly inventoried, as they were issued to them years before. The old pattern of muskets which they received at their organization, previous to being returned, had been materially improved at the expense of the company; and during a large part of the present season the regiments encamped here have been tendered the use of tents and marquees free of charge, the private property of this company and its former officers.

Captain Rogers resigned before the regiment left the State, and was succeeded by Reuben Sawyer, his first lieutenant. Both of these gentlemen were in commission when hostilities commenced. Captain Staples was elected major before leaving Augusta, and at the promotion of Colonel Howard succeeded to the colonelcy, which he still holds. Captains Jarvis, Nash, Savage and Strout have resigned. Captain Sampson was promoted to lieutenant colonel in place of Lieutenant Colonel Tucker, resigned; Colonel Tucker held the same position with credit in the Aroostook war. Captain Hesseltine is major of the Thirteenth, and Captain Heath lieutenant-colonel of the Fifth. Lieutenants Bachelder of B company, Colson of C, Watson of D, Johnson of E, Hanscom of G, F. E. Heath of H, and Burt of K, succeeded as captains to the command of those companies respectively. Captain Burt is now major, and Lieutenant William L. Richmond has succeeded to the command of his company. William C. Morgan of Augusta is captain of company F. Captain Colson has been honorably discharged, and the vacancy remains unfilled.

FOURTH REGIMENT.

HIRAM G. BERRY, Colonel.

THOMAS H. MARSHALL, Lieutenant Colonel.

FRANK S. NICKERSON, Major.

Company A,	Belfast Artillery,	Captain H. W. Cunningham.
"	B, Rockland Company,	Captain Elijah Walker.
"	C, " "	" O. J. Conant.
"	D, " "	" L. D. Carver.
"	E, Damariscotta "	" S. C. Whitehouse.
"	F, Brooks Light Infantry,	" A. D. Bean.
"	G, Wiscasset Company,	" E. M. Smith.
"	H, Rockland "	" G. J. Burns.
"	I, Searsport "	" F. S. Nickerson.
"	K, Belfast City Grays,	" Thomas H. Marshall.

This regiment left Rockland on the seventeenth of June for Washington, where it arrived on the twentieth, and next day went into camp on Meridian Hill. On the eighth of July it proceeded to the Virginia side of the Potomac, and went into camp on the Bush Hill estate, about two miles from the city. On the sixteenth it took up its line of march for Centreville, arriving there on the eighteenth, where it bivouaced until the morning of the twenty-first, when it moved again, and during the day was engaged in the battle of Bull Run, after which it retreated to Alexandria, and quartered there until the twenty-fourth, when it returned to its former location at Bush Hill. Since that date, though it has for convenience changed its ground several times, it has remained at a distance of about two and a half miles from the city.

The Artillery and City Grays (Light Infantry) from Belfast and the Brooks Light Infantry were the only companies of this regiment existing at the date of the requisition of the President for troops. The two former having enjoyed and improved unusual facilities for drill, were in a high state of discipline. Captain Cunningham had filled not only one of the highest military offices in the State, but also various subordinate places, and invariably with credit to himself. Captain Marshall, a gentleman of wealth, refinement and literary culture, was the first commander of the City Grays, and in organizing that company as well as perfecting it in drill and discipline gave his time, talents and money freely to the work. The Brooks Light Infantry was commanded by Captain Huxford, who with Captain Bean, then his lieutenant, served in the Aroostook war in 1839. In the new organization of the company for service in this regiment, these gentlemen reversed the official relations which existed between them twenty-two years previously, and Captain Huxford became lieutenant, and Lieutenant Bean captain. Captain Bean was wounded at the battle of Bull Run, and Lieutenant Huxford received severe permanent injuries, which compelled him to resign. Captain Bean still continues in that capacity, and is regarded as one of the most competent officers in the service. Although the city of Rockland had no military company at the commencement of the organization of this regiment, justice to that community requires me to state that only the October previously two good companies there, which had been struggling for existence against the influences combined against all military organizations, yielded to the pressure and were disbanded. Colonel Hiram G. Berry, of this regiment, who has no superior in service, was the originator and sole commander for several years of the largest and best disciplined of these companies, the Rockland Guards. Such was Colonel Berry's reputation as a military gentleman possessed of a high order of executive ability, and as one of the leading and most influential citizens in that section of the State, that the position of colonel of this regiment was conceded to him from the earliest stages of its organization. Captain Marshall was elected major and afterwards lieutenant colonel of this regiment. Some time after the battle of Bull Run he was appointed colonel of the Seventh Regiment, and assumed its command on the twelfth of September. Captain Nickerson was elected major at the organization of the regiment, and was subsequently appointed lieutenant colonel to fill the vacancy occasioned by the promotion of Colonel Marshall to the command of the Seventh. He has recently been called by the commander-in-chief to the colonelcy of the Fourteenth Regiment of Infantry, which has just completed its organization. Captains Cunningham, Conant and Whitehouse have resigned, and Captain Burns has been dismissed. Lieutenant C. B. Greenhalgh is captain in place of Conant, and Ebenezer Whitcomb in place of Captain Nickerson. Captain Elijah Walker of company B has been promoted to major. Lieutenant Silas M. Fuller succeeded Colonel Marshall as captain of company K, subsequently was major, and is now lieutenant colonel of this regiment. Lieutenant Joseph L. Havener is the present captain of company I. The lieutenants of company II have resigned, and the members having been transferred to other companies, a new company recruited at Bangor and Belfast and commanded by Captain William L. Pitcher has taken its place and letter. First Lieutenants Thomas B. Glover of Rockland, of company D, and William H. Clark of Wiscasset, of company G, were made prisoners and carried to Richmond; and Second Lieutenant Charles H. Burd of Belfast, of company F, was wounded and also made prisoner.

FIFTH REGIMENT.

MARK H. DUNNELL, *Colonel.*EDWIN ILLSLEY, *Lieutenant Colonel.*SAMUEL C. HAMILTON, Major.

Company A,	Gorham Company,	Captain Josiah Heald.
" B,	Biddeford	" " Samuel C. Hamilton.
" C,	Saco	" " Isaac B. Noyes.
" D,	Brunswick	" " Edward W. Thompson.
" E,	Lewiston	" " Edwin Illsley.
" F,	Portland	" " George P. Sherwood.
" G,	"	" " Henry G. Thomas.
" H,	"	" " Mark H. Dunnell.
" I,	Bethel	" " Clark S. Edwards.
" K,	Minot	" " William A. Tobie.

These were all new companies from the Third Division, and were raised almost without an effort. The regiment rendezvoused at Portland, and at its organization Captains Dunnell, Illsley and Hamilton respectively were elected colonel, lieutenant colonel and major, and their lieutenants Scamman, Sawyer and Goodwin succeeded them in the command of their companies. The regiment left Portland June twenty-sixth, and arrived in Washington on the twenty-eighth, and next day went into camp on Meridian Hill, where it remained till July ninth, when it crossed over the Potomac into Virginia, and encamped near Fort Ellsworth. On the twelfth of July it advanced to Clermont, where it remained till the advance on Manassas. Here, on account of being about two miles in advance of any other Union troops, and being engaged much upon picket duty, the regiment was afforded little opportunity for drill. At the time of the advance on Manassas this regiment was in Howard's Brigade, Heintzelman's Division. On the retreat from Manassas, the regiment returned to Alexandria and remained there till July twenty-sixth, when it returned to its former encampment in Clermont. The regiment suffered from sickness after its return from Manassas, and for want of tents, cooking utensils and change of clothing, these having been left at Fairfax Court House and on the retreat fell into the hands of the rebels. On the thirteenth of August the regiment removed to a position near Fort Ellsworth, about one mile from Alexandria, where it remained till September thirteenth, engaged the greater portion of the time on fatigue and picket duty, and had little opportunity for military drill. The regiment at this time was in a bad condition, without discipline, destitute of clothing and other comforts, suffering from sickness, and almost disheartened. On the thirteenth of September it removed to Eagle Mount, some two miles in advance of its last location, where, in a pleasant and healthy encampment, there was soon a marked improvement in the health of the men, and depression gave way to contentment. On the fourteenth of October the regiment removed to Camp Franklin, its present encampment, about three miles from its preceding location, in the direction of Washington. Since that time, having better opportunities for drill, the discipline has materially improved, and the health of the men is excellent. The regiment is now in the Seventh Brigade, General Slocum, in General Franklin's Division.

Captain Scamman is now major in place of Hamilton, resigned, and Lieutenant George E. Brown is captain in his stead. Captain Sawyer has resigned, and was succeeded by Lieutenant A. S. Daggett of Greene. Captain Goodwin has also resigned, and the vacancy remains unfilled. Captains Heald, Noyes, Thompson, Thomas and Tobie have all resigned, and the following gentlemen are captains in their places:—Henry R. Mitchell, captain of company A; David S. Barrows of company C, Charles H. Small of company D, Thomas J. Sawyer of company G, and Hamlin T. Bucknam of company K. Captain Thomas has received a captain's commission in the United States army. Captain Thompson now commands the First Maine Battery of Mounted Artillery attached to the Twelfth Regiment, Colonel Shepley. Lieutenant Colonel Illsley is now adjutant of the same regiment. Colonel Mark H. Dunnell, who at the time of his election was United States consul to Vera Cruz, and obtained temporary leave of absence for the purpose of organizing this regiment, resigned after the battle of Bull Run, and forthwith repaired to his post in Mexico. He was succeeded by Colonel N. J. Jackson, of the First Regiment. Lieutenant Colonel Illsley resigned, and his successor is Captain William S. Heath, of the Third. Second Lieutenant Frederick Speed of company A resigned, and is now adjutant of the Thirteenth Regiment, Colonel Neal Dow.

SIXTH REGIMENT.

ABNER KNOWLES, Colonel.

HIRAM BURNHAM, Lieutenant Colonel.

FRANK PIERCE, Major.

Company A,	Brownville Rifles,	Captain	Moses W. Brown.
"	B, Ellsworth Company,	"	Isaac Frazier.
"	C, Machias	"	B. F. Harris.
"	D, Calais	"	J. A. Haycock.
"	E, Bucksport	"	Joseph Snowman.
"	F, Pembroke	"	W. N. Lysett.
"	G, Cherryfield	"	R. W. Young.
"	H, Corinth	"	Cyrus Brown.
"	I, Oldtown	"	A. G. Burton.
"	K, Eastport	"	Theodore Cary.

This regiment, from the First Division, rendezvoused at Portland, and reached Washington on the nineteenth of July, since which time it has been located as follows:—

At Chain Bridge, on the Potomac, from July 20th to September 3d.

At (what is now) Fort Ethan Allen, Virginia, from September 3d to September 28th.

On a line of march, from September 28th to October 1st.

At Vanderberg's, Virginia, from October 1st to October 10th.

On a line of march, from October 10th to October 12th.

At Lewinsville, Virginia, from October 12th to December 1st.

This regiment has been principally employed on fatigue and picket duty and in building roads and bridges, digging pits and erecting forts and breastworks. The companies of this regiment, which were all new, except the Brownville Rifles, and that had been recently organized, not long after their formation were rendezvoused in battalions of five companies each, at the State Arsenal at Bangor under General J. C. Stevens, and at Fort Sullivan at Eastport under Major Aaron Hayden. Companies A, B, E, H and I were at the former place, and companies C, D, F, G and K at the latter. Under General Order No. 37, (Appendix A,) these battalions were united at Portland to complete the regimental organization which was finished on the fifteenth of July, and on the seventeenth the regiment left for Washington. Abner Knowles, Esq., of Bangor, a lawyer of distinction, was elected colonel,

Hiram Burnham, Esq., of Cherryfield, lieutenant colonel, and Frank Pierce of Bucksport, major, all of whom, except Colonel Knowles, who resigned December eleventh, still hold these positions. Captains Moses W. Brown, Cyrus Brown and A. G. Burton have resigned, and lieutenants Charles H. Chandler, George Fuller and William H. Stanchfield (formerly captain of the Milo Artillery) have been appointed and commissioned as captains in their places. Other changes that have occurred will be seen by referring to rosters of past and present officers. (Appendix, B and C.)

SEVENTH REGIMENT.

EDWIN C. MASON, Colonel.

SELDEN CONNOR, Lieutenant Colonel.

THOMAS W. HYDE, Major.

Company A, Captain Freeze of Houlton.

“ B,	“	Jones of China.
“ C,	“	Gilmore of Lincoln.
“ D,	“	Hyde of Bath.
“ E,	“	Connor of Fairfield.
“ F,	“	Cushman of Biddeford.
“ G,	“	Gilman of Portland.
“ H,	“	Cass of Bangor.
“ I,	“	Rolfe of Presque Isle.
“ K,	“	Norris of Monmouth.

This regiment was raised irrespective of Divisional limits, and rendezvoused at Augusta. It left Augusta on the twenty-third of August, and arrived in Baltimore on the twenty-fifth. Its successive locations have been as follows :—

At Bellevue Garden, Baltimore, from August 25th to 30th.

At Patterson Park, East Baltimore, from August 30th to September 16th.

On Murray Hill, opposite Fort McHenry, from September 16th to October 25th.

On a line of march, from October 25th to 26th.

At Kalorama Hill, Washington, from October 26th to November 7th.

In Third Brigade, General Brannan, Virginia, from November 7th to December 1st.

At the organization of this regiment, August twenty-second, Captain E. C. Mason, of the Seventeenth Regiment, United States Army, was elected colonel, Captain Connor of company E, lieutenant colonel, and Captain Hyde of company D, major, and these gentlemen are at this time incumbents of those offices respectively. Colonel Mason resigned, however, on the thirty-first of August, having failed to obtain leave of absence from the Seventeenth, and returned to the headquarters of that regiment. On the fifth of September Lieutenant Colonel Thomas H. Marshall of the Fourth was appointed by the commander-in-chief to the colonelcy of this regiment. During the interval between the resignation of Colonel Mason and the arrival of Colonel Marshall, a period of several weeks, Lieutenant Colonel James F. Miller of the Governor's Staff by order of the commander-in-chief assumed temporary command of the regiment. The very favorable impression which his administration of the drill and discipline and the camp and police arrangements of this regiment made upon the troops and the citizens of Baltimore, indicated his fitness for a permanent situation of that or a similar character. Colonel Marshall died at Baltimore on the twenty-fifth of October, while in command of the regiment, from fever contracted by exposure and fatigue while in the discharge of his duties. On the fifth of November Colonel Mason was a second time appointed and commissioned, and upon the tenth took command. Lieutenant John W. Channing succeeded as captain to the command of company E, and H. A. Dalton to that of company D. Captain Norris of company K resigned on the twenty-third of November, and Lieutenant Granville P. Cochran has been appointed to the captaincy. Other changes are shown in the published lists. (Appendix, B and C.) Company A, Captain Freeze, and company I, Captain Rolfe, were composed almost exclusively of soldiers from Aroostook County. Captain Gilmore's company, of Lincoln, and Captain Norris', of Monmouth, comprise men mostly from those towns and vicinity. In the other companies the residence of the captain is less indicative of that of the members.

EIGHTH REGIMENT.

LEE STRICKLAND, Colonel.

JOHN D. RUST, Lieutenant Colonel.

JOSEPH S. RICE, Major.

Company A,	Captain	Woodman	of	Wilton.
“	B,	“	Twitchell	of Patten.
“	C,	“	Strickland	of Livermore.
“	D,	“	Boynton	of Detroit.
“	E,	“	Hutchins	of New Portland.
“	F,	“	Hemmingway	of Sanford.
“	G,	“	Rice	of Ellsworth.
“	H,	“	Rust	of Camden.
“	I,	“	McArthur	of Limington.
“	K,	“	Conant	of Oldtown.

This regiment, composed of new companies exclusively, was raised at large from the towns and their vicinities indicated by the residence of the several captains. The regiment rendezvoused at Augusta. and at the organization Captains Strickland, Rust and Rice were elected colonel, lieutenant colonel and major respectively, and their places were filled by captains Bryant, Hoyt and Milliken. Colonel Strickland has recently resigned, and Lieutenant Colonel Rust has been promoted to the colonelcy. Major Rice resigned September twenty-eighth, and Captain Woodman of company A was appointed to fill the vacancy. Austin S. Bump of Wilton succeeds Major Woodman as captain. The other changes shown in the roster (Appendix B) are mostly by regular promotion. For the movements of the regiment the subjoined report of Colonel Strickland may be referred to:—“We left Augusta, Maine, September tenth, 1861; arrived at Hempstead, L. I., New York, September twelfth; left Hempstead September fifteenth; arrived at Washington, D. C., September seventeenth; left Washington October sixth; arrived at Annapolis, Maryland, the same day; left Annapolis October eighteenth; embarked on board steamer Ariel; landed at this place (Hilton Head, South Carolina,) November ninth,” where they have since remained.

NINTH REGIMENT.

RISHWORTH RICH, *Colonel.*COLMAN HARDING, *Lieutenant Colonel.*SABINE EMERY, Major.

Company A,	Captain	Emery	of Eastport.
" B,	"	Robinson	of Bath.
" C,	"	Reed	of Augusta.
" D,	"	Baker	of Bingham.
" E,	"	Wedgewood	of Cornish.
" F,	"	Bisbee	of Canton.
" G,	"	Hines	of Houlton.
" H,	"	Chase	of East Machias.
" I,	"	Cummings	of Bangor.
" K,	"	Harding	of Gorham.

This regiment was raised at large, and rendezvoused at Augusta. It was organized on the twenty-first of September by the election of Rishworth Rich of Portland, colonel, Captain Harding of company K, lieutenant colonel, and Captain Emery of company A as major. Lieutenants Wentworth of Gorham and Granger of Calais were made captains to fill those vacancies. Captain Cummings of company I resigned October seventeenth, and was succeeded by his first lieutenant, S. C. Baker of Bangor. The companies of this regiment embodied many soldiers belonging to unattached companies that were paid in May, and a majority of their members, except of the A, B and C companies, are residents of the towns and vicinities indicated. The report of Colonel Rich upon the progress and duty of this regiment will be regarded with interest:—"The regiment moved from Augusta, Maine, on Tuesday morning, September twenty-fourth, and arrived at Washington September twenty-sixth. On the twenty-seventh the tents were pitched at Bladensburg, one mile and a half from the Capitol. Were ordered to Meridian Hill, Tuesday, October first, but remained there but one day, returning again to Bladensburg. October eighth the regiment left Washington for Annapolis, and arrived there same day, where we encamped until embarkation Sunday morning, October twentieth, on board steamer Coatzacoalcos. On the twenty-first sailed for Fortress Monroe, and arrived there same day. Tuesday, October twenty-ninth, at noon, sailed in company with a large fleet, with sealed orders. The regiment is in the Third Brigade, General Wright, and was one of the three regiments landed simultaneously at Hilton Head on the evening of the capture of Fort Walker, Thursday, November seventh. Up to the present time (December thirteenth) the regiment has been encamped at the left of Fort Walker, employed in the usual manner of troops in service, working at the intrenchments, on picket, and scouting parties."

TENTH REGIMENT.

GEORGE L. BEAL, Colonel.

JAMES S. FILLEBROWN, Lieutenant Colonel.

CHARLES WALKER, Major.

Company A,	Captain Adams,	Saco.
" B,	" Walker,	Portland.
" C,	" Jordan,	Portland.
" D,	" West,	Fort Kent.
" E,	" Estes,	Portland.
" F,	" Knowlton,	Lewiston.
" G,	" Beal,	Norway.
" H,	" Emerson,	Auburn.
" I,	" Furbish,	Portland.
" K,	" Nye,	Lewiston.

The design in issuing Special Order No. 67 of August thirty-first (Appendix A) was that the companies which composed the First Regiment, organized with a maximum of seven hundred and eighty-one men, and which served at Washington under a three months' mustering into the United States' service, but all of whom, in accordance with the act of April twenty-fifth enlisted for two years' service out of the State, and received the bounty provided therefor, should be filled up to the standard established by the War Department, and serve out the remainder of their time. This purpose was found to be impracticable to a considerable extent, without the adoption of coercive measures, at variance with the spirit in which the nine preceding regiments had been brought into service almost without an effort. In effecting the organization of this regiment under General Order No. 50, of September twenty-eighth, (Appendix A) companies A, C, and D, of the former regimental organization became disintegrated. Company C was reorganized by the fusion of its own elements with those of companies A and D, under Lieutenant Jordan as captain. Captain Adams' company from Saco took the place of company A, and Captain West's from Fort Kent that of company D. Of the remaining companies, Lieutenants Estes, Knowlton, Blake, Furbish and Nye, of companies E, F, G, I and K, were promoted to captaincies. Captain Emerson and both his Lieutenants, Folsom and Dill, of company H, remained in service in the same company, that, with the others named, constituted the First Regiment. At the election of officers for the organization of this regiment, Captain George L. Beal of the G company of the First Regiment (which retained its place and letter in the Tenth) was elected colonel, James S. Fillebrown, adjutant of the First, lieutenant colonel, and Captain Charles Walker of company B of the First, (which also retained its place and letter in the Tenth, under Lieutenant James M. Black, promoted to captain,) was elected major. Lieutenant Colonel Henry Rust, Jr., who served in the First at Washington, was elected to succeed Colonel Beal in the command of company G, but soon after resigned to accept the lieutenant colonelcy of the Thirteenth Regiment, Colonel Dow. Lieutenant Jonathan Blake, who also served in the First at Washington, was elected captain to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Captain Rust. Company D, Captain West, was purely an Aroostook company. Most of the others embodied a small portion of the members of the First Regiment, but reference to the rolls, (Appendix D) will alone give the localities which furnished the troops of Colonel Beal's command.

This regiment left Portland October sixth, and encamped at "Camp Washburn," Patterson Park, Baltimore, on the ninth. On the fourth of November it moved to the Relay House, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and encamped at "Camp Beal." November thirteenth it moved one mile towards Washington, on the Washington Branch of this road, and on the twenty-seventh of November it returned to Camp Beal, the original location at the Relay House, where it still remains.

ELEVENTH REGIMENT.

JOHN C. CALDWELL, *Colonel.*H. M. PLAISTED, *Lieutenant Colonel.*WILLIAM M. SHAW, Major.

Company A,	Captain Pennell	of Portland.
“ B,	“ Kimball	of Augusta.
“ C,	“ Campbell	of Cherryfield.
“ D,	“ Harvey	of Weston.
“ E,	“ Straw	of Bangor.
“ F,	“ Davis	of Gardiner.
“ G,	“ Spofford	of Dedham.
“ H,	“ Nash	of Gray.
“ I,	“ Pomeroy	of Bancroft.
“ K,	“ Hill	of Stetson.

This was the first regiment raised in this State at the direct expense of the general government, under authority of the President and in pursuance of General Order No. 48 of September fourteenth. (Appendix A.) The ten preceding regiments had been raised, subsisted and completely fitted out at the expense of the State in pursuance of the act of April twenty-fifth. Unlike the mode of organization pursued under the ten regiment bill, requiring the election of the field officers by the captains and subalterns, by which the colonel, lieutenant colonel and major could not be elected until after the organization of the companies comprising the regiment, that of the Eleventh was completed in advance. John C. Caldwell, Esq., of East Machias, widely known as principal of the academy at that place and as a gentleman of talent, was appointed colonel, and William M. Shaw of Portland, captain of company E, of the First Regiment, was commissioned as major. Charles J. Pennell of Portland, first lieutenant of company B, of the First Regiment, was appointed adjutant, and Ivory J. Robinson, Esq., of Augusta, quartermaster. As this regiment did not complete the organization and equipment of its companies until the morning of its departure, the advantages in all the details of regimental arrangements which it had over other regiments in having its field and staff officers previously designated, were very apparent. Although Colonel Caldwell had no previous military experience, he evinced an aptness for the correct performance of his duties, while in camp at Augusta, which gave promise of future efficiency and distinction. His major and adjutant are entitled to no little credit for the soldierly manner in which everything pertaining to the routine of military observance was performed. H. M. Plaisted, Esq., of Bangor, was commissioned as lieutenant colonel of this regiment on the thirtieth of October, and the remainder of the staff was appointed about the same time. The regiment left Augusta November thirteenth, and proceeded to Washington, where it went into camp on Meridian Hill, and still remains. It is permanently brigaded in the First Brigade of General Casey's Division.

TWELFTH REGIMENT.

GEORGE F. SHEPLEY, Colonel.

WILLIAM K. KIMBALL, Lieutenant Colonel.

DAVID R. HASTINGS, Major.

Company A,	Captain Hastings	of Bethel.
“ B,	“ Chadwell	of Portland.
“ C,	“ Thornton	of Scarboro'.
“ D,	“ Winter	of Dixfield.
“ E,	“ Knight	of Bridgton.
“ F,	“ Farrington	of Fryeburg.
“ G,	“ Robinson	of Portland.
“ H,	“ Appleton	of Bangor.
“ I,	“ Fessenden	of Portland.
“ K,	“ Washburn	of Calais.

This regiment was raised and organized for the general government upon the same basis as the Eleventh, and was designed from the outset to constitute a portion of Major General Benj. F. Butler's New England Division for special service. Upon the nomination of General Butler, Hon. George F. Shepley of Portland, long District Attorney for the United States, and whose reputation as one of the ablest and most eloquent lawyers in New England is too well known to require mention here, was appointed colonel of this regiment. At the instance of Colonel Shepley, William K. Kimball, Esq., of Paris, formerly United States Marshall, was appointed lieutenant colonel, and David R. Hastings, Esq., of Lovell, major. Edward Illsley, formerly of the Fifth, was appointed adjutant, and Horatio N. Jose, Esq., of Portland, quartermaster. Captain Chadwell of company B served as first lieutenant of the A company in the First Regiment, and Captain Fessenden of company I served in the same capacity in company C of the First. All the others are believed to be new to the service. General Butler and Colonel Shepley being desirous that one of the Batteries of Light Artillery raised in this State should be permanently attached to this regiment, at the request of the latter, Captain Edward W. Thompson of Brunswick, formerly of the D company in the Fifth Regiment, was appointed to that command. The clothing, uniforms, equipments and complete outfit of this regiment were got up by Colonel Shepley's direction and under his constant supervision, and are equal, if not superior, to those of any regiment in the service. The organization having been completed and all necessary arrangements perfected, the commander-in-chief, by General Order No. 55 of November twenty-second (Appendix A) relinquished to General Butler the exclusive command of the regiment. It left its rendezvous in Portland on the twenty-fourth of November, and reached Lowell, Mass., next day, where it has since remained under the orders of that officer, preparing for embarkation to participate with the remaining régiments of that division in a southern campaign.

RIFLE SHARP SHOOTERS.

JAMES D. FESSENDEN, Esq., of Portland, Captain.

JACOB McCCLURE, of Rockland, First Lieutenant.

SILAS C. BARKER, of Augusta, Second Lieutenant.

This company, raised in accordance with the request of the Secretary of War to the commander-in-chief and under provisions of General Order No. 46 of September eleventh, (Appendix A,) was enlisted from among the best marksmen to be found in the State, under the supervision of Captains James D. Fessenden at Portland, R. R. Park of the Veazie Rifles, at Bangor, and Lieutenants Jacob McClure, at Rockland, and Silas C. Barker, at Augusta, aided to some extent by other individuals. The company was furnished by the general government with an outfit of superior clothing and uniforms. Its equipment and organization were completed on the eighth of November under Special Order No. 108, (Appendix A,) and it left Augusta on the thirteenth of the same month, with the Eleventh Regiment, Colonel Caldwell, for Washington, where it arrived, and is attached to Colonel Berdan's Regiment, encamped in that city.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT.

NEAL DOW, Colonel.HENRY RUST, JR., Lieutenant Colonel.FRANK S. HESSELTINE, Major.

Company A,	Captain	Frederick A. Stevens,	Bangor.
"	B,	"	William B. Snell, Fairfield.
"	C,	"	Alfred E. Buck, Lewiston.
"	D,	"	Charles A. Bates, Norridgewock.
"	E,	"	Isaac F. Quimby, Westbrook.
"	F,	"	Charles R. March, Portland.
"	G,	"	John L. Sawyer, Portland.
"	H,	"	Abernethy Grover, Albany.
"	I,	"	Stillman C. Archer, Cherryfield.
"	K,	"	William R. Swan, Paris.

This regiment was raised at large, and rendezvoused at Augusta. Colonel Dow, for his acknowledged talent and indomitable energy, was selected for the command of this regiment. His lieutenant colonel and major have both had military experience in the field, the former in the First Regiment and the latter in the Third. From Colonel Dow's widely extended reputation, enlistments for service under his command were unusually rapid. This regiment is still in camp at Augusta.

FOURTEENTH REGIMENT.

FRANK S. NICKERSON, Colonel.ELIAS MILLIKEN, Lieutenant Colonel.THOMAS W. PORTER, Major.

Company A,	Captain	Charles Barnard,	Bucksport.
"	B,	"	Richard W. Mullen, Vassalboro'.
"	C,	"	George Scott, Wiscasset.
"	D,	"	Nathaniel Sawyer, Dixmont.
"	E,	"	Orlando W. Trask, Atkinson.
"	F,	"	Horace Blackman, Bradley.
"	G,	"	George H. Cheney, Portland.
"	H,	"	Lewis Chase, Fayette.
"	I,	"	James B. Hill, Patten.
"	K,	"	Edward S. Morris, Newfield.

This regiment was raised at large, and is now in camp at Augusta. Colonel Nickerson raised a company for the Fourth Regiment, of which he was commissioned captain, and at the organization of the regiment was elected major; subsequently, upon the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Marshall to the colonelcy of the Seventh Regiment, he was promoted to fill that vacancy. Colonel Nickerson, by his seven months of active service in the field with the Fourth and his efficiency and courage at the battle of Bull Run, affords sufficient assurance of the character and value of this regiment to the public service.

FIFTEENTH REGIMENT.

JOHN McCLUSKY, Colonel.

ISAAC DYER, Lieutenant Colonel.

BENJAMIN HAWES, Major.

Company A,	Captain Benjamin B. Murray, Jr.,	Pembroke.
“ B,	“ Seth H. Leonard,	Bowdoin.
“ C,	“ Charles W. Clayton,	Masardis.
“ D,	“ Charles S. Illsley,	Portland.
“ E,	“ Charles B. Smith,	Houlton.
“ F,	“ Lawrence J. Joyce,	Brunswick.
“ G,	“ Franklin M. Drew,	Presque Isle.
“ H,	“ John B. Wilson,	Exeter.
“ I,	“ Michael Boyce,	Bangor.
“ K,	“ Chandler R. Merrill,	Calais.

This regiment was raised at large, and rendezvoused at Augusta. Aroostook county continues to furnish a greater number of troops in proportion to its number of inhabitants than any county in the State. The regiment is yet in camp at Augusta.

FIRST BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

EDWARD W. THOMPSON, Captain.

JOHN B. HUBBARD, First Lieutenant.

ALBERT W. BRADBURY, First Lieutenant.

GEORGE E. HARDING, Second Lieutenant.

This battery was raised at large, and rendezvoused at Portland. It has left the State and joined the Twelfth Regiment, Colonel Shepley, now at Camp Chase, Lowell, Mass., and is expected to move with other troops under Major General B. F. Butler at an early day for some southern destination. The horses and armament were furnished by the government. Captain Thompson held like rank in the Fifth Regiment, and distinguished himself for coolness and valor at the battle of Bull Run.

SECOND BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

DAVIS TILLSON, Captain.
 JAMES A. HALL, First Lieutenant.
 SAMUEL PAINE, First Lieutenant.
 WILLIAM A. PERRY, Second Lieutenant.
 SAMUEL FESSENDEN, Second Lieutenant.

This battery was raised at large, and rendezvoused at Augusta. General Tillson, my predecessor, educated at West Point, is favorably known as a gentleman of military taste and culture. The highest expectations have been formed of the efficiency and distinction of this battery. The horses, equipments and probably the entire armament will be furnished here, and the corps will be attached to the Thirteenth Regiment, Colonel Dow. The battery is still in camp at Augusta.

THIRD BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

JAMES G. SWETT, Captain.
 EZEKIEL R. MAYO, First Lieutenant.
 SETH A. EMERY, First Lieutenant.
 MELVILLE C. BURGESS, Second Lieutenant.
 JOSEPH W. WHITEMORE, Second Lieutenant.

Captain Swett was long in command of the Brewer Artillery, and very much of its reputation for efficiency was due to his skill and exertions. He was not in commission at the organization of the Second Regiment, which embraced that company under Captain Jones. This battery is fortunate, it is believed, in having secured Captain Swett as its commander. It was raised at large, and is now rendezvoused at Augusta, and is to be furnished as the Second Battery.

FOURTH BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

O'NEIL W. ROBINSON, JR., Captain.

LUCIUS M. S. HAINES, First Lieutenant.

HAMLIN F. EATON, First Lieutenant.

Captain Robinson is an accomplished gentleman of liberal education, and is believed to possess the many requisites to constitute him a capable and efficient officer. This battery was raised at large, and is now rendezvoused at Augusta. It will be furnished as the two preceding.

FIFTH BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

GEORGE F. LEPPEN, Captain.

WILLIAM F. TWITCHELL, First Lieutenant.

GREENLIEF T. STEVENS, First Lieutenant.

ADELBERT B. TWITCHELL, Second Lieutenant.

EZRA CLARK, Second Lieutenant.

Captain Leppien, at the time of his appointment, held a lieutenant's commission in a Pennsylvania battery attached to General Blenker's Division. He is a native of Philadelphia, and was educated at Luneburg, in Germany. He was highly recommended for this position by General Barry, Chief of Artillery in the army of the Potomac. To rare natural gifts he has added a thorough military culture, which promise a useful and honorable future. Both the second lieutenants have also had experience in military life. This battery will enter service under favorable auspices. It was raised at large, and is rendezvoused at Augusta, and will be furnished as the three preceding.

SIXTH BATTERY OF MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

FREEMAN MCGILVERY, Captain.

GEORGE H. SMITH, First Lieutenant.

FRED. A. MORTON, Second Lieutenant.

This battery was raised at large, and is now rendezvoused at Augusta. It was enlisted in Aroostook county, and will be attached to the Fifteenth Regiment, Colonel McClusky.

FIRST REGIMENT OF CAVALRY.

JOHN GODDARD, of Portland, Colonel.

THOMAS HIGHT, of Second U. S. Dragoons, Lieutenant Colonel.

SAMUEL H. ALLEN, of Thomaston, Major.

CALVIN S. DOUTY, of Dover, Major.

DAVID P. STOWELL, of Canton, Major.

Company A, Captain Warren L. Whitney, Newburgh.

“ B, “ Jonathan P. Cilley, Thomaston.

“ C, “ Robert F. Dyer, Augusta.

“ D, “ Charles H. Smith, Eastport.

“ E, “ Black Hawk Putnam, Houlton.

“ F, “ Nathan Mayhew, Portland.

“ G, “ Augustus J. Burbank, Lewiston.

“ H, “ George J. Summat, U. S. Army.

“ I, “ Lewis O. Cowan, Biddeford.

“ K, “ George Prince, Bath.

“ L, “ Reuben B. Jennings, Farmington.

“ M, “ George M. Brown, Bangor.

This regiment, consisting of twelve companies and three battalions, was raised at large under General Order No. 48, (Appendix A,) and is now rendezvoused at Augusta. Colonel John Goddard is too well and favorably known throughout the State as a man of energy and ability to require any further mention here. He was selected for this position at the earliest inception of the regimental organization, and the remaining field and staff officers soon after. They have all been indefatigable in their labors, and have organized a regiment which, for the character of its men and the quality of its horses, renders it equal if not superior to any one now in the service. The extraordinary care taken by Colonel Goddard and his officers from the first to secure the kindest treatment for the horses is deserving of special commendation, and the evidence of it apparent in their intelligent and cheerful faces, spirited bearing and good condition is a rich reward for all their exertions in this behalf. The saving to the government in the lives of horses from the rigid enforcement of his rules in this respect must be several thousands of dollars. I have no hesitation in saying that twelve hundred horses of equal value could with difficulty be procured in the United States. This fact reflects the highest credit upon the gentlemen selected to purchase these animals, as well as upon the officers and men of the regiment for their care of them. Although some two months only have elapsed since the organization of this regiment and the mustering of the larger portion into service, it has attained a respectable degree of discipline so far as the horsemanship of the members and the tractability of the horses is concerned. Both men and horses have become familiar with the routine of camp life, and thrive upon it. The men are diligently exercised in drill and discipline both mounted and on foot, and although their progress is commendable, they are excelled in proficiency by their horses, which manifest great intelligence and zeal in their duties.

From its populous and extended line of sea-coast, with a large community which obtains a livelihood by maritime pursuits, Maine has, for years, been able to exhibit a greater comparative number of its citizens in the naval service of the country than any other State. The same condition of things exists at the present time, and the names of thousands of the sons of Maine are now to be found enrolled upon the enlistment books of our ships of war.

So great has been the tide of emigration from Maine to California and the Western States during the past fifteen years, that an examination of the descriptive rolls of regiments in service from those portions of the Union would undoubtedly show this State to be the birthplace of thousands of their best troops. And yet after this large draft upon our community we scarcely perceive any decrease in our population by the military organizations, amounting to more than seventeen thousand men, which we have furnished during the present season to the general government.

York county, from its proximity to New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and from its business relations and railroad connections with these States, has furnished many men for their regiments. Some of the towns in this county have actually supplied more troops to these States, particularly to Massachusetts, than to Maine. Other portions of the State have also, to some extent, contributed for organizations beyond our limits. It is to be regretted that the names and history of these persons could not have had a place in this department with others of their fellow-citizens who have gone into service in regiments and corps of our own organization. Orders have been promulgated forbidding the departure of any recruits whatever from this State until after the return to this office of full and sufficient enlistment and descriptive rolls; but in the matter of enlistments for service in regiments organizing beyond the State these orders have been entirely disregarded.

The Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Regiments actively participated in the battle of Bull Run, and the surgeons of three of them were captured by the enemy while engaged in faithfully attending the wounded of their respective regiments upon the field of battle. Although the rosters of each regiment (Appendix, B and C,) will furnish the names of these gallant officers, it is fitting that they should have special mention here.

Of the Second Regiment, Doctor William H. Allen of Orono.

Of the Fourth Regiment, Doctor Seth C. Hunkins of Windham.

Of the Fifth Regiment, Doctor Benjamin F. Buxton of Warren.

These gentlemen are now in the State upon parole. Surgeon Allen was honorably discharged from service at his own request on the twenty-first of October. Rev. John F. Mines, chaplain of the Second Regiment, was also taken prisoner with these surgeons while nobly engaged in the same work of mercy.

Arrangements have been partially perfected at the War Department for transmitting to parties designated by the Governor, such amount of the pay of individuals in service, as may be allotted. This plan devolves great labor upon the Paymaster General, and reflects credit upon those with whom it originated. The co-operation of the State and municipal authorities has been cheerfully accorded in securing the acquiescence of soldiers in this wise arrangement for the welfare of themselves and families. A small amount of labor and attention to the details is required during the organization of a company, or when it is perfected, and the allotment roll in duplicate is then transmitted to Washington, securing beyond peradventure the receipt of the amount set apart, by the individuals at home designated as the recipients. No pains will be spared to facilitate the accomplishment of this object and in securing to the community the earnings of those serving the government as good soldiers in this its hour of need. The burden which the rebellion imposes upon this State will be greatly lightened if the monthly pay of those in service can be secured by their families. All non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates may, with due regard to their individual necessities, allot at least seven-eighths of their pay. The expenditures of nine-tenths of these individuals bring them only injury and render them less contented and efficient. Their enlistment with the government, insures them a home in sickness as well as in health, an abundance of comfortable clothing, and an amount of wholesome food of the best description that can be furnished, greater than they can consume, the surplus of which they can realize in cash. Those who thus leave their families for the preservation of our national existence, are no more justified in squandering in dissipation and folly, the liberal wages which the government allows, than they would be in pursuing the like course at home under the usual circumstances of peace. The excess of the pay of captains and subalterns over their necessary expenses during a three years' service, would with economy, secure to those of moderate desires, immunity from want for the remainder of their days. The liberality of the government to its troops is unequalled by that of any other nation on the face of the globe, and it will indeed be lamentable if at the end of the present conflict it is found that any considerable number of our soldiers have enriched the army sutlers with their earnings, and returned to their families and friends with perverted tastes and ruined health.

The returns of enrolled militia (Appendix F) for the present year, evince a compliance on the part of municipal officers, after repeated applications, in some instances, with a special request made by me in March last in relation to the performance of this duty, that they should "exercise all the discrimination, care and caution that would be needed in the anticipation of any immediate call for troops, by draft or detachment, for actual service,—a contingency by no means impossible."

Although the number of enrolled militia is reported as eighty-one thousand one hundred and forty-three, being twenty-five thousand in excess of that of last year, there can be no doubt of its being more nearly correct than any similar return heretofore made. There are in the few unreturned portions of the State, by estimation, but three hundred and fifty-eight soldiers, while in 1860, returns were wanting from one hundred and seven towns and fifty-six plantations.

In 1841, with a population of little more than half a million, we had almost fifty thousand militia enrolled in accordance with our constitutional obligations, in no less than six hundred and ninety-nine organized companies, one-third of which at least, was undoubtedly available at a moment's warning by draft or detachment. When we consider that this force, comprising as it did artillery, cavalry and riflemen, was, with the exception of the first named, wholly armed and equipped at its own expense, we may form some conception of what the magnitude and value of our militia would have been to the government in this emergency, had it been maintained upon the basis then existing. The necessity then imposed by law upon the militia of keeping themselves supplied with arms and equipments at their own expense, with the yearly accessions to our arsenals from the general government of everything requisite for the ordnance department, if properly preserved and modernized, as it might have been at comparatively trifling expense, would have found us at the commencement of hostilities with more than one hundred thousand stand of arms, equal in efficiency to a majority of those furnished by the government the present season, to the regiments now in service. Our artillery would undoubtedly have been equally well provided for, and in furnishing seventy or eighty thousand well armed and tolerably disciplined militia as a reserve from which one-third or one-fourth of that number could be brought into the field by voluntary enlistment or by draft, every requisition of the government would have been responded to at once.

In view of the special credit which seems justly to attach to a large proportion of our officers who passed from positions in our imperfect militia organization into actual service, I think I am justified in expressing the opinion that we could have furnished our quota of troops to the government with much greater facility had the former militia system continued, and our regiments, in efficiency would not have suffered (as I trust they do not now) by a comparison with any volunteer troops in the Union.

Such are the facilities for transportation at the present day that the authorized three months' services of drafted militia at the call of the President are fully equal to those of a year during the period of the last war with Great Britain, since the most remote of the free States can now by railroad facilities furnish its contingent of troops at the capital within a week from the date of the requisition. The constitutions of the United States and of this State presuppose that every able-bodied white male citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, with very few enumerated exceptions, is armed and equipped at his own expense, and duly enrolled in an organized company. Had these constitutional requirements been observed, the enormous expense of enlisting volunteers, clothing and subsisting them during the period required to perfect their organization would have been avoided. Very many of the line and some of the staff officers of our volunteer regiments, as well as those from other States, were, at the time of their being commissioned, utterly ignorant of the plainest requirements of military duty, having never been enrolled as members of any military organization, or performed military duty for a single day. A force of drafted militia, with the officers necessarily existing under constitutional requirements, having a personal interest in a free government, wholesome laws and rapid progress in christian civilization and refinement, is, before all others, the body of men to oppose with arms the dismemberment of the Union. Salutary and efficient as may be the promptings of patriotism, they can, in no wise, be an equivalent for the drill and discipline afforded by an active campaign. Notwithstanding our neglect in this respect, Maine can now be relied upon for twenty thousand militia at three days' notice, unarmed and unorganized, it is true, but in mental and physical power unsurpassed by any like number on the globe; and in addition to this force an equal number would be left behind ready to take their places at the expiration of their term of service. The immense advantages of our form of government's being such as to enable every free State to furnish at short notice from voluntary enlistment a larger army than the United States government has ever raised in the same time, and still leave uncalled for, as is shown by records here, four times the number furnished, is too striking an illustration of its entirety and of the rapid progress made in population, wealth and civilization under its influences to admit of its perfection's being controverted.

It would indeed be unfortunate if in the present emergency no occasion should require the thousands of reserved, unorganized forces to be called upon for active service, who are so capable of doing honor to themselves and to the government, but who in the absence of necessity or compulsion will be content to leave the battles of the country to be fought by volunteers, while they merely contribute their proportion of the requisite expenses.

The advantages of having a majority of the adult male population of a commonwealth rendered subject to a regular military organization cannot well be overestimated ; and while this ought, in all respects to be amply sufficient for the common security, it should not in the least lessen the opportunities afforded for the education of youth, or interfere with the harmonious and complete efficiency of all the various vocations of life. The discipline required by such an organization would, if rigidly directed and enforced, improve the physical condition of the people by increasing their muscular activity and power of endurance, elevating the standard of bodily health, and tending in every respect towards the development of a mature and perfect manhood ; it would render the members of the State better citizens, more thoroughly obedient to law and all constituted authority, more deeply imbued with the love of country and its institutions, and engender a personal pride and interest in their protection and perpetuity.

A blind and reckless pursuit of wealth, with the pleasures and vices which invariably accompany its possession, has in all countries and in every age tended to emasculate true manhood ; and in proportion as any people have grown wealthy and luxurious, they have become demoralized and effeminate. History affords no instance of such a government which has not fallen from its high standing among nations, lost its national pride and self-respect, become incapable of defence either against its foreign or domestic foes, and thus paved the way to its final destruction.

The appalling events of the present year, unequalled in interest and importance, have clearly shown the immeasurable advantages accruing to a popular form of government, from the maintenance, at all times, of a well organized and disciplined militia, in accordance with the requirements of the constitution, and at whatever necessary expense. Such a system teaches officers to command and soldiers to obey, and were this all it were well worth the cost. It measurably familiarizes troops with the sacrifices and hardships as well as the pleasures attendant upon the performance of military duty, and affords some opportunity for acquiring a practical knowledge of the economical administration, in detail, of efficient staff, camp and field organizations.

The founders of this republic, during the long struggles of the Revolution, acquired a full and abiding conviction of the almost priceless value to a free, representative government of the adoption of the requisite measures for its preservation ; hence their frequent and earnest inculcations upon their successors, of the importance of a citizen soldiery. "A well regulated militia being necessary for the security of a free state—" was their deliberately recorded opinion respecting this institution. Long years of uninterrupted peace had led us to believe that it was our privilege to enjoy all the advantages of a free government, the best since the world began, without adopting any measures for its protection and perpetuity, just as we enjoy the light and heat of the sun. A militia system has for years been regarded in this State, as one for the continuance and fostering care of which, there existed not the slightest necessity; and the being obliged to devote two or three days annually, to the maintenance of such an organization, has been considered as oppressive and worse than useless. Although it had subserved the purposes for which it was created, in both the first and second wars with Great Britain, yet peace had so long dwelt within our borders, it was believed that war would never again disturb us.

The great difficulty to be surmounted in hastily preparing a military organization from citizens wholly unaccustomed to such duty, is in requiring them constantly to remember that the few necessarily clothed with authority, are to command, and the many to obey, promptly, unhesitatingly and implicitly; that the common courtesies of business and domestic life among neighbors and townsmen are temporarily suspended, and that prompt obedience to the commands of a superior, be he the commander-in-chief or a corporal, is altogether indispensable in a military organization. Upon the degree of perfection to which this principle is carried, depends the efficiency or inefficiency of any corps. The entire suspension for years, of military duty in any community, will necessarily render it difficult for its citizens, when called into service, to yield cheerfully to the seeming imperiousness of one in authority, who in civil life occupied a position subordinate perhaps, to their own. The teaching of the great mass of the rank and file in any arm of active service, necessary to render it formidable, may be acquired in a comparatively brief period, if complete subordination exists; but as there are few born to command, and these are not invariably, nor, perhaps, frequently called upon to do so, it may be assumed that practice and experience in the elementary and ordinary details of duty, are absolutely necessary to any man, before undertaking to impart it to others. The absence of all opportunity to acquire these, from the virtual abrogation of a militia system, affords the real explanation of the want of immediate discipline and efficiency in all our regiments.

From the eager ambition which is found among persons of almost all conditions of life for commissions in the volunteer service, it is apprehended that few are fully aware of the nature and magnitude of the duties which they must necessarily be called upon to perform. However skilled an officer may be in the school of the soldier, company and battalion, or however good his faculty for imparting his knowledge to those in his command, he is but poorly qualified for the discharge of his duties if he considers these all. Every thing conducive to the health, comfort and efficiency of his charge should engage his constant care and attention. There should be a careful inspection of the clothing and equipments issued by the quarter-master, to see that they be correct in kind and quantity, and an exact charge made thereof to each individual; an examination of rations, to see that they are wholesome and sufficient; a supervision of the cooking, that it be done with neatness, skill and economy, that the food is served with as much regularity as is consistent with the exigencies of the service, and that sufficient quantities are seasonably prepared for sentinels, pickets, scouting parties or other detached duty, and for marches; that the washing and mending of garments and the personal cleanliness of the men is enforced; that the straw or other material used for beds is frequently changed, and the bedding often aired and washed; that the tents or huts and the grounds about them are kept neat; that the offal of the camp is daily removed; that the location of the sinks is favorable; that injurious liquors and eatables are excluded; that all rolls, records and returns be made out promptly, correctly, and carefully preserved; that all requisitions are seasonably made upon the proper officer and accurately answered; that all receive the full amount due them, and cooperate in having the whole or such portion as the soldier allots sent to his friends, and that the latter be seasonably notified of his sickness or death and all the particulars connected therewith, and the proper entry made upon the rolls; if the soldier is discharged from service on account of disability incurred therein, to see that the surgeon's certificate is furnished, and the discharge made to correspond with it; that all arrears of pay and allowances, pension money and bounties to which he is entitled, are secured to him or his heirs, and that medical and surgical aid is promptly rendered every individual requiring it,—these comprise some of the duties of a commissioned officer in the service; and whenever any individual seeks an appointment, he should be aware that his labors and responsibilities as much exceed those of a private soldier, as his own pay and emoluments are greater.

While the office of lieutenant is responsible and important, and yields an income nearly equal to that of the salary of the Governor of this State, a captain's position in the service, affording increased honor and emolument, is one which should satisfy the ambition of all aspirants for military promotion, save the gifted few, who from marked natural ability and experience in military science, may be equal to higher commands. When it is remembered that the moral and physical welfare and even the lives of an hundred men are almost wholly dependent upon the captain, some conception may be formed of the importance of that position; and it is not to be forgotten that those in his command are to return from the service to the State and their families, bringing habits which will reflect the influences for good or evil that he has thrown around them and which will control in no small degree, their future well-being and usefulness. No man is obliged to accept a commission in the service; it is his own voluntary act; and all the results ensuing from it, whatever they may be, are legitimately chargeable to his individual account. Not less than fifty of the eight hundred officers who have been commissioned for regiments from this State, have been discharged for unfitness arising doubtless from their having mistaken their vocation. Had these officers been as faithful in the discharge of their duties as they were zealous in obtaining commissions, we might have presented a more favorable record of our common misfortune. In view of the liberal pay and emoluments allowed officers as well as soldiers, and the importance in the present emergency of the most rapid possible progress in military knowledge, the occasion for this exhibit is deeply to be regretted. That men destitute of the requisite qualifications for military trust and responsibility, should seek these positions and receive the compensation awarded them, without either the ability or inclination to advance themselves or their commands in military knowledge and discipline during the brief interval afforded the troops for that purpose, and occupy the places that competent men alone should fill, almost up to the moment of actual engagement and then abandon the service, is a state of things from which the government and soldiers deeply suffer.

We turn with pleasure from the consideration of these to another class who weary not in well-doing. While those who have received promotion should have our congratulations upon their success, no less worthy of commendation are the subalterns, captains and field officers who still continue to occupy the positions in which they entered service, whose commands are well known and distinguished for the neatness of their encampments, the sobriety, cleanliness and soldierly deportment of their troops, the good order of their arms and equipments and the precision and promptness of all their military movements. One such regiment possesses an esprit de corps which gives it the efficiency of two that are subject to frequent changes in their field and company officers, and especially where those officers accept places only as stepping stones to higher and more lucrative ones.

The present experience of our troops in the general details of military knowledge, afforded by the existing rebellion, will be cheaply purchased, if we are destined ere it is forgotten, to come in conflict with the mother country or other first class power. With the sufficiency of arms which may be manufactured at our own workshops, forty thousand efficient men can be brought into the field at short notice, more especially, if needed for maintaining the integrity of our own State; and with an equal number in reserve, preparing for duty and supplying the ordinary depreciation of this force, one half that number may be considered permanent for a contest of whatever magnitude or duration. Although the disbursements for military purposes made by the State during the past nine months, is an unusual item, it is insignificant when compared with the resources of our people. There are hundreds of our citizens, the private fortunes of any ten of whom, would reimburse the treasury and still leave the donors in affluence. If the patriotism of our citizens were put to the test in a struggle for national existence, such a spontaneous uprising of the people would be witnessed as would put to shame the best efforts of the most energetic and self-sacrificing of our erring sister States. From the financial and military systems adopted by the general government for defraying the necessary expenses and carrying on the present conflict, it is to be feared that too many of our citizens, both in and out of service, look at the details of the struggle in a pecuniary point of view, and are seeking from it, only pecuniary advantage. But let imminent invasion threaten and the emergencies of the public service require a draft, detachment or assembling en masse of our enrolled militia, and from that moment financial anxieties would be forgotten until the danger was past and the safety of our country secured.

*Legislation upon a militia, in contradistinction to a volunteer system in this and other States during the past twenty years amounts to the virtual abolition of one of the institutions of our government, without the aid of which our independence never would have been attained, and without which, the perpetuity of its blessings may be uncertain. The militia of the United States forms a distinct and important component part of the government, and although it is always subject to the civil power, no civil officer, as such, has any military authority. Soldiers can be commanded only by military officers duly commissioned, or non-commissioned officers duly appointed. There is no authority given to any State in the Union to coerce into the public service a single citizen, unless he is a militia man. His being a "free, able-bodied, white male citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years," does not constitute him a militia man. He is only liable to enrolment, and until he is legally enrolled, he is not a militia man nor subject to any military duty. No other person than the captain or commanding officer of the company can make this enrolment. Hence it is certain, that where there are no companies there are no commanding officers of companies, and of course no legal enrolments and consequently no militia. All power to organize and discipline the militia was given to Congress by the sixteenth section of the eighth article of the Constitution of the United States, reserving to each State the appointment of officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress. Congress, by the enactments of the eighth of May, 1792, provided for the organization of the militia, commencing with the enrolment and arranging the details of the entire organization into companies, battalions, regiments, brigades and divisions and designating the number and rank of the commissioned and non-commissioned officers necessary to each separate division and sub-division of the organization. Upon some of the officers especial duties are enjoined; the captains or commanding officers of companies to enroll all who are subjects of enrolment; the brigade majors of each brigade to attend battalion and regimental meetings of the militia, and during the time they are under arms, to inspect them, and their arms, accoutrements and ammunition, and to superintend their exercises and manoeuvres and make returns to the Adjutant General at least once in every year of the militia of the brigade to which he belongs, reporting the actual condition of the arms, accoutrements and ammunition of the several corps, and every other thing which in his judgment may relate to their government and the general advancement of good order and discipline. This law was observed by the respective States and the militia system maintained with more or less efficiency, by Maine, at least, until within twenty years, when, although the law remained in full force and unrepealed and does to this day, it was disregarded and set at naught and the militia disbanded. It is to be observed that this law of Congress, organizing the militia, requires citizens to be enrolled by the captain or commanding officer of the company. The State Legislature was never invested with constitutional power to authorize any other person to enroll a militia man. The organization of the militia was left with Congress, and it prescribed by enactment this system which now continues unrepealed, the same, except an additional provision passed May twelfth, 1820, that "when it appears to the commanding officer of a regiment that any company within his regiment is without a commissioned officer or clerk he shall require in writing the assessors of cities, towns or plantations in which such company is situated to make out and return to him within ten days a list of the names of all persons liable by law to do military duty in such company,"—not to enroll them. At the same time, Congress, without altering or amending the mode of organization in the least, provided for the conditional exemption from military duty of certain persons between the ages of thirty and forty-five years. This view of the whole subject, as applicable to our militia enrolled under existing laws of this State, at variance with the constitution and laws of the United States, might in certain contingencies, had we less reliance upon the patriotism and public spirit of our citizens, occasion us deep anxiety and alarm; but with our experience in raising troops by voluntary enlistment for the suppression of the present rebellion, we need have no immediate fears. I deem it to be my official duty, however, to recommend that such measures be initiated as will secure a constitutional organization of the militia, at as early a day as may be practicable.

An inspection of the table (Appendix I) exhibiting the whole number of male population, with the different ages classified, in the several towns and cities of this State, in connection with the enrolled militia, will do much towards satisfying all that Maine has the ability to perform no insignificant part in the present or any future national conflict. A considerable portion of our male population, from the hardy nature of their pursuits as mechanics, farmers, lumbermen, sailors and fishermen, constitute a material for soldiers which can hardly be equalled. Already have our regiments in service exhibited marked ability for overcoming whatever obstacles may oppose progress and success to an advancing column. In felling forests, constructing forts and other works of defence to retard the advance of opposing forces, in bridging streams, opening roads, converting any materials that may be at hand into comfortable quarters, and in providing for any emergency or convenience, our Maine troops are not excelled. Of their valor in the face of the enemy, I am proud to refer to official reports from disinterested sources.

The absorption of nineteen of the most efficient of the thirty-four companies, which constituted the active militia of this State prior to April last, (Table 1, Appendix H,) with all their arms, equipments and camp equipage and the withdrawal of the material of five of the remaining fifteen for the same service, left so little of the militia force which ordinarily occupies the attention of this department and the major generals and other officers of the volunteer militia under chapter ten of the Revised Statutes, that with the exception of remarking the fact shown in Table 3 (Appendix H) of the returns of eight of the fifteen remaining companies, my report upon this branch of military organizations might with propriety be here brought to a close. My views in relation to the obligations of citizens at all times to perform military duty as a small part of the price of their privileges, and of the Legislature to enact such laws regulating the militia as the constitution of the United States imperatively demands, are fully set forth in another part of this report.

The Kittery Artillery, Captain M. F. Wentworth, made all necessary arrangements for entering the service of the general government in the First Regiment, Colonel Jackson; but the great interests at stake in the Navy Yard at that place rendered their immediate occupation of Fort McClary imperative. No little credit is due Captain Wentworth and his command for their promptness in entering upon a service which involved the disappointment of their plans and desires.

The parading as regiments of numerous unorganized military associations, familiarly termed "Home Guards," during the summer and autumn, for drill and exercise in military discipline and for informal review by the major generals present, has been presented more fully in detail in the public prints of the day, than I am enabled to do in this report. The following have incidentally come to my knowledge:—

IN THE FIRST DIVISION.

At South Newburgh,	August twenty-ninth,
At Hampden,	October ninth,
At North Newburgh,	October fifteenth,
At Bangor.

At the three first mentioned places Colonel Amasa Walker was in command and F. G. Flagg, Esq., of Hampden, Acting Adjutant; at Bangor Colonel William H. Mills commanded. These three gentlemen are all well known and of large military experience. Major General James H. Butler and staff reviewed the troops at Hampden and Bangor, and I am informed that the patriotic zeal and military enthusiasm which actuate the great mass of the people in the present emergency, were demonstrated in a most gratifying manner.

In the Second Division but one similar demonstration is within my knowledge, and that occurred at Monroe on the twenty-fifth of September. I am informed that a successful one was made at Benton during the fall. Major General Titcomb was not present at either, and I am without detailed information in relation to them, yet have an impression that the Benton occasion was a most successful one. A similar demonstration is understood to have been made at Bowdoinham sometime in October; but of its success, as well as the exact date and name of the commanding officer, I have no information.

In the Third Division, a two days' encampment of those temporary organizations took place at Bethel, in October, commanded by Colonel Moses Houghton and reviewed by Major General William W. Virgin and staff. At Turner, under Colonel Philo S. Clark, and at Gray, (commanding officer unknown,) parades of a day each are informally reported as having taken place, all of which were eminently satisfactory.

Though the spirit which prompted these demonstrations is a laudable one, its contemplation gives rise to a feeling of regret that so many of their prime movers should, in former years, have wearied in performing their duty in this respect and thus have brought our State into its present destitute condition in regard to arms, ordnance and other munitions of war, as well as a knowledge of their familiar use.

The seventy-sixth section of chapter ten, of the Revised Statutes, relating to the militia, provides that "every commanding officer of a company raised at large" (meaning the uniformed or active militia) "shall parade his company on the second Wednesday in May, annually, at one o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of inspecting, examining and taking account of all equipments of his men, in order that a thorough inspection may be made of all volunteer companies in the State. Every commanding officer of a company shall exercise and discipline, as well as inspect his company, on said day. Every commanding officer as aforesaid shall, in addition thereto, parade his company for exercise and discipline on two other days, at the hour aforesaid, by his own order." The eleventh section of chapter sixty-four, in addition thereto, approved April twenty-fifth, 1861, provides that "for each company drill, not exceeding two each year, officers and soldiers shall receive one dollar per day, to be paid according to a pay roll made up by the clerk of the company, and certified to by the captain of said company." As three parades annually for exercise and discipline are required of companies, and provision is made to pay for the services of members at two only, the inference must be that the old time honored "May training" is left to remain as it has existed from time immemorial, purely a work of patriotism. Returns of May inspections from the commanding officers of this class of companies, have been received from seven only, and of these but two have held company drills under section eleven above quoted, entitling them to compensation therefor. These services, amounting to ninety-one dollars and twenty cents, comprise the sum total of disbursements required the present year, by the aforesaid Act of April twenty-fifth. The annual compensation to aides-de-camp of Generals, Brigade Inspectors, Adjutants of regiments and clerks of companies, is provided for in section eighty-seven of chapter ten of the Revised Statutes.

The two regimental organizations in the Second Division, were by order of council of March thirteenth upon the representation of General Titcomb, disbanded and the officers duly discharged March fourteenth.

An order of council of March thirteenth for the organization of a company of Riflemen at Pembroke, was duly promulgated, but the immediate necessity for a military organization of a different character, under the Act of April twenty-fifth left it unperfected.

Although near at hand, the time is somewhat uncertain at which the present rebellion will be fully quelled and peace and order restored to that portion of the union which is now resisting the beneficent influences of government; hence the vagueness of estimates for an appropriation for the proper expenses of the quartermaster's and ordnance Departments for the coming year. I will, however, submit the following, knowing that such modifications will be made as the exigencies of the case may require:—

Three orderly officers to Major Generals,	$20,	$ 60 00
Twenty company clerks,	10,	200 00
Transportation of military property returned to arsenals from disbanded companies,		100 00
Painting and repairing gun carriages,		100 00
Purchase of arms,		3000 00
Pay of companies of militia for services in drill and discipline under Act of April, 1861,		500 00
Incidental expenses,		1000 00
		<hr/> 4960 00

The suspension, to a great extent, during the past year, of authorized action under former militia laws yet in force, has rendered the necessary disbursements on that account, comparatively trifling. The whole amount, including some liabilities of previous years, will not probably exceed twelve hundred dollars.

Two appropriations of three hundred dollars each were conditionally made by resolves of the last Legislature, for completing the gun houses for the artillery companies and State property at Auburn and Milo, provided these sums were sufficient for this purpose. The money has been judiciously expended and it is believed that the conditions of the resolves have been fully complied with. The gun house at Auburn, which has been completed, is forty-five feet long and twenty-five feet wide, of good frame, well underpinned, covered and painted. The first story, used for storing the ordnance and apparatus, is seven feet in height, with a substantial plank floor. The hall for drill, in the second story, is eleven feet high in the clear, and is well and neatly furnished. The gun house at Milo is thirty-six feet long and twenty-six feet wide and is fully completed without and within. It is two stories in height with an entry, armory and store room for the ordnance and apparatus, and a large drill hall with ante-rooms above and a room for storing arms and the like in the attic. The building is constructed of good materials and in a durable manner. No additional appropriations for gun houses will be required while the present liability continues for the frequent removal of the ordnance of the State to different localities for their defence. It would seem to be but simple compliance with the dictates of duty and prudence to secure the services of some person sufficiently experienced and capable to officiate, in this time of present trouble and prospective danger, as master of ordnance, in superintending the manufacture within the State (which is believed to be perfectly practicable) or purchase elsewhere of arms, ordnance and ordnance stores required for arming our active and enrolled militia and for stocking our arsenals.

Kittery, Portland, Wiscasset, Rockland, East Machias, Eastport and Belfast, upon the sea coast, each have from two to six brass six pounders, and the State has a limited supply of additional ordnance at the Bangor and Portland arsenals for distribution to other exposed points.

In the present unnatural condition of the republic I have no suggestions for immediate action respecting the militia beyond those in a former part of this report for initiating such steps as will secure the State that respect, now wanting, which will attach to it from a rigid compliance with the constitution and the laws. With the possibility that all available positions for defence in our numerous seacoast towns must be occupied by our own citizens as soldiers, it well becomes us to be in a situation to furnish such force at a moment's warning if need be, without relying, as we now must, solely upon volunteers. It will indeed be a fortunate condition of things for the State, if every able-bodied citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, of whatever rank, condition or vocation, can be coerced into the personal defence of the country at twenty-four hours' notice, or forfeit an amount that will procure for the State the services of some efficient man exempt from duty.

An apology is seemingly due for the unusual delay in the issue of my report from the press.

It was thought desirable that a return should be made from each company in service, of every person now or heretofore a member, with a detailed statement of all changes from the date of mustering in to the first of December, with other exhibits of detail and interest which it might be desirable to present to the public. For this purpose, blank returns were prepared at this office early in November, containing the state of the companies at the time they were mustered, and forwarded to the different regiments in ample season to have been filled out and returned to this office by the tenth of December. From some unexplained cause, none of the companies received their blanks till long after that date, and then only by means of repeated requests to friends in Washington and to the officers of the regiments, soliciting their personal attention in having the blanks reach their destination. Duplicates were subsequently furnished to several of the regiments as a matter of precaution. Upon receipt of the blanks, the most commendable activity was manifested by all the officers of the regiments in completing and forwarding the returns to this office.

JOHN L. HODSDON,

Adjutant General.

QUARTER-MASTER GENERAL'S REPORT.

Immediately upon the commencement of hostilities and the requisition of the President for troops, all the rifled muskets, being the best pattern of arm in use, and the camp equipage belonging to the State, in the possession of organized companies of the uniformed militia, were at once ordered to be sent to the State Arsenal at Portland for the use of the First Regiment, then organizing for service. These arms with the State's quota from government for 1861 were more than sufficient in number for that purpose, leaving some in the Arsenal which were subsequently forwarded to other of our troops upon the Potomac. The tents answered a good purpose, temporarily, for that regiment and afterwards for others during their organization, but the greater part of them were unsuitable for permanent service, as they were wanting in durability, and some of the modern improvements for comfort. They have, however, been kept in requisition up to the present time for squads, companies and regiments during the early stages of their organization and until the issue of camp equipage for permanent use could be made, and some of them have been issued to regiments and taken into the field, thereby saving the general government considerable expense. All the older descriptions of arms belonging to the State found in the arsenals, and in the possession of disbanded companies, have been kept in constant use by companies and regiments, for drill and instruction. Not less than fifteen hundred State muskets have been used in this manner, to an extent that has rendered them almost worthless. It is impossible to secure any proper care of arms, from recruits totally unaccustomed to their use, and yet it is absolutely necessary that these should be issued to them for the performance of guard duty and instruction in the manual.

SMALL ARMS.

Prior to the final organization of the First Regiment the opinion seemed universal among military men and the community, that all officers, non-commissioned officers, musicians and wagoners, going into service, should be furnished by the State with Colt's Revolvers. The belief at that time, that such would not be the case, would probably have retarded the speedy organization of that regiment and perhaps of others. In accordance therefore with this belief, seventeen thousand dollars were paid for eight hundred of these weapons which were delivered as shown in Appendix, G. Table 5, of issues to the regiments. Subsequent experience has fully demonstrated the impropriety of furnishing non-commissioned officers armed with muskets or rifles, any additional weapon. It will be observed that succeeding regiments received a less number of these Revolvers than the First. This was in consequence of representations from officers in service that they were worse than useless in the hands of troops furnished with other fire arms. Military usage requires that these weapons shall be returned to our arsenals at the close of the service of those receiving them, or their cost be paid to the State. The First Regiment was, from our arsenal at Portland, furnished with seven hundred and twenty-eight Springfield rifle muskets, the property of the State. About the first of August, after Colonel Jackson's command had finished its term of mustering and had no farther occasion for them, these arms were put into the hands of the Sixth Regiment, Colonel Knowles. The character of the arms which the general government felt obliged to furnish our troops, was so unsatisfactory an account of their imperfections and inefficiency, that in view of present and supposed future requirements, it was deemed advisable by the Governor and Council to make such purchases of weapons as would meet the wants of the soldier as well as relieve the general government, so far as this State was concerned, of the constant pressure which existed for the latest improved arms. About the twentieth of August, therefore, in accordance with previous arrangements, thirty thousand dollars were sent to Hon. Freeman H. Morse, United States consul at London, for the purchase of Enfield Rifles. Upon the arrival of the funds, such had been the advance in the price of arms that the contractor sought to evade his obligation to furnish them. Mr. Morse, however, succeeded in obtaining its fulfilment and shipped, for that remittance, nineteen hundred and sixty Enfield Rifles which have been duly received. Eight hundred and seventy-nine of them were issued to the Tenth Regiment, and one is on hand in this office; the remainder in store in New York, will be issued to the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Regiments. One thousand sabre bayonet rifles, with equipments, have also been purchased at an expense of twenty-one thousand and fifty-eight dollars, from which the Seventh Regiment has been supplied and the flank companies of the Fourth. This is regarded by military men generally as the most reliable and efficient weapon in the service. Five hundred and ninety-five Windsor Rifles belonging to the State, have been sent to the Ames Manufacturing Company at Chicopee, Massachusetts, to be furnished with sabre bayonets, which makes them the same description of arm as the above. The expense is four dollars and seventy-five cents each, and the arms are to be issued to the Fourth Regiment, Colonel Berry. One hundred and ninety-five rifle muskets and eighty-two Windsor sabre bayonet rifles were sent from the Portland arsenal to our regiments at Washington on the sixteenth of August. Two hundred and eighty-two muskets of the pattern of 1842 have been furnished to the Sixth Regiment, and the balance of their arms was furnished by the general government.

ORDNANCE.

The very great superiority of rifled ordnance over smooth bore, in range, power and accuracy, has been demonstrated in the most striking and certain manner, since the commencement of hostilities in April last, as well as previously, both in this country and Europe. In view of this fact and apprehensive that all available ordnance possessed by the State would sooner or later be needed, it was deemed best that it should be put into the highest possible state of efficiency. Eighteen pieces of smooth bore ordnance have, accordingly, by order of the commander-in-chief, been satisfactorily remodelled by Messrs. Hinckley & Egery of Bangor, the larger portion of which has been tested with the most gratifying results, at Bangor, by my predecessor, General Davis Tillson of Rockland. Five of these pieces are now at Fort Scammel in Portland harbor, two are at Wiscasset, and two at Rockland. The remainder are at Bangor ready for distribution to such localities as may require them.

Under the Act passed at the extra session of the Legislature, authorizing organizations of Home Guards, one company from Biddeford for garrisoning Fort McClary, at the United States Navy Yard in Kittery, and one company at Portland, for the occupation of Fort Scammel, have been accepted by the commander-in-chief. Informal organizations of similar corps at Wiscasset and Boothbay have also been recognized; the former of which, under Captain R. H. Tucker, Jr., has been engaged in drill and experimenting with two pieces of the six pound, rifled brass ordnance. His experiments have demonstrated the extraordinary efficiency of these pieces. Captain Staples, at Fort Scammel, has been practising with five similar pieces with a view of testing their accuracy. His results have been hardly so gratifying as those arrived at by Captain Tucker, yet they have been of a very satisfactory character.

QUARTERS.

The municipal authorities of Portland, from the commencement of military operations, promptly afforded the State the use of so much of their new and splendid city building as was necessary to initiate and carry forward to completion all such organizations as it was deemed advisable to rendezvous at or near that locality. The First, Fifth, Sixth, Tenth and Twelfth Regiments were thus accommodated with headquarters for the various staff duties. The First Regiment upon its return to Portland was there mustered out of service, and the Second Regiment, Colonel Jameson, was quartered there one night on its way to Washington. This occupation was unavoidably more injurious to the premises than that of almost any other character; hence the greater obligations of the State to that city for its prompt appreciation of the necessities of the service and its liberal provision for the emergency.

The use and occupation of the State Arsenal and lot at Bangor, almost throughout the entire season, for rendezvousing and quartering the Second Regiment and numerous squads of recruits and detachments and companies of volunteers, from the northern and eastern portions of the State, for regiments organizing at Augusta and Portland, has obviated the necessity of hiring, at great expense, extensive buildings and grounds at Bangor for that purpose. Much of the ordnance, the gun carriages and other munitions of war, stored at the arsenal, have, from time to time, been removed and necessarily left unsheltered to afford lodgings for the troops. For this reason, and through the careless but natural intermeddling of the soldiers with the small arms and appendages deposited there, the State has experienced severe loss and damage to its property, aside from the injury to the arsenal buildings and grounds inseparable from the tumultuous character of the occupation.

The almost exclusive appropriation of the State House and public grounds in this city for organizing and equipping eight regiments of infantry and one of cavalry, five batteries of artillery and a company of sharpshooters, as well as numerous detachments of recruits for our regiments already in the field, has undoubtedly saved a disbursement of more than twenty thousand dollars for rent and transportation. This occupation has afforded the various staff departments more ample and better accommodations than it would have been possible to obtain elsewhere in the State, and from its immediate proximity to the encampments of the troops has effected a great saving of labor and clerk and carriage hire. The troops themselves have enjoyed the unusual advantages of free and constant access to the governor and council, the adjutant, quarter-master and pay-master generals' departments and the use of the numerous committee rooms and lobbies for clerical purposes and schools of instruction in their duties, and in cases of emergency, the rotunda and walks for lodging. The capacious halls of the Senate and House of Representatives have afforded ample accommodations for the payment of regiments and companies and for holding elections of officers. All the numerous bales and boxes of quarter-master's supplies and stores have found in this building a safe and convenient place of deposit. The location as a place of encampment for troops cannot be surpassed in convenience, health and beauty. For the free and uninterrupted enjoyment of many of these facilities we are indebted to Gilman Turner, Esq., the experienced and gentlemanly Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds. He, with his obliging assistants, has been indefatigable at all hours of the day and night in affording the utmost indulgence in all these privileges. His labors and responsibilities on this account have been more than quadrupled, and as his compensation is barely nominal, it would be the merest justice to recompense him liberally for his services in this behalf.

PROVISION FOR FAMILIES.

The authority given by the Legislature at its extra session, to cities and towns, to provide for families of enlisted soldiers, has received that liberal construction which accords with the preamble and spirit of the Act. Notwithstanding the entire absence of every thing compulsory in its phraseology and design, prompt and adequate relief has almost universally been afforded by the proper authorities without evasion, neglect, or any desire to devolve the expense upon the place of the legal settlement of such parties, when it has been other than that of their residence. It has been found necessary in fulfilling the apparent intentions of the Legislature, that a no less sum than one thousand dollars per month, should be disbursed by each of the cities of Portland and Bangor in this behalf. Others of our cities are expending at the rate of more than five thousand dollars per annum for the same purpose. It may, indeed, be a question, whether this Act and the disbursements made in pursuance of it should be regarded as a finality, or whether some additional legislation may not be advisable, making these burdens more nearly equal upon all parts of the State. The equality of our laws, in their operation, more than ought else, commends them to the sense of justice of all enlightened persons.

APPOINTMENTS.

Colonel E. K. Harding of Bath, favorably known as an able military and business man, was appointed at an early day Assistant Quarter-Master General. In the discharge of the laborious duties of this department he has continued up to the present time, where by his untiring fidelity and uniform urbanity, he has verified that confidence in his efficiency which prompted his appointment. Major George W. Dyer of Calais has very acceptably assisted in the performance of these duties for nearly the same period of time. These gentlemen with the temporary assistance of General Davis Tillson with the First Regiment at Portland, Colonel F. M. Sabine with the Second Regiment, and that gentleman and General Joseph C. Stevens with a Battalion of the Sixth at Bangor, and Major Aaron Hayden with the other Battalion of that regiment at Eastport, constitute the whole of the general staff. Majors Stetson, Hersey and Frye, Division Quarter-Masters of the respective Major Generals, were also zealous in the performance of their legitimate duties during the period they were retained in service.

It is hardly to be expected that I should make mention of a fact so widely known as the indefatigable labors of your Excellency and Staff, not only in the quarter-master, commissary and ordnance departments, but in everything relating to raising and organizing our troops.

The arduous services of the Executive Council, which have necessarily been brought into constant requisition under the Act of April twenty-fifth, at a great sacrifice of time and expense to them in performing the duties specified, are deserving honorable mention.

The services of assistant commissaries of subsistence at the several places of rendezvous of regiments, Augusta, Portland, Bangor and Rockland, have been faithfully and satisfactorily performed by Ai Staples, Lincoln Radford, L. J. Moore and Joseph Farwell, Esquires. The duties of Messrs. Beal and Maxwell, keepers of the State arsenals at Portland and Bangor, have been rendered arduous in receiving and issuing arms, equipments, camp equipage and other munitions of war to troops in all stages of organization, and their labors have been faithfully performed. Through the watchfulness and care of these gentlemen, the State and general government have been saved much loss and injury to property.

ORGANIZATIONS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

Although the principal items of expense in raising and organizing all troops in this State, for the service of the general government, beyond the ten regiments and the corps of rifle sharpshooters, was designed to be provided for by the War Department, a large amount of disbursements for blanks, printing, stationery, express carriage, trucking, transportation of goods, furnishing arms and partial camp equipage, rent and occupation of buildings and grounds for companies and regiments while organizing, and numerous other expenses, have devolved directly upon the State. No delay, however, has been allowed to retard the progress of the work, for want of any of the necessary and indispensable requirements from the government. The commander-in-chief and a corps of staff officers have been constantly in service supervising and directing the entire duty of enlisting, organizing and equipping the troops for the government. This service has involved all the arduous details which were required in getting up the ten regiments, upon every Department except the Treasury. The constant services of two experienced persons are necessary in ascertaining the arrival of squads of recruits and the correctness of their enlistment and description upon rolls in triplicate, which are often required anew after their arrival, and in aiding and instructing them in the preparation of their muster and other rolls, and their accounts for allowance.

It may hardly be necessary to call attention to the fact, patent to all who were cognizant of the unparalleled rapidity with which regiments were enlisted in May and June, of the utter impossibility of securing none but able-bodied men for the service. The eagerness of many to enter the service in the emergency then existing, inclined them to regard lightly chronic difficulties, which, perhaps, but rarely occasioned them annoyance; forgetting that unusual exposure and the change of climate, diet and habits consequent upon military service, must inevitably aggravate the worst symptoms of their disease. After enlisting and proceeding, perhaps, to the regimental rendezvous, the soldier would endure much concealed suffering before submitting to the mortification of making known his infirmities and leaving the service. In some instances, such persons have been mustered into the United States service and repaired to the seat of war, subjecting the government to great embarrassment and expense, until they were sent home upon a discharge for disability. In all cases in which such men were discharged before leaving the State, the expenses of enlisting, transporting, subsisting, and, in some instances, clothing them, were incurred without the fault of any one but the recruits themselves. These expenses and inconveniences were the unavoidable result of the brief period afforded for raising and organizing our regiments for immediate service.

Notwithstanding that the maintenance of all troops raised for and mustered into its service, is as much a part of the duty of the general government as the payment of their monthly wages, such has been the demand upon the quarter-master and commissary departments at Washington for the requisite supplies, especially during the earlier stages of hostilities, that it has been expected, even up to the present time, that the States would continue to furnish articles of indispensable use when the United States found it inconvenient to do so. With this understanding, supplies have been forwarded to our regiments, which are principally comprised in the exhibit of issues to each. (Appendix G, Table 5.)

I deem it proper in this connection to make mention of the liberal donations of necessary articles of clothing, food and hospital stores for the soldiers, made by citizens, and especially by the ladies, of all parts of the State from which troops have been sent into service. The use of these articles has afforded them great satisfaction and comfort, relieving the wants of the needy and suffering and soothing the fevered restlessness and yearnings of those prostrated by disease, some of whom were not permitted to behold again in this world the countenances of those they loved at home. In all these cases, the donors have the rich reward of a consciousness of sufferings relieved and death rendered less unwelcome by the exercise of their thoughtful and timely benevolence.

RAIL ROADS.

It is hardly possible for a community so highly favored with all the modern facilities for transportation as ours has long been, to do justice to the mightiest agent of all in seasonably accomplishing the purposes of government for the suppression of the existing rebellion. It is unnecessary to say that this instrumentality is the rail road without the aid of which an enormous expense would have accrued for the transportation of troops and all the munitions of war, in addition to delays, uncertainties, destruction and depreciation of property and loss of life. This Department takes pleasure in acknowledging the general spirit of accommodation which has been manifested by the superintendents and conductors of all the rail roads in this State as well as others, which have transported our troops and munitions of war, at a moment's warning, without the loss of a single life, a dollar's worth of property, or injury to any animal or article.

The loss of life by drowning, from steamers, may with propriety be excepted from the foregoing acknowledgment.

QUARTER-MASTER SUPPLIES.

The amount of supplies, issued by the quarter-master to the several regiments, varies in some cases from the number of men mustered into service, beyond the ordinary margin for rejected, discharged and deserted men. This results from the new basis of organization required by the proclamation of the President, dated May third, 1861. In pursuance of that proclamation the commander-in-chief, in General Order, No. 29, of May twenty-fourth, (Appendix A,) applicable to the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Regiments, directed the captains of companies attached to these regiments, to discharge such of their men as declined to enlist for an additional year's service. Many of these men, at the time of their enlistment, stood in immediate need of clothing, which was obliged to be furnished according to their respective necessities. More or less of this appears as lost to the Department on account of the departure of these men to their homes without waiting for settlement or discharge, when in fact a large portion, if not all, of such indebtedness would be cancelled by wages due them for service. At the time of being presented for mustering into the United States service, many enlisted men were found physically unable to answer the requirements. In numerous instances weeks had elapsed since their enlistment, and, in the interval, it was found absolutely necessary to clothe them. As these men, in case of rejection, were entitled to neither pay nor clothing, that amount is unavoidably disbursed without any appreciable equivalent. But, in view of the trifling cost of enlisting and organizing a regiment of State volunteers for the United States service, in comparison with that attendant upon a similar force for the regular army, it is not for a moment doubted that the general government will promptly recognize all expenses incurred, and hereafter reimburse the State.

COMPLAINTS.

Whatever complaint may have been heard of expense or delay in raising and organizing troops in this State during the present year, it will be found to have proceeded from those who are not themselves members of any arm of service and who are practically but little acquainted with its requirements. While it cannot be denied that some portions of the necessary outfits of the soldiers could now be procured, of better quality and at less expense than was for a time attainable, and particular corps could perhaps be raised and organized in a mode different from that adopted, and more speedily; yet it is a matter of surprise, in view of the fact that for years, indifference alone, to the suggestions of those who have sought to place the militia of this State in a condition for service, has been manifested by legislative bodies as well as our citizens generally, that so highly satisfactory results could have been accomplished in this period of trial and danger as have crowned our efforts the present year.

HOSPITALS.

Doctor Alonzo Garcelon of Lewiston, well known and esteemed as a medical gentleman of reputation, was appointed, on the twenty-fifth of April, Hospital Surgeon. The organization of the First Regiment at Portland, naturally induced the location of the general hospital at that place, with branches as required by the progressive organizations of regiments and battalions at Augusta, Bangor, Rockland and Eastport. The general hospital was not only under the supervision of Surgeon Garcelon, but its inmates, so far as was practicable, received his personal services. The sickness at the hospital of one hundred and fifty men of the First Regiment at one time, and of more or less constantly until it left the State, with but one death and that from delirium tremens, affords the best evidence of the skill and faithfulness of the Surgeon and his assistants. The organization of the Fifth, Sixth, Tenth and Twelfth Regiments at Portland, has furnished many patients for that hospital. This with the doctor's personal supervision of those at the other regimental rendezvous, and the fitting out of each regiment with a supply of medicines, hospital stores and surgical instruments, in addition to his duties as chief of the Medical Examining Board, will furnish some idea of the nature and extent of his labors.

The First Regiment of Cavalry, Colonel Goddard, was organized prior to the departure of the Eleventh. Since that time there have been and still are at Augusta, in addition to this, three regiments of infantry and five batteries of artillery. These multiplied sources of sickness have necessarily drawn largely upon the time and skill of the hospital surgeon; he has, however, during this time received most valuable aid from Surgeon Hunkins of the Fourth Regiment. This gentleman has been indefatigable in his labors at the hospitals in Portland and Augusta since his release.

The unavoidable delay in organizing the field and staff of the first ten regiments, arising from constitutional provisions respecting their election by the captains and subalterns, until the companies were full and mustered in, deprived the hospitals, in a great degree, of the services of regimental surgeons, and rendered other professional aid necessary. Doctor McRuer, of Bangor, now brigade surgeon in the army of the Potomac, with Doctors Sanger of the Sixth, and Mason, both also of Bangor, the latter of extensive and successful army and navy practice; and Doctor Ellis of Augusta, with the aid of surgeons and assistant surgeons of regiments organized since the Tenth, have been very successful in the treatment of the numerous diseases incident to camp life. The extraordinary prevalence of the measles among our troops, as well as those of other States, may probably be attributed to collecting together large bodies of men and the necessary change in their habits and diet. The number of deaths from disease among the seventeen thousand men organized during the year in this State, not counting the number of recruits rejected, does not exceed that of any other community of like numbers within our limits. This speaks well for the sanitary arrangements for our soldiers while under our immediate control. The sum already paid for the entire local and regimental hospitals and outfits of regiments is—

	$9,290 34
The unsettled bills, (estimated,)	5,000 00
	14,290,34

At the commencement of the campaign the Hospital Surgeon estimated these charges at fifteen hundred dollars for each regiment.

UNITED STATES.

The amounts here shown (Appendix G, Table 1,) comprise only moneys already paid. The occupation of Forts McClary and Scammel was desired and authorized by the general government, and the mustering in of our troops at a subsequent day, is by its order to take effect from the date of the respective occupations. Wages are due such of the soldiers of both forts as declined being mustered into the United States service, as well as to those who were mustered and yet remain in service. The expense of subsisting Captain Staples' company also remains unpaid.

The ordnance, small arms and equipments, required for these forts and for Fort Sullivan as well as at Wiscasset have been furnished from our State arsenals and are found enumerated (Appendix G, Table 2,) with other munitions of war. Nineteen hundred and twenty-two sabre bayonet rifles, Springfield rifle muskets and muskets of the pattern of 1842, from our own arsenals have been furnished our regiments and to these forts; the former, to displace the smooth bore muskets of 1840 provided them by government, the account of which does not appear under the head of "small arms," since they were originally issued to the State, as a portion of its quota of arms, in former years.

INCIDENTAL EXPENSE.

The first three items (Appendix G, Table 1,) amounting to five thousand and eight hundred and sixty dollars and eighteen cents are all legitimately, recruiting or enlisting expenses, a portion of the items for drilling and clerkships; some of those for travel and expenses of sundry agents and employees were incurred for enlisting men and organizing companies and regiments.

CLOTHING.

This important item, (Appendix G, Table 1,) more than one fourth of the entire cost of raising our ten regiments and fitting them fully for service, will be found upon examination to comprise goods of descriptions manufactured and furnished mostly by our own citizens. The amount paid for canteens, straps, knapsacks and haversacks, almost one tenth of the whole, might be supposed to come properly under the head of accoutrements and equipments, but military usage locates them here.

The clothing, uniforms and equipments for the First Regiment, in consequence of the urgency of the case, admitting no delay, were to a considerable extent purchased in Boston, as they were not attainable, or supposed not to be, here. Purchases of every description for the quarter-master, commissary and ordnance departments, for all other of our troops sent into service, have, as far as possible, been made of citizens of our own State; and contracts for manufacturing every kind of articles required in the service have also invariably been made with our own citizens when practicable, and upon terms equally favorable with those offered by residents of other States. A list is being prepared, of the names of all persons who have furnished supplies for the service, with a specification of the articles, prices and total amount paid each.

ACCOUTREMENTS AND EQUIPMENTS.

The aggregate of items under this head (Appendix G, Table 1,) all of which except the first were got up in this State, and at a less price than is known to have been paid elsewhere, is exclusive of the cost of one thousand sets purchased of Massachusetts and about the same number issued from those on hand at our arsenals at the commencement of hostilities.

TRANSPORTATION.

This head (Appendix G, Table 1,) includes the charges made by teams, stages and steamboats for bringing recruits and companies to regimental rendezvous, and is properly a part of the expenses of enlisting. A large portion of the railroad bills is for the transportation of our regiments from Boston to New York, and the most of the balance for freight on goods within the State. "By Express," is for transportation of goods and packages of blanks and the like to regimental rendezvous, recruiting officers, &c. Almost the entire amount due railroads in this State and elsewhere, except the Fall River Line, it is believed, will be paid by the general government direct.

EQUIPAGE.

Forty thousand dollars at least of this amount (Appendix G, Table 1,) and indeed all that could be, was purchased of our own citizens. The tents are acknowledged to be superior, in point of health, comfort and appearance to those of regiments from any other State. The drums, furnished by Mr. Blake of Farmington, are unequalled by those of any manufacturer whose work has come into the State.

BOOKS, BLANKS AND PRINTING.

This (Appendix G, Table 1,) includes all the articles of these descriptions furnished the regiments as well as the various staff departments, the executive and this office. There is still due for these supplies a considerable amount which has unavoidably accrued for the service since completing the organization of the ten regiments, and which was expected to be furnished by the general government.

WAGONS, AMBULANCES AND HARNESSSES.

All of these articles (Appendix G, Table 1,) were purchased of our own citizens, and, for materials, workmanship and cost, compare very favorably with similar property from other States. In consequence of some delay attending the inspection of a few of the army wagons, the payment for them is not included in the exhibit for this year.

HORSES.

The very large amount of money disbursed to our citizens for horses, requires a passing remark. This sum (Appendix G, Table 1,) is about one nineteenth of the entire expenditures of the one million appropriation, and is exclusive of the cost of some sixteen to eighteen hundred horses, purchased and paid for directly by the government. The gentlemen principally engaged in effecting these purchases were Mr. Dane, State Treasurer, Colonel Stanley and Mr. Ricker of Augusta, Messrs. Arnold and Danforth of Bangor, Morrison of East Corinth, B. P. Gilman of Orono, Ebenezer Woodbury of Houlton, Captain Ripley of Paris, Messrs. Holbrook of Oxford, Dingley of Auburn, and a few others whose names do not now occur to me. The very superior class of horses which they succeeded in obtaining and the low prices paid, have been the subject of universal remark and satisfaction throughout the State, and at Washington, by those who have seen and examined the animals. To Mr. Ricker, perhaps, is due the credit of demonstrating the feasibility of transporting horses by railroads and steamboats from Augusta to Washington, without a dollar's injury or the least discomfort to any one of them. This gentleman and Mr. Woodbury, of Houlton, have superintended this important part of the public service.

SUBSISTENCE* AND QUARTERS.

The amount paid under this head (Appendix G, Table 1,) includes the board and lodging of all of our ten regiments, from the date of the organization of companies until they went into camp, their subsistence, and, in some instances, quarters, from that time till they were mustered into the service of the United States, and three or more days' rations subsequent to that time. The subsistence of some twenty unattached companies, (nearly all of which are now in service, though under different organizations in some cases,) from the date of their organization until they were mustered for payment and discharged, or put upon leave of absence or drill without subsistence or quarters, is also comprised under this head. In strictness, all these last named expenses, and so much of those of the companies composing the regiments as accrued between the date of their organization and that of their arrival at the regimental rendezvous, pertain to expenses of enlistments. The separation of the items at a future day is entirely practicable, and no loss or inconvenience can arise from now consolidating the whole. The sum of payments comprises a large portion of the whole amount of expense incurred on these accounts. The loss of some original papers by claimants and the absence of certificates of recruiting officers, or other indispensable prerequisite for their approval, has occasioned the suspension of some claims. The amount of unliquidated claims, which must hereafter be paid on this account, I estimate at about six thousand dollars.

AMMUNITION.

As thirty thousand ball cartridges were purchased of Massachusetts for the First Regiment, and those for all other troops sent from the State, except revolver ammunition, were provided by government from the Kennebec arsenal, the item (Appendix G, Table 1,) of almost eight hundred dollars for powder, may need explanation. The consumption at the forts garrisoned by our troops; by our regiments at their encampments for guard duty, target practice and morning and evening gun; the experiments with our rifled ordnance, as well as smooth bore guns, with the various modern projectiles and round shot, and a considerable quantity still on hand, makes up the total purchased.

DESERTERS.

With the eagerness of our people for enlistment in the service, exceeding anything ever before witnessed, it may seem surprising that any desertions should occur. Yet in that very eagerness is found the explanation of the occasion for surprise. The enlistments were necessarily made in the most unpremeditated manner, and many who made contracts for service were men of impulsive temperament, who enlisted without realizing the unsuitable condition of their domestic and business affairs for their protracted absence. Men of character and standing (and of such is the larger portion of our regiments,) thus enlisting, have remained faithful, regardless of pecuniary or other considerations, while those of a class widely different, lacked the firmness requisite for the occasion. Very many, however, of the latter, have voluntarily returned to duty after a brief absence to their homes. Another and comparatively a very small class, such as is to be found in every community, had no definite ideas of the undertaking beyond the receipt of the liberal bounty bestowed by the State upon those enlisting. By far the most potent cause, and that which occasioned more than one half of all the desertions from the Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Regiments, was the retreat from the disastrous field of Bull Run, inducing the belief in some minds, perhaps, that their organizations had ceased to exist. It might, perhaps, have been proper to have left the expense of returning those who had been mustered into the United States service, to the authorities of the general government; but, in the present emergency, every facility of this character that can be afforded the government by this State is demanded at our hands. A disposition, on the part of the authorities of the State and general governments connected with military organizations, to treat these cases with leniency, is believed to be conducive to the best interests of the public service. I estimate the amount due for arrests, board, and fees incurred in this behalf, at about eleven hundred dollars.

JOHN L. HODSDON,

Acting Quarter-Master General.

PAYMASTER GENERAL'S REPORT.

The bounty provided for persons enlisting for service out of the State, although exceedingly liberal in view of the pay and allowances provided for such service, has involved even a larger expenditure than was anticipated. This has occurred from graduating it, in conformity with the Act, to the rank of the party, instead of defining the amount of reward for a voluntary enlistment, which should of course be the same in all cases.

Those persons appointed first sergeants of companies have received a bounty of forty dollars, their monthly pay being half that sum, while privates, equally self-sacrificing, patriotic and meritorious, were paid but twenty-two dollars, their monthly pay at that time being but eleven dollars. Thus, in each of the ten regiments raised for service, ninety non-commissioned officers have received eight hundred and twenty dollars more than the same number of privates. It is thought that such was not the intention of the Legislature, but the unavoidable haste required in its deliberations at the extra session necessarily involved trifling errors. The total amount of bounties paid under this Act has reached the sum of one hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars. In addition to this, there are some men in service to whom bounty is due. The law giving this liberal gratuity provides that it shall be paid them when actually mustered into the service of the United States. Persons enlisted at the regimental rendezvous, or elsewhere, after the mustering of a regiment was completed and the rolls returned, would not be legally entitled to receive, nor would a disbursing officer of the State be safe in paying bounty until they had arrived at the seat of war and been duly mustered into the United States service. Sufficient evidence of that fact and of the enlistment, enrolment and description being duly made and certified to this office, by the colonel of the regiment or captain of the company to which the soldier belongs, accompanied by a copy of the description and duplicate bounty receipts and an order for payment, will secure the amount due each individual. Some men, thus enlisted after the usual time, continue months in service without being duly mustered. Such neglect on the part of officers is highly reprehensible, as, in that case, the soldier meanwhile can have no claim for State bounty, and, if disabled or killed in service, he or his heirs are not entitled to pension or bounty under existing laws, but must seek their remedy by petitioning Congress for a special Act in their behalf. The bounty paid the First and second Regiments before being mustered, was under peculiar circumstances and established no precedent for the departure from the letter and spirit of the law, by virtue of which, alone, it is payable.

Our ten regiments, with the exception of the First and Second, were paid bounty when mustered into the service of the United States. At the time of the payment of wages and bounty to the First at Portland, on the twenty-sixth of April, by S. E. Spring, Esq., Assistant Paymaster General, it was supposed they would immediately be mustered into the service of the United States; but this was delayed until the third of May, when they were mustered by Captain Gardiner of the United States Dragoons, and muster and pay rolls were subsequently made up for the pay of the intervening days and the funds sent to Washington and disbursed to the regiment by Major George W. Dyer. The Second Regiment being ordered forward at an earlier day than was anticipated, in consequence of the unfortunate delay of the First, at Portland, from sickness, it was deemed advisable that the former should receive bounty with its payment of monthly wages, which was made by General Samuel F. Hersey, Assistant Paymaster General, at Bangor, May thirteenth. This regiment was mustered into the United States service at Willet's Point, Long Island, New York, on the twenty-eighth of May, by Lieutenant M. Cogswell of the Tenth United States Infantry. Muster and pay rolls were prepared for the fourteen days' pay due them for the time intervening between the day of payment at Bangor, and that of mustering in New York, and forwarded with the requisite funds, by Major Frederic Robie, United States Paymaster, formerly of this State, who disbursed the amount to them.

Bounty and monthly wages were paid the Third Regiment, at Augusta, by Assistant Paymaster General Samuel Cony, on the fourth of June, and they were mustered into the service of the United States the same day, by Captain Thomas Hight of the United States Dragoons.

The Fourth Regiment, at Rockland, received monthly wages from Assistant Paymaster General Francis Cobb, on the thirty-first of May, and again, from him, at the same place, with bounty, June sixteenth. It was mustered into the service of the United States by Captain Hight, June fifteenth.

The Fifth Regiment received a payment of wages at Portland, June thirteenth, at the hands of Hon. Nathan Dane, State Treasurer, and again, from the same gentleman, with bounty, June twenty-fifth. This regiment was mustered into the United States service, June twenty-fourth, by Captain Hight.

The Eastport Battalion of the Sixth Regiment was paid at that place, on the thirty-first day of May, by Major George W. Dyer, and the Bangor Battalion, in that city, on the same day, by Colonel F. M. Sabine. After the completion of the regimental organization, the Sixth received the balance of monthly wages and bounty from General S. F. Hersey, at Portland, June sixteenth. This regiment was mustered into the United States service, July fifteenth, by Captain Hight.

Of the Seventh Regiment, company A, Captain Freeze, having been long in camp before the organization of the regiment, received the payment of monthly wages from the acting Paymaster General, prior to the mustering of the regiment for payment, which received monthly wages and bounty at Augusta, on the twenty-second of August, from Assistant Paymaster General Cony. Captain Thomas Hight mustered this regiment into the service of the United States on the twenty-first of August.

The Eighth Regiment was mustered for payment at Augusta, and paid by Assistant Paymaster General Cony on the ninth of September, having been mustered into the United States service on the seventh by Captain Hight.

The Ninth Regiment was mustered for payment and paid at Augusta on the twenty-third of September by Assistant Paymaster General Cony, and was mustered into government service the previous day by Captain Hight.

The Tenth Regiment was paid bounty and wages at Portland by Assistant Paymaster General Cony on the fourth of October, and was mustered into the United States service the previous day by Colonel Seth Eastman, of the United States Infantry.

Instances occurred in making company and regimental payments, in which soldiers were absent on furlough or sick in the hospital or at home upon pay day, some of whom were discharged subsequently or have joined their respective commands without being paid. Some balances are believed also to be due to officers who left the State on such notice as precluded a settlement of their accounts with the Quarter-Master's Department. The payments to unattached companies mentioned in the body of my report, were made by Colonels Miller and Wildes of the staff of the commander-in-chief, and Francis Chase, Esquire, of Augusta, and other gentlemen temporarily in the Pay and Quarter-Master's Departments of the service. The employment of different individuals, for disbursing this comparatively small amount, was an economical arrangement, rendered necessary by the remoteness of the companies from each other, and from the desire of an early termination of the liability of the State to the members of those organizations. A small amount is yet due individuals not present at the company rendezvous at the time of payment.

The payment of the major generals and their respective staffs was made by the assistant paymasters of regiments within their Divisions and is included under the head of Regimental Pay Rolls. (Appendix G. Table 1.) The items of pay of military staff officers, under the head of "Incidental Expenses," (Appendix G, Table 1,) comprises the remuneration of the temporary appointees of the Quarter-Master and a portion of the Paymaster Departments and the staff of the commander-in-chief. A part of the compensation of these and other staff officers of these departments remains unpaid.

In accordance with the positive directions of your Excellency, no pains have been spared in causing every officer and soldier of the ten regiments and the company of sharp-shooters to be paid the utmost cent to which he was entitled up to the moment of being mustered into the service of the United States, in all cases in which this was done before leaving the State. Although the Second Regiment was mustered into service at Long Island, New York, fourteen days after being paid at home, the wages for even that period were sent and paid them at Washington. Numerous individual instances have also been thus cared for, and the immense labor of preparing duplicate muster and pay rolls for each company and regimental payment has devolved upon this office. This policy of prompt and timely payments, so just to the soldier and beneficial to the government service in facilitating enlistments and maintaining the high credit of the State, with the bounty voted at the extra session of our Legislature in April, has swollen the total amount thus disbursed to more than one third of the entire expense in our raising troops and sending them forth prepared for the service of the government. In this respect, no State furnishing troops for government exhibits so large a proportion of expense in the item of money paid troops as Maine. Even our parent commonwealth, Massachusetts, whose official example, in almost everything, is usually regarded as worthy of imitation, with ten thousand more troops, has disbursed to them personally but little more than one fourth as much money. Had Maine withheld bounty and left the payment of her troops to the government, as she might have done without censure, and as many States have done, some six hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars would have been the total of our outlay in behalf of the United States; this reduced by the forty per cent. reimbursed, would have left less than four hundred thousand dollars as the extent of the liability of the State. This is only about one half the cost of the civil and military expedition of 1839, known as the "Aroostook War," in which some four thousand citizens and troops were in service to maintain the integrity of our State against the aggressions of a neighboring foreign power. The amount of payments, made by the State to its troops during the past season, of monthly wages, being in its character unquestionably a charge against the government, the policy of advancing it promptly, cannot be questioned.

ESTIMATED AMOUNTS DUE.

The following estimate of unpaid balances includes some items which have accrued since the completion of the first ten regiments and the company of sharpshooters. It is found inconvenient to procure from the United States the immediate liquidation and payment of a portion of the liabilities incurred in raising troops recently, although arranged for at the direct expense of the general government. Temporary embarrassment is sometimes incurred in making the separation between the State and the United States, in the matter of direct liability for expense incurred in raising and organizing troops. In accounts for "transportation," (of goods,) "books and stationery," "deserters," "hospitals and supplies," &c., creditors unavoidably blend in one the liabilities of the State, and those properly chargeable to the United States. Although a final settlement of these accounts between Maine and the United States, will render it comparatively immaterial which party may have advanced the money, yet, it is desirable in view of the forms and observances of government, in all matters of expenditure, of which years of practice have demonstrated the perfection, that all claims properly chargeable to the latter should be liquidated and paid by its own disbursing officers.

GENERAL ORDERS, SPECIAL ORDERS, AND INSTRUCTIONS.

GENERAL ORDERS.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, April 22d, 1861. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 6.

To Major Generals Wm. H. Titcomb, of the 2d Division; James H. Butler, of the 1st Division; Wm. Wirt Virgin, of the 3d Division:

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief, orders that TEN THOUSAND VOLUNTEERS, to be organized into Ten Regiments, without regard to present military districts, be immediately enlisted and mustered into the active militia service of the State. They are to be armed, equipped and disciplined, and to hold themselves in readiness to respond to the order of the Commander-in-Chief, by entering into the service of the United States when required. Any one, or all of the organized and equipped military companies of the State will be accepted as a part of the above force, if tendered to the State. Each company shall consist of one Captain, two Lieutenants, four Sergeants, four Corporals, one Fifer, one Drummer, and not less than fifty nor more than eighty-five Privates. No man below the rank of Commissioned Officer, will be accepted above forty-five or under eighteen years of age, or who is not in good physical health and vigor. All officers and soldiers will be required to take the oath of fidelity to the United States. Captains of existing volunteer companies offering their services to the State, will proceed at once to enlist the number of men necessary to fill up their ranks as above stated. Present members of such companies who are physically incompetent, or who refuse to take the oath of fidelity, must be stricken from the company rolls, and their places filled with new enlistments. Ten companies, composed of those first offering their services to the State, organized as above stated, except that no company will be allowed more than sixty-four Privates, will be immediately concentrated at Portland, where their equipment will be completed. They will be organized into a regiment of Infantry, and mustered into the service of the United States.

You are hereby directed to cause suitable persons to open a Recruiting Office at all places within your Division, where, in your opinion, it may be practicable to raise a company, subject to the above conditions. Whenever fifty volunteers shall have been enrolled in any new company, you will cause an election of the commissioned officers to be held, and forward to this Office the return of such election. When practicable, you will detail a commissioned or non-commissioned officer to drill, discipline and instruct such recruits.

The utmost activity and energy are enjoined in carrying into effect the above order.

By Order

ISRAEL WASHBURN, Jr.,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
 Augusta, April 24, 1861. }

GENERAL ORDER No. 7.

The first of the Ten Regiments of Volunteers, under the act of April 24th, 1861, will be organized as Infantry, and ordered into the service of the State from the Third Division, forthwith. Enlisting Officers of new Companies, and Captains or Commanding Officers of the organized Volunteer Companies, filled up within the limits of the Third Division, according to instructions issued to Recruiting Officers, will report to Major General William W. Virgin, at Portland, and furnish him and this Department, each, with complete Rolls of their respective Companies, and returns, or statements of vacancies of Commissioned Officers therein. As soon as the organization of any Company, for the First Regiment, is finally perfected by the election of its Officers, General Virgin will order such Company into quarters at Fort Preble, Portland, to be drilled, disciplined and instructed, until mustered into the service of the U. States. All original enlistment rolls, when completed, will be immediately returned to this Office. All expenditures accruing on account of quarters, subsistence, transportation or other necessary expenditure, on any account whatever, must be made up in duplicate accounts or bills, and approved by the Enlisting or Commanding Officers of Companies, or other Officers duly authorized to incur the liabilities, and forwarded to this Office, forthwith. No payments will be allowed and made, except upon strict compliance with this instruction. Arms, uniforms, equipments and clothing will be issued to the troops while at Portland.

The utmost diligence and promptness in the performance of all duties involved in preparing this Regiment for immediate service, is hereby enjoined upon all Officers and Soldiers connected therewith. General Virgin will cause elections of Company Officers to be had immediately upon receipt of official statements of vacancies, and without further order, and will make return thereof to this Office, forthwith. Elections of Regimental Officers, necessary to complete the organization of said Regiment, will be made the subject of a future order.

By the Commander-in-Chief,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

GENERAL ORDER No. 8.

The Major Generals of the Divisions of Militia, will each proceed forthwith to prepare Companies for organizing a Regiment of Infantry within their respective limits as a portion of the Ten Regiments provided for by act of April 24, 1861.

Enlisting Officers of new Companies, and Captains or Commanding Officers of the organized Volunteer Companies of this State, filled up within the limits of the several Divisions, according to instructions issued to Recruiting Officers, will return their original Enlistment Rolls to this Department as soon as completed, and report to the respective Major Generals, viz: To General James H. Butler, Bangor, General William H. Titcomb, Rockland, and Gen. William W. Virgin, Portland, and furnish them and this Department, each, with complete rolls of their respective Companies, and returns of vacancies of Commissioned Officers, and they will forthwith cause elections to be had, and make immediate returns thereof to this Office. Upon receipt of commissions, and the acceptance and qualification upon the same by Officers, the respective Companies will be enrolled and mustered into the service of the State, and provided with quarters and subsistence, either at the places of their enlistment, or at the several Division Head Quarters, as the Major Generals may direct. Arms will be furnished the troops from the State Arsenals and elsewhere, by the Acting Quartermaster General, at the earliest moment practicable.

Strict subordination will be enforced throughout the respective commands, and the troops dilligently exercised and instructed in military drill and discipline, until mustered into the service of the United States. The final issue to the troops, of arms, equipments, uniforms, clothing, and all other necessary articles will be made to them prior to, or at the time they are mustered into the service of the United States. All accounts and claims, which necessarily have accrued or may hereafter accue on account of quarters, subsistence, transportation, and from any and all other sources whatever, in the formation of these Regiments, must be furnished in duplicate, approved by the officer authorized to contract the liability, and forwarded to this Department, and payments will be withheld in all cases of non-compliance with this direction. Competent Surgeons will be designated by the Major Generals, to inspect candidates for enlistment, and report whether they are qualified for service.

The Major Generals, in promulgating this order, will define the limits of their respective Divisions, and prescribe all necessary details, rules and regulations for carrying it into immediate effect.

By Order of the Commander-in-Chief,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER No. 9.

The Major Generals of the several Divisions of Militia will immediately, upon the filling up of the Enlistment Rolls of Ten Companies within each of said Divisions, and the election of Officers, complete the regimental organization of the Second, Third and Fourth of the Ten Regiments of Infantry, authorized by the act of April 25, 1861, by concentrating said Companies of each Division, and causing elections to be held for Regimental Officers when necessary, without further order from this Department, and make due return thereof. Regimental Staff Offices will be promptly filled. Upon the final organization of said regiments, and without awaiting the receipt of Commissions, the Major Generals will cause the respective Colonels to place their several commands under proper camp and police regulations, in accordance with military usage and discipline, and the rules and articles established by the laws of this State, for organizing the Militia, or any part thereof, when called into actual service, and will perfect them to the utmost extent possible in drill and discipline.

Pay, subsistence and quarters, for the respective Companies, will commence with the election of their officers. A bounty of two months' pay to every non-commissioned officer, musician and private, will be due and paid them, at the time the troops are mustered into the service of the United States. Descriptive Rolls of the several Companies will be made by their officers, as soon as organized, and be returned to this Office. As the Regiments will be mustered into the service of the United States at the earliest moment possible, it is indispensable that all expenses duly arising under the act aforesaid, be forthwith ascertained and presented, properly vouched and substantiated, in duplicate, to this Department, or the duly authorized accounting and disbursing officers thereof.

GENERAL ORDER No. 10.

It having been made apparent to the Commander-in-Chief that the public property at Kittery Navy Yard is liable to attack from rebel privateers, Capt. M. F. Wentworth's command of Artillery from the Third Division, will at the earliest practicable moment, occupy Fort McClary, and there remain in the performance of a vigilant guard and garrison duty until otherwise ordered. Such ordnance and ordnance stores as are indispensably necessary for this duty, Capt. Wentworth will procure by requisition upon the commandant of the Navy Yard. The necessary quartermaster and commissary duties will be performed by Capt. Wentworth. Duplicate muster and descriptive rolls of his command, as existing at the time of taking possession of the Fort, will be returned to this office.

GENERAL ORDER No. 12.

Col. Jackson's Regiment of Volunteer Militia, from Major General William W. Virgin's Division at Portland, will consist of ten Companies of Infantry, of seventy-two non-commissioned officers and privates each, with a complement of commissioned officers, musicians, &c., organized under act of 25th inst.

Said Regiment, thus constituted, will be uniformed, armed, equipped, and furnished with rations, ammunition, clothing, camp equipage, utensils, and other requisite munitions of war, by the Acting Quartermaster General of this State.

General Virgin will, this day, after the Captain of each Company has furnished him with a full and complete Descriptive Roll of every man under his command, to be filed in this office, and after the bounty provided by said act has been paid by the Acting Paymaster General, Samuel E. Spring, Esq., of Portland, to the non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates of said Regiment, cause the same to be mustered into the service of the United States, in response to a requisition, dated the 15th instant, from Simon Cameron, Secretary of War for the United States.

The Commander-in-Chief cannot, even at this time, and in this Order, withhold the expression of his profound gratitude for the patriotism, self-sacrifice and indomitable energy of his fellow-citizens, which has with almost unparalleled promptness furnished for the United States Government, from a disorganized Militia, a Regiment of troops of which any nation or people would be proud.

To Major General Virgin and Staff, and every officer and soldier of this Regiment,—to the citizens of Portland, Lewiston, Auburn and Norway, as well as all other localities co-operating with our Government in its endeavor to maintain the supremacy of the laws, and the integrity and inviolability of our glorious Union, are the thanks of the Commander-in-Chief especially due.

GENERAL ORDER No. 13.

The Order of the Commander-in-Chief of the 26th inst., (No. 9) requiring the Major Generals to concentrate ten Companies within each of their respective Divisions, to constitute the second, third and fourth of the Volunteer Regiments, that may be raised under Act of 25th inst., authorized the allowance of pay, subsistence and rations to each of said Companies from the time of their organization by the election of officers; their time thenceforward being spent in drilling and instruction, as contemplated in the second section of said act, which provides that "the officers and men of said force shall be paid only for the time actually spent in drilling and instruction under the order and direction of the Governor, and until ordered into actual service under the State or National Government." The Commander-in-Chief orders and directs that the Major Generals immediately designate the Companies for said Regiments.

The time required to be actually spent by Companies, (other than those composing the first four Regiments,) in drilling and instruction, for which officers and men will receive pay as provided by said act, will be specified in a future Order.

The General Orders for carrying into effect the act of 25th of April, 1861, to authorize the raising of ten Regiments, &c., having been executed by the respective Major Generals, so far as they were charged therewith, and no further duties remaining to be performed by them at present, under said orders, the Commander-in-Chief directs, that they and their respective staffs be discharged from further service under the orders aforesaid, at their several Head Quarters, on Wednesday, the 29th day of May, instant, at four o'clock in the afternoon, at which time and places they will be paid by the Paymasters within the limits of their respective Divisions.

GENERAL ORDER No. 43.

In the recent Battle on the soil of Virginia between the Army of the Union and the Band of Rebellious Traitors, the soldiers of Maine bore an honorable and conspicuous part,—winning fame for themselves, and shedding glory on the noble State that sent them forth to patriotic duty. Of the troops actually engaged on the loyal-side, nearly one-fourth were from Maine, and though the day terminated in a reverse to the Federal Arms, the signal valor displayed by our soldiers in the face of greatly superior numbers, left its own potent assurance of our future and permanent triumph.

Whilst observing, with the most grateful pride and admiration, the brave conduct of our Regiments already in the field, the Governor and Commander-in-Chief calls upon the loyal men of the State to emulate the patriotic zeal and courage of their brothers who have gone before them. The issue involved is one on which there can be no divided opinion in Maine. It affects not only the integrity of our Union, but the very life of Republican Government. For the preservation of these, Maine will pour out her best blood, and expend her richest treasure. Having already contributed generously of the flower of her youth and manhood, Maine must send yet more of her stalwart sons, to do battle for the preservation of the Union, and for the supremacy of Law.

To this end, the Commander-in-Chief has directed the enlistment of additional Regiments of Volunteers, and doubts not that his call will receive a prompt and patriotic response.

The Officers of the Company to be appointed and commissioned the same as other Company Officers are appointed and commissioned in the Regiments of Volunteers from this State.

No man will be accepted or mustered into service who is not an active and able-bodied man, and who cannot, when firing at rest, at a distance of two hundred yards, put ten consecutive shots in a target, the average distance not to exceed five inches from the centre of the bull's-eye to the centre of the ball; and all candidates will have to pass such examination as to satisfy the recruiting officer of their fitness for enlistment in this corps.

GENERAL ORDER No. 47.

Having been authorized by the Secretary of War to raise, arm and organize at the expense of the United States, a Regiment of Cavalry to serve for three years or during the war, with the understanding that the War Department will revoke the commissions of all officers who may be found incompetent for the proper discharge of their duties :

The Commander-in-Chief orders as follows :

I. The Regiment will consist of ten Companies of ninety-seven men each, and will be raised, organized and mustered into the service of the United States, in accordance with General Orders of the War Department, Nos. 58 and 61, which provide,

“ 1. The officers of the Regular Army, now on mustering duty in the principal cities are appointed disbursing officers of the funds appropriated by act of Congress ‘ for collecting, drilling, and organizing volunteers, under the act authorizing the President to accept the services of five hundred thousand men, ’ &c. They will be charged with the payment of all proper claims presented to them under this act, duly authenticated and certified to, by the various volunteer recruiting officers. These disbursements will be made in the manner prescribed for the Recruiting Service of the Regular Army. The premium for accepted recruits as laid down in Par. 1315 General Regulations will not, however, be allowed in the Volunteer service. The officers charged with these disbursements will immediately make requisitions on this office for the requisite funds.

“ 2. To facilitate the raising of Volunteer Regiments, officers recruiting therefor are authorized to muster their men into service as enrolled. As soon as mustered, these men will be sent, with descriptive lists, to the camps of rendezvous, at which places the oaths of allegiance will be duly administered by a civil magistrate, or an officer of the regular army. The cost of transportation from place of muster to place of rendezvous will be paid by the Quartermaster at the latter station.

“ 3. When the organization of regiments accepted to be raised within a specified time, is not completed at the expiration of that period, the companies and detachments thereof, already mustered into service, will be assigned to other regiments at the pleasure of this Department. * * * * *

“ Officers who have not been mustered into the service have power to enroll men, but are not competent to muster them, under the provisions of General Orders No. 58, current series, from the War Department. In this case the muster must be made by some officer, either volunteer or regular, already in the service, and the oath must be administered by a civil magistrate or an officer of the regular army, —preferably the latter.

“In mustering companies, the original mustering rolls will be retained at the company rendezvous, upon which the names of members will be enrolled as they present themselves. As they are mustered they will be sent to commanding officers of camps of rendezvous, with descriptive lists stating name, date of enrollment and muster, the officer by whom mustered, the company and regiment to which they belong, whether they have or have not taken the oath of allegiance prescribed for those entering the service, and such other information as may be necessary or useful in the case. Necessary subsistence will be procured upon returns signed by the mustering officer.

“When one-half a Company has been mustered into service, the 1st Lieutenant thereof can also be mustered in, and when the organization of the Company is completed, the Captain and 2d Lieutenant can be so mustered.

“When the men of a Company have been mustered by more than one officer, the fact must be stated on the muster roll, opposite their names, ‘by whom mustered,’ and these rolls must be signed by each of the mustering officers.

“Field and Staff Officers of Regiments can be mustered into service upon the completion of the organization of Regiment or Companies, as follows :

Colonel—entire Regiment;
Lieutenant Colonel—four Companies;
Major—six Companies;
Chaplain—entire Regiment;
Surgeon— “ “
Adjutant— “ “
Quartermaster—entire Regiment;
Ass’t Surgeon— “ “

“The cost of transportation of troops from place of muster to place of rendezvous, will be paid as directed in General Orders No. 58, current series, from this office, from the appropriation for ‘collecting, drilling and organizing Volunteers.’ Quartermasters at camps of rendezvous will make requisitions upon the Adjutant General for the funds necessary for this purpose. All officers charged with disbursements of funds appropriated under the act mentioned, will forward to this Office, monthly summary statements and accounts current with vouchers, in the manner prescribed for the General Recruiting Service.”

II. Such expenses of recruiting will be allowed and paid as are authorized by the regulations and orders of the War Department.

III. The place of rendezvous will be Augusta.

IV. As this Regiment is raised and organized by authority and with the funds of the Government of the United States, and not in virtue of the act of the Legislature of this State of April 25, 1861, no State Bounty can be allowed, but when honorably discharged, and if he shall have served for the period of his enlistment, or during the war, if sooner ended, a bounty of $100 will be paid by the United States to each recruit.

V. Field and Company officers will be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, with or without previous nominations by ballot, as may be deemed advisable.

VI. The commissioned and non-commissioned staff will be appointed by the Colonel, the former from company subalterns, and the latter from non-commissioned officers and privates of the Regiment. Company non-commissioned officers will be appointed by the Regimental Commander, upon the recommendation of the Captains.

Vacancies will be filled in same manner as original appointments are made.

VII. The Surgeon and Assistant Surgeon will be appointed by the Commander-in-Chief, after they shall have passed an examination by a Medical Board.

VIII. If delay should occur in filling up any Company to the standard requisite, the Commander-in-Chief will disband or consolidate the incomplete organizations, or accept new ones, as circumstances may require. When Companies are consolidated, the officers will be assigned according to rank, and when rank is of same date it will be fixed by lot, officers rendered supernumerary by disbanding or consolidating incomplete Companies or Regiments, will be discharged from the service thereby, and their pay will cease from that date.

IX. Horses, equipments, uniforms and arms will be provided by the Government.

X. The utmost care is enjoined upon Recruiting Officers to enlist none but active, able-bodied men, who must pass a strict medical examination.

XI. The enlistments will be in triplicate, according to a form prepared and furnished by the Adjutant General.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,
JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER No. 53.

With sadness the Commander-in-Chief officially announces that Colonel Thomas H. Marshall, of the Seventh Regiment of Maine Volunteers, died at Baltimore on the twenty-fifth day of this month.

The painful news, which, the next day after the mournful event, had spread throughout the State, carried with it, to thousands of friends and admirers, the shock of a personal affliction.

Colonel Marshall, a native and always a resident of the State, was known throughout its extent, and had received at the hands of the people unusual honors for one of his age. At the breaking out of War, urged by the highest sense of duty toward his country, he left a home and family circle, adorned and valuable by all the charms which wealth, culture and taste could throw around them, and accepted the hardships of the field as Lieutenant Colonel of the Fourth Maine Regiment.

In this capacity, at the battle of Bull Run, he displayed a gallantry, coolness under fire, discretion and military skill, which gave the public assurance that his future would fulfil the most flattering promise of personal friends.

He was afterwards promoted and transferred to the command of the Seventh Regiment of Maine, stationed at Baltimore. He found the Regiment, then newly raised, almost without discipline, and gave all his energy and skill to make it ready for actual service. He accomplished this, but at how great a price! for in the effort he overtasked himself, and contracted the disease which has taken him away.

We mourn the gentleman who united with culture and strong intellect and manly virtue the graces of character which ensure respect and affection.

We mourn the soldier whose gallantry in the face of the enemy gave credit to his native State, and whose skill and prudence in these trying times cannot well be spared.

All that remains is, to remember this true man, so that we may cherish his virtues and imitate his excellence.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

GENERAL ORDER No. 58.

Information has come to this Office of Railroad Passes, obtained by officers under representation of using them for the transportation of recruits into camp, being issued by them to soldiers on furlough, for their convenience in going home and returning. This practice, it is well known to every officer, is in direct violation of repeated instructions from the Adjutant General, U. S. mustering and disbursing officers and others, who have acquainted them with the regulations applicable to the issue of Railroad Passes, which admits of but one allowance for transportation of recruits from the place of enlistment to the Regimental rendezvous.

Due measures are now taken to ascertain all infractions of this rule hereafter, and such individuals as are found offending, will incur the penalties provided in such cases.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Augusta, May 17, 1861. }

WHEREAS, The Companies already formed and organized by the election of officers, under the provisions of act of April 25, 1861, providing for the raising of ten Regiments of Volunteers, &c., are more than sufficient to make up the number of Regiments which it is believed will be accepted by the United States from this State, for a considerable time to come, if ever; and whereas, the continuance of said Companies in quarters and under pay will involve large, and it is believed, unnecessary expense, and whereas, while the promptness and alacrity with which the members thereof have tendered their services to the country in this time of peril reflects the highest honor upon their loyalty and patriotism, and has been witnessed with pride and pleasure, and is hereby gratefully acknowledged, the duty still remains of keeping the expenses accruing under said act within such limits as may be prudent and reasonable, and of husbanding the resources of the State for such necessities as may arise hereafter; it is therefore ORDERED, That all Companies of Infantry or Riflemen formed and organized under the provisions of the act of April 25, 1861, aforesaid, that have not been, or shall not hereafter be designated to make up and constitute the six Regiments first organized under said act, be, and they are hereby, discharged from the service of the State; such discharge to take effect on such day and at such time, as shall be appointed by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief; provided, however, that such Companies (not constituting a part of either of the first six Regiments), or any of them, may, on or before the time which may be designated by the Commander-in-Chief for mustering them for payment respectively, elect to have leave of absence.

without pay or rations, until called into service by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief; or they, or any of them, may elect, on or before the time designated for mustering for payment as aforesaid, to devote not to exceed two days, or what is equivalent thereto, each week, to drill and instruction, until otherwise ordered, and be paid pro rata therefor, without quarters or subsistence. Evidences of election in the cases aforesaid shall be made to the Governor by the certificate of a majority of the commissioned officers of Companies; and no Company electing to accept leave of absence on the conditions above stated, or to devote not exceeding two days in each week to drill and instruction, without pay or subsistence, shall be discharged by virtue of this order. But in respect to all Companies (not including any in the first six Regiments) not accepting leave of absence, or electing to drill, &c., as aforesaid, this order is absolute, and the discharge of such Companies from the service of the State, from the time fixed by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, will be final and unconditional.

ORDERED, That the Governor and Commander-in-Chief be advised to cause a copy of the foregoing order to be communicated to the Captains of the Companies to be affected thereby; and that he be further advised to cause them to be informed of the time appointed by him for the discharge of their respective Companies to take effect, and for mustering the same for payment.

IN COUNCIL, May 17, 1861.

CAMP HAMLIN, }
Augusta, Me., June 4, 1861. }

REGIMENTAL ORDER No. —.

The Regiment will leave Augusta at 5 A. M. to-morrow.

Tattoo will beat to-night at 8 P. M. Reveille to-morrow at 1 A. M.

Knapsacks will be packed, excepting blankets, and one ration and thirty rounds of ammunition issued to each man before tattoo to-day. The remaining rations will be issued in boxes to Captains of Companies, for which they will be responsible and ready to issue at the proper time.

All baggage of officers and surplus subsistence and camp and garrison equipage will be loaded into baggage cars before tattoo.

The sentinels from tattoo to reveille will be doubled with loaded muskets.

At reveille a strict roll will be called.

The men present in each Company will be divided into as many equal squads as there are tents, reserving enough for the tent of the commissioned officers and kitchen tents.

The reliefs not on post will be divided into as many squads as there are guard tents and tents for field officers.

Then at the roll of the drum every man will proceed to the place assigned him, squads being under the charge of Sergeants and Corporals, all will proceed at once to unfasten the cords, pull up the pegs and pile them in order by the side of each tent. The tent poles will be loosened but held steadily by two men holding each.

Previous to striking tents, arms to be stacked on Company grounds and accoutrements slung upon them. At the next tap of the drum, tents will all be lowered to the ground toward the west. Every man will forthwith give three cheers, without moving from his place.

The tents will then be rolled up and well secured by the cords, the pegs inside, so that they will not fall out. The squads will raise up their tents carefully—the commissioned officers' and kitchen tents included.

The right Company will then move off in the most direct way to the car prepared. The next Company will move as soon as the first has passed it, and so on throughout the Regiment.

As soon as the first squad arrives and loads its camp equipage, the Sergeant in command will march it back to the Company ground; the next following squad, the same. The reserve guard, after the tents fall, will be marched to a place near the place of loading—the officer in charge of them will give them the proper instructions.

The first two returned squads will remove in the same manner the Colonel's tents, the next two the remaining field officers', and so on for the Staff.

As soon as possible after loading the cars, the Companies will be formed on their respective Company grounds, and take their arms. Immediately the drums will beat a recall of sentinels, when the sentinels will be marched to the guard tent and formed in platoons. They will form the advance guard—the reserve sentinels will form the rear guard.

The band will play a quick march, and place themselves in the rear of the advance guard. A Company will follow next by platoons, B next, C next, and so on—the Field and Staff taking their proper places in the column. The reserve guard will bring up the rear.

The commander of the advance guard will lead the column through the removed fence in front of the State House, and proceed down State Street to Grove, and down Grove Street to the cars. Several rods before reaching the railroad the music will cease, the command be halted, the first car being ready at the crossing of the road.

The advance guard will enter from the rear of the car, by the flank, filing right and left, fill up the front seats of the car. The Band will move out of the way and be halted near.

First platoon, Co. A, will follow the advance guard, officers remaining with their command. This car will be moved along, and the second car will be filled up by the next platoon and the 1st section of the 1st platoon, Company B. This car will move on and the next filled by 2d section and remaining platoon Company B., and so on throughout.

The rear of the last car will be occupied by the rear guard.

A middle car will have been left unoccupied for the Band, Field and Staff and servants, who will enter last. The cars will be locked so soon as they are filled.

As soon as the baggage train is loaded it will move on under charge of the Quartermaster, having with him wagoners and such assistants as he may require.

He will employ G. W. Ricker, or some other responsible citizen of Augusta, to have entire charge of putting aboard the horses and their furniture, having the wagoners under his command until the end of the journey.

The baggage train will lead at the start, and may move off as soon as loaded. The passenger train will follow, starting at 5 A. M. precisely, and will pass the other train at some point between Augusta and Boston.

Two officers of the night guard will be appointed. The officer of the day will accompany the rear guard.

No officers or men, except the Field and Staff, will be permitted to leave the cars before reaching Boston, except by the written permission of the Colonel.

Canteens will be filled with water to-day before tattoo.

The Field Officers will see the above orders carried out.

By order of O. O. HOWARD,

Colonel Commanding Third Maine Regiment.

E. BURT, Lieutenant and Adjutant.

travelling pay and subsistence, extra pay, half-pay and pension, and other support, compensation and gratuities, for himself or his widow or heirs.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, Oct. 23, 1861. }

DEAR SIR : Herewith I send you Rolls for the enlistment of soldiers for the Volunteer Regiment of —, to be raised by Maine for the United States.

It will be perceived from General Order No. —, copies of which I send you, that no State Bounty can be paid troops, but in all other respects they will be paid and treated as regiments that have already been sent from this State.

Rolls must be signed in triplicate, that is, each man must sign three Rolls, and his name must also be entered, and he be fully described upon three Descriptive Rolls.

Recruits that are rejected by the Surgeon or Mustering Officer, will receive no pay, and cases of plain and apparent incompetency of enlisted men, will devolve all the expense of board, transportation, &c., of such men, upon the Recruiting Officer.

Promises of promotion, leave of absence, or other favor or indulgence, are unauthorized.

Reports daily upon blanks furnished, of additional enlistments, must be made and forwarded by mail to this Office.

Pay and subsistence (latter not exceeding $— per week) will commence with date of enlistment.

Instructions based upon daily returns of men enlisted, will be forwarded from this office, for their transportation to Augusta, the place of rendezvous.

Enlistment and Descriptive Rolls in triplicate, as also certificate of examination, must be sent to this office when recruits come into camp in this city.

The consent in writing of parents or guardians, will alone authorize the enlistment of minors.

Reasonable expenses necessarily incurred in recruiting will be allowed, provided these instructions are fully complied with.

The following paragraphs from General Orders of the War Department, No. 70, dated Sept. 3, 1861, will govern you in incurring liabilities, and in exhibiting them for re-imbusement :

“ Bills must in all cases specify the date of expenditure, the particular item and amount, and the Company or Regiment for which the expense was incurred. They must be accompanied by the receipt of the party to whom payment was made, and by a certificate of the officer or person incurring the expense, that the amount charged is accurate and just, and that it was necessary to the public service, for troops raised for the United States.

“Among expenses properly chargeable against this appropriation may be enumerated :

“1st. Rent of rendezvous or office for recruiting.

“2d. Commutation of fuel and quarters for officers already mustered into service, when detached on recruiting duty.

“3d. Subsistence of Volunteers prior to their muster into service. After such muster, subsistence will be provided by the Subsistence Department. If possible subsistence will be issued in kind, as recognized in the regular service, (or if other articles are substituted, the cost of the whole must not exceed the regular supplies), and will be paid for at rates not exceeding the current prices at the place of purchase. If subsistence cannot be furnished in kind, and board be necessary, it will be furnished.

“4th. Necessary transportation of volunteers prior to completion of Company organization and muster into service as a Company. After completion of such organization and muster, transportation will be paid by the Quartermaster’s Department. Transportation will be at the rate of two cents per mile for railroad travel, and at the current rates for stage and steamboat fare. * * *

“7th. Necessary medicines and medical attendance prior to organization of Regiments, or the mustering in of Regimental Surgeons.

“8th. Actual railroad, stage or steamboat fare, necessarily incurred by authorized officers in raising or recruiting volunteers.

“9th. Advertising. Officers recruiting will be authorized to advertise for recruits in not to exceed two newspapers for each rendezvous under their charge. * *

“11th. All other expenses allowed for recruiting in the regular service not here-in mentioned, and incurred for volunteers previous to their muster into the United States service.”

It is important that the greatest dispatch should be used in filling the Regiment, and that the men should be in readiness to report themselves at Augusta at short notice.

In the absence of specific instructions upon any point occurring in making enlistments, you will be governed by the provisions of the General Order herewith transmitted.

Respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL’S OFFICE, }
Augusta, Oct. 28, 1861. }

To ———

It is found that many Companies and Squads are not properly enlisted, for although a single signature binds the recruit, the War Department, for the soldiers’ benefit, requires all enlistments to be made in triplicates, and the Recruiting Officer to have each man fully described upon descriptive rolls, in triplicate, and each roll certified.

Are your men all thus enlisted? If not, neither you or they will receive pay, nor will any recruiting expenses be paid.

Where are your three Enlistment and three Descriptive Rolls?

Is the name of each and every man you have enlisted (whether present or absent) upon each of these six rolls, and are those rolls duly certified?

Attend to this now, in preference to anything else, and report to this office.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

STATE OF MAINE.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That I, —, in the State of Maine, as principal, and we —, as sureties, are held and stand firmly bound and obliged unto Nathan Dane of Alfred, and John L. Hodsdon of Bangor, or to the survivor of them, in behalf and for the benefit of the assignees of recruits and soldiers named in certain Allotment Rolls, in which the money is directed to be transmitted to said —, for the benefit of said assignees, in the full and just sum of fifteen thousand dollars ; to the which payment well and truly to be made to the said Dane and Hodsdon, or the survivor of them, for the benefit of the assignees aforesaid, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, firmly by these presents.

Sealed with our seals, this — day of December, A. D. 1861.

And the condition of the foregoing obligation is such, that whereas sundry officers and soldiers of different Regiments and Companies of the Maine Volunteers have, on certain Allotment Rolls (so-called) directed certain portions, as therein designated, of their monthly pay, to be transmitted to said —, for the use of and to be paid over to the several persons named as assignees in said Allotment Rolls. Now, therefore, if said — shall, from time to time as the money shall be received by him, promptly and truly pay over to said assignees respectively, on demand, the amount of money assigned them, that is, to each one of them, the amount so assigned to him by said Allotment Rolls, this obligation shall cease and be void ; but if the said — shall fail promptly and truly to pay over, on demand, to said assignees, or any of them, the sum or sums belonging to him, or them respectively, under said allotment, it shall remain in full force and virtue.

in the presence of —.

CERTAIN ORDERS ISSUED FROM WAR DEPARTMENT—RELATING TO MUSTERING, PAYMENT, &c., OF VOLUNTEERS.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Washington, Sept. 16, 1861. }

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 78.

I. All persons having received authority from the War Department to raise Volunteer Regiments, Batteries or Companies, in the loyal States, are, with their commands, hereby placed under the orders of the Governors of those States, to whom they will immediately report the present condition of their respective organizations. These troops will be organized, or re-organized, and prepared for service by the Governors of their respective States in the manner they may judge most advantageous for the interests of the General Government.

II. Volunteer officers who have complied or may hereafter comply with the conditions of their respective acceptations from the War Department, and who have not received commissions from the President of the United States, will be commissioned by the Governors of the respective States by furnishing the Regiments, Batteries, or independent Companies to which these officers are attached.

III. The Governors of the several States may, at any time during the organization of a Volunteer Regiment, authorize the Adjutant, Quartermaster, and, when absolutely necessary, the Medical Officers thereof, to be mustered into service, to aid in recruiting the Regiment, and for prompt transaction of all other public business. All other officers will be mustered into the service as directed in General Orders No. 61, current series, from this office.

II. Lieutenants appointed aides to general officers, are not dropped from their Regiments, but should be reported upon the returns thereof, as "absent upon detached service."

III. Officers of the Volunteer Service sent upon Regimental Recruiting Service, will make out three muster-in rolls of recruits enlisted; the first of which will be sent to the Adjutant General of the Army, the second to the Adjutant General of the State to which the Regiment belongs, and the third to the Commanding Officer of the Regiment.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 90.

The following plan for paying to the families of officers and soldiers in the service of the United States, who are, or may become prisoners of war, sums due them by the Government, having been approved by the President, it is published for the information of all concerned :

Payment will be made to persons presenting a written authority from a prisoner to draw his pay; or, without such authority, to his wife, the guardian of his minor children, or his widowed mother, in the order named.

Application for such pay must be made to the senior Paymaster of the district in which the Regiment of the prisoner is serving, and must be accompanied by the certificate of a Judge of a Court of the United States, or of a District Attorney of the United States, or of some other party under the seal of a Court of Record of the State in which the applicant is a resident, setting forth that the said applicant is the wife of the prisoner, the guardian of his children, or his widowed mother, and if occupying either of the last two relationships towards him, that there is no one in existence who is more nearly related, according to the above classification.

Payments will be made to parties thus authorized and identified, on the receipts made out in the manner that would be required of the prisoner himself, at least one month's pay being in all cases retained by the United States. The officer making the payment will see that it is entered on the last previous muster roll for the payment of the prisoner's Company, or will report it, if those rolls are not in his possession, to the senior Paymaster of the district, who will either attend to the entry or give notice of the payment to the Paymaster General, if the rolls have been forwarded to his office.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 91.

I. United States Mustering and Disbursing Officers will supply subsistence, both prior and subsequent to muster, for all Volunteer organizations raised under proper authority, whether originally granted by Governors of loyal States or directly by the War Department.

Subsistence, prior to muster, will be paid from the appropriation for "collecting, drilling and organizing Volunteers," and subsequent thereto from the appropriation for the subsistence of the Army. Requisitions for funds for the former expenditures will be made upon the Adjutant General, and for the latter upon the Commissary General of Subsistence.

Accounts for expenditures under the first head will be rendered to the Adjutant General, and under the second to the Commissary General of Subsistence.

II. The attention of officers supplying subsistence to Volunteers in the process of their organization into Companies and Regiments, both prior to and subsequent to muster, is called to the exorbitant prices demanded and paid for this object. Rations, in kind, will hereafter be issued whenever cooking facilities can be furnished to the troops, whether in squads or in larger bodies. If the rations cannot be contracted for at a reasonable rate, subsistence will be procured in bulk, and issued to the Volunteers. In no case should the cost of the ration, uncooked, exceed nineteen cents, and at most points in the Western States it should not exceed fourteen cents. When cooking facilities cannot be furnished, contracts for the rations, cooked, may be made at reasonable rates, and the necessity for the same must be clearly stated on the accounts. When board and lodging are necessary, the prices for each should be stated, and the aggregate cost of both must not exceed forty cents per day.

III. No bands for Volunteer Regiments will in future be mustered into service, and vacancies that may hereafter occur in bands now in service will not be filled.

All members of bands now in service that are not musicians will be discharged upon the receipt of this order, by their respective Regimental Commanders.

The bounty of one hundred dollars granted to the widow or heirs of a deceased Volunteer by the 6th section of the act "to authorize the employment of Volunteers," approved July 22, 1861, which the Second Auditor has been directed to place to the credit of the said decedent on the final settlement of his account, will be charged to the fifty-five millions of dollars for the pay of two and three years Volunteers, appropriated by the act "making additional appropriations for the support of the Army," approved July 17, 1861.

II. Such commanding officers of Volunteer Regiments, raised in conformity with direct acceptances from the War Department, as have not already done so, will at once prepare and transmit to the Governors of their respective States, complete muster rolls of their several commands as at present organized.

III. The attention of officers is called to Paragraph 997, Revised Regulations, in which they are forbidden to give or take any receipt in blank for public money or property.

IV. Capt. Henry B. Davidson, 1st Cavalry, having left his Regiment July 1, 1861, on thirty days' leave, and having failed to report for duty at the expiration of said leave or since, he will be dropped from the rolls of the Army, to date from July 30, 1861.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 99.

The Major General Commanding announces to the Army, with sincere pleasure, 1st, the brilliant reduction of the Forts in Port Royal Harbor, by the officers and sailors of our gallant fleet, under command of Flag Officer S. F. DuPont, the utter rout of the enemy, the capture of the town of Beaufort, and the landing of Brigadier General T. W. Sherman's Army on the coast of South Carolina; 2d, the victory achieved by Brigadier General William Nelson, at Pikeville, Ky., in which, after two days' hard fighting, the rebels were completely defeated and put to flight; and 3d, the daring attack made by Brigadier General U. S. Grant, with an inferior force, on the rebels at Belmont, Mo., and the signal defeat of the latter, with a loss of all their artillery, baggage and means of transportation.

The Major General Commanding cannot too highly extol the steadiness, courage and admirable conduct, displayed by officers, sailors and soldiers, alike, in these several engagements. He commends them to the imitation of the whole Army.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 101.

The intention of the Government in reserving the original vacancies of Second Lieutenants, for the most deserving among the non-commissioned officers of the new regular regiments, was two-fold—to secure the services of brave, intelligent and energetic officers, by appointing only those who had fully proved themselves to be such, after a fair competition with all who chose to enter the lists against them—and to give to the young men of the country—those especially who were poor, unknown, and without any social or political influence—an equal opportunity with the most favored. In General Orders No. 16, of May 4, 1861, this intention was publicly announced. It is now re-affirmed; and commanding officers of the new Regiments will see that it is carried out in good faith.

APPENDIX D.

A Return of the several Regiments and Corps which have entered United States service from this State, during the past year, under the requisition of the President, with their organization when they left the State, and all subsequent changes to December 1, 1861. Made in accordance with the following Instructions, issued by the Adjutant General early in November.

STATE OF MAINE.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta. Nov. —, 1861. }

CAPT. _____

Company _____, _____ Regt. _____ Maine Volunteers.

DEAR SIR: Herewith, is furnished you a list of all whom the records of this office show to have been mustered into United States service in your company, with the officers as they existed when it left the State. I wish you to fill up the Return from the records of the company, and from such other information as you may be able to obtain, and to do it very carefully, in order that I may present in my annual report, from this and similar returns, the name, and what may be important in the history, of every soldier who has entered the service, together with the exact present strength of each company.

You probably have some in your company, either as officers or privates, who have entered it since our rolls were made, whose names are not here given. You will please add all such at the bottom of the list of "Privates," giving the time of their being mustered into service, age, &c., and remarking opposite Officers' names, their promotion. (See example, No. 9.) If, by any error in the rolls, the name of a person is given who has never served with you since you left the State, you will notice him accordingly in the Remarks, and in the Recapitulation, put him under the head of "Transferred."

I have given the name, age at the time of entering the service, and residence of each soldier—the first name in full, when it has been possible to ascertain it: please see that these first names are completed—that the whole name is spelled correctly—that the town opposite each man's name is the one he calls his home, (not necessarily his legal residence,) in order that each portion of the State may have its due credit for furnishing volunteers—and finally, that all mistakes are rectified, and blank spaces filled.

The column "present and absent," comprises all whom you shall consider members of your company on the first day of December next, even though some may be in this State recruiting, and others sick in a hospital fifty miles from you.

The remaining requirements will be easily understood, in connection with the Example which has been given. These various heads will cover every case that may arise, and you will be able under them to state accurately the reasons why any, who have once been with you, are now absent. Every man must be accounted for. Do not, under any circumstances, erase a name, but make the Remarks very full, inserting everything that may be necessary in the way of explanation. Let the time and cause of discharges be correctly stated. It is of the utmost importance that each of these requirements be carefully complied with, in order that no injustice may be done to any one.

In the Recapitulation, those who have been promoted to be officers, from the ranks, or from outside the limits of the company, must be numbered as "Privates," else the "totals" on the right hand will be too large, and cause confusion. Under the heading "Present Organization, &c.," the officers, as now existing, will appear.

The "Morning Report" for December 1st, is independent of what precedes, except that the "Aggregate present and absent" should be equal to the sum of "fit for duty" and "sick." This report will be condensed from your regular morning report of that date. Everything except this, and the column "present and absent" in the Return, can be made up at once; but little labor will then remain. Each commanding officer will be expected to forward his Return to this office as early as December 3d; if it is delayed, it will probably be too late for publication.

These Returns, when perfected and arranged, together with abstracts and tables based upon them, will be published in the "Annual Report of the Adjutant General," on the 1st of January. These Reports will be scattered throughout the State, and sent to all our regiments. From them, friends at home will be able to obtain information in relation to husbands, brothers and sons in the army, that they can obtain in no other way. It concerns you more than any other single individual, that your record shall be full, and free from errors, and every consideration of duty and self-respect, will urge your prompt and personal attention to this subject.

I will add that this is required, also, in partial conformity to Section 3, of the Act passed at the extra session of the Legislature, in April last, entitled "An act to authorize the raising of ten regiments," &c., which section provides that "the captains of the respective companies shall make monthly returns," &c. This has not yet been asked for, and it is thought that this Return, if properly prepared, will furnish all the facts desired at the present time.

I have sent an extra blank which you will fill out, to correspond with the one returned to this office, and preserve for reference.

If any information that I can give you is required, it shall be cheerfully furnished.

Very Respectfully,

Your Obedient Servant,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

NOTE TO APPENDIX D.

THE returns of the first twelve regiments and the company of Sharp-Shooters are dated December 1st, 1861, but subsequent changes in the field and staff organizations have been noted from the rosters to the latest date practicable. The returns of the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Regiments of Infantry, the First Regiment of Cavalry, and the six Batteries of Mounted Artillery, are dated December 31st, 1861. Subsequent additions to the list of commissioned officers have been added as far as possible. The aggregate of troops furnished (Appendix F), includes the footing of the preceding returns and the rolls of recruits since received at this office.

EXHIBIT NO. 3.

Of the 1081 Rifles and 4776 Muskets and Musketoons estimated by my predecessor as belonging to the State, in whatever localities, (and under the practice of issuing arms to others besides military organizations, nothing more certain than an estimate was attainable), 677 of the former have been fitted with the sabre bayonet, a few of which have been sent to our Regiments; and the remainder will be at an early day. 1178 of the Muskets, including the 344, our quota from Government for 1861, have been supplied to our troops in service, out of the State, and the companies garrisoning the Forts at home.

There are in the Arsenals 161 Musketoons, 15 Brown Percussion Rifles, 6 Rifle and 145 common Muskets, and 54 old English Tower Muskets (Revolutionary trophies), making a total of 381 Musketoons, Muskets, and Rifles.

There are in the hands of companies and individuals, other than of the active service, duly issued 683 Percussion Rifles, Musketoons and Muskets. In the hands of service regiments in process of organization, including those lost or destroyed (no small number) since the issue of them commenced, there are 1735 Muskets, leaving 1547 Muskets, Musketoons and Rifles in the hands of disbanded companies, associations, and citizens, a large portion of which are, undoubtedly, lost or injured, besides 22 Muskets and Rifles of different patterns at Headquarters. All of the foregoing are entirely irrespective of the purchases under the head of "Small Arms," except a sample, each, of the Enfield and sabre bayonet Rifle.

APPENDIX H.

RETURNS OF MILITIA ORGANIZATIONS AND SCHEDULES OF MILITARY PROPERTY.

SUCH of the organized Companies of our "active, or uniformed militia," as furnished a majority, or sufficient number of the members of each, to secure identity of officers and men volunteering for service as such companies respectively, under the General Government, in virtue of the Act of 25th April, 1861, have necessarily suspended all their functions connected with the law under which they were originally organized; and until the close of their term of service under their new enlistment, have ceased to exist, except nominally upon the Records and Rosters which recognize them in their original capacity.

To what extent the officers and men who declined volunteering, and those who did enlist, but are duly discharged from service, if constituting a majority, may resume their original duties, and corresponding rights and privileges under the original organization, it will be sufficient to determine, whenever the question arises in any proper form.

The following table comprises those companies, and affords the requisite data in relation to them for their identification.

Companies of Active Militia existing at the time of the passage of the Act of 25th April, 1861, which volunteered under that Act for service out of State.

No inconsiderable quantity of arms have been collected the past season from individuals and town authorities; these were originally issued to companies now disbanded, or which have ceased to exist by limitation. A laudable spirit of patriotism has been evinced by citizens holding these arms, in returning them to the State upon request, notwithstanding the opinion which generally prevailed that their title to them had become perfect by the completion of their term of service in the companies to which these weapons had been issued. Many of these returned arms have been furnished our volunteer troops at their respective company and regimental rendezvous. At the completion of these organizations the arms have been transferred to succeeding ones, and thus have been, and still are, kept in constant use. From the informality attending the receipt and issue of most of these arms, names and dates are now necessarily wanting, all of which, however, may be obtained at a future day.

APPENDIX I.

TABLES COMPILED FROM CENSUS RETURNS OF 1860.

In order to exhibit with completeness and accuracy the great comparative strength of this State in the personnel of military resource, and also that each separate locality should receive due credit for the number of troops furnished by it, the following Tables have been prepared from the census returns of 1860.

Appendix E. exhibits the number of persons in service from each city, town, and plantation in this State. A comparison of the number from each in the latter with these Tables, as they stand, will readily and clearly indicate the relative obligations of the State and the General Government to the various localities for coming voluntarily to their aid in response to the call for troops.

In this Table, it should be remarked that the townships in the respective Counties are grouped together and included under one numerical designation.

If the public burdens, sustained during the past year, have borne unequally upon any particular portions of the State, these Tables will facilitate the adjustment of balances, if the same be deemed expedient.

The number of male citizens in the State between the ages of seventeen and forty years, as shown by the census returns of 1860, is 112,466; and the maximum limit of age for liability to military duty would embrace many thousands beyond this number.

The aggregate of enrolled militia, returned the present year, is more than 81,000.

The supposed absence of responsibility on the part of assessors in enrolling militia, has induced an imperfect performance of that duty. Simple assertions of individuals, that they were not liable to enrollment on account of age or disability, have been accepted without inquiry or objection. It is, therefore, safe to presume that the reliable number of our citizens capable of bearing arms, is not less than that returned.

COUNTY OF ANDROSCOGGIN.
