SAVINGS BANKS.

The number organized in this State is sixty-four, five of which organized and commenced business this year, namely :

Limerick Savings Bank, Limerick.

Mechanics' Savings Bank, Auburn.

Peoples' Savings Bank, Lewiston.

Saccarappa Savings Bank, Westbrook.

Topsham and Brunswick Twenty-Five Cent Savings Bank, Brunswick.

An abstract of the examinations of the banks is herewith submitted, giving in detail the securities, resources and condition of each bank as it existed on the day of its examination. Also an abstract of the annual reports made to the Examiner by the Treasurers of the banks, exhibiting the condition of each bank as it existed on Monday, the first day of November last, excepting the Winthrop Savings Bank at Winthrop.

This bank, owing to the loss of a large proportion of its funds, which were stolen on the 23d day of July last, became insolvent. Its effects are now in the hands of a Receiver. The funds stolen have been recovered excepting the government bonds and currency. Those recovered, at the face value, amount to $66,100. This was effected by offering a reward of ten thousand dollars for a return. This reward was offered by the Receiver under an order of the Supreme Court dated on the 18th day of October, authorizing him to offer a reward not exceeding ten thousand dollars for the recovery and the return in good condition of all the stolen property belonging to the bank. The order of court was issued by Judge Libbey, and explicitly forbade any compromise with the robbers in any way shielding them or their accomplices from the prosecution and punishment of their crimes. This order was referred to in the offer of reward and these provisions made a part of its terms and conditions. Col. C. A. Wing of Winthrop, who received the securities stolen, on receiving them from the person who restored them, acted strictly in accordance both with the letter and spirit of the order of court. This action on the part of the Receiver and Court was in the entire interest of the depositors and resulted most fortunately for their interest. In no other way could the property have been recovered so as to be made available to the depositors. In this official action the rights and safety of the public have in no way been compromised, sacrificed or overlooked. For the public good and safety it is hoped every private and public effort may be made to bring the offenders to justice.

It is believed that the resources will now be sufficient to pay the depositors seventy per cent.

The abstract of the examination of this bank will show a schedule of the bonds and cash stolen—excepting the bonds held by the bank as security for loans.

The deposits and profits of the sixty-three banks now doing business on the first day of November last, were $32,083,314.28.

The assets, as compared with 1874, are as follows:

ASSETS.	1874.	1875.
Invested in United States bonds.....	$820,711 93	$759,196 93
" State of Maine bonds	333,878 25	265,949 50

Cash.....	854,164 06	888,954 24
	$31,051,963 73	$32,083,314 28

This statement shows an increase in the deposits of the banks during the year ending November 1, 1875, of $1,021,350.55.

The increase of depositors for the same period is 4,527. The whole number is 101,326. The average to each depositor is $316. The increase of deposits the past year is $474,089.34 less than the preceding year; the increase of depositors 874 less.

The securities owned by the banks upon which the payment of interest coupons and dividends are suspended by the States, counties, cities, towns, railroad and other corporations owing the same, last year, amounted in the aggregate to the sum of $1,026,184.29. This year to the sum of $1,190,380.23, being $164,195.94 more than last year. Had the European and North American Railroad Company continued payment of its interest coupons, this sum would have been $313,804.06 less than last year, as the banks are owners of $478,000 of its bonds. Some of the banks have charged off their reserved fund to meet in part the loss on this class of securities. There is no doubt that eventually something will be realized from all of these non-paying securities, and a large portion will be fully paid.

The non-paying securities, as compared with 1874, are as follows:

A detailed statement of the foregoing for the year 1875, is given of each bank in the abstract of examinations by the Examiner herewith submitted.

The deposits of the Savings Banks of the State exceed the capital, circulation and deposits of the National Banks of the State about $7,500,000.

Two banks still keep the larger part of their securities for safety in vaults out of the State, and such have not been examined this nor the two preceding years, and no evidence except the statement of the bank officers and the records was furnished of the kinds and amount held by them.

The investments that have been made the past year have been generally in conformity with the law of 1874.

No losses have accrued during the year on any class of investments made within the last two years, in any way affecting the resources of any bank, or its ability to meet its liabilities. The supposed losses that have arisen to any bank the past year, are confined to the stocks and bonds of, and loans to the European and North American Railway Company, nearly all of which have been held by the banks for several years. In case there is a large per cent. of loss on these securities, its effect will be to deprive some of the banks of sufficient available assets to pay their liabilities. The treasurers of the banks regarding them as unavailable at their face value, answer the question in the annual return, "Has the institution sufficient available assets to pay its liabilities?" some qualifiedly, a part unqualifiedly, in the negative. Treasurers of other banks holding other railroad and western securities, the market value of which is unknown to them, make no answer to this question. The number of the former is four and of the latter four. Of the banks answering in the affirmative, the number is fifty-five, as will appear by the abstract of the returns herewith submitted. Although there are in some of these doubtful securities, I think it may be safely asserted that they have sufficient available assets to pay their liabilities, in many a surplus, and in every bank in the State a surplus at the face value of their assets. Those banks which have made investments that are now embarrassing them, were no doubt made with the best intentions. Long experience, the world over, has demonstrated the familiar fact that a safe and judicious investment of money, owing to the complicated system by which it operates, requires careful investigation, study and watchfulness, even then losses follow, hence there is a liability to losses in the best managed banks of the State, of which depositors must be aware. When losses happen that embarrass a bank, it is most unwise for depositors to make a run upon it. It produces a mistrust, want of confidence, cripples and may produce insolvency even in a perfectly sound and solvent one, forcing the sale of the most available securities at ruinous rates, entailing not only losses upon the depositors, but upon the public. It is suggested where a bank is an honest one, and by misfortune is embarrassed, depositors should be required to observe proper rules, and such protection should be afforded the bank as would enable it to continue the transaction of its usual business, being required to pay its depositors only when it can be done from the sale and collection of securities which in the usual course of its business can be made without sacrifice and loss to the depositors, having due regard to its ability to pay its indebtedness in full or in part. The right to continue business should be dependent upon a major or two-thirds vote of its depositors, representing at least a corresponding amount of deposits.

Limits should be carefully and advisedly prescribed by law, in which deposits may be invested, and the securities specifically designated.

It must be conceded that if these institutions are placed under strong and proper legal restrictions, which are observed and enforced, can but ensure strength, safety, confidence and success. It is but common justice that depositors should know in what way and manner their deposits are to be invested. It is believed had the early legislation of this State thus limited the investments, our banks would have avoided many losses which they have incurred, and which are now so severely felt. These institutions should not be left in any possible way to the turn of the wheel of fortune or speculation. Investments in stocks of, and loans to hazardous and doubtful enterprises should be forbidden. Among these the most prominent in our banks are railroad enterprises.

The Savings Banks the past two years have been materially affected by the inactivity which has attended all branches of business. It is seen and felt in the addition of deposits—in the unusual call for small sums by that class who have been enabled by industry and economy to make small deposits—in the deposit of large sums which have not materially decreased—in the supply of money which in a large majority of the banks has been in excess of the demand at the previous rates of interest, and in the amount of profits earned.

The past two years have demonstrated the fact, that in no time is the beneficial and successful operation of these institutions more fully realized, than when inactivity attends and seriously affects all the business energies of the State and country.

Sixty-one banks the past year have declared and paid dividends at the following rates, viz: 56, three per cent. semi-annually; 1, two and one-half per cent. semi-annually; 3, three per cent. and two and one-half per cent. semi-annually; 1, the Winthrop Bank, three per cent. in May. Three new banks have not as yet declared dividends.

Some of those paying the 3 per cent. have been unable to do so from the earned profits of the preceding six months, after deducting taxes and expenses. To effect this the reserved funds and other resources were resorted to, which is not only unjust to depositors, but in violation of law. The impression seems to prevail with a large majority that it is necessary for the safety and success of the banks to pay depositors, as the law now is, six per cent. dividends. No corporation that would manage its finances safely and securely, can afford to declare and pay dividends only from profits earned.

Being fully convinced by actual and careful examination of the earnings of the banks, their taxes and necessary expenses for the past year, that a very large majority cannot earn and pay semi-annually 3 per cent. dividends beside expenses and taxes, it is suggested, in order to check unwise competition and the danger to which the banks would be subjected by this supposed necessity, and to secure uniformity of action among the banks relating to dividends, to limit them by law to 5 per cent.

Past experience shows that banks are subjected to losses, hence the wisdom in providing by law for the accumulation of reserved funds for these institutions. The reserves for the past two years have been in many of the banks very much reduced, and in some entirely charged off to meet losses, and but very few have increased them. This is not due to any mismanagement during this period, as the same have been prudently and carefully conducted. There are securities in some of the banks upon which there must be losses, and among those it is feared it will become necessary to class the European and North American Railway's indebtedness. Losses should be met by the reserve funds of the banks. It must be evident to every candid observer, that the present indications of the times are such, that no dependence can be placed upon an increased rate of interest on loans, or on safe and reliable securities that will pay an increased rate, to enable the banks to pay more than their expenses, taxes and five per cent. dividends, especially when we take into consideration the dangers that overshadow all financial affairs owing to the unsettled condition of our currency. In view of these considerations and others that must be apparent, the enquiry is suggested whether the interest of the public may not be subserved in relieving the banks of, at least, one-fourth of the State tax imposed upon them, and thereby enable the banks to accumulate the necessary and required reserves. It must be evident that some legislation must follow in order to afford the banks the necessary element of strength, a sufficient reserve fund.

I again suggest the propriety of so changing the law, that Savings Banks may be authorized to loan some portion of their deposits upon names alone, with similar limitations and restrictions specified in my last report.

I would again renew the suggestion of some provision of law providing for an examination of securities owned and kept by Savings Banks of Maine in vaults out of the State.

The law of our State regulating Savings Banks in many respects is imperfect. In view of this fact the Committee on Banks and Banking at a hearing on a late day of the last session of the Legislature, recommended and instructed the Examiner to prepare "An act revising and consolidating the laws relating to the government, powers, duties, privileges and liabilities of Savings Banks and Institutions for Savings," to be laid before the Legislature of 1876 at an early day in its session; also to distribute one copy of the same to each bank in the State. In compliance with this recommendation, although without strict legislative authority, the proposed act has been prepared for distribution to the Legislature, and has been forwarded to each bank as recommended and directed. This act not only embraces most of the foregoing suggestions, but such others as are deemed of importance, to which attention is respectfully called.

It is hoped that the act herein referred to may form at least the ground work upon which the Legislature in its wisdom may perfect the revision required and so much needed. Its importance to the banks and the public interest cannot be over-estimated.

In conclusion, the Examiner is pleased to say, that the general management of the banks, and their safety, have steadily improved the past year, and compare most favorably with former years; that the officers, for their fidelity in the discharge of their important and difficult trust, are entitled to the commendation of all interested; that it is most encouraging to witness in the growth of our Savings Banks, at the present time, the determined industry, economy and thrift of the people of the State.
