The population of the tribe November 1st was 532.

The health of the tribe during the year has been on the whole good. The number of deaths which have occurred was thirty-two (32) of which thirteen (13) were under the age of two years. Two deaths were caused by drowning. Among the adults consumption is the most prevalent disease, and owing to their ignorance of the rules of diet and want of proper nursing, its course is more rapid than among whites. The tendency to scrofula is also very common, quite a large proportion of the tribe bearing the scar caused by that disease.

AGRICULTURAL.

The crop of 1883 was as follows, viz :

Potatoes	1,200 bushels.
Oats	200 “
Beans.....	64 “
Turnips	50 “
Peas.....	25 “
Beets, Carrots, Onions, etc....	20 “

Total 1,559 bushels.

The influx of visitors to Campobello, Grand Manan, Bar Harbor and the other summer resorts along the coast, has tended to draw the attention of the Indians away from farming, and a large proportion of them spend the summer season at those places in selling baskets, gulls' breasts, canoes, etc. When the season is over they find in a great many cases that their expenses nearly, if not quite, equal their receipts, and in consequence they are in some instances obliged to call on the Agent for assistance during the winter, while their more fortunate neighbors, who have remained at home attending to their crops have raised enough to sustain their families without aid from the State.

EDUCATIONAL.

The school at Pleasant Point now numbers ninety-one (91) pupils. It is taught eight months in the year, and shows a marked improvement.

The pupils manifest a degree of intelligence fully equal to that of white children, and are much more easily controlled by the teachers.

The addition to the school-house built during the fall is used as a primary department. It is twenty-five (25) feet long by twenty-three (23) feet wide, and the two rooms can be thrown into one by means of sliding doors. The school-rooms now are quite comfortable, and we can look for a more rapid improvement in the education of the rising generation.

The school at Peter Dana's Point is taught four months in the year and numbers about twenty-five (25) pupils. Sister Clare, who has had charge of the schools, was in August promoted by the Bishop of Maine to a higher station in some other locality, much to the regret of all who knew her, as her unassuming manner and earnest labors in behalf of the Indians had won their love and esteem. Her place however is well supplied by Sister Dominica of the same order, (Sisters of Mercy) who with Sister Stanislaus is still carrying on the good work with the same untiring zeal and devotion, following in the footsteps of their Lord and Master, in meekness and singleness of heart.

The Legislature authorized the expenditure of two thousand dollars ($2000.00) for the purchase of land at Pleasant Point, a bell, and repairs on buildings. The Council in the exercise of their discretion did not deem it expedient to purchase the land. The repairs authorized by me have cost one thousand thirty-five dollars ($1035.00). The amount I have assumed to pay toward the bell is seventy-five dollars ($75.00), the Indians having paid ninety dollars ($90.00) toward it, and it is now hung in the tower. In addition to the work for which I contracted, repairs were made by virtue of an agreement with the Priests, and designed to furnish better accommodations for the Sisters, and also to provide a vestry for the church. The latter repairs for which the Priests are responsible, cost eight hundred and ninety dollars ($890.00). It is a question for you to determine whether these bills should not be paid out of the Legislative appropriation. The repairs were necessary for the comfort of the Sisters to whose exertions the improvement in the condition of the Indians is largely due, and if the bills are not paid by the State, the Sisters are liable for two hundred dollars ($200.00) of the same. I feel that their services are so beneficial, and compensation so slight that the State ought to pay for a comfortable home for them.

During my term of office I have noted a gradual improvement in the condition of the Indians, such as improving their buildings and surroundings, neatness in dress, an increase of self-respect, and less drunkenness. Some of their houses will compare favorably with those of their more pretentious white brethren. The example of the teachers and their quiet orderly ways have an influence over the younger portion, especially, of the tribe which cannot be otherwise than good, and although there are many who are intemperate in their habits, still the public sentiment in the tribe is strongly in favor of temperance. This is owing in a great measure to the zealous care and oversight of their Priests, the Rev. Fathers Conlan and O'Dowd, who visit them regularly and attend most faithfully to their moral and spiritual welfare.

At the election held in September, Tomah Joseph was elected Governor of Peter Dana's Point, and Mitchell Newell, Lieut. Governor for the term of four years.
