In case of districts comprising parts of two or more towns, the assessors of said towns shall jointly appraise the school property belonging to said districts, and shall determine the part thereof belonging to each of the said towns, and each town shall remit to the tax payers in its part of such district the part so determined, in the same manner as in case of districts wholly within said town; except that cities or towns, which have or shall reimburse districts or parts of districts for their school property, shall receive for the use of such city or town, the money to which such districts or parts of districts shall be entitled under this act.

So long as any town declines to avail itself of the foregoing provisions, the inhabitants of any section of said town may organize a free high school precinct in the manner hereinafter provided, which may establish and maintain a free high school, and receive state aid the same as the town might have done; provided, that no more than two such free high schools shall be established in any town, and that the amount of aid extended to the precincts in any town shall not exceed the sum that the town might have received. On petition of any five voters resident in said section, reciting the limits of the precinct proposed, the municipal officers of the town shall call a meeting of the voters within said limits by causing notices, specifying the time, place and purposes of said meeting, seven days before the time appointed, to be posted in two or more conspicuous places within said limits. Said meeting shall choose a moderator and a clerk who shall be sworn, and shall, by a majority vote of those present and voting, determine whether said precinct shall be organized. Towns shall receive in trust and faithfully expend gifts and bequests made to aid in the maintenance of free high schools, and shall receive aid in such cases to the same extent and on the same conditions as if such schools had been established and maintained by taxation; and any town or district shall receive such state aid on any expenditure for a free high school or schools, made from the funds or proceeds of the real estate of an academy or incorporated institution of learning, surrendered or transferred to such town or district for educational purposes; but if any part of the money so paid by the state is expended for any other purpose than the support of such free high schools, as provided by this section, then each person so misapplying said money forfeits double the sum so misapplied, to be recovered in an action of debt, in the name and to the use of the town, by any inhabitant thereof; and no town shall receive further support from the state for any free high school, until the amount so received, but misapplied, has been raised and expended for such free high schools by such town.

* Sect. 31. The course of study in the free high schools shall embrace the ordinary English academic studies which are taught in secondary schools, especially the natural sciences in their application to mechanics, manufactures and agriculture; but the ancient or modern languages and music shall not be taught therein except by direction of the superintending school committees having supervision thereof. Such schools, when established by any town or union of towns, shall be free to all the youth in such town or towns who have such scholastic attainments as will fit them to attend such schools with profit, and the superintendent, or superintending school committee, having supervision thereof shall make such examination of candidates for admission to said schools as they consider necessary. When such school is established by any precinct or union of precincts, it shall be free in the same manner to the scholars within such precincts, and open also to scholars passing the required examination from without such precincts, but within the towns in which said precincts are situated, on payment to the agent of the precinct in which such school is located, of such tuition, to be fixed by the superintending school committee or committees having supervision of the same, as is equivalent to the cost a scholar of maintaining such school, after deducting the aid extended by the state. Whenever in the judgment of the superintending school committees having the supervision of any free high school or schools, the number of pupils in the same may be increased without detriment, scholars from without the towns directly interested in such school or schools, may be admitted to the same on passing the required examination and paying such tuition as may be fixed by such committee, to the treasurer of the town in which the school is kept, when the school is maintained by a town or union of towns, or to the agent of the precinct in which the

APPENDIX.

SUGGESTIONS, EXPLANATIONS AND FORMS.

SUGGESTIONS AND EXPLANATIONS.

SECT. 1. The provision, that "the corporate powers of every school district shall continue under this act so far as the same may be necessary for the meeting of its liabilities and the enforcing of its rights," applies especially to those cases where districts have, under provisions of section 81, chapter 11, Revised Statutes of 1883, borrowed money to erect schoolhouses, etc., payable in annual instalments. It continues in force, so far as those cases are concerned, the provisions of section 83, here quoted:

"Section 83. At each annual assessment of town taxes after such loan, the assessors of the town shall assess the amount of the instalment and interest for that year, on the polls and estates in the district, as if the district had voted to raise it, and it shall, in like manner, be collected and paid to the town treasurer, who shall pay each instalment and interest as it becomes due on demand of the owner of the security."

SECT. 5. The requirement, that "every town shall make provision for the maintenance of all its schools for not less than twenty weeks annually," does not modify or amend the provisions of section 6. The two sections taken together require every town to raise for common schools, annually, not less than the sum provided for in section 6, and enough more to maintain all its schools as required in section 5, if more be necessary.

SECT. 9 and 10. It is to be hoped and expected that under the new system, the carelessness in the distribution and care of text-books, which has prevailed in some towns, will cease. Now that the town owns and controls the schoolhouses, proper and safe receptacles should be put into every house in which to keep the books when not in use. Teachers should be held to strict accountability for keeping proper registers or records of their distribution to and return by pupils. Parents should be strictly required to make good all unnecessary injury to or loss of books by their children. All books, except in very exceptional cases and then only by express permission of superintendent, should be given up by pupils at the end of every term. Books seriously defaced, or injured beyond ready repair, should be discarded from use, and new ones supplied. If proper rules be made by school boards for the management of these matters, and those rules be strictly enforced, the almost criminal un-system which has prevailed in certain towns, can be very easily corrected.

SECT. 17. Under the new system, the school board or some member thereof authorized to do so, must avouch for or approve all bills, before the municipal officers can legally draw orders for their payment. In most cases the superintendent should be so authorized, or the superintendent in connection with one member of the subcommittee of the board under whose authority any particular bill has been contracted.

SECT. 21. The provision of chapter 162, Public Laws of 1893, herein incorporated, that, "the age of pupils allowed to attend the public schools of this state is hereby fixed between the ages of five and twenty-one years of age," was not intended to change and does not change the basis upon which state school-moneys are apportioned to towns. That basis continues to be as prescribed in section 106, "the number of children between four and twenty-one years of age," as they existed in each town on the first day of April preceding. The provision was intended only to fix definitely by statute, what no previous statute had fixed, the age at and during which all children should have an enforceable right to attend the public schools.

SECT. 33. When a free high school precinct, formed in accordance with section 7 of chapter 216, Public Laws of 1893, votes to raise money by taxation for either of the purposes named in this section, as it may by the terms of said section 7, such money may be assessed and collected in the manner prescribed in sections 75 to 79 inclusive, chapter 11, Revised Statutes of 1883, which are here quoted :

“Section 75. When a district votes to raise money for any legal purpose, its clerk shall forthwith, or within the time prescribed by the district, certify the amount thereof to the assessors of the town, and the time when it must be raised ; and within sixty days after receiving such certificate they shall assess it as they do town taxes, on the polls and estates of the residents and owners in the district at the time of raising said money, whether wholly in their town or not, and on the non-resident real estate in the district. They shall then make their warrant in due form of law, directed to any collector of their town or of the district, if any, if not to a constable, requiring him to levy and collect such tax and pay it to the town treasurer within the time limited in the warrant ; and they shall give a certificate of the assessment to such treasurer and may abate such taxes as in the case of town taxes.

“Section 76. The assessors may include in their assessment such sum over and above the sum committed to them to assess, not exceeding five per cent thereof, as a fractional division renders necessary, and certify that fact to the town treasurer.

“Section 77. The town treasurer shall pay the expense of assessing and collecting any school district tax out of the money of the district, upon the order of the selectmen.

“Section 78. Section one hundred and forty-two of chapter six, and all other sections relating to the same subject apply to taxes assessed by or for school districts, so far as applicable ; but the district and not the town is liable.

“Section 79. The collector or constable, and the town treasurer, or treasurer and collector, if one person is both, each have the same powers and are subject to the same duties and obligations in relation to district taxes, as to town taxes ; and they and the assessors shall be allowed by the district for their services, a compensation proportionate to what they receive from the town for similar services.”

SECT. 87. Items I, II and III. The duties of school committees herein prescribed, may be performed by the superintendent when so specially directed under the provision of chapter 216, section 8, Public Laws 1893, that he shall "perform such other duties as said committee shall direct." In such case it will be sufficient legal evidence of the teacher's examination, qualifications, and employment, if the certificate granted be signed by the superintendent alone, "per order of the committee." A definite record of the vote directing him to perform these duties, and all others which they "shall direct" him to perform, should be made.

SECT. 87. Item IV. A requirement by the superintending school committee, that the Protestant version of the Bible shall be read in public schools of their town, by scholars who are able to read, is not in violation of any constitutional provision, and is binding upon the members of the school, although composed of divers religious sects. Donahoe vs. Richards, 38 Me. 379.

SECT. 87. Item VI. The superintending school committee have no power to dismiss a schoolmaster, unless for one of the causes mentioned in Stat. 1821, Chap. 117, Sec. 3, providing that the "committee shall have power to dismiss any schoolmaster or mistress who shall be found incapable or unfit to teach any school," and this must be in writing, under their hands, specially assigning the cause of dismissal. Searsmont vs. Farwell, 3 Me. 450. When there are three members of the superintending school committee, two of them have no power to dismiss a master, under the provisions of Stat. 1834, Chap. 129, Sec. 3, unless due notice has been given to the third that he might attend and act with them. Jackson vs. Hampden, 16 Me. 184.

When after one day's notice to the teacher, the superintending school committee visited the school and made a full examination into charges against the teacher, and the teacher and his witnesses were fully heard, and no objection was made by him for want of due notice, nor any request for delay or to be heard further, the teacher thereby waived any objection to the notice if insufficient, and is not entitled to his wages for teaching after being notified by the committee of his dismissal as the result of such investigation. Woodbury vs. Knox, 74 Me. 462.

SECT. 87. Item XII. The requirements of section 8, chapter 216, Public Laws of 1893, that committees shall annually elect a superintendent, and that all returns shall be made by said superintendent, are obligatory. Failure to elect such superintendent would work forfeiture of state school money so long as such failure continued; for the state treasurer is expressly forbidden to pay over such money "to any town until its return is made to the superintendent of common schools," (section 118); and the superintendent of public schools cannot, except by practical violation of his oath of office, certify to the state treasurer the receipt of any return not made, as the law requires, by a superintendent so elected.

SECT. 114. If one over twenty-one years of age, voluntarily attends a town school, and is received as a scholar by the instructor, he has the same rights and duties, and is under the same restrictions and liabilities, as if under that age. Stevens vs. Fassett, 27 Me. 266. When a scholar in school hours, intrudes himself into the instructors's desk, and refuses to leave it on the request of the instructor, such scholar may be lawfully removed by the instructor. And for that purpose, he may immediately use such force, and call to his assistance such aid from any other person, as is necessary to accomplish the object, without the direction or knowledge of the superintending school committee.—Ib. The statute, 1850, chapter 193, article 10, section 13, (containing the provisions of section 114,) for the protection of schools, is applicable to private schools regularly established and in operation for instruction in the art of writing. State vs. Leighton, 35; Me. 195.

A schoolmaster is not liable for inflicting corporal punishment upon a pupil, if it is not clearly excessive, in the general judgment of reasonable men. Patterson vs. Nutter, 78 Me. 509.

A board of superintending school committee cannot elect a superintendent of schools while there are vacancies existing in the board, or until those vacancies are legally filled. Strout, J., in case of town of Cumberland.

If a vacancy exists in the board of superintending school committee at the time of the annual town meeting and the town fails to elect a person to fill this vacancy, it must be filled by the remaining members of the board and cannot be filled by a special town meeting.
