COMMITTEE REPORT

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

SUMMARY

The bill establishes a formula for the geographic isolation adjustment, which is a subsidy paid to school administrative units that are geographically isolated. Current law does not provide a formula for calculating the adjustment, but establishes a maximum adjustment by stating that the adjustment shall not exceed the difference between the unit's education costs in the base year and the operating allocation for the year of subsidy payment (the operating allocation is roughly equal to the state average education operating cost). The bill would require that the adjustment be equal to the difference between the unit's actual education costs and the operating allocation. The change would be effective for adjustments payable in fiscal year 1991 and thereafter.

For 1989-90, the Department has allocated sufficient funds to pay the full amount (the difference between actual costs and the operating allocation). The bill requires the Department of Educational and Cultural Services to absorb any additional costs in their existing appropriation for 1991.

After receiving a letter from the Department of Education stating that the Department would not adopt rules prior to January 1990 calling for payment of less than the full amount, the Committee voted to carry the bill over to the Second Regular Session. It is also expected that the Department will report to the Committee in January on its recommendations for a formula for the adjustment.
