SUMMARY

This bill as originally drafted proposed to reenact statutes regarding labeling of fresh produce similar to statutes due for repeal July 1, 1991. Regarding post-harvest treatments, the bill differed from the current law in that it would have mandated a minimum sign size, that the sign advise consumers of the availability of more specific information, and that large stores be required to provide specific information upon request. Current law (PL 1989, c. 339) allowed all stores 48 hours to respond to requests for information identifying specific treatments used and produce treated.

Committee Amendment "A" (S-225) replaced the original bill. The amendment provided for continuance of current laws by repealing 2 sunset provisions. The amendment added an emergency preamble, an emergency clause, an appropriations section, and a fiscal note to the bill.

Senate Amendment "A" (S-336) to Committee Amendment "A" changes the title of the bill and repeals additional sunset provisions. The sunset on the potato variety labeling program is repealed. The sunset on laws enacted to reduce the theft of blueberries is repealed. Both had sunset dates of July 1, 1991.

The Senate amendment also requires that the Department of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources institute an educational program under the country of origin labeling laws only if funds are available within the reserves of the department. The amendment deletes the appropriation and replaces the fiscal note.

SUMMARY

This bill proposes to prohibit the sale and distribution of milk products or meat products that may enter the human food chain produced by cows that have been administered the growth hormone bovine somatotropin, commonly known as BST.

The bill allows use of BST in research programs after one year from the effective date of approval of BST by the federal Food and Drug Administration and provides a mechanism by which the Commissioner of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources may approve the use of BST after one year from approval by the federal Food and Drug Administration and on the advice of the Commission on Biotechnology and Genetic Engineering. The committee requested that this bill be carried over to the second session. The federal Food and Drug Administration is expected to make its decision on approval of BST within the year.
