SUMMARY

The bill required court reporters to be present in 4 circumstances:

1. All criminal proceedings;
2. All civil proceedings before a jury;
3. All civil proceedings without a jury but in which a party requests a Court Reporter and notifies the court that a reporter is required at least 48 hours before the proceeding; and
4. All civil proceedings without a jury in which the court determines that there is good cause for the reporter to be present.

The bill did not limit the scope of collective bargaining between the Court Reporters and the Judicial Department. The bill retained current law concerning appointment and compensation.

SUMMARY

The bill changes Maine law concerning public employee personnel records to allow the general public access to records when a public employee has been accused of conduct causing death, serious bodily injury or substantial financial or property damage. The bill also changes the standard for denying access to reports and records containing intelligence and investigative information. In addition, the bill deletes outdated references in the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 25, section 1631, subsection 15.

Committee Amendment "A" (S-635): The amendment provides that in cases related to the use of deadly force or physical force resulting in death or serious bodily injury by a law enforcement officer, the name of the law enforcement officer is not confidential. The amendment also provides that the findings of an investigation are no longer confidential when a decision not to bring criminal charges has been made but if criminal charges are brought, the findings of the investigation remain confidential until conclusion of the case.

The amendment also changes the standard for maintaining confidentiality of certain intelligence and investigative records in situations when there is a reasonable possibility that public release or inspection would result in conditions specified in this bill and included within the confidentiality provisions records of the Department of Corrections.
