SUMMARY

The bill extends the territorial jurisdiction of the Passamaquoddy and Penobscot Tribal Courts to all of the trust lands of the respective tribes, instead of just their reservations, over those criminal, civil and domestic matters that fall within the exclusive jurisdiction of the tribal courts. The bill also extends the jurisdiction of the Passamaquoddy Tribal Court to include Class D offenses committed by tribal members. In addition, the bill makes clear that the tribal courts have jurisdiction over all Class D and Class E offenses committed within Indian territory by tribal members unless the person or property of a nonmember of either tribe is the victim of the crime. Offenses committed by or against nonmembers of either tribe, or against the property of nonmembers, would continue to be brought in state courts.

Committee Amendment "A" (H-1065): The amendment replaces the bill. The amendment retains the portion of the bill that gives the Passamaquoddy Tribe the same jurisdiction over Class D crimes that the Penobscot Nation currently holds. It also retains the provisions of the bill expanding jurisdiction to so-called "victimless" Class D and Class E crimes, but provides for that jurisdiction to be repealed on September 30, 1995, the same date that jurisdiction over other Class D crimes will repeal under current law. The amendment also deletes portions of the bill that expand jurisdiction of the Tribal Court to conduct on
