H-171 TREAT
S-143 PINGREE

SUMMARY

Prior to fiscal year 1992-93, elderly or disabled people in hospitals receiving Medicaid and awaiting placement in a nursing home could not be forced to take a nursing home placement more than 50 miles away from their homes. In the fiscal year 1992-93 budget, Public Law 1991, chapter 780, Part R, section 2, language was added that prohibits the Department of Human Services from allowing the distance provision, thus forcing patients to take placement regardless of where it was located. This bill removes that language so that the Department of Human Services may consider distance when providing nursing home placement.

Amendment H-171 establishes 60 miles as the maximum distance that a patient may be required to travel to accept a nursing facility placement.

Amendment S-143 clarifies that payment may be made for admission to a Maine Veteran's Home regardless of distance from the patient's home or hospital.

SUMMARY

Currently, if a radiologist is not available at the time of treatment, hospitals conduct X-ray reviews after patients have been treated. Patients are charged for this after-the-fact review. The bill prohibits hospitals and other health care providers from charging patients or any other payor for these after-the-fact reviews, and requires the Maine Health Care Finance Commission to disallow costs associated with the reviews when establishing a hospital's financial requirements.
