SUMMARY

Public school special education costs are currently subsidized through the school funding formula in 3 ways: special education costs are combined with vocational education costs, transportation costs and bus service costs and subsidized at a level equal to at least each school unit's state percentage share of education subsidy; an increase in state subsidy may be granted for a unit that experiences a budgetary hardship due to special education costs; and an adjustment may be granted to a unit with out-of-district placement costs in excess of a certain limit.

This bill would have required full state subsidization of all special education costs over a minimum level. The minimum level is calculated as the number of elementary special education students times double the state average elementary tuition rate plus the number of secondary special education students times double the state average secondary tuition rate.

SUMMARY

The original bill established a new method of determining a municipality's ability to support education costs.

Under the current school funding statute, a municipality's state subsidy for education costs is tied to the number of pupils in the municipality and the state valuation of property. This bill replaced state valuation of property with a new measure of wealth defined as median municipal household income times the number of households in the municipality divided by the percent of total municipal property tax assessed on residential property. The income-based model is designed to lessen reliance on property value as a measure of ability to pay.

The bill required that the State fund 100% of all special education tuition and costs for students placed out of district to receive education services. The bill also increased the minimum state allocation to a school unit from 5% to 10% of the foundation per pupil operating rate times the number of pupils in the unit.

COMMITTEE AMENDMENT "A" (H-1110) replaces the bill. The amendment establishes an adjustment to the school funding formula that limits the increase in state subsidy from school year 1993-94 to school year 1994-95 to 60% of the increase, and limits the loss in state subsidy from school year 1993-94 to school year 1994-95 to 40% of the loss. State subsidy for bus purchases and debt service are excluded from the adjustment.

The amendment amends the Maine Revised Statutes, Titles 5 and 20-A to reflect current major policy-influencing positions in the Department of Education. The position changes were proposed in fiscal year 1993-94 in the department's restructuring proposal to the First Regular Session of the 116th Legislature.
