SUMMARY

The bill makes the following changes to the provisions governing traffic infractions in the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 29.

- It clarifies that, although a provision of Title 29 may refer to an offense as a "civil violation," it is to be considered a "traffic infraction." This permits the proper operation of the District Court Violations Bureau.
- 2. It repeals the 6-month warning period that followed the effective date of the enactment of the statute requiring the use of child safety seats.
