The bill also clarifies that an individual who has been found by a court, whether by civil or criminal standard of proof, to have abused or neglected children is prohibited from registering as a home baby sitting service. Current law refers to "convictions," implying that civil violations are not included.

Amendment H-511 changes the original bill as follows.

1. It clarifies that the rules establishing licensing fees must be adopted by January 1, 1994 and makes the repeal of current license fees effective on that date to ensure that current fees are not repealed before the new ones are adopted.
2. It clarifies that when a registration for a home baby-sitting service is revoked by the Administrative Court, pending renewals become void and the court may bar the registrant from reapplying for a prescribed period of time.
3. It adds a fiscal note to the bill.
