Attorney General

From The Attorney General

It is desirable that, in so far as proper, the members of the Attorney General's department shall cooperate in the "share-the-ride" program. However, sight must not be lost of the fact that often times members of this department are traveling on highly confidential business.

I have no objection to members of the department giving rides to State employees who are going in the same direction if the nature of the trip, or any portion of it, is not one that should not be disclosed to anyone except to a member of the Attorney General's department or to the head of a department for which the trip is made. If the trip, or any part of it, is confidential, it may very well be improper to take along unauthorized persons.
