and prizes upon agricultural and domestic products. I feel that the words "legally incorporated" are important, because if the club does not have any legal entity, it appears from the reading of the statute, that it could not participate in the stipend. The language is "Said stipend shall be divided pro rata among the legally incorporated" societies. This includes clubs, societies and fair associations of the State.

To Lester E. Brown, Chief Warden
Re: Fees

I have your memo of December 21st, calling my attention to the apparent inconsistency between part of Section 18 and Section 110 of Chapter 33 of the Revised Statutes, the Inland Fish and Game Law.

Section 18 states that all such fees are to be paid to the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game. That refers, I presume, to fees of the wardens for serving criminal processes on offenders against the law relating to camp trespassers or persons committing larcenies from any camp, cottage or other building. That means that the wardens cannot keep the fees, but said fees must be paid to the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game.

Section 110 provides that all fines, penalties, officers' costs and other moneys recovered by the court under any of the provisions of this chapter shall accrue to the Treasurer of State and shall be paid into the treasury of the county where the offense is prosecuted; and it further provides that if the fees are not recovered from the respondent, they shall not be assumed or paid by the county where the offense was committed.

Therefore in my opinion the county should not pay these fees in case they are not paid by the offenders or recovered from the respondents.

Of course that part of Section 18 relating to the payment of fees to the Commissioner ties in with Section 110, where they are paid to the treasurer of the county and accrue to the Treasurer of State and are credited to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game for certain purposes provided for in Section 110.

Re: Dividends Paid by Mutual Life Insurance Companies

I have your memo of December 6th relating to the provisions of Section 135 of Chapter 14, R. S., as amended. You state in regard to this section that a question has arisen relating to the deduction of dividends from the life insurance premiums collected before computing the tax on life insurance companies and that you desire a ruling as to whether or not the amount of the mortuary dividends and the amount of the maturity dividends are deductible from the premiums collected in any year before computing the tax.
