STATE OF MAINE

REPORT
OF THE
ATTORNEY GENERAL

for the calendar years
1955 - 1956

It is obvious from the above quoted portions of the statutes that the legislature believed that the type of work to be done about a hotel required a minor to be of an older age to do such work, whereas employment in an eating place did not contain such possibilities of danger.

In answer to your first question it is our opinion that, where a hotel dining room is leased by the hotel to another person who operates that dining room as a restaurant, such dining room should be considered part of the hotel and be subject to a minimum age of 16 years, under the provisions of Section 23.

With respect to your second question, where the dining room of a hotel is in another building, we are of the opinion that such dining room should be considered an eating place and the 15-year age limit be considered under the provisions of Section 25.

Re: Fees on out-of-State Milk

. . . You ask for an opinion concerning the following situation: A dealer in Maine drops his Maine producers and buys milk from a dealer in New Hampshire. Recognizing that you cannot collect a fee from the New Hampshire dealer, you ask whether or not the Maine dealer is the first handler in Maine and therefore subject to the fees set forth in Section 6 of Chapter 33.

It is our opinion that under the situation set forth above, a Maine dealer purchasing from an out-of-State dealer is the first handler and under Section 6 is subject to the 3c per hundredweight monthly payments.

The sixth paragraph of Section 6 reads as follows:

“Each licensed dealer shall pay to said commission an annual license fee of $1 and the sums of 3c per hundredweight as monthly payments, based on quantity of milk purchased or produced in any market area. One and one-half cents per hundredweight may be deducted by dealers from amounts paid by them to producers of such milk; except that the milk, farm-processed into cream for the manufacture of butter, shall not be subject to such sums of 3c per hundredweight.”

The paragraph above quoted provides that the dealer shall pay the 3c monthly payment and it provides that he may deduct 1½c per hundredweight from the amounts paid to producers for such milk. We feel that if he cannot deduct such sums from a dealer outside the State, he is still subject to the entire 3c per hundredweight monthly payment.
