FOREWORD

The Legislative Information Office monitors the status of every item introduced before the Legislature, and maintains this information on a computerized bill status system. Status information is available through public computer terminals located in the State House Document Room and in the Law and Legislative Reference Library, terminals connected to the Bureau of Data Processing IBM computer, weekly reports available by subscription with the Clerk of the House, and directly from Information Office staff.

Shortly after each session, the Legislative Information Office summarizes the bill status information for each legislative document to produce this History and Final Disposition of Legislative Documents. Legislative documents are listed in order of the committee to which they were referred. This provides the user with a broad subject grouping. For each legislative document, the following information is provided:

- Legislative document number
- House or Senate paper number
- Sponsor and cosponsors
- Committee to which the legislative document was referred
- Public hearing date
- Committee report
- Amendments adopted in the House and Senate
- Final disposition of the legislative document

The History and Final Disposition of Legislative Documents contains all legislative documents, passed or not, considered during the Second Regular Session of the 113th Legislature. This includes the 97 bills carried over from the First Regular Session of the 113th Legislature.

Following the major section of the book, the description of legislative history of documents in order of committee, are indexes to help the user find the bill or subject needed. See the Table of Contents for a list of the different indexes.

The subject index uses terms to describe the scope and topics of the bill and its amendments. Most bills are indexed under more than one subject. Cross references lead the user to the subject being sought. If an amendment introduces a new topic, there is a subject entry for that topic whether or not the amendment is adopted. If an amendment deletes a topic from a bill, the subject is left in the index as part of the history of the bill. Thus the History and Final Disposition of Legislative Documents indexes all legislative documents in any form in which they have been considered.

By contrast, a related publication, Laws of Maine, includes only the bills that have been enacted. The only subject index terms contained in that volume are those that describe documents in their final enacted form. Laws of Maine also contains the complete text of each enacted legislative document, and is available shortly after the legislative session through the Office of the Revisor of Statutes.

The History and Final Disposition of Legislative Documents is a summary report only and does not replace the official Senate and House journals or the actual legislative documents. Should you need more detailed status information, please contact the Legislative Information Office at 289-1692 or the Senate or House offices for assistance. If you have any comments or suggestions, please forward them to the Legislative Information Office.
