Fiscal Note

Current biennium cost increase - Other Special Revenue Funds

Fiscal Detail and Notes

The Office of Tourism within the Department of Economic and Community Development estimates the cost to conduct the required feasibility study to be between $100,000 and $150,000. The Office of Tourism receives 5% of the meals and lodging tax as its primary source of revenue for the support of its operations and receives no General Fund appropriations. The ability of the Office to absorb the cost of this study, without impacting other services or programs, can not be determined at this time.
