10 5-A. High-stakes electronic beano. The Penobscot Nation may operate high-stakes
11 electronic beano as described in this subsection.

12 A. As used in this subsection, unless the context otherwise indicates, the following
13 terms have the following meanings.

14 (1) "Electronic beano system" means the central computer server system that 15 electronically generates beano games along with all electronic beano terminals
16 that are connected to the central computer server system.

17 (2) "Electronic beano terminal" means an electronic device used by a beano
18 participant to play high-stakes electronic beano. An electronic beano terminal 19 allows a participant, upon payment of cash, a token or credit, to play a game of 20 chance resembling beano from a draw of no more than 75 letters and numbers
21 that correspond to the electronic beano game. The element of chance is 22 determined by a central computer server system that communicates with the 23 electronic beano terminal.

24 (3) "High-stakes electronic beano" means a game of beano that is played on an
25 electronic beano terminal that is connected to a central computer server system
26 that electronically generates beano games.

27 B. Notwithstanding section 311, subsection 1, high-stakes electronic beano is not 28 required to be a group game.

29 C. The Penobscot Nation may operate up to 800 electronic beano terminals.

30 D. High-stakes electronic beano is played in the following manner:

31 (1) The participant inserts cash, a token or credit into the electronic beano
32 terminal;

33 (2) The participant selects the denomination of beano card to be played; and 34 (3) The participant presses a button to begin play.

35 A draw of no more than 75 letters and numbers generated by the electronic beano
36 system is electronically applied to the beano card displayed on the electronic beano
37 terminal.

38 Participants win prizes by achieving predetermined beano patterns within a 39 predetermined number of drawn letters and numbers.

1 computer server system that is subject to testing by an independent testing company and
2 to which the Chief of the State Police is provided access via the Internet for the purpose
3 of conducting audits and monitoring play. An electronic beano terminal is not permitted
4 to dispense cash or prizes. Instead, prizes for high-stakes electronic beano are awarded
5 by voucher. The bill also clarifies that, unlike traditional beano, beano conducted on an 6 electronic beano terminal is not required to be a group game.
