APPENDIX A

PART IV

Apportionment Plan for the Maine Senate

The Maine Constitution indicates that the Maine Senate may be composed of an odd number of districts between 31 and 35. The Commission recommends no change in the present 35 number of Senate districts. The Commission plan for the 35 districts divides only 4 municipalities. (Technical corrections have been made to pp. 154, 156, 157, & 158.)

In apportioning Maine's 35 Senate Districts the Commission utilized the 2020 U.S. Census population figure of 1,362,359 for the State of Maine. The median or ideal district was determined to have a population of 38,925. A district population 5% above the median would be 40,871; a district 5% below the median would be 36,979. The districts recommended by the Commission range in population size from a low of 37,121 to a high of 40,798. The largest deviation above the median for the Senate plan is 4.81%, and the largest deviation below the median is – 4.63%.

The following chart depicts the population and deviation from the median population for each of the 35 Senate Districts.
