11 SUMMARY

12 This amendment restores language in current law establishing that community 13 paramedicine services must be episodic for purposes of the exemption from licensing 14 requirements for home health agencies overseen by the Department of Health and Human 15 Services.

16 The amendment adds a definition of "emergency medical services instructor." It 17 clarifies the mandatory qualifications for a community paramedicine service to provide that 18 the individual identified by a community paramedicine service as the primary care medical 19 director and emergency medical services medical director may not be limited to a physician 20 only, that the individual may serve as a volunteer and that the same individual may serve 21 in both capacities for a licensed community paramedicine service.

22 The amendment provides that the initial rules adopted by the Emergency Medical 23 Services' Board to implement licensing standards for community paramedicine services 24 and community paramedicine clinicians are major substantive rules subject to legislative 25 approval before final adoption.
