PUBLIC LAWS

OF THE

STATE OF MAINE.

1881.

'SECT. 1. No person or persons shall loiter or remain, without right, within any car, station-house of a railroad corporation or steamboat, or upon the platform or grounds adjoining such station, after being requested to leave the same by any railroad officer or officer or agent of such steamboat.'

CHAP. 44.

No person to loiter within any railroad car, station-house, &c.

'SECT. 4. It shall be the duty of the officers of the several railroad corporations and steamboats in the state, to have posted in a conspicuous place at the several depots along the line of the road of the company and route of steamboats, a copy of the above law.'

Copies of law to be posted in depots.

Approved March 9, 1881.

Chapter 44.

An act to amend chapter eighty-three of the Public Laws of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, relating to granting new trials.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows :

Chapter eighty-three of the public laws of one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two is hereby amended by inserting after the word "court" in the first line thereof the words 'or of the superior courts in Cumberland and Kennebec counties,' so that said chapter as amended shall read as follows :

Ch. 83, public laws 1872, amended.

'Any justice of the supreme judicial court or of the superior courts in Cumberland and Kennebec counties, may set aside a verdict and grant a new trial in a case tried before him, when in his opinion the evidence in the case demands it. Such verdict must be set aside at the same term at which it was rendered, but it shall not be set aside by a single justice when there have been two verdicts rendered against the applicant.'

Verdicts may be set aside and new trials granted in certain cases.

Approved March 9, 1881.
