An Act to cede to the United States of America, jurisdiction over Clark's Ledge and Great Duck Island.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows:

SECT. 1. The consent of the state is hereby given to the purchase by the government of the United States, or under its authority, of a part or all of Great Duck island, so called, lying about five miles south of Mount Desert island.

Consent of the state given to purchase of Duck Island.

SECT. 2. Jurisdiction is hereby ceded to the United States of America over the following described parcels of land, namely:

Jurisdiction, ceded to United States, on parcels of land.

I. The ledge designated as Clark's ledge on page thirty, division A of the Atlantic Coast Pilot, second edition, eighteen hundred and seventy-nine, and described as lying about three hundred and twenty-five yards above Todd's head, and about one hundred yards from shore; the said ledge being nearly or wholly submerged at high water, and the portion exposed at low water is about two hundred feet long and seventy-five to one hundred feet wide.

Clark's ledge.

II. All that part of Great Duck island aforesaid, that the United States may acquire by purchase or under the provisions of chapter two of the Revised Statutes of this state. Provided, however, that this cession of jurisdiction is granted and made upon the express condition, that the state of Maine shall retain a concurrent jurisdiction with the United States in and over said tracts of land and every portion thereof, so far, that all processes, civil or criminal, issuing under the authority of said state, or any officers thereof, may be executed by the proper officers thereof, upon any persons amenable to the same, within the limits and extent of said

Duck Island.

—state to retain concurrent jurisdiction, so that processes may be executed.

CHAP. 534
