[supplied from page 3 of volume]

CHAP. 19

'three dollars a volume in buckram binding and four dollars a volume in leather binding,' and by striking out after the word "matter" in the eleventh line of said section the words "The reporter of decisions may change the binding to buckram," so that said section, as amended, shall read as follows:

'Sec. 76. Price of Maine Reports to be $3 a volume in buckram binding and $4 a volume in leather binding; provision permitting reporter to change the binding to buckram eliminated. The reporter of decisions shall, by his personal attendance at law court when practicable, or by the best other means in his power, prepare correct reports of all legal questions argued and decided, reporting cases more or less at large according to his judgment of their importance. He shall publish at least one volume yearly, provided he has material enough to make a volume of the size required by this section, and furnish the usual number of current copies to the state and to the public at the price of three dollars a volume in buckram binding and four dollars a volume in leather binding. Each volume shall be of the average size of volume eighty-three, Maine Reports, and be equal thereto in paper, printing, general finish and quantity of printed matter. The reporter may, from time to time, as he sees fit, make a written contract in his own name with any person, firm or corporation for the printing, publishing and binding of said reports and shall require such person, firm or corporation to give a good and sufficient bond with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned for the faithful performance of all the terms and conditions of such contract by the person, firm or corporation with whom the reporter makes such contract. In case of a breach of any or all the conditions of such bond, the reporter may maintain an action on such bond in his own name.'

Approved March 10, 1921.
