river, Denny's bay and tributaries, established; exceptions. No smelts shall be caught, taken or fished for between the first day of April and the first day of September in each year in the waters of Cobscook river, Cobscook Bay, Orange river, Denny's river or any of the bays, coves or tributaries of the same, but the catching, taking or fishing for smelts by nets in said waters during the month of September shall not be deemed illegal. Nothing in this act shall apply to smelts taken in fish weirs or traps maintained and operated for the catching of sardines and herring.

Sec. 2. Penalty. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall pay a fine of one hundred dollars for each offense.

Sec. 3. Inconsistent acts repealed. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith, so far as the same relate to this act, are repealed.

Approved March 25, 1925.

Chapter 43.

An Act Relating to the Taking of Clams in Steuben.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Maine, as follows:

Sec. 1. Limited to residents. It shall be unlawful for any person not a resident of the town of Steuben, in the county of Washington, to dig clams for commercial purposes within the limits of said town.

Sec. 2. Non-residents may dig for bait or home consumption; limit one bushel. Persons not residents of the town of Steuben may be permitted to dig for clams for fish bait or home consumption within the limits of said town; provided, however, that no person shall dig for purposes mentioned in this section during any one day more than one bushel of clams.

Sec. 3. Penalty for violation of act. Whoever violates the provisions of sections one and two of this act shall for each offense be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days.

Approved March 25, 1925.

Chapter 44.

An Act to Prohibit the Building of Smelt Traps in the Waters of Harrington River, in Washington County.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Maine, as follows:

Sec. 1. Smelt traps prohibited in Harrington river; smelt fishing regulated; open time enlarged. The building of smelt traps in the waters of
