line of tubes and the top of the steam space is thirteen inches or less, the bottom of the fusible plug may come at a lesser distance than two inches above the upper row of tubes, but in no case shall the plug be located below the level of the top of the uppermost row of tubes.

s. In Water-Tube Boilers, Worthington Type: in the front side of the steam and water drum, not less than four inches above the bottom of the drum, and projecting through the sheet not less than one inch.

t. Fire Engine Boilers are not usually supplied with fusible plugs. Unless special provision is made to keep the water above the firebox crown sheet other than by the natural level, the lowest permissible water level shall be at least three inches above the top of the firebox crown sheet.

u. For other types and new designs, fusible plugs shall be placed at the lowest permissible water level, subject to the direct radiant heat of the fire or in the direct path of the products of combustion, as near the primary combustion chamber as possible.

The foregoing provisions shall not apply to locomotive or other boilers under the jurisdiction of the United States, nor to boilers which are insured by standard steam boiler insurance companies, and are inspected by such companies at least once a year, nor to railroad corporations engaged in interstate commerce, nor to cast iron boilers carrying less than fifteen pounds pressure per square inch gauge.'

Chapter 258.

An Act to Re-Enact Chapter One Hundred and Thirty-two, Public Laws Nineteen Hundred and Thirteen, Relating to the Title of Islands Belonging to the State, Repealed Through an Error by the General Repealing Act of the Nineteen Hundred and Sixteen Revised Statutes.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Maine, as follows:

Sec. 1. Title to all islands in great ponds. The title to all islands located in great ponds within the state of Maine, except such as have been previously granted away by the state, or are now held in private ownership, shall remain in the state of Maine and be reserved for public use.

Sec. 2. Title to all islands in the sea within jurisdiction of state. The title to all islands located in the sea within the jurisdiction of the state of Maine, except such as have been previously granted away by the state or are now held in private ownership, shall remain in the state of Maine and be reserved for public use.
