superintendent thereof is in such condition that he or she is a fit subject for the Pownal state school, shall be transferred to the Pownal state school whenever, in the judgment of the commissioner, the welfare of the patients and inmates, or of either institution, or of the person will be promoted thereby. A copy of the certificate of original commitment certified by the head of the institution in which said person is confined and a certificate from a regular practicing physician in the state certifying that the person committed is feeble minded or insane, as the case might be, with an order of transfer signed by the commissioner shall authorize the superintendent of the institution to receive and detain the said person, as above provided for.

Such patient shall be there detained in custody in the same manner as if he or she had been committed thereto originally. The transfers authorized in this and the preceding section shall have no effect on the original sentences which shall continue to run, and if the original sentence has not expired when the patient has been declared ready for discharge or release, the patient shall be returned to the institution to which he or she was originally committed. ~~If the original sentence expires while the patient is in the charge of the institution, the patient shall be discharged therefrom under the same conditions as if the patient had originally been committed thereto.~~ If prior to the expiration of the original sentence it is the opinion of the superintendent of the institution which has charge of the patient that the patient should remain in charge of the institution after the expiration of such sentence, the patient may be recommitted to either of the state hospitals upon complaint of the superintendent of the institution which has charge of the patient under the provisions of sections 411 and 412 of this chapter; or to the Pownal state school under the provisions of section 451 of this chapter.

The expense attending such transfers shall be paid from funds available for the use of the institution from which or to which such person is transferred.

Approved April 5, 1939.

Sec. 3. P. L., 1935, c. 192, § 3, amended. Subsections (d) and (e) of section 3 of chapter 192 of the public laws of 1935, as amended by chapter 228 of the public laws of 1937, are hereby repealed and the following is enacted in place thereof:

‘(d) Duration of benefits. The maximum total amount of benefits payable to any eligible individual during any benefit year shall be 16 times the individual’s weekly benefit amount (as defined in section 3 (b)).’

‘(e) Maximum amount of benefits to be reduced in certain cases; restoration. If the commission finds, after reasonable notice and hearing, that benefit payments at the amounts prescribed in sections (3) (b) and (3) (c), if continued, are in the aggregate such an amount as to imperil the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund, the commission shall, by regulation, reduce the maximum amount of benefits as prescribed in section (3) (d) by not to exceed 6/16 of the maximum amount and subsequently, if the commission finds, after reasonable notice and hearing, that the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund will permit the restoration of benefits as prescribed in section (3) (d) it shall make such restoration in full or in part at the rate of 1/16 of such maximum amounts or multiples thereof.’

Sec. 4. P. L., 1935, c. 192, § 3, amended. Section 3 of chapter 192 of public laws of 1935 is hereby amended by adding thereto a new subsection to be designated (f) and to read as follows:

‘(f) If the commission finds, after reasonable notice and hearing, that benefit payments at the amounts prescribed in section (3) (b) and (3) (c) are in the aggregate, such an amount as will permit an increase in benefit payments without imperiling the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund, the commission shall, by regulation, increase the weekly benefit amounts set forth in the schedule in section (3) (b) by not to exceed 20%. Providing, however, that no weekly benefit amount shall exceed $18 and subsequently, if the commission finds, after reasonable notice and hearing, that increased weekly benefit amounts as provided herein are in the aggregate such an amount as to imperil the solvency of the unemployment compensation fund, the commission shall, by regulation, reduce such increased weekly benefit amounts by not to exceed 20% of the weekly benefit amounts set forth in the schedule in section (3) (b) but in making such reduction, no weekly benefit amount shall be reduced below the amounts shown in column (C) of section (3) (b).'

Sec. 5. P. L., 1935, c. 192, § 7, amended. Subsection (1) of section 7 (c) of chapter 192 of the public laws of 1935 is hereby amended to read as follows:

But nothing in this act shall be construed to grant any employer or individuals in his service prior claims or rights to the amounts paid by him into the fund either on his own behalf or on behalf of such individuals. Benefits paid to an eligible individual under the provisions of previously existing legislation shall be charged against the account of his most recent employers in his base period against whose accounts the maximum charges hereunder have not been previously made in the inverse chronological order in which the employment of such individual occurred, but the maximum amount so charged against the account of any employer shall not exceed 1/6 of the wages payable to such individual by each such employer for employment which occurs on and after the 1st day of such individual's base period, or $65 per completed calendar quarter or portion thereof, whichever is the lesser.

Benefits paid to an eligible individual under the provisions of this act shall be charged against the accounts of his employers in his base period in the inverse chronological order in which such individual was most recently employed by such employers, but the maximum amount so charged against the account of any employer shall not exceed, to the nearest dollar, that proportion of 16 times the individual's weekly benefit amount, which his earnings in the base period for that employer bears to his total earnings for all employers in the base period. The commission shall by general rules prescribe the manner in which benefits shall be charged against the accounts of several employers for whom an individual performed employment during the same week.'

Sec. 6. P. L., 1935, c. 192, § 3, amended. Section 3 of chapter 192 of public laws of 1935 is hereby amended by adding thereto a new subsection to be designated (g) and to read as follows:

Provided, however, that any individual who has a current benefit year established prior to the effective date of this act, shall be paid benefits, in accordance with his last determination applicable to the first calendar quarter of 1939, with his benefit amount adjusted to the next highest one-half dollar, until the expiration of such individual's current benefit year or the exhaustion of his benefit credits under such determination whichever occurs first and such individual shall thereafter be paid unemployment benefits under the provisions of sections (3) (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of the unemployment compensation law as amended, provided further, however, that if such individual's current benefit year terminates or he exhausts his wage credits subsequent to the effective date of this act and prior to April 1, 1940, the maximum amount of benefits payable to such individual until March 31, 1940 as provided in sections (3) (b), (c) and (d) of the unemployment compensation law as amended shall be reduced by the amount of benefits previously paid to such individual by virtue of his benefit credits established during the first 3 calendar quarters of 1938 and no additional waiting period shall be required when the transition occurs during filing of claims for continuous unemployment, and provided further that any individual who has completed a benefit year prior to the effective date of this act, and who becomes eligible for benefits in the benefit year April 1, 1939, to March 31, 1940, shall have his maximum benefits reduced only by the amount of benefits previously paid on the basis of benefit credits established during the first 3 calendar quarters of 1938.'
