STATE OF MAINE

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, Maine produces many quality products of many kinds and for many diverse uses; and

Whereas, the value of these products runs to many millions of dollars annually and is of vital importance to the State's economy; and

Whereas, many of our summer guests and many of our own residents are unfamiliar with the full scope and wide range of Maine products; and

Whereas, Maine industrialists and manufacturers of many diverse commodities and services are desirous of exhibiting their products to Maine residents and guests; and

Whereas, Maine's skillful, well trained, and efficient labor force results in outstanding products whose merits are recognized in domestic and foreign markets

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of August 7 to August 14, 1949 as Maine Products Week, and do urge all Maine manufacturers to take special notice of this week by exhibiting their products, and recommend that Maine people and their guests view these outstanding displays of Maine craftsmanship and skill. More especially do I urge all retail merchants during this week to arrange window displays of Maine products, including foods, fresh and processed, from our sea and shore fisheries and our modern agriculture, and to display textiles, boots and shoes, pulp and paper articles, and forest products made by Maine craftsmen in Maine communities. I hope hotels and restaurants will feature all Maine menus during this Maine Products week.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Prolonged drought, allowing forest fires to burn deeply into the ground, has resulted in a serious fire hazard to the forests of Maine. Twenty forest fires are now under patrol. Weather predictions indicate no relief in sight. On the recommendation of the State Forest Commissioner and pursuant to the authority vested in me by virtue of Chapter 344 of the Public Laws of 1945, I do hereby prohibit all smoking or the building of any and all fires out of doors in the woods, except at public camp sites maintained by the Forestry Department. I urge sportsmen to cooperate with us in enforcing the campfire and smoking ban when fishing in any and all Maine waters.

This proclamation shall be effective at twelve noon, Friday, July 29, 1949, and shall continue until annulled by further proclamation.

It is essential that all persons in the state cooperate fully in this serious situation. All fire wardens, all game wardens, and state officials shall proceed in the enforcement of this proclamation.

STATE OF MAINE

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, on September 17, 1787, the Constitution of the United States was drafted by the Constitutional Convention, later submitted to Congress and adopted, and thus became the fundamental law of the land; and

Whereas, this document has remained basically unchanged for 162 years and under its provisions the United States has grown and prospered; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, under the ministration of this Constitution, throughout troubled years there has been maintained a government of the people, by the people and for the people, to preserve justice, safeguard domestic tranquillity, promote the general welfare and glorify the blessings of liberty, thereby making possible our high state of civilization the like of which is known nowhere else in the world; and

Whereas, today the greatest danger to the Constitution comes from foes within our borders, who would nullify those provisions which have made America great and sap from the Constitution that strength which has made the United States of America the one hope of freedom-loving people worldwide and the most solid political guide the world has ever known;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of Maine, proclaim September 17, 1949, as

and do urge its observance by churches, schools, service clubs and patriotic organizations to the end that our Constitution continue to hold that fundamental position which has enabled this Nation to expand its sphere of influence throughout the World.

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, by Presidential Proclamation the week of October 9 to 15, has been set aside as National Fire Prevention Week; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, in 1948 Maine suffered the loss of 51 citizens by reason of accidents in connection with 4,529 fires, causing great personal sorrow; and

Whereas, the 1948 State Property loss was more than $8,000,000 in the same period of time, resulting in loss of much taxable property to municipalities and heavy financial losses to owners and operators, as well as considerable temporary unemployment; and

Whereas, many of these 4,529 fires were caused by carelessness, and could have been avoided by reasonable precautions and regular inspection of properties; and

Whereas, Fire Departments of Maine cities and towns are extremely desirous of cooperating with property owners to decrease this huge economic loss which should cause every citizen to take stock of his own property and resolve to do his utmost to reduce this unnecessary loss;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do proclaim the Week of October 9 to 15, 1949, as

and do urge that all schools, private and public, churches and service clubs cooperate with their local fire departments in planning programs to effectively point out fire causes and outline preventive methods.

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the children of Maine represent its most valuable asset; and

Whereas, these children are looking forward to many years of pleasure in Maine forests, on its lakes and seashore playgrounds; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, conservation of those resources for our children and our children's children, as well as for our guests from without the State, should be a vital concern of every resident of the Pine Tree State; and

Whereas, one of the chief factors in any intelligent conservation program is a state-wide informational campaign to acquaint both children and adults with the importance and methods of conservation; and

Whereas, good sportsmanship depends on the early development of those ideals and practices which are the chief distinction between a sport and a sportsman; and

Whereas, the Consolidated Sportsmen's Club of Maine is sponsoring a state-wide Children's Day in Sports;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do proclaim the third Sunday in September, September 18, 1949, as

and do urge that after attendance at church and Sunday school of their faith, this day be dedicated to informing children of the State of Maine of the enjoyment, appreciation and conservation of our natural resources and wild life through special programs, contests, pet shows, and the use of conservation films in the various communities which comprise the State of Maine.

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the most dreaded poliomyelitis has struck down many of our citizens, including great numbers of boys and girls, young men and women; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, here in Maine, there has been a notable increase in these numbers, until today there are 267 victims suffering from this recurrent scourge; and

Whereas, there have already been 5 deaths in Maine, and almost innumerable deaths throughout the Nation, thereby creating an epidemic emergency situation; and

Whereas, this epidemic has greatly depleted National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis funds which are available for distribution to the several States; and

Whereas, six Maine chapters in areas hard hit have totally exhausted their funds for use in the current paralysis epidemic; and

Whereas, these funds must be augmented rapidly to minimize suffering and to organize more effective control facilities;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of September 11 to September 18, 1949, as

and do hereby urge all our citizens to respond generously to this appeal, and do further urge that all churches, schools, colleges and other educational institutions, service clubs and veterans organizations to do their utmost to swell the funds whereby local polio sufferers may receive the greatest possible amount of care and corrective treatment to return them to healthy, happy and useful lives.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the National Guard is a force of Citizen-Soldiers and Citizen-Airmen who have pledged themselves to the service of their country, their state and the communities in which they live; and

Whereas, in time of war, the National Guard stands ready to defend the country against the attack of any enemy aggressor and in time of peace, stands ready to serve state and community when any domestic disaster occurs; and

Whereas, the National Guard units of the State of Maine are undertaking a recruiting campaign to keep present units at training strength, to fill vacancies and replace losses, and to be able to expand when authorized;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, in order that National Guard units of this State may continue to be prepared to serve our country and our State in any emergency proclaim September 19, 1949, as and urge all of our citizens to join in the recruiting campaign of our own National Guard units, which extends from September 19 through November 19, 1949.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, Newsboys everywhere comprise a vital distribution link in the speedy and wide dissemination of news; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, these loyal and efficient youngsters, through good weather and bad, in early morning hours and in late afternoon are extremely conscientious in seeing that the 'news gets through'; and

Whereas, Maine newsboys are especially alert in carrying out their missions and acting on their own initiative, frequently have reported fires and other emergencies to proper officials, thereby functioning as good citizens; and

Whereas, these young merchants are learning many business practices, knowledge of which will be invaluable in later years; and

Whereas, it is extremely fitting that State of Maine people express their deep appreciation of the day-by-day service rendered by their friendly newsboys;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim Saturday, October 8, 1949, as

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, by Congressional enactment and Presidential Proclamation the week beginning October 2 to October 9 has been set aside as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week throughout the Nation; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, Maine has several thousand men, women and children who have suffered physical handicaps through highway or industrial accidents, and many veterans whose patriotic service is now handicapping them in their search for productive employment; and

Whereas, these handicapped workers represent a substantial part of Maine's labor force and who if selectively placed in gainful employment would add materially to the State's productive total as well as making them economically independent; and

Whereas, there was a total of 1,092 placements of handicapped workers, including 666 veterans, in Maine, since last September; and

Whereas, the Maine Employment Security Commission and the Veterans Employment Service are striving to place 1,403 handicapped workers, including 778 veterans, in suitable jobs where their handicaps will not hamper their effective production nor aggravate their individual disabilities;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 3 to October 8 as

and do urge employers, churches, schools, patriotic societies and service clubs, to study the needs of handicapped workers in their several communities, and to do everything in their power to see that the employment needs of these workers be met.

Whereas, more than 12,000 of Maine's young men and women are members of the United States Armed Forces, more than half of whom are less than 21 years old; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, at the request of President Truman, USO was reactivated to provide recreational and welfare activities for those in our Armed Service in developing these service men and women as citizens; and

Whereas, USO is now operating 170 service centers, of which 19 are overseas; and

Whereas, USO also maintains Veterans Hospital Camp Shows which bring professional entertainment to 100,000 veterans who are patients in Veterans Administration hospitals throughout the country; and

Whereas, funds are needed for the continuance of these vital services;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the month of October as

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the General Assembly of the United Nations has designated Monday, October 24, as United Nations Day; and

Whereas, it would appear that a world-wide observance of this day would give citizens everywhere an opportunity to review aims and achievements of this organization; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, such a factual review would give everyone opportunity to reaffirm their faith in the United Nations as an effective instrument for building international peace and progress; and

Whereas, the United Nations is being assailed from many angles by those who would discredit and destroy this organization, either because of ignorance or well-considered intent; and

Whereas, a complete and sympathetic understanding of the aims, achievements and methods of the United Nations is of paramount value in the ultimate success of the United Nations;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim Monday, October 24, 1949, as

and do urge that appropriate programs be arranged in all schools and colleges, in churches of all denominations, by service clubs and veterans' organizations, and by other groups, to the end that our citizenry, old and young, become more familiar with the United Nations' purposes and objectives, success of which may well determine the future peace and prosperity of the world.

Whereas, women of our State have made outstanding contributions to progress of education in the Pine Tree State and in many other States of the Union; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, in politics and government, women are assuming increasingly important responsibilities and duties in State and Nation; and

Whereas, women of today bring to their increased responsibilities an innate sympathy and understanding which creates a humanitarian approach to pressing problems; and

Whereas, more women are needed in public life, in art and letters, in business and the professions to give a much-needed balance to many vital considerations;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 9 through October 15, 1949, as

Whereas, the United States, from its earliest days, has been developed on certain simple basic concepts, which include a firm belief in the efficacy of prayer, the immortality of the soul, and life everlasting; and

Whereas, conflicting ideologies today threaten outward manifestations of these concepts, including the sanctity of the home, the holy institution of matrimony, religious education of youth, and moral training; and

PROCLAMATIONS, 1949

Whereas, a strengthening of these ideals could be effected by a close study of the Bible and by diligent personal application of precepts contained therein;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 17 to October 23 as

Maine Bible Week

and do urge all Maine people to attend the Church of their choice and to read their Bibles carefully and prayerfully to the end that they may clarify in their own minds and consciences some of the extremely confused thinking of the times.

STATE OF MAINE

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, today, possibly more than at any time in our history, it is necessary that we rededicate ourselves to faith in the Almighty Lord; and

Whereas, we are once again faced with an international crisis that could well affect our religious standards and beliefs; and

Whereas, in times of trouble and strife, we have all gained comfort and relief in prayer;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 16 to 22, 1950, as

Maine Bible Week

and respectfully request the people of Maine to gain comfort and solace in these trying hours from this, the greatest book of all, the Bible. Added comfort can be obtained from attending the church of your choice, and by joining with millions of Americans everywhere who realize that prayer and faith in God will carry us through to our aim of "peace on earth."

PROCLAMATIONS, 1950

Whereas, the women of America are being called on more and more to shoulder responsibility; and

Whereas, the efficient, conscientious manner in which they carry out their duties is becoming more and more a matter of fact; and

Whereas, international affairs means a shortage of manpower and the necessity for using this potential ability which has as yet been barely tapped; and

Whereas, the increased contribution women are making to the business world makes them a vital factor in the world of tomorrow;

PROCLAMATIONS, 1950

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the week of October 15 to 21, 1950, as

Business Women's Week

STATE OF MAINE*PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the fifth annual observance of United Nations Day is to be Tuesday, October 24; and

Whereas, the past year has brought home very realistically the value of an organization of the type of the United Nations; and

Whereas, the future of the world depends upon the diplomacy, tact, and power of the United Nations in order that it may give courage to "free people" everywhere and cast a shadow of fear over would-be aggressors; and

Whereas, in conjunction with local observances the Crusade for Freedom has arranged for the Freedom Bell to ring out its message of world freedom and friendship from Berlin, Germany, in the shadow of the Iron Curtain; and

Whereas, the United Nations Day Committee have made plans for bells to ring throughout the United States at the same time;

PROCLAMATIONS, 1951

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim Tuesday, October 24, 1950 as and request full cooperation of our communities throughout the State with the efforts of their respective United Nations Day Committees that have been arranging observances under the leadership of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

PROCLAMATIONS, 1951

Let it be known that I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, have this day publicly proclaimed Monday, February 5, 1951, as

Whereas, the Organized Reserve Corps, a major factor in providing for the defense of our Country, a segment of your community life, requires the support of every citizen of this State;

PROCLAMATIONS, 1951

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the period from March 18 to April 18 as

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the nineteenth day of May, 1951, has been designated by the President of the United States of America as Armed Forces Day; and

Whereas, our Armed Forces, in their various posts throughout the world, are courageously and unselfishly protecting and promoting the doctrines upon which our great Nation was founded; and

Whereas, it is appropriate that we at home render appropriate honor to those men and women, who are actively engaged in national defense as well as pay tribute to all veterans now honorably retired to civilian life;

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim May 19, 1951 as

and call upon my fellow citizens to display the Flag of the United States at their homes and places of business on Armed Forces Day and to participate in appropriate ceremonies in recognition of the skill, gallantry and uncom-

STATE OF MAINE

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, June 14, 1951 is the One Hundred Seventy-fourth Anniversary of the adoption by the Continental Congress of the first Flag of the United States of America; and

Whereas, our Nation's Flag, down through the years, has been the symbol of individual freedom, equal justice, equality of opportunity and representative government; and

Whereas, these ideals are once again being challenged in many parts of the world and our Nation is again fighting to protect and defend these ideals, it is fitting that the citizens of our great country renew their allegiance to our Flag;

PROCLAMATIONS, 1951

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim June 14, 1951, as

Whereas, fitting religious observances are being planned on the anniversary of our freedom, July 4; and

Whereas, the keynote of Independence Day was sounded in the Preamble to the Declaration of Independence, by these immortal words:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by the Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

PROCLAMATIONS, 1951

Now, therefore, I, Frederick G. Payne, Governor of the State of Maine, do hereby proclaim the period of June 30-July 6, 1951, as
