STATE OF MAINE
ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FIRST LEGISLATURE
FIRST REGULAR SESSION
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

In Senate Chamber
Tuesday
January 17, 2023

Senate called to order by President Troy D. Jackson of Aroostook County.

Prayer by Ali Ali of Portland.

MR. ALI: Good morning, everyone. Thank you for having me. My name is Ali Ali. It's actual Abdul Ali but everyone in the community calls me Ali Ali. I'm not from any particular religious group, sect, or mosque but I am a Muslim. I'm here today to call prayer in front of the 131st Legislature on behalf of Muslims in Maine. To everyone, I greet you with an Islamic greeting of peace, peace be upon you. Assalamualaikum. I'm here today to pray for us as human beings as we continue living our lives as the leaders we are; here in this room, in our communities, with our loved ones. I stand here before you today with the stance of humility, a humble calling for myself and everyone in this room to do the best that they possibly can in their lives. There's a verse that I would like to share with everyone here today. This verse, right here, gives me the stability that I need for my own mental and emotional wellbeing while dealing with adversities of every day that we live. The verse is: Laa yukalliful-laahu nafsan illaa wus'ahaa. Verily God does not overburden a person upon something they can't handle and everything that you are dealing with, the adversities you are facing and you will face, is something that you are able to manage. It may be challenging, you may even disagree with it, but I pray that you will all be able to overcome any situation. As leaders, I pray that God gives you the power, might, and glory you all need to achieve any hardships you will face and I will say this other verse that I, personally, love dearly and I use it to practice on a daily basis while facing the challenges of life. This is called Hadith. It's a scripture from the beloved Prophet Muhammad. He stated that he was sent for no other reason but to perfect moral character, as in working on ourselves continuously. The best way to overcome these adversities in life is to work on ourselves, our character, how we mitigate conflict, come to resolutions, and find the peace and safety we are all looking for in our communities. I pray for everyone here today and all of the challenges that they face. I pray and thank everyone here today for all the work you have done and are currently doing and will do. On behalf of the people in Maine, we thank you and may God bless you all. And I'll leave you with the last peace.

Pledge of Allegiance led by Senator Anne H. Beebe-Center of Knox County.

Reading of the Journal of Tuesday, January 10, 2023.

Doctor of the day, Sydney Sewall, MD.

Tabled - January 10, 2023 by Senator VITELLI of Sagadahoc

Pending - PASSAGE

(In Senate, January 10, 2023, READ.)

The Joint Order was READ.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Hickman.

Senator HICKMAN: Thank you, Mr. President. Mr. President, women and men of the Senate, I'm honored to stand and recognize the incredible service of Mr. James Toman. We always know that law enforcement officers are hard working women and men whose concern for the safety of those they are charged with protecting and serving is most paramount, even when their own lives are on the line. So, today I'd like to share with you the brief words of a poem written by Eric Derenzis. It goes as follows:

A hero is one who never hesitates to tackle the most difficult problems.

One who is always by your side.

One who knows right from wrong.

One who acts with pride.

A hero touches everyone of us, whether it be by word or deed, always tending to those who find themselves in need.

When a hero leaves this earth, yes, it's sad but true, all too many times, that hero is dressed in blue.

Well, today we have the honor of recognizing a man who's very much alive and with us. He has served for 32 years in the Gardiner Police Department and for the last 19 as Chief. Mr. President, women and men of the Senate, please join me in thanking him for his service, for his leadership, for his commitment and dedication to his community. Join me in thanking him for his tireless efforts for these past 32 years. Join me in thanking also his family for their sacrifices as well. We wish him joy and blessings in his well-deserved retirement. Thank you, Mr. President.

The Joint Order was PASSED.

Sent down for concurrence.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair would like to recognize in the Chamber the Gardiner Police Chief, James Toman; his wife, Jackie Toman; their daughter, Mary Toman; the Mayor of Gardiner, Pat Hart; City Councilor, Rusty Greenleaf; City Manager, Andy Carlton; Sergeant Todd Pilsbury; Fire Chief Rick Sieburg; Tara Merrill; Denise Brown; James Cameron; and Doug Clark. They are all from Gardiner and they are the guests today of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Hickman. Would they all please rise and accept the greetings and thanks of the Maine Senate.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Hickman.

Senator HICKMAN: Thank you, Mr. President. Mr. President, women and men of the Senate, I rise to honor the extraordinary life of the late, great Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. To celebrate his birthday and lift up his legacy, I will read brief excerpts from his letter from a Birmingham jail and disperse with the closing passages of his speech entitled 'The Other America' which he delivered at Stanford University on April 14, 1967, just shy of one year before his assassination, and so I quote:

'I have no despair about the future. I have no fear about the outcome of our struggle in Birmingham, even if our motives are presently misunderstood. We will reach the goal of freedom in Birmingham and all over the nation, because the goal of America is freedom. Abused and scorned though we may be, our destiny is tied up with the destiny of America. Before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, we were here. Before the pen of Jefferson scratched across the pages of history the majestic word of the Declaration of Independence, we were here. For more than two centuries our foreparents labored here without wages; they made cotton king; and they built the homes of their masters in the midst of brutal injustice and shameful humiliation and yet out of a bottomless vitality our people continue to thrive and develop and I say if the inexpressible cruelties of slavery could not stop us, the opposition we now face will surely fail. We're going to win our freedom because both the sacred heritage of our nation and the eternal will of the Almighty God are embodied in our echoing demands. And so I wish you had commended Negro demonstrators of Birmingham for their sublime courage, their willingness to suffer, and their amazing discipline in the midst of the most inhuman provocations. One day the South will recognize its real heroes.

They will be the will be the James Merediths, courageously and with a majestic sense of purpose facing jeering and hostile mobs and the agonizing loneliness that characterizes the life of the pioneer. They will be old, oppressed, battered Negro women, symbolized in a seventy-two-year-old woman of Montgomery, Alabama, who rose up with a sense of dignity and with her people decided not to ride the segregated buses, and responded to one who inquired about her tiredness with ungrammatical profundity, 'My feets is tired, but my soul is rested.' The real heroes will be young high school and college students, young ministers of the gospel, and a host of their elders courageously and nonviolently sitting in at lunch counters and willingly going to jail for conscience's sake. One day the South will know that when these disinherited children of God sat down at lunch counters they were in reality standing up for the best in the American dream and the most sacred values in our Judeo-Christian heritage. And so I can sing 'We shall overcome.' We shall overcome because the arc of the moral universe is long but it bends towards justice. We shall overcome because Carlyle is right, 'No lie can live forever.' We shall overcome because William Cullen Bryant is right, 'Truth crushed to earth will rise again.' We shall overcome because James Russell Lowell is right, 'Truth forever on the scaffold, wrong forever on the throne. Yet that scaffold sways the future and behind them unknown stands God within the shadows keeping watch above his own.' With his faith, we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With his faith, we will be able to transform the jangling discourse of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood. With his faith, we will be able to speed up that day when all God's children, black men and white men, Jews and gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and life together as brothers and sisters all over this great nation. That will be the great day. That will be a great tomorrow and in the words of scripture, to speak symbolically, 'That will be the day when the morning stars will sing together and the sons of God will shout for joy.' Thank you, Mr. President.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Duson.

Senator DUSON: Thank you, Mr. President. Good morning, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate. It is still morning. I rise to speak briefly to the Joint Resolution commemorating the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. This holiday is a day of remembrance and a day of reverence, a day of reflection, a day of recommitment, and a day of celebration. If you go to the Senate webpage and you click on Jill Duson the first words you read are: 'A child of the civil rights movement.' That is my story in seven words. The story of a 9-year old witness to the words and courageous actions of Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and the leaders of the movement. A witness to reports about the Freedom Riders, lunch counter sit-ins, and bus boycotts, and a witness to the adults in my own life who organized and picketed and marched and were roughed up and arrested and released and arrested again in a two year campaign to win court ordered desegregation of our schools in Chester, Pennsylvania. A child of the civil rights movement is my story of being one of the smart Negro kids who were then bussed across town to the white schools and assigned to the back of the fourth grade class and a child who understood that people had put their lives on the line to open up the world for me and my cohort of Black Negro children. At 10-years old we internalized the expectation of the community, that we would work twice as hard, to jump every hurdle to success, and remember to pay it forward to the next generation and the next. MLK Day is about remembrance and reverence. Fast forward to 2023, I am so very proud to serve the people of Portland and Westbrook. I am humbled by the prospect of working to make a difference here while being my fully joyful Black self. The first but not the last Black female member of the Maine Senate. This year I turn 70 and these days, MLK weekend, is a time for reflection, assessment, and recommitment. Reflection on my effectiveness in collaborating with engaged activists and elected to meet the needs of our communities. Assessment of how it is going with the drum major of justice imperative. And recommitment to do more and better. MLK Day is about reflection and recommitment. And, lastly, please be reminded that MLK Day is a celebration of his birthday. So, I will conclude my comments on a lighter note, with a favorite poem that has come to be a theme for the month of January and each of my 40 winters in Maine. 'One Thousand and Nine Hundred and Sixty-Eight Winters' by Jackie Earley. 'Got up this morning feeling good and Black. Thinking Black thoughts. Did Black things. Played all my Black records and minded my own Black business. Put on my best Black clothes and walked out my Black door and, Lord have mercy, white snow.'
