Goudy of Cumberland Martin of Penobscot Payson of Portland Cole of Kittery Chase of Baring Dow of Norway Paul of Portland

The minority of the same Committee on the same subject, reported that the same ought not to pass.

(Signed)

Marden of Kennebec Higgins of Ellsworth Pike of Bridgton

Comes from the House, the minority report "Ought Not to Pass", accepted.

In the Senate:

Mr. MARDEN of Kennebec: Mr. President, I would move on this measure that the minority report of the committee be accepted and inasmuch as the House of Representatives has so overwhelmingly accepted that report I do not to care to impose upon this body a debate on the matter unless those supporting the majority report care for it.

MARTIN Miss of Penobscot: Mr. President, in view of the expense of recording and printing the debate of yesterday I do not feel very much like going into a long oration on this subject but I do want to say that the committee gave this matter very serious con-sideration and that I personally signed the majority report because I felt that in the towns that are having Sunday movies at the present time—and we have many of them in the state—the citizens of those towns have no way of expressing disapproval. This bill carries with it the right of local option and my contention is that it tion and my contention is that it would allow those towns that do not want Sunday movies to prohibit them. For that reason I would support the measure.

Mr. GOUDY of Cumberland: Mr. President, I too am a signer of "Cought to Pass" the majority report "Ought to Pass" on this bill, being a member of the Legal Affairs Committee before which committee this bill was given a hearing.

Now, I personally never attended a Sunday movie in my life but I feel as though I were down here to represent and carry out the dictates conctituents. and wishes of my This matter came before the Legal Committee and we re-Affairs viewed the subject and discussed it and determined it with open minds. The reason that my report is in favor of the passage of the bill is because the proponents of this measure so overwhelmingly, in their evidence, in their facts, convinced me as a member of the Legal Affairs Committee that bill the should pass.

One of the arguments in favor of the bill was that at Old Orchard many other communities throughout the state they were running, every Sunday, motion pictures; that either this law as it now should be enforced or it should be made possible for the citizens of the towns and cities that desire to operate Sunday movies to vote on this matter. It was pointed out with great emphasis and to some extent that by opening up the moving-picture houses on Sunday it would give an opportunity to some people with idle hands, who might otherwise seek their pleasure in other directions, to go to the moving pictures and therefore it might increase the morale and lessen petty offenses, and, as I say, after hearing the arguments pro and con and after giving this mat-ter considerable deliberation, delib-eration taking many days before the report was given out, I for one will stand by my vote as a signer of the majority report of the Legal Affairs Committee.

Now, I feel that the cities and towns should have a right to ex-press themselves on this matter as to whether or not they want to approve the Sunday movies in their towns, inasmuch as they are now being operated in many instances illegally and without any action whatever being taken by the authorities in many towns and cities in our state; and I hope that the motion of the Senator from Ken-nebec, Senator Marden, will not prevail, and even though the House may have adopted the minority report, I do not think for a minute that the House should be any barometer for the Maine State Senate.

Mr. SPEAR of Cumberland Mr. President, when the vote is taken, I ask for a division.

Mr. ASHBY of Aroostook: Mr. President, I would like to have the stenographers make a special note that for the first time in eight years I agree with the lady Senator from Penobscot (Senator Martin).

Now, I only speak from observation in my home town. A couple of years ago the Paramount people who owned a theater there decided that they would run moving pictures. The church people used to hail them into court every Monday morning and that was about the best advertisement the movie people could get because on the next Sunday night the theater would be packed to the doors. They used to pay their fine every Monday morning but it was money in their pockets because if they hadn't been hailed into court they wouldn't have had so many.

It has been my observation that a law that does not have public opinion behind it isn't of much use. We found that out in the good old prohibition days, you know, and we found it out many times since then, and in those towns where moving pictures have been held illegally the activities of the theaters have been backed by public opinion.

Now, I hardly ever go to the moving pictures because I hardly ever have the price and I am not defending the majority report from my own personal selfish viewpoint but I do think that even if we should refuse to pass this measure the law would not be enforced and we have enough statutes already that are not enforceable, so I don't believe we should add another.

Mr. MARDEN of Kennebec Mr. President, I am sorry to disagree with the Senators who have spoken, in their interpretation of the demand for this measure. It was distinctly and is distinctly my recollection that the comparative demand for this measure was small. Realizing, even though it be true that the bill calls for local option, that the bill cans for local option, assuming that, the proponents of the measure were not in any great numbers or in any great strength, and that fact in itself, gentlemen—and may that term include the lady members of the Senate for the moment—the demand for this bill was not great and that in itself segmed not great and that in itself seemed to some of us to be the answer to the problem.

I am willing, however, with the permission of the Senate, to talk citizenship for a few minutes this morning. You and I know that every member in this room was reared by good parents and that a part of the training which we as youngsters regived was that Sun youngsters received was that Sunday was different than other days. And that was true whether we spent the day playing with the dog, whether we spent it sitting on a horse-hair sofa reading Pilgrim's Progress or whether we spent it in church, or part of the day, in com-pany with our parents, or whether we spent the day just sitting and thinking, or perhaps just sitting.

And when Monday morning rolled around we had clearer minds and more able bodies to tackle the work of the week after an opportunity for introspection on that one day of the seven. And I am ready to say that because of the fact that our parents so reared us and because of the fact that we grew up in that atmosphere is one of the reasons for being here as members of the State Senate with, we hope, some discrimination and ability to determine that which is inherently right and that which we will say for the moment is inherently wrong.

As members of this Senate we are here to blaze trails for your boys and mine, for your grandchildren and mine, and for your nephews and nieces, and mine, and I think we are not far afield when we contend that good citizens are not tend that good citizens are not made in our public schools—with all due respect to the school system. We attempt to place that responsibility on the schools, I am willing to grant, but the good citizens who fifteen years from now, gentlemen, will occupy these seats are made in the American home and anything we do for or against the integrity of that American the integrity of that American home we are challenging a future which already holds too many problems for youngsters to meet.

And while we cannot legislate, gentlemen, good parents, and while we cannot make children stay at home with their parents, we can keep the theater doors closed so that there will not be additional attractions to take those youngsters awa from their homes, make Sunday like any other day and wipe away finally that one thing which remains between American citizen-ship and something else, the American home.

I hope that the motion to accept the report of the minority made by this body will be accepted. Miss LAUGHLIN of Cumberland: Mr. President, I wish to go on Mr. President, I wish to go on record as supporting the motion of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Marden, in favor of the minority report. I cannot say that I am impressed by the argument that contends that if a thing is being done illegally we must make it ing done illegally we must make it legal If we carried that to its logical conclusion we would repeal every law that puts a penalty on every illegal action. And Maine would be a criminally free state legally but crime would go on just the same. I think the only remedy. if a thing is being done against the law, is to see that the law is enforced and not to start on a policy of saying that if there are a sufficient number of lawbreakers we must amend the law to please them.

It seems to me that no nation can be great and that no nation ever has been great that has ex-cluded the spiritual side of life and not given some definite recognition to it. I am not one of those who think Sunday is a sacred day in itself but I do believe that this country should recognize some day, I don't care what day, some day that represents the spiritual side of life and I don't think that we should become entirely commercialized. I am opposed to a commercialized Sunday. I believe that people may live their individual lives, on matters that interfere with no-body else and do not control the policies of the state, as their consciences dictate, but when we come to the question of commercializing Sunday it is something that affects everybody.

Now, I have lived in states where they have Sunday moving pictures and I had rather live in Maine, where they haven't yet, and I hope never will have, established them as being far more conducive to character development, than in places where they have started on the commercialized line.

There is no more reason why we should commercialize Sunday for one industry than we should for every other. I regret to say that none of my ancestors were here in the land former and brilled in time to help found and build this country but when they did come here they came to support the principles which had entered into the founding of this country and which have made it a beacon light to the world. And I would feel that in honor bound we should support those principles and not attempt to import here principles from other countries where the condi-tions were such that their people have flocked to this country.

And so I hope the minority report will prevail and that we may take the stand in this Senate, as the House has taken it, for some recognition of the spiritual side of life and in opposition to commercializing everything and making that the sole object. I hope that we shall stand for those things which are character building and which are the things that have made this country the great country that it is.

Mr. BURKETT of Knox: Mr. President, my desk is full of letters and petitions which I have received from more people in my county in opposition to this measure than on any other measure that has been presented to this legislature and in due respect to them, as has already been said, I shall support the motion of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Marden on this matter.

Mr. CHASE of Piscataquis: Mr. President, I sincerely hope that the minority report will prevail.

The PRESIDENT: The pending question is on the motion of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Marden, that the minority report "Ought Not to Pass" be accepted on An Act to Permit Sunday Moving Pictures, and the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Spear, has asked for a division. Is the Senate ready for the question?

A division of the Senate was had.

Twenty-two having voted in the affirmative and nine opposed, the motion to accept the minority report "Ought Not to Pass", in concurrence, prevailed.

From the House:

"An Act Relating to the Rules and Regulations of State Racing Commission," (H. P. 1535) (L. D. 712).

Comes from the House, passed to be engrossed as amended by House Amendment "B".

Pass," from the Committee on Sea and Shore Fisheries on "Resolve Regulating Fishing in Flanders
Bay," (H. P. 309) (L. D. 97).
(In the Senate on March 19th,
the report accepted in non-concurrence.)

Comes from the House, that body having insisted on its former ac-tion whereby the bill was substituted for the report, and asking for a Committee of Conference, the Speaker having appointed as members of such a Committee: Mr. Noyes of Franklin, Mr. Barter of Stonington, Mr. Stilphen of Dresden.

In the Senate, that body voted to insist on its former action and concur in the proposition for a Committee of Conference, and the President appointed as members of such Committee on the part of the Senate, the Senator from Lincoln, Senator Lewis, the Senator from Sagadahoc, Senator Sewall and the Senator from York, Senator Wentworth.

The following petitions and remonstrances were received and on recommendation by the Committee on Reference of Bills were ordered

Orders of the Day

PRESIDENT: The The Chair lays before the Senate for its further consideration, the unfinished business of yesterday, the divided report of the Committee of 15 Created under Joint Order (S. P. 430) as amended, which was divided to make the control of rected to make a Survey with Reference to Possible Economies in Administration of the Affairs of State. The question before the Senate is on the motion of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Hussey, that the majority report be accepted. Is the Senate ready for the question?

A viva voce vote being had, the motion prevailed and the majority report of the committee was accepted.

Sent down for concurrence.

Order

(Out of Order)

On motion by Mr. Hussey of Kennebec, out of order and under suspension of the rules, it was Ordered, the House concurring, that the joint committees created under Senate Paper No. 430 as amended be and hereby are discharged from further duties.

Order

(Out of Order)

Mr. Hussey of Kennebec, out of order and under suspension of the rules, presented the following order and moved its passage:

"STATE OF MAINE

"In Senate, March 25, 1937.

"WHEREAS the expenditures of the State have been substantially increased in recent years as the result of legislative enactment, and

"WHEREAS expenditures in previous administrations have created large and oppressive financial problems that have increased the burdens of the taxpayers, and

"WHEREAS it is realized that the economic condition confronting the State and its people is so serious that it must be alleviated in so far as may be possible, and it is recognized that additional time is necessary to make a sane and systematic survey of all State activities, and

"WHEREAS it is the expressed desire of this Legislature to sponsor such effective and practicable retrenchments as may be possible and not to rest with half-way measures, but to institute improvements that not only will decrease the expense of state government, but also will result in improved public service and efficiency

"NOW THEREFORE, \mathbf{BE} ORDERED, the House concurring, that the Governor and Council be requested to investigate, or cause to be investigated, all legislative enactments or State activities relating to the expenditure of money by the various departments of State, and that the Governor and Council forthwith put in effect such of the recommended economies as in their opinion may seem wise and expedient, and report further the Eighty-ninth Legislature, and that the Governor be requested to communicate to the Eighty-ninth Legislature the results of such a survey, together with such recommendations as he may deem proper regarding the financial affairs of the State. All essential and necessary expenses pertaining to such investigation shall be paid by the Governor and Council out of the State Contingent Fund."

Mr. WILLEY of Cumberland: Mr. President, when the vote is taken, I would ask for a division.

Mr. FERNALD of Waldo: Mr. President, just one or two things I would like to point out about this First that it is a request to the Governor and Council asking them to act on the problem of economy. Of course, that is presumptuous on our part because we know that when they were elected to office and when they took their oath of office as Governor and councillors we knew they stood for economy and it is just a repetition of their oath of office when we ask them to stand for economy. The part about it I do not like is that it places no responsibility, no definite duty upon anybody to do anything. Now, a question as vital as the question of economy, striking to the very vitals of our government, if we are to seriously consider the problem, should place upon some-one, somewhere, some definite thing to do.

Now, the second point about the thing and the final point about the thing I do not like is that it refers it to the Eighty-ninth Legislature, and if we go back into the history of previous legislatures, the Eighty-eight legislatures that have preceded us, we will find, no doubt, in most of the cases, that something one Legislature didn't want to do was referred to the next one.

The question of old age pensions only a few years ago was referred to the Governor and Council to find the money and then report to the Legislature. There is no need of repeating those cases. We are all experienced legislators. We have all been here. We all know the implication. We all know the set-up when you refer a matter to the next Legislature. I really and sincerely feel and know and believe that the people back home want definite, concerted, cooperative and sane action, not tomorrow, not next week, not with the Legislature that is going to be elected in 1938, but now. Action is necessary now.

And let me refer to this situation: How are we, as a party, going to face the issues of the next campaign by saying that the problems that we were confronted with today; or when we are talking in 1938, by saying that the problems we were confronted with in 1937 were referred to the legislature in 1939? When we realize the whole matter could be impartially, without any glory to anyone in this state, without any petty jealousy, the whole thing could be carried on by the same people who carried on the survey in 1930 for the small sum of $15,000, when we realize that thousands upon thousands of dollars might be saved, yes, even a million. And the people of Maine are at least entitled to an inventory on what is going on.

I do not want to press the question. I think you all appreciate my position on it. I just wanted to point out two weaknesses, that it is a request, not placing any responsibility or duty upon anyone; and secondly, that the reference to the Eighty-ninth legislature is unfair to the people and unfair to the party and is an inherent weakness in the proposition.

Mr. WILLEY: Mr. President, I listened attentively to the reading of the order. I assisted slightly in the drafting of the order. I am afraid the Senator from Waldo, Senator Fernald didn't listen to the reading of the order carefully. The reading of the order, as I recall it, provides that the Governor and Council make a survey, themselves, or have it made by such other means as they might see fit, which gives them an opportunity and the authority to go ahead and make any independent survey that they might want to make and take whatever action they choose to take in the matter.

Secondly, it does not provide that the only thing the Governor and Council are to do is report to the Eighty-ninth legislature. I am going to ask the secretary now if he will read that part of the order which requests the Governor and Council to put into effect immediately,—as I recall the words—such of the economies as in their opinion seem wise and expedient forthwith. If I heard it right it means they have not got to wait for the Eighty-ninth legislature, but they can do it now, or as soon as they can.

The SECRETARY: (reading) "Ordered, the House concurring, that the Governor and Council be requested to investigate or cause to be investigated all legislative enactments or state activities relating to the expenditure of money by the various departments of state, and that the Governor and Council forthwith put in effect such of the recommended economies as, in their opinion, may seem wise and expedient and report further to the Eighty-ninth legislature."

Eighty-ninth legislature."
Mr. WILLEY: Now, Mr. President, continuing: I have every confidence that when the two years have rolled by, the record of the Republican Party will be such that we won't have to worry about what happens to us. I certainly urge the adoption of this order.

adoption of this order.

Mr. FERNALD: Mr. President, it is the first time that I have heard the order read and it is of some considerable consequence, and if there is not any objection, I would like to have the whole order read again.

Thereupon, the Secretary again

read the order.

The PRESIDENT: The pending question is on the motion of the Senator from Kennebec, Senator Hussey, that the joint order receive passage, and the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Willey has asked for a division. All those in favor of the order receiving passage will rise and stand until counted.
