SEC. 1. No person shall commence any real or mixed action for the recovery of lands, or make an entry thereon, unless within twenty years after the right to do so first accrued; nor within twenty years after he, or those under whom he claims, were seized or possessed of the premises; except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. If such right or title first accrued to an ancestor, predecessor, or other person under whom the demandant claims, said twenty years shall be computed from the time when the right or title first accrued to such ancestor, predecessor, or other person.

SEC. 3. The right of entry, or of action to recover land, as used in this chapter, first accrues at the times hereinafter mentioned.

First.—When a person is disseized, at the time of such disseizin.

Second.—When he claims as heir or devisee of one who died seized, at the time of such death, unless there is a tenancy by the curtesy or other estate intervening after the death of the ancestor or devisor; in that case, his right accrues when such intermediate estate expires, or would expire by its own limitation.

Third.—When there is such an intermediate estate, and in all cases, when the party claims by force of any remainder or reversion, his right accrues when the intermediate estate would expire by its own limitation, notwithstanding any forfeiture thereof for which he might enter at an earlier time.

SEC. 4. The preceding clause shall not prevent any person from entering, when so entitled by reason of any forfeiture or breach of condition; but if he claims under such a title, his right accrues when the forfeiture was incurred, or the condition broken.

SEC. 7. When such right of entry or action first accrues, if the person thereto entitled is a minor, married woman, insane, imprisoned, or absent from the United States, he, or any one claiming under him, may make the entry or bring the action at any time within ten years after such disability is removed, notwithstanding twenty years have expired.

SEC. 8. If the person first entitled to make the entry or bring the action dies during the continuance of the disability, and no determination or judgment has been had on his title or right of action, the entry may be made or action brought by his heirs, or other person claiming under him, at any time within ten years after his death, notwithstanding the twenty years have elapsed; but no such further time for bringing the action or making the entry, beyond what is herein before prescribed, shall be allowed by reason of the disability of any other person.

Consequence, if tenant in tail or remainder man dies before the expiration of the limitation.

R. S., c. 147, § 9.

SEC. 10. To constitute a disseizin, or such exclusive and adverse possession of lands as to bar or limit the right of the true owner thereof to recover them, it shall not be necessary for such lands to be surrounded with fences or rendered inaccessible by water; but it shall be sufficient, if the possession, occupation, and improvement are open, notorious, and comporting with the ordinary management of a farm; although that part of the same, which composes the woodland belonging to such farm and used therewith as a woodlot, is not so enclosed.

How such notice is to be given.
R. S., c. 147,
§ 16.

SEC. 14. Such notice may be given by the agent or guardian of the owner of the land, or by an officer, by giving to the claimant, his agent, or guardian, if in the state, an attested copy thereof, or by leaving it at his dwellinghouse, or, if not in the state, a copy may be left with the tenant or occupant of the estate, if any; if not, such copy shall be affixed to the house or a conspicuous part of the premises.
