Proceedings for Prevention of Crime

Sec. 1. Power of courts to keep the peace; security may be required. R. S. c. 142, § 1. 1933, c. 118, § 1. The justices of the superior court and judges of municipal courts, in term time or in vacation, and trial justices in their counties have power to cause all laws for the preservation of the public peace to be kept;

and in the execution thereof may require persons to give security to keep the peace and be of good behavior, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. On complaint that an offense is threatened, proceedings. R. S. c. 142, § 2. Any magistrate described in section 1, on complaint that any person threatens to commit an offense against the person or property of another, shall examine, on oath, the complainant and any other witnesses produced, reduce the complaint to writing, and cause the complainant to sign it; and, if on examination of the facts he thinks that there is just cause to fear the commission of such offense, he shall issue a warrant reciting the substance of the complaint, and commanding the officer, to whom it is directed, forthwith to arrest the accused and bring him before such magistrate or court, subject to the provisions of section 9 of chapter 133.

Sec. 3. Proceedings, if complaint is not sustained; if frivolous or malicious. R. S. c. 142, § 5. If the magistrate, on examination of the facts, is not satisfied that there is just cause to fear the commission of any offense, he shall immediately discharge the accused; and if he judges the complaint to be unfounded, frivolous, or malicious, he may order the complainant to pay the costs of prosecution, who shall thereupon be answerable to the magistrate, officer, and witnesses for their fees as for his own debt.

Sec. 4. Accused may be ordered to find sureties to keep the peace, and to pay costs; not to be bound over unless charged with some specific crime. R. S. c. 142, § 3. When the accused is brought before the magistrate and his defense is heard, he may be ordered to recognize, with sufficient sureties, in the sum required by the magistrate, to keep the peace toward all persons, and especially toward the person requiring the security, for a term of less than 1 year, and to pay the costs of prosecution; but he shall not be bound over to any court, unless he is also charged with some other specific offense requiring it.

Sec. 5. If he complies, he shall be discharged; otherwise, he shall be committed. R. S. c. 142, § 4. If the accused complies with such order, he shall be discharged; if he does not, he shall be committed to jail for the time for which he was required to find sureties, or until he complies with such order; and the magistrate shall state in the mittimus the cause of commitment, and the time and sum for which security was required, and return a copy of the warrant to the next term of the superior court in said county, and such court shall have cognizance of the case, as if the accused had appealed thereto.

Sec. 7. Consequences, if appellant fails to prosecute. R. S. c. 142, § 7. Sec. 11. When magistrate on view, may require sureties without a formal complaint. R. S. c. 142, § 9.
