1874.

REPORT.

To the Governor and Council of Maine:

The undersigned, Examiner of Banks, respectfully submits the following Report:

The present number of Banks of Discount and Deposit now doing business in the State, is three; the Savings Banks fifty-six, all of which have been carefully and thoroughly examined during the past year, and an abstract of the examinations of the Savings Banks is submitted, showing specifically and in detail the securities, resources and condition of each bank as it existed on the day of its examination. Also an abstract of the annual reports made to the Examiner by the bank Treasurers is submitted, exhibiting their condition on Monday, the third day of November last.

THE BANKS OF DISCOUNT AND DEPOSIT.

Of the five banks as reported last year by my predecessor, two have surrendered their charters and have duly filed notice of the fact with the Secretary of State, and organized and commenced business as National Banks, viz.: Veazie Bank, Bangor, March 5, and Lime Rock Bank, Rockland, April 7, 1873.

Three banks only are now doing business under State charters; a detailed statement of their condition at the time they were examined will be found under the appropriate head.

The outstanding circulation of these banks is $3,633. They have redeemed the past year $54. The charters of these banks expire in October, 1875, and the probability is that a renewal of their charters will not be asked for, especially if Congress should make further provision for the organization of new banks.

THE AMERICAN BANK OF HALLOWELL.

This bank failed and was placed in the hands of Receivers September 5, 1865.

Amount collected by Receivers from assets.....	$25,757 51
Assessments paid in by stockholders.....	9,714 00
Costs paid in by stockholders	26 75
Interest accrued from money on deposit.....	4,752 09
	$40,250 35
Paid liens, mortgages, expenses and ser- vices.....	$16,275 32
Paid to creditors 25 per cent. on release of their claims.....	3,270 67
	19,545 99

Balance November 30, 1873.....	$20,704 36
The outstanding certificates of claims proved against the bank, amount to... ..	$30,096 24
The amount on hand would pay a dividend of about 66 cents on the dollar.

The holders of 211 shares have paid their assessments. Compromises have been made with the holders of 113 shares. About 130 shares belong to estates which are insolvent, or have been settled so as to bar the claims. About 300 shares belong to owners who refuse or neglect to pay, of which quite a number are known to be responsible.

The bill in equity which has been pending in the Supreme Judicial Court against the stockholders, was argued on demurrer in May last; the Court has not announced its decision. It will, no doubt, be made known soon, so that the numerous creditors, it is hoped, may receive the small amount due them and the affairs of the bank may be closed.

The aggregate liabilities and assets of the banks of Discount and Deposit, when visited, was as follows:

LIABILITIES.

SAVINGS BANKS.

Two of the fifty-six Savings Banks have been organized and commenced business during the last year, namely:

Hancock County Savings Bank, Ellsworth.

South Paris Savings Bank, South Paris.

The deposits and profits of the Savings banks on the third day of November last were $29,556,523.84.

The assets, as compared with 1872, are as follows:

ASSETS.	1872.	1873.
Invested in United States bonds.....	$1,268,701 05	$974,104 41

The foregoing statement shows an increase in the deposits of the several banks during the year ending November 3, 1873, of $3,402,190.81, being an increase over the preceding year of $35,660.23.

The increase of depositors during the same period has been 10,078. The whole number is 91,398, and the average to each depositor is $323. This increase in deposits and depositors during a year of so great depression in the money market, when a natural jealousy of monied institutions is so likely to arise, can but demonstrate the confidence which our savings institutions are entitled, and are receiving at the hands of all classes of interested parties, and especially the many who have entrusted their all, pecuniarily, to them.

The deposits of the Savings Banks compared with the capital, circulation and deposits of the National Banks of the State, are nearly six and one-half millions more.

Nearly one-fourth of the deposits are loaned on mortgages of real estate. The rule of the banks, which is adopted with general uniformity, limits loans on real estate to from fifty to seventy-five per cent. of the real estimated value, taking into account the nature of the property, the buildings and the insurance upon the same. Upon careful inquiry of the bank officers regarding this class of securities they are regarded very satisfactory. Loans on cheap tenement blocks and unsalable real estate, and upon excessive valuation, have been carefully avoided.

About one-fifth of the deposits are loaned to counties, cities, towns and corporations, and on collaterals, which are taken at less than their market value, a detailed statement of which is given in the abstract of the examinations of the banks herewith submitted.

For the three last months of the last year ending November 3d, owing, no doubt, to the stringency in financial circles, the gain in deposits has been quite small. It is gratifying, however, to notice the fact that large deposits, the most unreliable, are diminishing. The present money panic has fully demonstrated the fact, that the first and last depositors that trouble and unfavorably affect the banks most by withdrawals on a stringent money market, are the large depositors. At such times they withdraw their deposits to loan on an increased rate of interest, or to invest in securities that are then forced on the market at low figures. When the market becomes easy they renew their deposits. Thus the responsibility of loaning these deposits and converting them into safe and paying investments is placed upon the managers of the banks, generally when it is not easy to make profitable loans or safe and paying investments—thus requiring the banks to call in not only their paying loans but to dispose of their most available securities on a comparatively low market in order to answer the withdrawals of this class of deposits, and when renewed, as they are most sure to be on an easy money market, be compelled to make loans at a low rate of interest, and invest in securities at advanced rates, thus materially affecting the profits of the bank and the interest of the more legitimate depositors. With a law, that no Savings Bank should declare a dividend on more than two thousand dollars to any one depositor, this unreliable class of deposits would continue to diminish until they would become no more than a fair proportion of the whole amount on deposit. I would suggest such an enactment with proper restrictions. In this connection I would also suggest, that the officers of Savings Banks be authorized by law, whenever they might regard it for the interest of the bank, to require sixty days previous notice of withdrawal of deposits, with the right to state the amount or amounts that may be withdrawn on such notice in cases when more than one thousand dollars is demanded.

Regarding the rates of interest charged on loans during the year as an important fact, as showing how far the public interests are regarded, and indicating in what manner the law regulating interest on loans is used by the banks, I have inserted in the abstract of the treasurers' returns the rates charged by each bank, which varies from six to ten per cent. The average on the whole loan for the year is a fraction less than eight per cent.

Some change has been made in the investments the past year, as will be seen by the foregoing table of assets as compared with 1872. The amount of United States bonds, railroad bonds and stocks, less; State of Maine, other State, county and municipal bonds, bank and miscellaneous stocks, and real estate, more.

Twenty-three of the banks, such as the abstract submitted will designate, have loaned, in all, on names alone, $358,828.74. The larger portion of this sum has been loaned since the passage of the statute of 1869, prohibiting loans on security of names alone. In a few instances banks have made loans to their trustees. The provisions of the statute are explicit, yet without any penalty for a violation. The statute is based upon a sound policy. There seems to be no good or valid reason for evading the law. Parties who are responsible for a loan without giving security are able to give sufficient collaterals for their loans. It is always a safe rule, when the statute defines how a thing shall be done, especially in the management of Savings Banks, where deposits and profits are supposed to be under the guardianship of honest, faithful and law-abiding citizens, to respect and follow the statute. It is proper to say, however, that no losses have heretofore arisen from loans on names alone; yet the law excludes them. They are generally regarded as the least satisfactory of savings bank securities, excepting perhaps the larger class of investments in the securities of the West, where the corporate indebtedness of the people is so great, and particularly Western railroad bonds and stocks of which so little is known, unless it be those that were regarded safe and reliable have now suspended payment of interest, and now stand in the market at fifty cents on the dollar, the final result of which cannot with any certainty be predicted. That they are proper securities for safe and permanent investments cannot be admitted. Hence it is suggested, rather than allow savings banks to invest indiscriminately in the securities of the West, it would be better and safer for the banks to loan some portion or per cent. of their deposits, under proper legal restrictions, on names alone, undesirable as even this would be. I would particularly call attention to this class of securities. Deeming the subject of investments as a very proper subject for legislative direction, I would suggest that the law be so made that one-half at least of the investments hereafter made by savings banks shall be made in government securities, bonds, stocks and securities in and of our own State, three-fourths at least in securities within New England, and not exceeding one-fourth out of New England, prohibiting investments in or loans on bonds and stocks of railroads out of New England.

No losses of any importance have arisen from investments or loans in any bank, unless it may be in some of the investments of railroad bonds and stocks, the larger portion of which is on bonds and stocks of Western railroads. There is a probable loss in this class of securities in some of the banks, but only in a few instances, it is believed, will the loss in this respect to any bank be so great as to exceed the reserved fund and premium accounts, and the assurance is that the usual dividends will be legitimately made and paid.

By careful and accurate examinations of the banks, I am able to present the assets of each institution in such a detailed manner, as may be seen in the abstract of the same herewith submitted, that parties interested may see in what they consist and be able to judge for themselves of their availability to meet their liabilities, by this means to do justice to each bank and depositor.

The officers of these institutions are men selected for their integrity, sound judgment, and financial ability; and I am gratified to be able to say that the institutions are generally well managed and all worthy of public confidence.

So far as the Examiner is able to judge, the semi-annual examinations of the Trustees, which are very essential to the safe management of the banks, as a general rule have been very thoroughly made.

The making of trial balances by the Treasurers for inspection is regarded a very essential thing, as it is a means of detecting errors and wrongs, if any. In some of the larger banks this is done daily, in others weekly or monthly, in the smaller once in six months. It is suggested that all the bank Treasurers be required by law to make weekly trial balances, to be recorded and subject at any time to examination by the bank officers and Bank Examiner.

The subject of dividends is also a matter of legislative regulation. No Savings Bank, it is believed, should be allowed to declare dividends exceeding three per cent. semi-annually, and no extra dividend should be authorized until the reserved fund, which is an element of security to the depositor, shall amount to fifteen per cent. of its net deposits. The present financial embarrassment has fully demonstrated this proposition, and such seems to be the generally received opinion of bank officers, some placing the sum at twenty per cent.

It will not be a matter of surprise if no extra dividend is declared by any bank in the State the ensuing year under the provisions of the statute of 1873. There cannot be but a small balance, if any, in the most prosperous and best managed banks over the three per cent. semi-annual dividends, after deducting the reserved fund, taxes and expenses.

If we would have our savings institutions attain the highest possible character for good management, safe investments, and uninterrupted dividends, they must be so regulated by law that no spirit of rivalry shall be induced in the way of declaring large dividends and extra dividends; to do this they must invest in securities paying large interest and below their par value, many of which are more or less doubtful, foreign and unknown, and to a great extent deny to accommodate the people for whose accommodation the banks were created. They should be so limited in the amount of dividends and number, that they would introduce and act under the rule of "safety first, profit secondary" and not the reverse of this rule.

Six banks, that do not regard their safes sufficient protection against burglars and fire, keep the larger part and some nearly all their securities in the Union Safe Deposit Vaults in Boston, consequently such securities have not been examined by the Examiner, and no evidence except the statement of the bank officers was furnished of the kinds and amounts thus held by them. There should be a provision of law regulating and providing for an examination of such securities if the same are to be kept in vaults out of the State. The Safe Deposit Vaults in Portland, which are regarded by competent judges as safe and secure as the Boston vaults, would seem to obviate the necessity of making deposits in the vaults of other States.

The banks now established are of great public service to the industrial interest of the State, and with the exception, possibly, of a few localities, afford all reasonable facilities for the business of savings institutions. To increase the number of banks where such facilities now exist would work a disadvantage and do injustice to those who use them as depositors, and would be of no public benefit.

The exhibit herewith submitted, showing so large a yearly increase and so large amount of deposits, is most encouraging. It is an exponent of the thrift and prosperity of the people, and demonstrates that among us labor is considered honorable and brings its reward.
