UNITED STATES.

CONSTITUTION.

Compiled and Amendments incorporated by J. H. Drummond, Esq.

WE, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SECT. 2. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen. See also Art. XIV, Sec. 3d, of Amendments, as to Qualification of Representatives.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three. See Art. XIV, Sec. 2d, of Amendments, in amendment of Apportionment.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECT. 3. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each State, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year; and of the third class, at the expiration of the sixth year; so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen. See also Art. XIV, Sec. 3d of Amendments, as to Qualification of Senators.

The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

SECT. 4. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECT. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceeding, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECT. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECT. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But, in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECT. 8. The congress shall have power,—To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;—To borrow money on the credit of the United States;—To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes;—To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies, throughout the United States;—To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;—To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;—To establish post-offices and post-roads;—To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;—To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;—To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;—To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;—To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money for that use shall be for a longer term than two years;—To provide and maintain a navy;—To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;—To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;—To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;—To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings;—And to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECT. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law, shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign State.

SECT. 10. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility.

No State shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States, and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

No State shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships-of-war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger that will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The executive power should be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the State may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector. See also Art. XIV, Sec. 3d, of Amendments, as to qualification of Electors.

[The next paragraph in the original Const. has been repealed, and the following (Art. XII, of Amend's), substituted: The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves: they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But, in choosing the president, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death, or other constitutional disability of the president. The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then, from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators; and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person, except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed, or a president be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

'I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States.'

SECT. 2. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the consent and advice of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECT. 3. He shall, from to time, give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and, in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECT. 4. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECT. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States, between a State and citizens of another State, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens, or subjects. (See Art. XI, of Amendments.)

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, and those in which a State shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trials shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but, when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SECT. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainer of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings, of every other State. And the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECT. 2. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one State under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

SECT. 3. New States may be admitted by the congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State, nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the consent of the legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory, or other property, belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular State.

SECT. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion, and, on application of the legislature or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by convention in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress: provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted, and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States, under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office of public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

Historical Facts connected with the formation of the original Union, and the admission of new States.

On Monday, September 5, 1774, a number of men were assembled at Carpenter's Hall, Philadelphia, who had been chosen by the several Colonies, in what now constitutes the United States, to hold a Congress for the purpose of discussing certain grievances imputed to the mother country. This Congress resolved that each colony should have one vote only. On Tuesday, July 2, 1776, the Congress resolved, "That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, Free and Independent States," etc.; and on Thursday, July 4, the whole Declaration of Independence having been agreed upon, was publicly read to the people. On September 9 it was resolved that the words "United Colonies" should no longer be used, and that "United States" should thenceforward be the style and title of the Union. On Saturday, November 15, 1777, "Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union of the United States of America" were agreed to by the State Delegates, subject to the ratification of the several State Legislatures. Eight of the States ratified these articles July 9, 1778; one July 21; one July 24; one November 26; one February 22, 1779; and the last one March 1, 1781.

The seat of government was established, first at Philadelphia, Penn., commencing September 5, 1774; and May 10, 1775; at Baltimore, Md., Dec. 20, 1776; at Philadelphia, Penn., March 4, 1777; at Lancaster, Penn., September 27, 1777; at York, Penn., September 30, 1777; at Philadelphia, Penn., July 2, 1778; at Princeton, N. J., June 30, 1783; at Annapolis, Md., November 26, 1783; at Trenton, N. J., November 1, 1784; and at New-York City, January 11, 1785.

On the 4th of March, 1789, the present Constitution, which had been adopted by a convention and ratified by the requisite number of States, went into operation. The several State Legislatures ratified this instrument at the following dates:

Delaware, December 7, 1787; Pennsylvania, December 12, 1787; New-Jersey, December 13, 1787; Georgia, January 2, 1788; Connecticut, January 9, 1788; Massachusetts, February 6, 1788; Maryland, April 28, 1788; South Carolina, May 23, 1788; New Hampshire, June 21, 1788; Virginia, June 26, 1788; New-York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, November 21, 1789; Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

The privilege of becoming members of the Union by ratifying the Constitution was confined to those States that were parties to the confederation by which the Constitution had been framed. The Constitution was adopted by the Convention, September 17, 1787. It required that nine States should ratify it before its provisions could go into effect. Congress, on the 13th of September, 1788, determined that as a sufficient number of States had ratified it—eleven having done so—it should become operative on the first Wednesday (the 4th) of March, 1789. North-Carolina and Rhode-Island had not yet sanctioned it; but as soon as they acceded to its provisions, they were admitted to its privileges.

Twenty-four States have been admitted into the Union since the confederation of the original thirteen colonies:

CENSUSES OF THE UNITED STATES.

The census is taken in the United States in obedience to the Constitution, which commands that an actual enumeration or census shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as Congress shall by law direct. Under our system of government, the census is of more importance in the United States than in most other countries, because representation in Congress and direct taxes are apportioned according to numbers in the States.

SUMMARY HISTORY OF MAINE.

BY HON. WILLIAM WILLIS.

The first discovery of the coast of Maine was made by the Northmen, as early as the year 990. They made occasional visits to it until the middle of the fourteenth century, but made no attempt to settle upon it. From that time to the second voyage of Cabot, in 1498, we have no evidence that the coast was seen by any European until the French expedition under Verazano, in 1524, of Gomez, the Spaniard, in 1525, and of Rut, under the English, in 1527, which were mere cursory visits without any results. In 1556, André Thevet, a Catholic priest, sailed in a French ship along the entire coast, entered Penobscot Bay, where he spent five days, and had numerous conferences with the natives. This is the last notice we have of Maine to the close of the sixteenth century.

The first attempt to settle upon the territory was made by the French, under du Mont, who, having received a grant from the king of France, planted a large colony on Neutral Island, in the River St. Croix, to which he gave that name in 1604; but the location being unfavorable, it was abandoned the next year. In 1605, the coast in the neighborhood of the River St. George was visited by Capt. Weymouth, and explored to a small extent, which led to the well-appointed expedition to the mouth of the Kennebec River, in 1607, under command of Captain George Popham as president, and Captain Raleigh Gilbert as admiral, set forth by the noble gentlemen, Sir John Popham and Sir Ferdinando Gorges, with a view to colonize this portion of the coast, for which, and the whole country from north latitude 34 to 44, a charter had been obtained from King James, in 1606. But from various unfortunate circumstances the colony became discouraged and returned to England the next year.

In 1613, French Jesuits established a mission on Mount Desert Island, which was driven off by the English the next year. In 1616, Sir F. Gorges, a leading adventurer and promoter of colonization in Maine, sent his agent, Richard Vines, with a small company to Saco, to remain through the winter, explore the country, and test the climate. A company of fishermen was also established at Monhegan Island at this time, under Captain John Smith, who took possession of it in 1614, and thence ranged the whole coast to Cape Cod, and prepared a map upon which he affixed the name of New England.

In 1620, James I. made a division of the grand charter of 1606, and granted to the Plymouth Company, in England, the whole country lying between the 40th and 48th degrees of north latitude, and to the Virginia Company the southern portion of the original patent. This gave a new impulse to commercial operations in America, and numerous vessels were fitted out for the fish and fur trade. In 1622, Gorges and Captain John Mason obtained of the Plymouth Company, a grant of the territory lying between the Merrimac and Kennebec Rivers, and the next year planted a colony at the mouth of the Piscataqua, which was the first permanent occupation of the main-land in Maine. Gorges and Mason divided their possessions, Gorges taking all east of the Piscataqua, Mason all west. In 1624, Gorges established a colony at York. In 1625, Pemaquid was occupied under grants from the Plymouth Company. From 1630 to 1632 settlements were commenced in Saco, Biddeford, Scarborough, Cape Elizabeth, and Portland, all which continued to grow prosperously until the Indian war of 1675, when they were all overthrown, as well as those between the Kennebec and Penobscot Rivers. East of Penobscot River the French had possession, and very little improvement was made there until after the Revolution of 1775, although Sir William Alexander, Earl of Sterling, had a grant of the whole country to Pemaquid, including Nova Scotia. On the division by the Plymouth Company of their patent among the proprietors, the portion lying between Piscataqua and Kennebec Rivers, was awarded to Gorges, in 1635, confirmed by the king in 1639, and he forthwith established a regular government over it, under his deputy, assisted by an assembly of delegates chosen by the people; and by the king's patent of confirmation it received the name which is now extended over the whole territory. His government continued under himself and heirs, with occasional interruption, during the period of the commonwealth in England, and the usurpation of Massachusetts, until 1677, when the heirs, wearied by the conflicts with Massachusetts for jurisdiction, sold their interest to that persistent colony for £1250. Gorges died in 1647.

The Province between the Kennebec and Penobscot Rivers was granted by Charles II. in 1664, to his brother, the Duke of York, who had the year before purchased the territory awarded to the Earl of Sterling in the division of the country, of his heirs, and immediately established a government there whose seat was at the city of Pemaquid, where an expensive and strong fort was built. This country was surrendered to Massachusetts in 1686, who took possession, exercised government over it as far east as Penobscot, which, with all the territory east to the St. Croix and Nova Scotia was confirmed to her by the Provincial charter of 1691. She afterwards relinquished Nova Scotia, but all the remainder was secured to her by the treaty of 1783, which established the independence of the United States, and she retained possession and jurisdiction until the separation of 1820 took place, which constituted Maine a separate and independent member of the confederacy.

SITUATION AND AREA.—The State lies between  $42^{\circ} 57'$  and  $47^{\circ} 30'$  of north latitude, and  $5^{\circ} 45'$  and  $10^{\circ} 10'$  east longitude from Washington. It is the most eastern State of the Union, embraces an area of 32,000 square miles, or 20,000,000 acres, and is larger than all the other New England States. Its greatest length on a diagonal line from the mouth of Piscataqua River to the northern angle is 320 miles; its greatest width from the sea to the Canada line is 160 miles; on a straight line from the mouth of Piscataqua River to Quoddy Head is 250 miles.

The surface of the State is diversified; the central and north-western portions rising in lofty summits; the highest of which is Katahdin, 5300 feet above the level of the sea; Mt. Abraham, in Franklin County, is 3400 feet; Mt. Blue, in the same county, 2800 feet. Mar's Hill, in Washington county, 2000 feet. The Highlands, at the Monument on the Canada line, is 2000 feet above the sea level. On the coast are some prominent eminences which attract the mariner as he approaches the coast, as Mt. Desert, the Camden Hills, on the Penobscot, 1500 feet in height, and Agamenticus, in York, 670 feet. Among these mountains and hills are rich and wide-spread valleys watered by large and never-falling rivers, furnished with numerous and valuable falls, and water-power capable of moving an indefinite amount of machinery, and already largely employed.

CLIMATIC STATISTICS OF MAINE.

By tables kept at the Observatory on Munjoy's Hill, Portland, 160 feet above the level of high-water, for 32 years, 1825 to 1857, the annual average temperature was 43° 23' Far. The highest point attained was 100° 5', the lowest Jan. 24, 1857, 25° below zero. The highest mean temperature in any month was 71°, July, 1825; the lowest, 13° above zero, January, 1844.

The following deductions are made from the Meteorological record kept by Prof. Cleveland, of Bowdoin College, at Brunswick, from 1807 to 1859. Average annual temperature, April 20°, October 24°. Mean temperature, 44° 40' Far. The hottest day falls on July 22, 31 days after summer solstice; the coldest day, Jan. 18, 28 days after winter solstice. Lowest temperature for the 52 years was 30° below zero at Brunswick; the highest 102°.

Average number of rainy days in the year is 64, varying between 39 and 95; average number of snowy days 30, varying between 19 and 50. The greatest number of rainy or snowy days occur with north-east wind, the least with west wind. July is the only month in which no frost occurred.

In Portland, the amount of rain and snow reduced to water, which fell in 1857, was 47.66 inches; 1858, 43.42 inches; 1859, 48.55 inches. Mean barometric pressure at a station 85½ feet above the sea, 29.9 inches.

By tables kept in Salem, Mass., for 43 years, by Dr. Holyoke, the mean annual temperature there was found to be 47° 9'.

Public Officers---Qualifications---How Chosen.

The Governor is chosen annually by a majority of votes; in case of no election by the people, the House of Representatives sends to the Senate the names of two from the four candidates receiving the highest number of votes, and the Senate chooses one of those two Governor. He must be thirty years old, a natural born citizen of the United States, and five years a resident of the State, and continue to reside in it while in office; no person holding an office under the United States can exercise the office of Governor.

In case of vacancy, the President of the Senate succeeds to the office.

The Council consists of seven persons, having the same qualifications as Representatives, elected annually, in joint convention of both branches of the Legislature; it is assembled by the Governor in his discretion, and their resolutions are to be recorded in a register, and signed by those agreeing thereto. The Governor and Council appoint all judicial officers, except Judges of Probate and of Municipal and Police Courts; and Coroners, the Governor nominates, subject to the confirmation of the Council. The Heads of Departments are, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Attorney-general, Land Agent, and Adjutant-general, chosen annually in the same manner as the Councillors. County Treasurers, Registers of Deeds, Registers of Probate, Sheriffs, County Commissioners, and Clerks of Court, are chosen by the voters of the several counties.

The Legislature consists of a Senate and House of Representatives, members chosen annually. Senators, thirty-one in number, must be twenty-five years old, must have been citizens of the United States five years, and inhabitants of the State one year, and during their term and for the three months next preceding their election, must be residents of their district. The districts are based upon population. A majority of ballots is necessary for an election. In case of non-election, or vacancy, choice is made by joint convention of both branches. They must be chosen from the candidates having the highest number of votes; twice as many candidates as there are vacancies in the district are eligible. Representatives, one hundred and fifty-one in number, must have the same qualifications as Senators, save they may be only twenty-one years old, and are elected from districts fixed by law by a plurality of votes.

The Judiciary consists of—1. A Supreme Court of eight judges, appointed by the Governor and Council for a term of seven years; 2. Superior Court of Cumberland county one judge, appointed in the same way and for the same term; 3. Probate Courts in each county, the judge elected by the people of the county for a term of four years; 4. Municipal and Police Courts in the larger cities, with a judge elected by the city for a term of four years; 5. Trial Justices appointed by Governor and Council for seven years, with jurisdiction not exceeding twenty dollars.

Rights and Qualifications of Voters in Maine.

Constitution, Art. II., Sec. 1, provides that every male citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years and upwards, excepting paupers, persons under guardianship, and Indians not taxed, having his residence established in this State for the term of three months next preceding any election, shall be an elector for governor, senators, and representatives, in the town or plantation where his residence is so established. But persons in the military, naval, or marine service of the United States, or of this State, shall not be considered as having obtained such established residence by being stationed in any garrison, barrack, or military place, in any town or plantation; nor shall the residence of a student at any seminary of learning entitle him to the right of suffrage in the town or plantation where such seminary is established.

Revised Statutes of 1871, Chap. 3, Sect. 9, provides,—Every person, who is qualified by the Constitution of this State to vote for governor, senators, and representatives, in the town in which he resides, is entitled to vote in the election of all town officers, and in all the business affairs thereof.

By the opinions of the Justices, 7th Maine Repts., 492-497, persons under the care of the overseers of the poor of a town, who have been disposed of by them for any term of time for their support, are to be considered paupers, though by their labor they defray their own expenses; and such persons, as well as those who have received assistance from towns as paupers, are deprived of the privilege of voting for State officers until the expiration of three months after they shall have ceased to receive support.

A person supporting his family in one town and residing to transact business in another, can vote for State officers only in the town where his family has resided for three months next preceding the election.

History of Parties.

The two great political parties in the United States grew out of the different views entertained by the leading men in regard to the Constitution which was proposed for adoption. The conflict of opinion on that subject was very severe, and a distressing doubt existed as to the adoption of the Constitution, which was submitted to the people by the convention. These parties took the names of Federalists and Anti-federalists. The latter were afterwards known by the names, Republican and Democrat. These two grand divisions maintained their distinct organizations until the close of the war of 1812, dividing upon many questions of internal administration and foreign policy; as well as on men to represent them in the government; as, after Washington, between Adams and Jefferson, Madison, Clinton, etc. But the war of 1812 absorbed the old political issues, many of the leading politicians deeming it of paramount importance to sustain the government in that crisis. Mr. Monroe, a former Republican, was consequently elected with great unanimity in 1816. On his second election in 1820, he received every electoral vote but Gov. Plummer's, in New Hampshire. Thus it will be seen that the old political parties ceased to exist as separate organizations under Mr. Monroe's administration. Timothy Pickering, a member of Congress, and an ultra of the Republican school, declared on the floor of the House, that the government having pursued a policy mainly conforming to the doctrines of his party, he had no desire to oppose the administration of Mr. Monroe. New questions arose as to the tariff, internal improvements, slavery, etc., so entirely different from the old issues, that new combinations were formed, and old thorough-bred Federalists were found associating in close alliance with their former radical opponents over the Democratic side. And Henry Clay, John Holmes, Peleg Sprague, Levi Lincoln, John Q. Adams, now united with Gore and King, and Otis and Pickering, old federal leaders, and formed the great National Republican party in opposition to the election of General Jackson in 1820. This name in turn gave place in the exciting presidential campaign of 1832, to the more popular term of Whig, under whose banner the opponents of Gen. Jackson for his second term rallied in support of Henry Clay; but all in vain, even though they had the aid of Maryland, and the sympathy of Calhoun. But this great party became hopelessly divided on the slavery question in 1843 and subsequent years, and ceased to exist in 1854; a portion joining the American party, or "Know Nothings." Some of the Democrats and others united with refugees from all other national organizations to constitute the great Republican party of the present day.

In Maine, the question of separation from Massachusetts absorbed the former party issues, many of the old Federalists having joined the Republican party in support of a separate government. And it being understood, if not actually pledged, that the offices of the new State should be filled by the best men without regard to their former political opinions, General

King, who had been a leading and most active agent in the cause of separation, and a prominent Democrat, was designated by general consent as chief magistrate, and elected without opposition. But before his term of office expired he was appointed a Commissioner under the Spanish treaty, and his unexpired term was filled by William D. Williamson, President of the Senate.

But at the second election a very exciting controversy arose between two prominent men of the same Democratic party, Mr. Parris and General Wingate, for this chief prize, and their personal friends pursued the game with exceeding bitterness. Mr. Parris won by superior tactics, and having the chief party leaders. The Federalists made no nomination, but continued for several years to throw their votes for their favorite candidate, Judge Whitman.

Gov. Parris's administration was successful and popular; there were no exciting political topics to agitate the public mind, and all opposition to his reelection ceased. He was continued in office until 1826, when he peremptorily declined a further nomination. The following year he was chosen a Senator in Congress.

In the Presidential election of 1856, the Whig, Free Soil, and American parties were largely abandoned, and a new party was formed of those abandoning their old party organizations, together with many from the Democratic party, called the Republican party, in opposition to the Democratic party. This party commenced somewhat earlier in this State.

Hannibal Hamlin resigned Feb. 25, '57, to accept Senatorship to which he had been elected, and Jos. H. Williams, President of Senate, acted for remainder of year.

R U L E S .

1. The President shall take the chair at the time to which the senate stands adjourned; but in case of his absence at such time, the secretary shall preside until a president pro tempore be chosen.

2. At the first session of each day, on the appearance of a quorum, the journal of the preceding day shall be read; and the President shall ascertain whether a quorum is present before such reading.

3. When the President speaks he shall address the senate; when a senator speaks he shall stand in his place and address the President.

4. The President, when he speaks to any member of the senate, and the members when referring to each other in debate, shall use in their addresses the title of senator, and by way of distinction name the county in which he resides.

5. The President shall have the right to name a senator to perform the duties of the chair during his absence; but the substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

6. The President shall rise to put a question, and shall declare all votes; but if any senator doubt the vote, all those voting in the affirmative, when called upon by the President, shall rise and stand until they are counted, and also those in the negative, in like manner, to make the vote certain.

7. The President shall consider a motion to adjourn as always first in order, and it shall be decided without debate.

8. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to reconsider, to lay on the table, to postpone to a day certain, to commit, to amend, or to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged.

9. A motion shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any senator, and shall then be deemed to be in possession of the senate, to be disposed of by the senate; but the mover may withdraw it any time before a decision, or any amendment be made to it.

10. No senator shall address the senate until recognized by the President, nor more than once to the exclusion of any other senator, without leave of the senate, if objection is made, unless he be the mover of the matter under debate, and not then more than three times without leave.

11. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment; nor shall an amendment proposing to ingraft a general provision of law upon a private bill, be in order; nor any amendment beyond the second degree.

12. An amendment proposed may be amended before it is adopted, but not afterwards, unless the vote adopting it be first reconsidered, and no senator shall be competent to move any reconsideration unless he voted with the majority and upon the same or a succeeding day; and a motion to reconsider any vote shall not be laid upon the table unless a time shall be specially assigned for its consideration.

13. A motion to reconsider shall take precedence of all other questions except a motion to adjourn; but if made while another question is pending, it shall not be put until the other question is disposed of, but simply entered.

14. Questions of order shall be decided by the President without debate; but if an appeal is taken, the same may be debated like other questions, and the decision thereon shall be entered upon the journal.

15. A question containing two or more propositions capable of division, shall be divided whenever desired by any member.

16. In filling up blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be put first.

17. Every paper shall be once read at the table, before any senator shall be obliged to vote on it, but when the reading of a paper is called for, that has been before read to the senate, if any senator object, the question shall be determined by the senate.

18. All bills and resolves in the second reading shall be committed to the committee on bills in the second reading, to be by them examined, corrected, and so reported to the senate.

19. Upon the second reading of a bill or resolve, after the same shall be read through, and before the question is put on its passage, it shall be read and considered by paragraphs, at the request of any member of the senate; and no bill or resolve shall have a second reading, unless a time (not less than one hour after the first reading), be assigned therefor.

20. No bill or resolve shall pass to be engrossed without being twice read; and all bills and resolves immediately after the same shall have been engrossed, shall be committed to the committee on engrossed bills, whose duty shall be to examine the same, and to see that the same have been truly engrossed; and before any bill shall pass to be enacted, or any resolve be finally passed, it shall be reported by the committee for the examination of engrossed bills, to be truly and strictly engrossed, and the title thereof be read by the President.

21. No resolve of any kind, or order making any grant of money, lands, or other public property, shall be passed without being read on two several days; the time for the second reading shall be assigned by the senate.

22. After the reading of the journal, the following shall be the order of business:

1st, House papers not acted on; and if accompanied by a bill or resolve, the first reading of such bill or resolve.

2d, Messages and documents from the executive and heads of departments.

3d, The reception and references of petitions and such other papers, except bills and resolves, as require action by a committee.

4th, Reports of committees, and if accompanied by a bill or resolve, the first reading of such bill or resolve. Bills, resolves, etc., offered by senators, and their reference or first reading.

5th, Bills and resolves reported by the committee on bills in the second reading.

6th, Bills on their passage to be enacted, and resolves on their final passage.

It shall be the duty of the secretary to number bills and resolves in the order in which they shall be reported by said committee, and enter them upon the calendar in such order. They shall be taken up for their second reading and passage to be engrossed, or other disposition, in the order in which they stand upon the calendar. When a bill or resolve, after it is put on the calendar, is laid on the table, and no time assigned for its further consideration, it shall go to the foot of the calendar as it then stands. Papers from the house, concerning which there has been a disagreeing vote of the two houses, shall be disposed of before commencing with the calendar. This rule shall not apply to or interfere with motions to reconsider, or special assignments or other privileged questions.

23. When the yeas and nays are taken, the names of the senators shall be called alphabetically.

24. After a question is put to vote, no senator shall speak on it. Every senator who may be present shall vote unless excused by the senate, or excluded by interest.

25. The unfinished business, in which the senate was engaged at the time of the last adjournment, shall have preference in the orders of the day.

26. No engrossed bill or resolve shall be sent to the house without notice thereof being given to the senate by the President.

27. Every member who shall present a petition, shall place his name thereon and a brief statement of its subject.

CITY OF PORTLAND.

Originally a part of ancient Falmouth. First settled by George Cleaves and Richard Tucker in 1632. Ancient Indian name, Machigonne. Settlement entirely destroyed in 1676, during the first Indian war, and resettled 1680 under Pres. Danforth. The town was again destroyed by the French and Indians in 1690. After the conclusion of peace, some of the inhabitants began to return, and, about 1713, the settlement had regained something of its early prosperity, and a gradual and steady progress was made from this time. In 1727, March 7, a church was organized, the first on the east of Saco river, over which Rev. Thomas Smith was then ordained the pastor. In 1733, Robert Bayley was employed as schoolmaster. In 1735, it was made half shire town with York. Early in the war of the Revolution, the town suffered a third time from the ravages of war, being bombarded by the British fleet under Capt. Mowatt, Oct. 18, 1775, and almost completely destroyed. Portland was incorporated as a town July 4, 1786, and adopted a city charter March 26, 1832. Suffered from a terrible fire July 4th and 5th, 1866, in which nearly one third of the city was destroyed. Population—1790, 2246; 1850, 12,815; 1860, 26,341; 1870, 31,413. Valuation, 1860—Polls, 4244; Estates, $17,866,000; 1870—Polls, 7814; Estates, $29,439,257.

In 1658, when Massachusetts assumed and enforced her jurisdiction over the territory, to the western limit of North Yarmouth, in Casco Bay, she gave to it the name of Yorkshire, which extended, by the charter of 1691, over what is now the whole State, and retained until 1760, when the counties of Cumberland and Lincoln were taken from it, and separately incorporated.
