REPORT.

AUGUSTA, November 30, 1900.

To the Honorable Governor and Executive Council:

In compliance with the statute requiring the State assessors to "make a report annually to the Governor and Council of their proceedings, and to include therein a tabular statement of all statistics derived from returns from local assessors, with schedules of all corporations on which State taxes were assessed during the year," we submit the following report:

The principal work of the Board of State Assessors for the present year has been the preparation of the fifth biennial valuation of the State to be the basis for the assessment of State and county taxes for 1901 and 1902. The Board has given especial attention to the valuation of wild lands and has visited the eight counties containing them, holding meetings therein which were attended by the county commissioners and the owners of wild lands. The valuation of these lands, notwithstanding the large amount of timber taken from them the past two years, has been raised from $16,238,828 in 1898 to $19,127,407, an increase of $2,888,597. This increase of value does not come from all the wild lands and is not alike upon all. Lands that are remote from water communications, or that have been stripped of their growths, have not been raised much, if any. The valuation of timber and grass on the public lands has been increased to the amount of $79,482. The total increase of valuation of timber lands is $2,968,061.

The valuations of the cities, towns and plantations made by the Board have been increased to the amount of $4,215,344 above the valuations of 1898. The tabular statements appended, and which constitute a part of this report, contain the returns received by the Board from the local assessors and show an increase made by them from last year of $6,919,570, and from 1898 of $10,111,102. The increase of the present year is $5,078,200 on the real estate and $1,840,770 on the personal property. A large part of the increase in value of real estate comes from new buildings, new mills and additions, and property now taxed that has been exempt. Values of real estate in rural or agricultural towns have not increased.

The Board has examined minutely the valuations of the local assessors and has increased them in many cases by bringing all classes of property to a full market value as required by law, and including in the valuation all exempted property. This increase in value above the State valuation of 1898 is $4,215,344. As the valuations of the local assessors for 1900 are $10,111,102 above their valuations of 1898, the State valuation is not as much above them as it has been in previous valuations. The local assessors have affixed values to property nearer a full market value than heretofore, and thus the valuations, made by the Board, of the cities and towns, and the valuations of the local assessors, are brought nearer together. The total amount of the State valuation as made by the Board is $336,699,649, showing an increase of $7,183,405 over the State valuation of 1898. This increase includes the increased valuations of cities and towns, $4,215,344; of wild lands, $2,888,597; and of timber and grass on public lands, $79,482. It appears from the returns that the amount of exempted property is $1,665,850, a reduction since 1898 of $63,316. The Board adds all exempted property to the valuation of cities and towns and State and county taxes are assessed on this increase.

As the amount of personal property included in the valuation is but 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of the entire property of the State, it is very evident that a large amount of personal property escapes taxation. The personal property that is visible, like live stock, is assessed its proportion of the taxes, but the invisible personal property largely goes free. An inspection of the valuations shows what classes of property escape. Money at interest is taxed to the amount only of \$9,629,330, while live stock is taxed on \$12,347,347. Even this amount of money at interest is not given in and the local assessors are compelled to "doom" many of the tax-payers. Many assessors refrain from resorting to extreme measures and some of them do not even search the records of mortgages.

The chief classes of personal property that escape taxation are promissory notes, bonds and stocks. Electric light companies stock is taxed on $217,775; water companies stock on $526,835; gas companies stock on $316,100; other companies stock on $595,431; while railroad bonds are taxed only on $62,249 and other bonds on $58,220. Yet the bonds issued by the steam railroad companies and the electric railway companies amount to over $40,000,000. Then, in addition, are State, county and municipal bonds, and the bonds of water and electric light companies and other corporations. This is a practical exemption of a very large amount of personal property and other property has to pay more than its proportionate part of the taxes. This unequal taxation causes discontent and complaint.

The local assessors, apparently, do not get full and accurate information as to pulp and paper mills, cotton and woolen mills and other corporations, and in many cases do not assess these properties at full market value. If the annual statements of these corporations made to their stockholders were also furnished to the local assessors they would be able to value the property more accurately. Returns like those required from railroad companies would give the desired information.

While the present laws and conditions remain it is not probable that the local assessors will reach and tax the property that now escapes taxation. That these conditions should be changed so that so large an amount of property should no longer be practically exempt, seems very clear. We repeat what we said last year, that equal taxation can only be accomplished by adequate and just laws and the fearless discharge by the assessors of their duty, and that the State assessors are unable to equalize these disproportionate valuations except partially, and this equalization applies only to the State tax which is only a seventh part of the local tax on the average. The unequal burdens of taxation inhere mainly in the local taxes and every town has the power to some extent to rectify the conditions, and hence its responsibility. The valuations of many small towns have been reduced by the Board, while the cities and large towns, especially those in which are local industries, furnish the increase. The twenty cities of the State show a net gain in property of $2,422,708. Of the sixteen counties, twelve show a total increase of $4,653,254 and four show a decrease of $437,910. Cities, towns and plantations as a whole are valued 7.62 per cent above returns for 1900; wild lands are valued 17.78 per cent above values for 1898, and timber and grass 16.35 per cent. Twenty cities have increased in valuation above 1898, $2,422,708. Thirty-seven towns, above $1,000,000 valuation, have increased $1,443,453. Fifty-three towns, from $500,000 to $1,000,000 valuation, $809,093. The decrease in valuation of the remaining 336 towns and 23 plantations is $459,710. Thus it appears that the State has made a good increase while the small towns have been reduced in valuation nearly $500,000.

We desire to thank the local assessors for their attention to our suggestions and their ready and constant co-operation.

We append schedules of all corporations on which State taxes were assessed during the present year, embracing savings banks, railroad companies, telephone and telegraph companies, loan and building associations and express companies; also the valuations of various classes of property as returned.

These returns show that the State has made a healthy and substantial growth in property and that its great natural resources are being utilized more and more each year. Manufacturing is contributing largely to the prosperity of the State, and the people can rejoice that it is increasing in extent and variety all the time. Prosperity is with them and will abide.
