STATE OF MAINE

BANKING DEPARTMENT,

AUGUSTA, December 1, 1900.

To the Honorable Llewellyn Powers, Governor, and the Executive Council of the State of Maine:

The Bank Examiner has the honor to present herewith the forty-fourth annual report of the general conduct and condition of all State banking institutions under his supervision, for the fiscal year ending December 1, 1900.

The number, classes and assets of these institutions are as follows:

51.....	Savings Banks	$71,076,211 67
17.....	Trust and Banking Companies.....	13,295,402 92
33.....	Loan and Building Associations.....	2,862,178 53
101	Total.....	$87,233,793 12

This is a gain of one in the number of institutions reported, and of $4,934,627.31 in their assets. The number of depositors in savings banks and trust companies, and shareholders in loan and building associations, has increased from 202,552 in 1899 to 213,980 in 1900,—a gain of 11,428 as against a corresponding gain of 9,927 in 1899. Deducting from this total the number of depositors of "Demand Deposits" in trust companies, 6,019, the result shows that 207,961, or nearly one-third of our entire population, are directly interested in the various savings institutions of the State, and are through these agencies accumulating from their present incomes about $5,000,000 annually.

During the period covered by this report the various kinds of State banking institutions have paid to depositors and stockholders, in interest and dividends, $2,617,613.35, as against $2,518,649.72 last year. It thus appears that, while there has been a material increase in the amount of funds, the income therefrom has been proportionally less than in 1899. This reduction in earnings does not result from any lack of good management in the various institutions reported, as they all show a decided improvement in the general condition for the year. It comes, rather, from the existing conditions of the money market and the consequent low rates upon investments, and must continue as long as those conditions exist.

During the year they have increased the amount of their reserve and undivided profits from $4,294,297.75, at the date of the last report, to $4,734,514.16 at the present time,—a gain of $440,216.41. This is largely the result of the wise provision of our statute requiring savings banks and loan and building associations to set aside a certain portion of their income as a reserve against future contingencies. The amount of this reserve, as compared with the total assets, is about the same as that for previous years.

The returns thus show that the favorable conditions last reported have continued through the official year just closed; that these State institutions as a whole have made a decided gain, both in deposits and assets,—greater than the average gain in the past. Entering the new year with the most auspicious surroundings it is believed that they will attain even greater prosperity than they have experienced during the past two years.

From a statement furnished this department by the Comptroller of Currency it appears that there are now eighty-two national banks doing business in the State, with assets amounting to $45,987,388.34, being an increase of $2,579,152.94 in the assets of this class of banks. This makes the total authorized banking capital of the State $133,221,181.46—an increase of $7,513,790.25 during the year, as against $9,422,781.17 in 1899. An equal distribution of this capital would give to each inhabitant of the State, $191.83.

PRIVATE BANKING.

The failure, in 1899, of a firm of private bankers located at Portland, while carrying deposits amounting to over $200,000 for about 400 depositors, led to a somewhat extended discussion of private banking in the report of this department for that year. It is not necessary to repeat the suggestions made in that report; neither have we seen any occasion to change the recommendations made therein.

The statutes of other states attempting in any way to regulate private banking, have been examined and collected in a convenient form to present to the legislature at the coming session, provided such information is desired. In nearly every state having such laws, private bankers have been placed under supervision of the State Banking Department, and many statute provisions regulating their business have been added to the other banking laws. In effect, this means simply that the private banking company shall become a bank, subject to the same laws and regulations as other banks.

As was urged in the former report, the results to be obtained from such legislation will be to some extent experimental, and likely to be, at first, somewhat unsatisfactory. The practical operation of the law suggested by this department in the report referred to, would work no greater hardship upon the private banker than the provisions for supervision now in force in other states having laws regulating this matter.

Examination and supervision of private banking firms and brokers, while it may have been of some benefit to the public, has never been entirely satisfactory where it has been tried. Many objections might be urged to a system of this kind. Unless efficient it might give the banker credit to which he was not entitled, and even lead to the deposit of funds by the public which would not be made if it were not for the reliance placed in such supervision. In this way it might give more credit to the banker than protection to the public. The conditions under which private individuals or firms may conduct their affairs, and the very nature of their business, might make this supervision of far less value than in chartered banks, unless many regulations of law were added that would be fully as onerous as the remedy proposed by the department. For example, it might be suggested that it would be a very simple matter for a private broker to carry a large amount of good securities during the period when he would naturally expect an examination. Then as soon as the examination was made and the statement published, these securities could be sold without any material loss or inconvenience, and the broker's credit established for the fiscal year.

The recommendation made in 1899 is, therefore, renewed, viz: that, instead of placing private bankers under the supervision of this department, it be provided by statute that no one shall receive deposits subject to check; or in the same manner as deposits are received by savings banks; or do a general banking business; without first procuring a charter therefor, either from the State or national government, and thus becoming subject to existing laws.

SAVINGS BANKS.

There are 51 savings banks now doing business in the State. The following table shows their aggregate liabilities and resources on the 27th day of October, 1900, and a comparison with those of the 28th day of October, 1899:

The total assets have increased $3,555,014.62 during the fiscal year. The gain in the number of depositors has been 8,738, as against a gain of 7,875 in 1899; and in deposits, $3,231,052.53, as against $3,156,829.20 last year.

The amount of deposits received by the banks during the year has been $12,675,741.81. Adding to this, $2,133,783.29, the total dividends declared, makes $14,809,525.10, as the total amount credited to deposit account during the year. The amount of withdrawals during the same time has been $11,578,472.57. The increase in deposits, therefore, has been $1,097,269.24 in excess of the amount of dividends credited. This is the excess of the deposits above withdrawals and shows the actual gain in new funds collected by the savings banks during the year.

The average amount now standing to the credit of depositors is $360.87; the average for each inhabitant of the State, based on the new census, is $96.82.

The unusually large gain in the number of depositors is most satisfactory, indicating that these accumulations have come largely from those who can save only in small amounts. At no time during the history of our State have the condition and growth of savings banks been more satisfactory than during the past two years. The years of depression immediately preceding this period taught our people lessons of economy that have led to larger savings from their present increased earnings,—a fact in no way shown so fully as by the deposits in savings institutions generally.

The principal changes for the year are: A loss of $2,186,000 in the holdings of government bonds; and a gain of $481,416.24 in municipal bonds in Maine, $811,766.21 in municipal bonds out of Maine, $318,780 in railroad bonds in Maine, $4,609,978 in railroad bonds out of Maine, and $101,439.62 in corporation stock in Maine.

The most noticeable of these changes is an increase of $5,009,696.62 in the amount of all kinds of railroad securities. Thus the greater portion of the increase in assets for the year, together with the proceeds of the sales of government bonds, have gone to swell this item, already large.

The investments in this class for the year, as shown by the monthly reports of the banks, have been approximately as follows: Steam railroad bonds in Maine, $767,600, street railroad bonds in Maine, $5,000, total in Maine, $772,600; steam railroad bonds out of Maine, $3,866,391.75, street railroad bonds out of Maine, $1,379,700, total out of Maine, $5,246,091.75; total purchases, $6,018,691.75. This amount does not agree with the total increase in amount of railroad securities, as these latter figures are effected by the purchases to replace maturities and sales, and by other changes.

The present holdings of railroad bonds amount to $25,504,437.14 and of railroad stock, to $1,310,518.67, making a total of $26,814,955.81 invested in all kinds of railroad securities combined. This is 37.72 per cent of the entire assets of the savings banks, as against 32.29 per cent in 1899. The following table shows the amounts of the various items in the subdivisions of this class:

Steam railroad bonds in Maine.....	$5,028,728 92
Street railroad bonds in Maine.....	436,680 00	$5,465,408 92

While, as has been frequently said, there are, without doubt, many safe and valuable securities to be found in this class, much care is required in their selection. The present difficulty in obtaining other securities that will yield the income necessary to net even the dividends now paid, has undoubtedly led to the very material increase in this class. Dividends should be reduced, and relief from taxation granted, to such an extent that the banks may be able to continue the diversity of investments, which has been their source of strength in the past, and not feel obliged to further increase their percentage of holdings in this line.

INVESTMENTS.

While the improved business condition of the country during the past few years has made an active demand for capital, it has not absorbed all the ever increasing funds seeking investment. This condition brings each year new cares and responsibilities for the trustees of savings banks. To invest safely and profitably the rapidly increasing accumulation of savings, is at present a more difficult problem than ever before.

In 1896 government bonds sold on a 3.25 per cent basis, while they now net less than 2 per cent. The better class of municipal bonds could at that time be obtained at a rate to pay the investor from 3.50 to 4 per cent, while they are now hard to find at 3 to 3.25 per cent. The percentage of reduction on other lines of investments is even greater. Thus there has been a constant reduction in the income it is possible to obtain from safe investments, while the amount of deposits to be invested has constantly increased. It seems impossible, under the present economical management of the banks, for them to reduce their general expenses. The rate of taxation, too, remains the same as in former years when the income on investments was greater. It is not surprising, therefore, that trustees feel the increased responsibility of their duties. They should not, however, permit these conditions to tempt them to purchase questionable securities, but adhere strictly to the rule of safe investments and pay such dividends as that class of securities yield.

Fully appreciating the fact that it is the duty of the bank examiner to look closely after the interests of the depositors, that they receive all the income possible from their deposits, it would seem advisable to reduce the rate of dividends in all the banks to not exceeding three per cent. This is all that the earnings on present investments warrant, and is all that depositors have any right to expect. This reduction must in any event come in the near future. It is better that it be made before being forced by a weakened condition of the banks, resulting from a gradual reduction in reserve and accumulated profits, and the poorer class of investments that trustees are tempted to purchase. If the reduction could be made at once trustees would feel free to purchase a better class of investments, and the banks would gradually improve in their financial standing.

If the trend of investments for the past two years indicates the future policy of our savings banks, and their funds are to be invested largely in quasi public corporation bonds, the regulation of the issue of stocks and bonds by such corporations is of vital importance to the interests represented by this department.

In 1893, the legislature, by an amendment to the investment law, attempted to place some restriction on this class of investments. It was provided that street railroad bonds shall not be legal for savings banks to purchase unless an amount equal to at least thirty-three and one-third per cent of the mortgage debt had been paid in on the capital stock, in cash, and expended on the road. There is no doubt that even this provision, applying as it does to street railroads alone, has given good results, and been the means of saving the banks from unprofitable investments. Some more radical provision than this is needed, however, to protect savings banks and investors generally against the over-capitalization of corporations. Many bonds, the proceeds of which represent the entire amount paid into the treasury of the corporation, have been purchased by savings banks and private investors who can ill afford to suffer loss thereon. In some instances even a portion of the proceeds of the mortgage itself has gone to promoters. Purchasers of these securities are often misled by statements of capital stock outstanding; they are thus led to believe their bonds have an equity behind them making them perfectly safe, when in fact the proceeds of such bonds is the only real capital of the enterprise. The issue of bonds by industrial corporations, on the other hand, is a comparatively unimportant matter to savings banks, as their investments in this class are limited to a few well-known local corporations.

Quasi public corporations bear a peculiar relation to the public. They perform a public service that might properly be assumed by the State itself. The State is therefore under peculiar obligations to the public to see that the powers delegated are not abused, not only by the service they give or the tariff charges they make, but as well from over-capitalization. Honest combinations of capital for legitimate business purposes can do no harm, while a false capitalization of any corporation, however small, may. This is especially true of corporations having a public service to perform. Their capital when once created becomes a mortgage upon the future business of the community where located, and the public is expected to pay tribute to it so long as the corporation performs the service for which created. Our laws at the present time seem to assist the promoter in his attempt to create something out of nothing. The legislature or court cannot interfere by placing burdens on quasi public corporations and thereby so reduce their revenue that they may not receive a reasonable income on their capital invested. Thus the statute in the first instance permits the issue of watered stock, and then it is urged that the constitution protects the corporation from regulation by the legislature or court because of that stock. The State cannot afford, therefore, to permit a fictitious capitalization of these corporations, because, within the limits of the stock issued, this capital becomes an additional burden on the public and prevents to some extent a control that will protect the public in the service rendered. For these reasons it is believed that legislative regulation prohibiting the issue of stock, by this class of corporations, except for actual value, would not only be a great safeguard to savings banks and other investors, but also of great value to the public generally.

TAXES.

The amount of the savings bank tax for the year is $448,827.93—an increase of $46,089.80 from that paid in 1899. This is in part due to the decrease in the amount of government bonds owned, and in part to the increase in deposits. Unless the rate be reduced, or there be some unforeseen change in condition of affairs in the banks, this amount will show a further material increase the coming year.

The law placing a State tax on savings banks was first enacted in 1872. The rate fixed at that time was one-half of one per cent on the average amount of deposits alone; afterward in 1875 it was increased to one per cent; later in 1883 it was reduced to three-quarters of one per cent, and finally, in 1893, fixed at substantially this last rate with the average of reserve and undivided profits included. The total amount of taxes paid to the State during the time has been $8,080,719.01. Since the law was first enacted nearly every bank examiner has insisted that the amount of this tax is burdensome and altogether out of proportion to that paid on other kinds of personal property.

Notwithstanding I have called attention to this matter several times before, the present conditions are so urgent I feel compelled to briefly refer to it again. I do not insist upon this recommendation because of any desire on my part to obtain a reduction in taxes for fifty-one corporations with millions of capital; neither is it altogether because 186,327 of our people, who can ill afford it, are bearing more than their fair share of the public burdens, but principally because I believe the future welfare of these institutions and the good of the State generally, demand it. The rapid decrease during the past few years in the rate of dividends paid, and the certainty that this condition must continue, lead to the conclusion that some relief is necessary in this respect. If such relief is not granted satisfactory dividends cannot be paid to depositors, who will naturally withdraw a large portion of their deposits, to the great misfortune of the State at large. I am not unmindful of the fact that it is an official duty to look first after the best interests of the whole State in this, as in all other matters affecting State banking institutions. I therefore urge this reduction because fully convinced that it is the only safe policy for the State to pursue.

The depositors will make no personal appeal for relief. They do not even appreciate the fact that, as these institutions are purely mutual, this tax is paid out of their own funds. They look only to the rate of dividends received on their deposits, and, when not satisfactory, withdraw the same. If this tax was assessed directly against these depositors instead of the banks, the burden would be so apparent, and the demand for relief so persistent, that it would be granted at once.

However urgent may be the need of the State for more revenue, it cannot be great enough to justify the taking from this class of our people of more than their just share of the taxes collected. The State certainly does not want to imperil the future of these institutions for the sake of the taxes received, as this is but a small part of the benefits derived from them. Nor do we believe that other property holders wish to protect themselves at the expense of the savings banks.

DIVIDENDS.

The following table gives the rate and amount of dividends paid by savings banks during the official year just closed, and a comparison with those for 1899:

1899.			1900.
Number of banks.	Amount of dividends.	Rate of dividends.	Number of banks.	Amount of dividends.
7	$333,647 51	4 per cent paid by	5	$71,415 72
3	45,621 93	3 $\frac{3}{4}$ per cent paid by	1	1,487 93
29	1,494,167 98	3 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent paid by	26	1,767,038 96
4	121,440 36	3 $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent paid by	3	26,939 98
8	96,666 16	3 per cent paid by	15	261,397 67
-	-	2 per cent paid by	1	5,503 03
51	$2,091,543 94	3.36 average rate, 1900.	51	$2,133,783 29

The average rate of dividends for the year was 3.36, while that for 1899 was 3.48. This average is obtained by dividing the aggregate of the various rates paid by the number of institutions. This method of computing the average rate of dividends has always been used in this State, and is usually adopted in all statistical computations relating to mutual savings banks.

This would give exactly the average income on all deposits for the year if the several banks carried exactly the same amount of deposits and an equal number paid each rate. Ordinarily, even with the great difference in the amount of deposits in the various banks, the average rate thus obtained is approximately correct. This is not true if a few of the institutions, carrying either a greater or a less amount of deposits than the average, pay dividends of a much higher or lower rate than the others. Six banks, with deposits aggregating only $2,008,209.11 out of a total of $67,240,439.07, have paid dividends during the year in excess of three and one-half per cent. It can be seen, therefore, that the average income on all deposits, has been less than the average rate given above. It is impossible to determine with any degree of accuracy the true average because of the continual change in the amount of deposits, and the different regulations of the various banks as to the time when new deposits commence to draw interest. For these reasons the amount of non-dividend bearing deposits in the banks at the time their dividends are declared, varies widely. As near as can be ascertained, the true average income to depositors for the year has been approximately 3.25.

Notwithstanding the material gain in the amount of deposits, the total of the dividends distributed is but $42,239.35 in excess of that for 1899.

This reduction in the amount of dividends paid is no indication of weakness in the condition of these institutions. Their general standing is better to-day than ever before during their existence. The estimated market value of their resources above all liabilities has constantly increased from year to year until it is now $8,916,887.86. While this surplus represents the amount available to pay depositors if the banks were closed at the present time, it is not available to pay dividends. Neither the statute nor the future prosperity of the banks would permit its use for that purpose. The low rate of dividends paid should, therefore, give no concern excepting as it may lead to a dissatisfaction among depositors and to a withdrawal of their funds. It should in no way affect the confidence of the public in the stability and soundness of the banks.

The following is an exhibit of this surplus for each of the past five years, together with other totals necessary to show fully their condition :

TRUST AND BANKING COMPANIES.

There are seventeen trust and banking companies now doing business in the State. In the following table is presented an aggregate statement of their liabilities and resources, October 27, 1900, and a comparison with those of October 28, 1899:

This is an increase of $1,493,150.63 in the total assets; $17,000 in surplus; $99,134.81 in undivided profits, and $1,258,368.46 in all kinds of deposits during the year.

The total number of depositors is 19,589, as against 16,808 in 1899,—a gain of 2,781. The depositors of time deposits and the holders of certificates of deposit now number 13,570, with $5,841,354.62 standing to their credit,—an increase of $1,207,062.75 in this class of deposits during the year, while the gain in commercial or "Demand Deposits" has been only $46,834.13.

The increase in assets has been principally invested in demand and time loans and stocks and bonds, there being an increase of $591,349.30 and $615,392.39 respectively, in these items during the year.

The amount of interest paid on all deposits was $217,708.17, as against $161,948.21 in 1899,—a gain of $55,759.96. The amount of interest paid in the savings departments alone has been $167,880.61, the average rate being approximately 3.50, while that for 1899 was 3.60.

The amount of dividends paid to stockholders has been $101,270. This is an average of 6.32 per cent on all capital stock outstanding. Deducting the municipal taxes, this leaves the net income on the stock but little more than the rate of interest paid to depositors. This difference is but a small compensation to the stockholders for the additional liability they assume and the care and responsibility of managing the banks.

While all stock banks are established for the private gain of their stockholders, they are a necessary and important factor in the successful transaction of business in any community, and the financial prosperity of our State depends largely upon their successful management and stability.

No one now questions the value of trust companies to our State, and especially to the communities in which they are located. Their liberality in the use of their capital for local investment, is a great advantage to all kinds of business enterprises. Their service is so great that the State cannot afford to endanger their future by placing any burdens or restrictions upon them that will impair their usefulness. They are in close competition with the national banks located in the State. Care should be taken, therefore, that we do not embarrass them in this competition and thus give the advantage to national rather than to State institutions.

We should not lose sight, however, of the fact that the public has an interest in their stability and perpetuity which the legislature has the right and duty to protect by all necessary enactments. Experience has shown the value of reasonable laws restricting and regulating all kinds of banks in their business affairs. The national banking laws are the outgrowth of this experience in that system. In this and all other states we find such laws controlling the various classes of State banking institutions. Trust and banking companies are of comparatively recent origin in this State, and as yet there are but few provisions of law regulating their conduct and management, excepting such as may be found in their charters. Their success is at present almost wholly dependent upon their own individual management, and their patrons do not have the protection of law found in other classes of banks. It is claimed, however, that the double liability of the stockholders and the personal pecuniary interest of the management, are sufficient protection. If this were true of this class it would as well apply to all other stock banks. No one would advise repealing the laws controlling and restricting the affairs of banks operating under the national system, or of our savings banks.

The efficient and successful management of trust companies in the past, is undoubtedly the reason why attention has not before been called to the necessity of such legislation in this State for this class of banks as for others. No legislation is needed that will to any material extent interfere with their business as conducted under their present good management. It would be well, however, to enact such reasonable laws as may be needed, before attention is called to their importance by conditions that will entail losses upon their patrons and embarrassment upon this entire class of banks. These recommendations are made as much in the interest of the banks as of the public.

Some of the most important among the regulations that might be suggested are: Provisions for accumulating a reserve; loans to officers of the banks; loans with the stock of the same institution as collateral; the amount that may be loaned to any one individual, firm, or corporation; and the investment of savings deposits. Nearly every one of these provisions are among those regulating the affairs of other banking systems, and would commend themselves to all acquainted with banking business.

Nearly all the trust companies are accumulating a reserve without the provision of law suggested. While the increase in this fund for the present year has been but an average of $1,000 for each institution, yet it has been a decided gain, and even this small sum set apart each year will in time be a great safeguard against losses that are sometimes met even in the best managed institutions.

It is hardly necessary to call attention to the advisability of some law regulating the amount any bank may loan to its own officers. Such a large percentage of the failures of banks, and even the embezzlements therein, has grown out of the abuse of this privilege that the advisability of such restriction cannot now be questioned.

No banking institution should accept its own stock as collateral for a loan. The double liability of the stockholder is always held out to the public as a great protection, but if the bank should own its own stock, this protection to the public would cease. Again, a bank should never take as collateral for a loan any property it could not properly own, as an enforcement of its rights in the property pledged might at any time make it the absolute owner. It is evident that no bank should own its own stock, and for this reason, if for no other, should not hold it as collateral.

No bank should become a mere feeder to the business of any particular individual, firm, or corporation, and should never venture enough of its assets in any one undertaking to involve its own credit with that of the borrower. In doing this its success depends upon the success of the business enterprise. The solvency and permanency of a bank should be far more certain than that of any one private business undertaking, and should therefore never be dependent upon it. Usually funds are placed in a bank by the depositors who do not wish to hazard them by investing in business enterprises, and they have a right to expect the bank will be as conservative as they are themselves.

The contention that this double liability of the stockholders is a sufficient protection to depositors, without restrictions or provisions for their investment as found in savings banks, may be true when the amount of the deposits does not exceed double the amount of capital stock, and the stockholders are all responsible and able to meet assessments thereon. But when the deposits are in excess of that amount it seems reasonable to give the depositors some additional protection. A statute requiring the excess to be invested in the same manner as deposits in savings banks, might be all that is necessary to meet this condition. These companies at the present time are carrying enough savings bank investments to meet nearly, if not quite, such a provision of law. If enacted it would not therefore materially affect them at present, but might be a great safeguard for the future.

The Maine Bankers' Association has taken action favorable to the enactment of a statute to make uniform the laws of the various states relating to negotiable instruments. This proposed amendment is the result of the work of a commission appointed by the governors of various states, to codify and make more uniform the commercial laws of this country. At the present time, and with our present means of communication, all kinds of commercial contracts are made without regard to State lines. A uniformity as to the rights and liabilities of parties under such contracts, would be a great convenience to the banks in handling this paper. As the proposed changes would not in this State materially affect the rights of parties to the contracts, there seems to be no reason why their request should not be granted. It would certainly be a great convenience to the banks, and apparently do no harm to the public generally.

BRANCHES.

The following is a list of the trust and banking companies that maintain branches, and the location of each branch:

Augusta Safe Deposit and Trust Company—Augusta.

Branch at Winthrop.

Eastern Trust and Banking Company—Bangor.

Branch at Machias,

Old Town.

Lewiston Trust and Safe Deposit Company—Lewiston.

Branch at Lisbon Falls.

Waterville Trust Company—Waterville.

Branch at Corinna,

Dexter,

Hartland,

Newport.

This makes eight branches now maintained by the trust companies in this State. All trust companies were created by special charters from the legislature. A part of these charters give, to the individual companies created, authority to maintain branches at their discretion. Others give no such authority, and the companies would not be authorized to establish branches without further legislation. At the last two sessions of the legislature authority has only been given for establishing branches at places especially designated.

Following the statements of the parent institutions as of October 27, found on pages 375 to 397 inclusive, are given statements of the various branches so far as their business could be separated and ascertained. These statements will to some extent show the nature and amount of the business done by these agencies.

It is now generally accepted that the policy of allowing banks to maintain branches is, under certain conditions, a wise one. This right should not be granted, however, to institutions to exercise in their own discretion. In ordinary business affairs competition is usually beneficial to the public. In banking this is true only within certain limits. Safety, security and confidence, are of far more importance than cheapness when we are considering banking business. The State should never authorize this competition to such an extent as to embarrass existing institutions by establishing new ones.

The expense of establishing and conducting a branch where only a receiving and paying agent is required, and the funds are transmitted to the home institution to be employed and recorded, is much less than in a bank organized in the ordinary way. No additional capital is required for the branch, and there is no additional expense in the way of taxes. For these reasons the chartered bank is placed at a great disadvantage in the competition for business that naturally follows.

There are trust companies in this State that have authority to establish branches wherever they please, in such numbers as the managers of the bank may deem expedient, and that, too, without any increase in capital stock. It has been the generally accepted policy of the legislature to refuse a charter to any trust company with less than fifty thousand dollars capital, to be actually paid in. Yet, so far as the necessary legal conditions go, it has in some instances granted the power to one trust company with fifty thousand dollars capital to maintain a branch in every town in the State if it should so elect. It is unfortunate that charters have been granted having such wide latitude.

Some legislation is recommended revoking this privilege where it has not already been exercised, and in the future allowing branches to be established only in those places especially named in the charters of the parent institutions, or under authority from the banking department. This would in some instances save existing institutions from serious competition, and operate for the best interests of the public.

As before stated, the security to the depositor in a trust company depends in some measure upon the double liability of the stockholder. It might be well, therefore, if branches are to be established, to require the parent institution to increase its capital stock in proportion to the business anticipated at the new location, and thus give the public the benefit of the same protection it would have if a new bank was established instead of the branch.

LOAN AND BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

There are thirty-three loan and building associations doing business in the State at the present time, one having been added to the number since the date of the last report.

The Guilford Loan and Building Association of Guilford was organized May 22, and commenced to transact business June 15, 1900.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

In the following table is presented an aggregate statement of the liabilities and resources of the loan and building associations of the State for October 27, 1900, and a comparison with those of October 28, 1899:

1899.	LIABILITIES.	1900.

.0684	Average rate of dividend paid	.0653
$176,384 57	Amount of dividends paid	$164,851 89

This is a decrease of $113,537.94 in the total assets, $78,626.74 in the accumulated capital, and 849 in the number of shares outstanding, as against a decrease of $34,282.30 in assets, $41,463.63 in accumulated capital, and 390½ in the number of shares, in 1899.

The satisfactory increase in the guaranty fund noted in the last report, has been continued by a further addition of $7,002.55 to that item during the present year. The amount of undivided profits has been diminished by the use of $10,121.41 of those accumulations for the payment of dividends declared. The highest rate paid by any one association was 10.50 per cent; the lowest, 4.75; and the average, 6.53.

This average rate is very nearly one-third of one per cent less than in 1899. The reduction would have been still greater if the associations had not drawn upon their accumulated profits, as noted above. The present average rate is much in excess of that paid by any other class of institutions established for the purpose of accumulating the savings of our people, and, when the present rate of interest on all kinds of investments is taken into consideration, is much above the rate stockholders have any right to expect.

Following the recommendations of this department for 1899, there has been a reduction in the amount of real estate by foreclosure. The provision of law requiring the associations to sell real estate "within five years from the acquisition of title thereto," is a wise one and should be strictly observed. There is every reason to expect that this item of undesirable assets will continue to diminish now that the associations more fully appreciate its importance. As was suggested in the report of this department for 1899, the percentage of this item to other assets is less in this State than in others.

The mortgage loans are $127,859.61 less than at the date of last year's report, with 120 fewer loans outstanding. The gain in "Share and Other Loans" is largely due to a change in the classification of resources by this department, by now including in the above statement "Other Loans" with "Loans on Shares." The average of all outstanding loans is $720.11. The highest rate of interest charged by any one association on loans, with premium added, is 8.40 per cent, and the lowest, 6 per cent; while the average for all of the associations is 7.17 per cent.

The statutes regulating the business of loan and building associations, provide that a borrowing member "shall pay monthly interest on his loan at the rate of six per cent per annum," and in addition thereto such premium as may be charged by the association, which shall in no case exceed forty cents per share. The law also says that the "premium for loans shall consist of a percentage charged on the amount lent in addition to interest, and shall be deemed to be a consideration paid by the borrower for the present use and possession of the future or ultimate value of his shares." The cost to the borrower, is therefore, six per cent per annum, payable monthly, with such premium added as the various associations may elect to charge, not in excess of the amount authorized by law. In ascertaining the rates of interest charged by the associations, as stated above, we have taken the rate of interest provided by statute and added thereto the average premiums that the associations report to have charged during the year.

In 1896, this department, under the title of "Borrowers," recommended that the statute be amended, and the associations permitted, at their option, to make loans at a rate of interest less than six per cent per annum, giving the reasons why such an amendment would be beneficial. The results obtained since that time show conclusively that this change is essential to the future prosperity of loan and building associations. Again in the report for 1899 attention was called to the effect of the present policy, and it is not now necessary to repeat in detail the statements made at that time. These associations should not expect to loan their funds at rates so much in excess of those charged elsewhere. The law should at least permit them to offer loans at rates that will enable them to successfully compete with other capital seeking investment. Until this is done the enforced retirement of their accumulated capital, to dispose of their idle funds, will gradually reduce their assets, materially impair their usefulness and endanger their future.

The fundamental principle upon which loan and building associations were created, was to furnish money at reasonable rates and on easy terms of payment to borrowers, to enable them to build and own their homes. The rates charged should only be such as to attract sufficient capital to meet this demand for loans. The officers should pride themselves on the low rates of interest charged borrowers, rather than upon the high rate of dividends paid. The present dividends to shareholders are much larger than it seems necessary to pay, to attract the amount of money needed for doing their business. When the associations accumulate funds which they are unable to loan, they ordinarily dispose of them by the enforced retirement of shares, thus reducing the present assets of the institutions and taking away the very element necessary for their future growth and prosperity. No class of banking institutions in this country is founded upon principles which make them more beneficial to the communities in which they are located, or to the public at large. The system and the statute laws regulating their affairs are such as to give unusual security to the investor. When their rates of interest to borrowers are reduced to such an extent that they are able to invest all their funds, they can with safety reduce their dividends to meet this decrease in earnings. If this is done their assets will again begin to increase as is natural under ordinary conditions.

The practice of paying premiums on loans, originated when there was sharp competition among the members wishing to borrow the funds as fast as accumulated. There seems to be no occasion at the present time for continuing this fiction. The amount charged is simply an addition to the rate of interest the borrower pays on the loan. On the recommendation of this department, the amount of premium which associations are allowed to charge was limited by law to forty cents per share per month, equal to 2.4 per cent annually in interest charges. The law now provides that associations may make their loans upon a general interest basis, without charging premiums. We are pleased to note that five of the associations have already discontinued this charge, and that nearly all have reduced it much below the maximum permitted by law. The business should be transacted in such a way that borrowers will know and appreciate the rate of interest they are paying. We would therefore recommend that loan and building associations not only be authorized to make loans at any rate of interest that their individual managements may deem advantageous, but that premium charges shall be abolished, and loans made upon a level interest rate, as in other institutions investing money.

REPORTS OF RECEIVERS.

The following synopsis of the reports of receivers gives briefly the condition of affairs in each banking association now in process of liquidation in this State:

RICHMOND SAVINGS BANK.

This bank was closed by order of court, August 11, 1893, and M. P. Milliken was appointed receiver to settle its affairs. August 28, 1900, the receiver settled his final account with the court, a summary of which is as follows:

The final dividend of ten per cent, paid since the last report of this department, makes eighty-eight per cent in all paid to depositors in this bank. This is in addition to the necessary expense incidental to settling the affairs of an institution of this kind by a receiver. The total amount of deposits at the time the bank was closed, was $85,666.99, upon which has been paid, as appears by the statement, $75,373.45 in dividends,—being a loss of $10,293.54, or twelve per cent, to depositors.

The balance of dividends due depositors who cannot be found, amounting to $187.33, has been paid into the State treasury, together with a statement giving the names of such depositors and the amount due each, as provided in chapter 50, section 122, Laws 1899. This amount will be paid to the persons entitled thereto when so made to appear upon proper proceedings in court.

The depositors in this bank were scaled twenty per cent by order of court, September 21, 1892. At that date the deposits, amounting to $141,479.12, were reduced to $113,183.30,—a loss of $28,295.82 to depositors. The total loss on the reduction of deposits and the final settlement by the receiver, has been $38,589.36.

It appears that no dividend has been paid to creditors during the year. The receiver, however, reports that he has very nearly enough cash on hand to pay a third dividend of twenty-five per cent. It is expected that this association will ultimately pay its creditors in full and have a balance left to be distributed among its stockholders.

NORTHERN BANKING COMPANY.

Henry B. Cleaves, receiver of the Northern Banking Company, reports :

"On the thirty-first day of May last the supreme judicial court entered a decree allowing the receiver's final account showing a balance in his hands of $15,232.37, which sum was ordered to be distributed among the creditors; and the same has been paid."

"After the payment of the foregoing sum to the creditors, the court fixed the liability of the share-holders in the corporation at $48.23 per share, and authorized the receiver to distribute among the creditors all sums voluntarily paid to him by such share-holders."

"A large proportion of the share-holders have already paid to the receiver the amount of their several assessments, and there has been paid by the receiver to the creditors of the Northern Banking Company sixty-four per cent of their respective claims against the corporation."

OXFORD COUNTY LOAN ASSOCIATION.

The receiver reports that he has dropped from his list of assets the "Cash advanced to pay taxes" for the reason that the real estate as a whole will not sell for more than it is listed without this item. All matters are being pressed to a settlement as fast as can be done without sacrifice. Most of the outstanding loans are either in process of liquidation or of foreclosure. It is expected that a second dividend will be paid in January, 1901.

GRANITE STATE PROVIDENT ASSOCIATION.

The receiver of this association for the State of Maine reports that during the past year he has made considerable progress in converting the real estate into cash.

The special master reports that the mortgage claims have been practically all reduced to their lowest terms, and is about to make his report to the court.

David A. Taggart, the general assignee of the association, of Manchester, N. H., on September 6, 1900, petitioned the honorable supreme court of the state of New Hampshire for a decree ordering all ancillary receivers in the different states to remit to said general assignee the net cash assets in their respective hands for general distribution by him among all the shareholders and creditors of the association, with other requests for orders by the court to give effect to such decree.

The matter is pending before that court and its decision is awaited with reference to its possible bearing upon the final dividend to be received by the share-holders in the State of Maine.

FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

A license was granted, under the provisions of chapter 131, Public Laws of 1891, to the following corporations, to sell or negotiate their obligations in this State during the year ending December 1, 1900, viz :

Iowa Loan and Trust Company of Des Moines, Iowa.

Middlesex Banking Company of Middletown, Connecticut.

Nebraska Loan and Trust Company of Hastings, Nebraska.

The statement received from each of these companies was published in some local newspaper at the time the license was granted, and may also be found in this report.

FOREIGN BANKS.

In 1899 a law was enacted requiring every banking association or corporation, not incorporated under the laws of this State or of the United States, and maintaining a branch or agency in this State for the transaction of a banking business, to pay a tax of one-fourth of one per cent per annum on the amount of business done by such branch. One-half of said tax to be paid on the business done for the six months ending the last Saturday of April, and the other half for the six months ending the last Saturday of October. The basis upon which the tax is fixed is to be ascertained from sworn reports made by the bank officials.

The only reports received, and, so far as known, the only institution that is subject to taxation under this provision, is the bank of Nova Scotia upon a branch maintained at Calais. The law did not take effect until January 1, 1900; this bank was liable, therefore, to a tax on this branch for only four months on the last Saturday of April. The tax for that period amounted to $253.16; the amount for the six months ending the last Saturday in October was $384.64, making a total of $637.80 for the ten months covered by this report. The amount for a full year, under present rate of taxation, will be approximately $800.

All national and state banks are required by law to pay a tax upon their capital stock or deposits. This tax is in some instances so burdensome, and embarrasses the banks to such an extent, that the legislature is being urged to grant relief. A foreign bank coming into our State, accumulating our capital and sending the material portion away for investment, should have no greater privileges than local institutions.

Our national and state banks, doing an amount of business equal to that of the above branch, are paying from $1,500 to $2,000 annually in taxes, either to the State or to the municipalities where the stock is owned.

A statement of this branch of the bank of Nova Scotia is added, showing its balance at the end of the last tax period, and to some extent the amount of its business in our State:

CALAIS BRANCH OF BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

In making this report relative to the various banking institutions under the charge of this department, attention has been called to the following amendments and additions to the present laws that seem to be needed in regulating their affairs:

1. An act relating to private banking.
2. An act regulating the issue of stock by quasi public corporations.
3. A reduction in the rate of tax on savings bank deposits.
4. A provision requiring trust companies to accumulate a reserve.
5. A law regulating loans by trust companies to the officers thereof.

6. An act forbidding trust companies loaning on their own capital stock as collateral.
7. A provision regulating the amount that trust companies may loan to any one individual, firm, or corporation.
8. A law regulating the investment of savings deposits of trust companies.
9. An act regulating the establishment of branches of trust companies.
10. An amendment permitting loan and building associations to make loans at a rate of interest less than six per cent per annum.

CONCLUSION.

In the following pages of this report will be found :

1. Detailed statements of the returns and examinations of all the institutions under the supervision of this department.
2. Statistical tables compiled therefrom.
3. A list of all depositors in savings banks who have not made a deposit nor withdrawn any part thereof for a period of more than twenty years.
4. The statements by foreign corporations having a license to do business in the State.
5. An appendix containing a synopsis of the laws relating to investments by savings banks.

Respectfully submitted,
