1907—1908.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

AUGUSTA, MAINE, DECEMBER 1, 1908.

To the Governor and Council of the State of Maine:

In compliance with public statutes, I herewith submit my report of the amount and kind of official business done by this department and by the several county attorneys, as provided by Revised Statutes, Chapter 79, Section 64, and Chapter 81, Section 19.

HOMICIDES.

Cases of alleged murder and manslaughter have been disposed of as follows:

ANDROSCOGGIN COUNTY.

STATE vs. GEORGE alias NICHOLAS MONE AND PASKAL LIGORASI.

Sometime in the early part of July, 1908, a relative by marriage of one Jim Scott, a Syrian merchant or peddler, living more or less in Androscoggin County, came to the county attorney at Lewiston and told the county attorney that from stories which had reached his ears, he believed Jim Scott had been killed, at some country place in the section of the state not far from Lewiston,—the body having been left under the floor of some outbuilding. He told the county attorney persistently that he believed George Mone, an Albanian and one of the respondents, above named, had some connection with the affair.

The county attorney had investigation made and Mone interviewed through an interpreter. At the time no satisfactory information was obtained, and, the body of Scott not having been discovered, it was thought best to await further developments. A few weeks later, on the thirty-first of July, at the Whittemore farm, so called, in East Livermore, in the course of making some repairs and taking up the floor in a little out-building not far from the house and practically adjacent to the stable buildings, but known as a sheep shed, a body of a man was discovered. The body was in a very badly decomposed state and practically beyond recognition so far as the features were concerned, almost no flesh remained upon the bones and what little there was, was mostly about the feet. The hands appeared to have been bound very tightly behind the back, and a rope was found about the neck. Upon further investigation, witnesses were found who said the clothes and overshoes found upon the body were similar to those known to have been worn by Scott. Two teeth were missing from the jaw in the body found and the fact that Scott had suffered a loss of two teeth from the same portion of his jaw was known by witnesses and discovered by the government. Scott had been more or less about the Whittemore Farm,—had purchased a large quantity of apples raised in the orchard upon the farm,—had stored them in the cellar of the farm house and, so far as could be discovered by the state, disappeared sometime at or near the middle of November, 1907, leaving the apples, stored in the cellar of the farm house, and some other personal effects at the village of Chisholm undisposed of. The respondent, Mone, was arrested on August 3rd, 1908, upon the charge of murder, was brought before Judge R. C. Boothbay of the East Livermore Municipal Court and held without bail for the September term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court of Androscoggin County. A most thorough investigation proceeded and at the September term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court, an indictment was found against the respondent, Mone, and also against Paskal Ligorasi charging them with the commission of the crime. Ligorasi in the meantime had gone out of the state but was finally located in Massachusetts and brought to Maine for trial. The trial of the respondents opened on November 10th, and closed on November 14th, 1908. The state offered certain circumstantial evidence against Mone such as that Mone had told conflicting stories as to the whereabouts of Scott, following the time of the tragedy, which the state alleged probably took place November 15th, 1907, and that Mone immediately after the disappearance of Scott, near the middle of the month, gave away or sold at a small price many of the personal effects of Scott, also some damaging admissions claimed to have been made by Mone showing that the two respondents together committed the crime by strangling Scott, tying his hands behind him and throwing his body into the place where found. As against Ligorasi the state introduced testimony of damaging admissions on his part showing his guilty connection with the affair. A watch belonging to Scott and some of his razors were traced to the possession of Ligorasi. At the trial the respondents both testified. Mone claimed, in substance, that one day while he, Ligorasi and Scott were at the Whittemore farm, although later in the year than the state placed the tragedy, and when they had been drinking more or less, Ligorasi struck Scott over the head with a bottle, practically killing him instantly and that they later concealed the body as and where found. Ligorasi in testifying admitted that he was present at the Whittemore farm at the time of the tragedy but claimed that he knew nothing of the matter. He said that shortly after their arrival at the Whittemore farm, being much intoxicated, he went to sleep, that Mone and Scott left him, that he knew nothing more until later in the day, when he was aroused by Mone to get up, get into the team with him and drive back some few miles to the section where they both lived. He claimed, also, that the watch and razors of Scott which he had were given to him by Mone. In brief, each one of the two respondents practically charged the other with the crime. The state took the ground that the stories of both respondents were false and that both were guilty. The jury after being out some few hours finally returned a verdict of guilty against each one of the respondents on the evening of November 14th, 1908. Within a day or two after the verdict, Ligorasi is reported to have admitted to one of the interpreters who served at the trial, that he was guilty, stating that both he and Mone actively took part in the strangulation of Scott and the hiding of the body. On November 18th, 1908, Ligorasi was sentenced to the state prison for the term of his natural life and was committed the next day, November 19th, 1908.

Counsel for respondent, Mone, in behalf of his client carried the case forward to the December Law term of the Supreme Judicial Court, upon certain exceptions to the rulings of the Judge at the trial and a claimed slight irregularity during the conduct of the trial. The respondent, Mone, was remanded awaiting the decision of the Law court accordingly.

The case for the state was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

MEMORANDUM: Between the date of this report and sending proof to the printer, a rescript was received from the law court overruling the exceptions and on the 25th day of January, 1909, Mone was sentenced to imprisonment in the State prison for the term of his natural life.

STATE vs. GEORGE W. PERKINS AND JOHN F. PERKINS.

On August 3rd, 1908, at Poland, Charles Strout, citizen of the town, met his death during the evening. Investigation was made by the state and George W. Perkins and his son, John F. Perkins were arrested, on August 4th, 1908, under a complaint charging the respondents with murder. Hearing was held at Mechanic Falls, August 4th, 1908, before Frank A. Millett, Trial Justice. At the hearing the state claimed that the respondents, George W. Perkins and his son, John F. Perkins, were neighbors of Strout,—that on the evening in question they were at their home when Strout was passing by and that Strout was shot, without justifiable cause, by one of the respondents and under such circumstances as to make them both guilty. The magistrate found probable cause and the respondents were held without bail to the September term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court in Androscoggin County. At said September term, the respondents were indicted for murder and plead not guilty. At said September term it was expected that the cause would be tried but as the time for trial approached, the respondents asked for a continuance of the case owing to illness of one of their witnesses claimed to be important. The Justice presiding granted the continuance and the case thus stands continued until the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court in Androscoggin County.

The evidence had been collected and full preparations made for trial at said September term by the county attorney and myself.

AROOSTOOK COUNTY.

STATE vs. FRED MICHAUD.

On March 1, 1907, and for some time prior thereto, Thomas Evans and Fred Michaud were living as near neighbors in Caswell Plantation, Aroostook County.

On March 1, 1907, Evans, while in the dooryard of the Michaud place, was shot in the upper part of his legs and in his abdomen, with a gun loaded with bird shot. He was at once removed to the hospital at St. Basil, New Brunswick, and died there a few days thereafter.

It appeared that the gun was discharged in the hands of Fred Michaud and proceedings were instituted against him. He was arrested on March 2, 1907, upon complaint charging him with the murder of Thomas Evans, and upon hearing before Charles A. Perry, Trial Justice, at Limestone, on March 4, 1907, Michaud was held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury at the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court.

Upon careful investigation by the State it appeared that Evans was a large, powerful man while Michaud was small and of slight build; that the two men had quarreled on previous occasions, and that Michaud was probably afraid of Evans as it was claimed that Evans had badly whipped Michaud on two previous occasions, one of which was said to have been in Michaud's own house; and that on the day of the shooting Evans had returned to Caswell Plantation from a trip to Grand Falls, New Brunswick, and was more or less under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Further evidence tended to disclose that Evans, while passing along the highway, began some abusive talk directed toward Michaud; that he finally took off his cap and coat and advanced upon Michaud's premises expressing his intention of badly whipping Michaud again; that Michaud, then, in front of his own house, went into the house and returned with the gun loaded with bird shot; that upon some further words between the two men, Evans continued to approach and, although warned by Michaud to stop or he would shoot, continued to advance upon Michaud, and the latter finally fired.

The case was as thoroughly and carefully investigated as possible by the officers and the evidence obtained thereby laid before the Grand Jury, at the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court, 1907. The grand Jury failed to return any indictment against Michaud and he was finally discharged from custody.

STATE vs. JOHN E. ROBERTS AND ANNIE DICKINSON.

On October 17th, 1906, in the town of Smyrna in Aroostook County, and about one mile east of Smyrna Mills, J. Edgar Dickinson, a farmer, was shot, and from the nature of the wound inflicted, death probably must have been practically instantaneous. Investigation was at once made by the proper officials. It appeared that at about half past four o'clock in the morning of said October 17th, Dickinson arose and went into the kitchen to start the fire in the cookstove. Mr. Dickinson's family at that time consisted of his wife, Annie Dickinson, four children, in ages from seventeen to three years old, and a hired man. Dickinson, his wife and one small child were sleeping down stairs, while the other children and the hired man slept up stairs. A neighbor who was awake at this time in the morning, heard a report like that of a rifle, and the noise appeared to come from the direction of the Dickinson house. No person in the Dickinson house would acknowledge hearing any shots or other serious disturbances. About six o'clock, Mrs. Dickinson said she awoke and called to her oldest son, Pearl, who slept up stairs. Pearl arose, dressed, came down stairs and found his father lying on his back, on the kitchen floor, dead. The lamp was found burning on the kitchen table. Pearl called the hired man, whose name was Lothrop Kinney and then aroused the neighbors. An examination of the body of Mr. Dickinson revealed the fact that a bullet had entered his head on the left side, on practically a line with and just back of the left ear, and fragments of the bullet with the metal jacket of the same were found lodged between the skull and scalp, on the right side of the head, and about one and one-half inches higher up than the opening which the bullet made on the left side in entering the head. A hole was discovered in a pane of glass in the kitchen window, apparently made by the bullet. The ground outside of this window rose gradually, and this fact, taken into consideration with the distance of the hole in the window from the floor of the room, and Mr. Dickinson's own height, together with the apparent general direction of the bullet, indicated that the person firing the shot must have stood or knelt about eight to twenty feet from the window when the shot was fired. It appeared that a Mexican by the name of John E. Roberts, or Juan Robens, had worked at various times for Mr. Dickinson on his farm and there was rumor of attention shown by Roberts to Mrs. Dickinson. Roberts had been working for Dickinson a week prior to the shooting and was supposed at the time of the shooting to be in the woods hunting, within a few miles of the Dickinson house. An officer was sent for Roberts and he was arrested on October 18th, 1906 at Corliss' Camp about fifteen miles back to Smyrna. He was brought to Smyrna village, and at a hearing, on complaint and warrant before Trial Justice A. P. Daggett, of Smyrna, on the charge of murder, was held without bail for the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court in Aroostook County. Roberts had in his possession when arrested a 32-40 Winchester rifle and cartridges to fit the same. Although there are several different kinds of cartridges which can be used in this rifle each separate make has some distinguishing milling or mark placed upon the bullet, (in the event of its being a metal jacketed bullet) by the manufacturer which fixes with certainty the exact make of the cartridge used with the particular bullet in question. The jacket of the bullet taken from Mr. Dickinson's head was sufficiently intact to establish with certainty that it was made by the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, and was what is known as a soft nosed metal jacketed bullet used in 32-40 cartridges loaded with smokeless powder. In Roberts' possession were several cartridges loaded with the same kind of bullet which was taken from Dickinson's head. The day of the shooting was Thursday. Roberts claimed that he went into the woods on the Sunday previous, that he came out of woods, went to Island Falls on Monday, returned to the woods Monday night, and had not been out of the woods again until arrested, and brought out on Friday, October 18, 1906. A number of witnesses testified that Roberts was at Island Falls both on Monday and also on Wednesday, the day before the shooting, and was seen on the road going toward the Dickinson house about sundown on the Wednesday evening, the night before the shooting. At the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court, 1907, at Houlton, John E. Roberts and Annie Dickinson were both indicted for the murder of J. Edgar Dickinson and they pleaded not guilty. Trial began on April 12, 1907, and finished on April 18, 1907. During the trial the state entered a nol pros against Annie Dickinson. Some seventy-five to one hundred witnesses were examined during the trial, and the jury, after remaining out about forty-eight hours considering the case against Roberts failed to agree and were thereupon discharged, while Roberts was remanded. At the September term following, of the Supreme Judicial Court, Roberts was again put upon trial, which began September 12, 1907 and lasted until September 18, 1907. Again a very large number of witnesses were examined and some new evidence introduced by the state. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of murder. Counsel for the respondent filed a motion for a new trial which was denied by the court and an appeal taken to the Law Court. At the Law Court the appeal was not prosecuted and the case was dismissed. At the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court, 1908, Roberts was sentenced to imprisonment in the state prison for the term of his natural life, and was committed April 30, 1908.

The case for the state at both the trials was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

STATE vs. GUY TARDIS.

On Tuesday, September 17, 1907, at Limestone, Aroostook County, Guy Tardis, seventeen years old shot and killed two boys, Oscar Downing and Stephen Downing, brothers, both of Limestone. The shooting was done with a Winchester rifle and at close range.

Upon investigation the State was informed that about one o'clock in the afternoon of the 17th day of September, Guy Tardis with two other boys, Fred Tardis his cousin and a Fred Hitchcock, started out for a short hunting trip, that about three o'clock in the afternoon they met two other boys, Oscar and Stephen Downing, with whom they were well acquainted; that the five boys hunted together until Fred Hitchcock went home leaving the others to continue; that the ages of the other boys in the party besides Guy were as follows: Fred Tardis fifteen years old, Oscar Downing seventeen years old and Stephen Downing fourteen years old; that in a short time after young Hitchcock had left, the two Tardis boys wished to go home while the Downing boys did not want them to do so, and that some words passed about the matter; that the Tardis boys however insisted upon going home and left; that going out of the woods, not in a direct route, before they reached the settlement, the Tardis boys met the Downing boys again near a log fence; that Guy Tardis climbed over the fence and walked a few feet from it waiting for his cousin Fred to follow; that Fred Tardis also got over the fence and as he did so the two Downing boys followed; that, while the four boys had rifles that afternoon, the Downing boys had placed their rifles on the ground on the opposite side of the fence from Guy Tardis; that one of the Downing boys made some talk of settling matters then and there; that Stephen Downing seized Fred Tardis and at the same time urged his brother Oscar to settle matters with Guy; that Guy remained facing the others with his rifle in his hands; that Fred Tardis commenced to cry, and as Oscar Downing proceeded over the fence hurriedly, apparently to attack Guy Tardis, the latter first shot Oscar Downing and then instantly turned and shot Stephen Downing who was still holding Fred Tardis; that Guy then turned, fled across the fields towards home discharging his rifle in the air, acting in a somewhat hysterical manner and finally throwing himself on the ground in a frenzied or semi-conscious condition; that he did not appear rational until about nine o'clock in the evening, claiming in substance that he did not remember what had happened.

Guy Tardis was arrested on the evening of September 17, 1907 on complaint and warrant charging him with the murder of Oscar Downing. At a hearing held the next day, September 18th, before Trial Justice C. A. Perry of Limestone, Guy Tardis was held to await the action of the Grand Jury of the Supreme Judicial Court, then in session at Houlton.

Upon matters being laid before the Grand Jury two indictments for manslaughter were returned against Guy Tardis, one in the case of Oscar Downing and the other in the case of Stephen Downing. On September 24, notice was filed in Court by the respondent's counsel that a plea of insanity would be entered. Upon the same day the respondent was committed by order of the Court to the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital for observation.

His family history, as the State was informed, so far as mentality was concerned was rather bad. He had a half sister who was an idiot, and two of his near relatives had been insane, one having died in an insane hospital. At the April term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court, the expert having had Guy Tardis under observation, reported, in substance, that while he felt Guy may have been legally sane at the time of the shooting he was of a low order of mentality, and that while he might perhaps know the difference between right and wrong, yet his responsibility seemed to be not as great as of a person of a higher order of mentality.

The respondent finally pleaded guilty to both indictments, and on one indictment was sentenced to seven years in State Prison, and the other indictment was ordered placed on file during the respondent's good behavior. Sentence was passed on April 16, 1908, and the respondent was committed to the State Prison on that day.

The evidence had been collected and full preparations for trial made by the county attorney and myself.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

STATE vs. ISAAC ROMA.

The respondent, Isaac Roma, of French antecedents but recently arrived in Portland, from Chestercook, N. S., entered the employ of the Portland Company at its works in Portland, and was assigned as helper to Patrick T. Griffin, a workman in the tank shop. The men were engaged in the duties incident to their labors on the third day of January 1907, and so far as could be learned their relations were amicable. On the day in question they were standing, resting, a few feet apart when Griffin was seen to reach out with a riveting hammer and touch Roma on the shoulder, and the latter without word or warning swung an iron bar weighing about fifteen pounds and used in riveting work, striking Griffin below the ribs. The latter was taken to his home where he died the same day. Examination revealed no external bruise or discoloration, an autopsy however disclosed that a kidney had been ruptured causing hemorrhage and death. It was also found that the abdominal cavity was full of clotted blood. The respondent left the shops immediately after the incident and was arrested that day at his home. He was arraigned in the Municipal Court at Portland, on the tenth day of January, 1907, on complaint charging manslaughter, pleaded not guilty, waived hearing and was ordered to recognize to the May term of the Superior Court, 1907, in the sum of $5,000.00, and being unable to furnish bail was committed. An indictment for manslaughter was returned into the Superior Court at its May sitting, to which on the eighth day of the term, being the fifteenth day of the month, the respondent pleaded not guilty. On the twenty-third day of the term he retracted his plea of not guilty and plead nolo contendere and was on the same day sentenced to one year in the Cumberland County Jail.

The respondent was not a man reared with education and discipline and was easily excited, and at the time of the assault upon Griffin was afflicted with boils, some of which were upon the shoulder that Griffin touched with his hammer.

Michael T. O'Brien, counsel for the respondent, represented that Roma was a "jumping Frenchman" and not responsible for his action, which fact was considered in his sentence. It was also represented that Roma, when a boy, was struck over the head by a sled stick, the mark of which he carried at the time of the trial, and that the effects of the blow upon his physical and nervous system had not entirely disappeared. He, as a result of another accident, suffered the loss of an eye, so that if he was not a "jumper" he at least had experienced suffering and affliction that might, in one of his kind, produce nervous ailments akin to the jumper.

It developed that where Griffin and Roma were employed, because of the noise it is necessary, to command the attention of a fellow workman, to either touch him or attract his attention by signs, it being impossible to hear the human voice above the din of the work shop.

STATE VS. PAULO CERESTO.

Paulo Ceresto an Italian youth, the respondent in the above entitled case, boarded in the home of Antonio Jimino on Franklin street, in Portland, at which place, on the twenty-third day of January A. D. 1907, he and several companions gathered and were engaged in card playing for drinks. Ceresto being somewhat intoxicated and engaged in an argument with one of his companions, retired from the game. He entered his bed room and emerged with a stiletto partially concealed in his sleeve, and seated himself in the kitchen, shortly falling forward upon the floor, where he was when Antonio Jimino entered the tenement. The exact details of just what took place next were rather difficult to ascertain, as many of the persons present appeared to have been much under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Some evidence tended to show that the father of Ceresto who was present requested Jimino to assist him to raise his son, and Jimino advanced toward Ceresto junior for that purpose. He stooped to grasp the man and immediately reeled backward into the arms of his wife saying, "Paulo, Paulo, you have killed me." He was assisted to a couch, bleeding profusely, and died in a few minutes.

The defence claimed that Ceresto did not do the cutting, that they were practically all intoxicated and got into a fight, and that one of the Jiminos while attempting to strike Ceresto with a knife struck the deceased. No evidence of premeditation or any motive for the crime on the part of Ceresto could be discovered, and the affair rather seemed to be the result of a drunken time, where detailed information absolutely reliable was difficult to obtain. There was evidence to show that those present, except the brother of the wounded man, went to his assistance. The brother attempted to hold the assailant but became engaged in a fight with the Cerestos during which young Ceresto escaped, but was captured in Cathance in Brunswick the next day.

At the time of his arrest, though his hands and feet were badly frozen, he made a desperate attempt to escape by leaping from an upper window and running into a quarry. It was later learned that on the night of the twenty-third during which it snowed as heavily as it did at any time that winter, Ceresto slept in a team in an open shed on Franklin street in Portland. After his capture at Cathance he was brought to Portland and arraigned in the Municipal Court on the charge of murder and plead not guilty to the complaint, but probable cause was found and he was held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, at the May term, 1907 of the Supreme Court.

An indictment for manslaughter was returned at the May term by the Grand Jury, upon which the respondent was arraigned, the eighth day of the term being the fifteenth day of the month, and to the indictment the respondent pleaded not guilty. On the fourteenth day of the term the case was opened to the jury and on the sixteenth day of the term a verdict of guilty was rendered. On the twenty-third day of the term sentence of eight (8) years in State Prison was imposed and on the same day the respondent was committed.

An autopsy on the body of Jimino revealed an incision about seven-eighths of an inch in the upper part of the inner side of the thigh. The incision was transverse and about four inches in depth. The large artery was completely severed causing hemorrhage and death.

STATE vs. JEREMIAH C. MCCARTHY.

The respondent in the above entitled case was employed as a hostler on a farm at Stroudwater in Portland and had, as a fellow employee, one Arthur E. Norton. On Sunday the ninth day of February, 1908, McCarthy, while somewhat under the influence of liquor, approached Norton while he was engaged in his work and made some talk about the conduct of the work and threatened, among other things, to punch Norton's head. Norton dared him to do so and finally, after some words were exchanged, McCarthy struck Norton in the throat with his clenched hand. After a short time Norton complained of a feeling of suffocation and was assisted to the farm house and was taken from there in the police ambulance to the Maine General Hospital, but died while on the way. The autopsy revealed that the cartilages in Norton's throat had become ossified, that the blow fractured the cartilages in the larynx and caused a swelling, the combined result being suffocation or oedema of the glottis.

McCarthy was arrested within an hour of the assault and on the tenth day of February was presented in the Municipal Court of Portland on a charge of manslaughter, and on motion of the attorney for the state, the case was continued to February 20th. The respondent was ordered to recognize in the sum of five thousand dollars, which he was unable to do and was committed.

On the 20th of February the respondent was arraigned, waived reading and hearing and pleaded that he was not guilty. Probable cause was found and he was bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury, being ordered to recognize in the sum of $5,000, for his appearance at the May term of the Superior Court. He failed to find bail and was committed.

On February 21, 1908, notice was filed in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court that insanity would be pleaded in the event of an indictment being found; thereupon the Court ordered the respondent committed to the Maine Insane Hospital for observation and, pursuant thereto, the respondent was committed on February 21, 1908.

At the May term of the Superior Court an indictment charging manslaughter was returned and on the eighteenth day of the term the respondent, being arraigned, pleaded guilty and on the nineteenth day of the term sentence to imprisonment in the state prison for a term of five years was imposed and the respondent committed in execution thereof on the twenty-sixth day of May, 1908.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.

STATE vs. HARVEY A. SEARLES.

In this case the respondent was charged with the murder of his wife, Phillis Searles, the tragedy occurring on the afternoon of Sunday, July 14th, 1907, on the highway leading from Chesterville Mills to Farmington Falls. On this date the deceased had been making a friendly call at the house of her uncle, George Bachelder, having her little baby girl with her. About four o'clock in the afternoon Phillis took her baby and started in a team with Bernice Morrill, a girl aged about twelve years, to drive to the home of Miss Morrill where she was engaged in domestic service. A brother of the respondent, Jesse Searles, aged twenty-seven years, who was at the Bachelder place when Phillis drove away, mounted his bicycle and followed the team in which Phillis was riding. After going a short distance Jesse asked the privilege of riding in the back part of the wagon in which Phillis was riding and permission was given. In a few moments the party was met by the respondent who was accompanied by Ray Hutchins. The respondent spoke to his wife and asked permission to kiss the baby. The wife consented and the respondent, having taken the baby in his arms, started to walk away, whereupon the wife jumped from the wagon and ran after him. Some conversation ensued between them and the respondent drew his revolver and fired two shots at his wife with fatal results. By this time the brother Jesse had started to run away and the respondent shot at him inflicting a wound in his neck. The respondent made a statement to the county attorney on the day following the shooting, and again on July 19th, five days after the shooting, in which he admitted his intention to kill both his wife and brother. After the shooting the respondent went to the house of Mr. Clough, where he was employed, and attempted suicide by shooting, but the attempt was unsuccessful.

The motive for the crime was clearly jealousy. The respondent had said on several occasions, and to several different witnesses, that if he ever again saw his brother Jesse and his wife together he would shoot them both.

A warrant was sworn out on July 14th, 1907, charging murder, and on the same day an arrest was made and the respondent held without bail. The indictment was found on the fourth Tuesday of September and at an adjourned session of the supreme court trial was held, lasting only three days, November fifth, sixth and seventh. Prior to the trial the respondent was placed under observation as to his mental condition, and the defence was insanity. Before submitting the case to the jury the defendant withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. On November 7th, 1907, he was sentenced to State Prison for the period of his natural life.

The State was represented by the county attorney and the assistant attorney general.

HANCOCK COUNTY.

STATE vs. FRANK BALDASSARI.

At Crotch Island in the town of Stonington, Hancock county, on Tuesday, July 21, 1908, Antonio Baldassari was shot and killed by his brother, Frank Baldassari. Immediately upon the shooting, Frank ran from the house, and although a thorough search was made for some days the officers were unable to locate him. A reward for his arrest and delivery into the custody of the sheriff or his deputies of Hancock county was offered by the State.

On the 27th day of July, information came to the officers that Frank Baldassari was on a steamer bound from Brooksville to Bangor, and on the arrival of the steamer at Bangor that day he was taken into custody. He was duly arrested on complaint dated July 27, 1908, issued from the Ellsworth municipal court, charging him with the crime of murder, and he was arranged before Hon. J. A. Peters, judge of that court, on the 28th day of July. After hearing probable cause was found and the respondent was held without bail to await the action of the grand jury, at the October term of the supreme judicial court. At said October term he was indicted for murder.

Upon investigation on the part of the State it was ascertained that the brothers, Antonio Baldassari and Frank Baldassari were living in a little house on Crotch Island with four other Italians, and all were engaged in work at or about some of the granite quarries in that section; that previous to July 21 at different times bad feelings were aroused between the two brothers over personal matters; that at the time of the shooting Antonio was about to leave the house, following some angry talk between the two brothers of a few days before, and at the time of his going something in the nature of a quarrel arose as to the taking away from the house of one or more of the things which Antonio claimed; and that the shooting was done in a very few moments after the two brothers had opened the conversation as to Antonio's leaving.

The usual difficulties in the investigation of this case appeared when it was found that it required the use of interpreters to a large extent although much care was used in this portion of the work. The respondent offered to plead guilty to the crime of manslaughter. Some discrepancy appeared in the investigation by the State as to exactly what happened among all the half dozen Italians present, including the Baldassari brothers, near to and at the eventful moment when the shooting took place. Some difference thus appearing in the stories as to exactly what took place, the State decided upon consideration to give the prisoner the benefit of any doubt, and his plea of guilty to the crime of manslaughter was accepted on the 27th day of October, 1908. He was sentenced on the same day to a term of ten years in the State Prison and was there committed on the 29th of October, 1908.

The case was fully prepared for trial by the county attorney and myself.

KENNEBEC COUNTY.

STATE vs. JOHN THARAPIS.

On June 11th, 1907, at Waterville, in a store controlled by a Greek, a quarrel ensued in which Costos B. Laskarides, also a Greek, was killed by one of his own nationality, John Tharapis. On the evening of the same day, the respondent was arrested, and on being brought before the Waterville municipal court was held under bail for his appearance at the next term of the superior court in the county of Kennebec. An examination of the body of the deceased showed that death resulted from hemorrhage caused by a stab in the right thigh. An indictment was returned by the grand jury at the September term of the superior court charging manslaughter and the respondent was placed on trial. Much difficulty was experienced in obtaining testimony and the statements were in many respects conflicting, owing to the evident intention on the part of some of the Greeks present at the time of the homicide to avoid giving any testimony whatever. The testimony showing the conduct of Tharapis at the time of the homicide, together with his subsequent conduct, convinced the jury that the contentions of the government were correct and the result was a verdict of manslaughter. The respondent was sentenced to hard labor in the State Prison for the term of five years. Exceptions were filed but afterward withdrawn and the prisoner was committed to prison October 8, 1907. The State was represented at the trial by the county attorney.

STATE vs. E. B. DUNBAR and H. E. THAYER.

On October 2nd, 1907, a collision occurred on the Maine Central Railroad near Benton Station, in which several trainmen were seriously injured and one trainman, Frank E. Bellanger, was killed. The trains in collision were regular freight numbered twenty-eight, running from Bangor to Waterville with Archer E. Butler, conductor, and Albert Hersom, engineer, and extra freight, engine numbered three hundred one, running from Waterville to Newport Junction with E. B. Dunbar, conductor, and H. E. Thayer, engineer. Train numbered twenty-eight was late, and while it was within three miles from Waterville train dispatcher William H. Porter gave an order to Conductor Dunbar to run extra from Waterville to Newport Junction. Under rule thirteen of the Maine Central Railroad Company it was the duty of Dunbar, and his engineer, Thayer, to keep clear of all regular and signalled trains. Train numbered twenty-eight was the only regular train against them. This train, due at Waterville at 12.50 P. M. had not arrived at its destination when Porter gave the order to Dunbar at 2.40 P. M. The order to Dunbar was completed at the time last stated but there was no report on train twenty-eight since its departure from Clinton at 2.12 P. M. Dunbar claimed that he looked at the train register and, finding that the arrival of train twenty-eight was not recorded, intended to inquire as to its whereabouts from the train dispatcher, but that Porter criticized some previous conduct of his and verbally told him to get to Clinton as quickly as possible. Dunbar claimed that the criticism and the verbal order caused him to forget his intention to inquire about train twenty-eight and it was claimed by the State that Engineer Thayer stated that he received the order and receipted for it at the same time Dunbar did, but did not think about train twenty-eight. Under these circumstances the extra for Newport Junction left Waterville and met train twenty-eight in collision near Benton Station as above stated.

The State, claiming criminal negligence on the part of Dunbar and Thayer, indicted both for manslaughter and the case was tried in the Superior Court for Kennebec County at the January term thereof in 1907. The trial consumed two days and after two hours deliberation the jury returned a verdict of not guilty as to each of the respondents.

STATE vs. FRED DAVIS.

On the first day of November, 1908, the body of George Dunham of Chelsea, a member of the Togus Home for disabled volunteer soldiers, was found dead in a house which he had been occupying on a road in Chelsea commonly known as "Hayseed Avenue." The body was lying under a bed, face downward, there were bruises on the head and face and the furniture of the room was very much disturbed.

Investigation was begun by the local officers of Kennebec County and on Nov. 2 the respondent was arrested upon the charge of murder and brought before the Municipal Court of Augusta. The magistrate found probable cause for holding the respondent under the charge named in the warrant, without bail, for his appearance at the January term of the Superior Court in Kennebec County. Should an indictment then be found by the grand jury, and the charge be murder, the case would be transferred to the docket of the Supreme Court in Kennebec County and be in order for trial at the March term thereof.

MEMORANDUM: Between the date of this report and sending proof to the printer, the grand jury for Kennebec county reported and no indictment was found against Davis. He was, therefore discharged from custody on January 25, 1909.

STATE vs. WILLIAM SABIN.

On the 14th of October 1908, a crew of men were working in the hold of a vessel at Hallowell, among which crew were the respondent, William Sabin of Gardiner, and James Routh of Hallowell. It appears that there had been some liquor used in the party and that Sabin and Routh had indulged in some dispute. This dispute continued until violence followed and the evidence tended to show that Routh struck Sabin in the face with his fist which so enraged Sabin that he returned the blow with great force knocking Routh down and in falling Routh's head struck against a beam in the hold of the vessel rendering him unconscious. He was taken to his home and died a few days later. Complaint and warrant were issued from the municipal court of Hallowell on the fourteenth day of October, and the respondent was arrested on the fifteenth in Gardiner. Before the hearing was completed Routh had died and Sabin was held on the charge of manslaughter to await action of the grand jury at the Superior Court, January term, 1909.

MEMORANDUM: Between the date of this report and sending proof to the printer, the grand jury of Kennebec county reported and no indictment was found against Sabin.

STATE vs. HERBERT SPEAR.

On the fifteenth of October 1908, Harold Martin, while driving upon the highway which was crossed by the tracks of the Lewiston, Augusta & Waterville Street Railway, was struck by a car owned and operated by the company, the result of the accident being fatal. It appears that the motor man upon the car was ill and the respondent who was the conductor of the car, was operating the motor. It was charged that Spear was criminally negligent in the operation of the car, and on the thirtieth day of November a complaint and warrant was issued from the Municipal Court of Winthrop, charging Spear with manslaughter. The respondent was arrested and arraigned December 1, 1908, pleaded guilty, waived examination and furnished sureties in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance at the January term, 1909, of the Superior Court in Kennebec County, there to await the action of the grand jury upon the charge against him.

KNOX COUNTY.

STATE vs. DOMENICO TETI.

On January 10th, 1907, in the city of Rockland, a party of Italians gathered in a social way at a boarding house kept by one of their own nationality, near the corner of Front and Achorn streets, and while there engaged at cards, drinking beer in the meanwhile. After a time trouble arose between Vito

Montisano and Vito Florentino. The former called the latter an insulting name, struck him in the face and at the same time dared him to shoot. Florentino replied that he had no revolver. Upon this Petrolia Michele seized Montisano and attempted to put him from the room. Domenico Teti, the respondent, then drew a revolver from his pocket and threatened to shoot any one who injured his "boss," referring to Montisano. The parties then began to leave the house and go out into the darkness, for it was then evening. The order of their going was not clearly shown by the testimony but it would appear that Montisano went sufficiently in advance of the others so that he was not a witness of what took place on the street, having gone to his house, a short distance away. When Raphael Conforto, one of the party, came from the house, he went up Camden street and in a few moments was found lying dead on the sidewalk, death having been caused by shooting. Several witnesses testified to hearing reports of a revolver at about the time when the party left the house. The respondent, Teti, went to his boarding place, hurriedly obtained money and quickly went to the wharf of the Eastern Steamship Company where he took the steamer just leaving for Boston. He admitted that when the steamer was entering Boston harbor the next morning he threw his revolver overboard. On request of local officers Teti was arrested by a Boston officer and was brought back to Rockland where he was arraigned before the Municipal Court of Rockland, charged with the murder of Conforto, probable cause found, and he was held without bail for the April term of the Supreme Judicial Court. An indictment for murder was found at that term and upon the seventh day of the term he was arraigned and his trial begun. On the tenth day of the term the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Motion for a new trial was made and exceptions filed and allowed. The motion was overruled and an appeal was taken to the Law Court. At the next term of the Law Court held at Bangor in June, at request of respondent's counsel, hearing upon the appeal and exceptions was continued to the Portland term. At the latter term another continuance was asked by respondent's counsel and granted. At the December term, 1907, of the Law Court at Augusta, no one appearing to argue the appeal and exceptions in behalf of the respondent, an entry was made dismissing the appeal and over-ruling the exceptions. At the April nisi prius term of the Supreme Judicial Court, held at Rockland in 1908, new counsel for the respondent appeared and asked stay of sentence in order that a petition might be presented to the Law Court for the restoration of the case to the Law docket. The request was granted; at the July term, 1908, of the Law Court at Portland the petition for restoration was granted and the case is now pending in that Court awaiting final argument.

The case for the state was conducted by the county attorney and the assistant attorney general.

STATE vs. NEAL BROOKS.

This was a homicide committed in the Maine State Prison, and the circumstances connected with the case, briefly stated, are as follows:

The respondent, aged about twenty-three years, was confined in the insane department of the Maine State Prison, serving a twenty year sentence for rape, which sentence began January 28th, 1904. The deceased, Edwin Smith, aged about sixty-four years, was also confined in the insane department of the Maine State Prison, serving a life sentence for murder. On January 19th, 1908, Brooks struck Smith several blows on the head with an iron bar, that he had wrenched from his cot, from which blows practically instantaneous death resulted. The respondent, being under confinement, as before stated, there was no preliminary hearing before a magistrate, nor was any arrest made, but an indictment, charging Brooks with the murder of Smith, was found at the term of the Supreme Judicial Court held in Knox County in January, and the case was continued on the docket.

STATE vs. ARTHUR WILLEY AND RALPH GILLMORE.

On July 3rd, 1908, Arthur Willey and Ralph Gillmore, two young men of Port Clyde, in the town of St. George, were arrested for causing the death of one William E. Pinkham also of that town. Directly after the arrest they were arraigned before William E. Sherer, Trial Justice, probable cause was found and they were placed under $3,000 bail for their appearance at the September term of the Supreme Judicial Court. At this term they were separately indicted for manslaughter and Willey was placed on trial the morning of September 24th.

The case went to the jury September 26th, and after being out six hours they returned a verdict of guilty. On September 28th, Willey was sentenced to two years in the state prison, and was committed the following day.

The case against Gillmore was continued, by order of the court and at the request of the defendant, lest the conviction of Willey should prejudice the jury in the trial of the Gillmore indictment. The latter indictment therefore, is still pending, and is in order for trial at the January term, 1909, of the Supreme Judicial Court.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

STATE vs. HARRY FELTIS.

Lorenzo Feltis, a man about eighty-two years of age, in the year 1907, was a resident of the town of Bristol. His family consisted of his wife, his son Harry, the respondent in the case, and Harry's wife. On the morning of July 3rd, 1907, the old gentleman attempted to do some washing. His wife remonstrated and a quarrel ensued between them, in which Harry took some part. The trouble having subsided, Harry began work in the family garden a short distance from the house. Later in the morning, the old gentleman again persisted in doing the washing and went to the rain barrel outside, and at the corner of the house, intending to get some water. His wife followed him to the barrel where another altercation ensued, and Mrs. Feltis called to her son Harry who ran to the place where his parents were bickering. This altercation was more serious than that of the earlier hour and the state claimed that Harry struck his father with the hoe which he had in his hand, the blow being sufficient to make a slight fracture of the skull and to cut the flesh and skin at the juncture of the ear with the head. After the injury, the father walked to the house of a neighbor and requested to be carried to the home of another son, Lorenzo Feltis, Jr. Not having obtained transportation, he walked to his destination, a distance of about one and one-fourth miles. His son, Lorenzo, Jr., then carried him to Damariscotta, a distance of seven or eight miles, where his wounds were dressed, after which he returned to the home of Lorenzo, Jr., where he continued to suffer from his injuries and died on the fifth of August. An autopsy was performed by local physicians who reported that death was caused by inflammation of the brain and that the inflammation arose from injuries on the head. Immediately after the altercation in which the injuries were received, the state claimed that the respondent, Harry Feltis, told his mother that he was going to Damariscotta for a lawyer and expected that his father would make trouble for him; that on the way to Damariscotta he called at the house of William J. Kelsey, for a team, where he told Ralph Kelsey, that he had been having trouble with his father and wanted a team to go to Damariscotta to see what he could do about it. That he also told William J. Kelsey that he had been having trouble with his father and was obliged to strike him, but he was going to Damariscotta to see what he could do about it; that on his way to Damariscotta, he saw Henry H. Goudy and asked a private interview, in which he asked Mr. Goudy if he could keep a secret, whereupon he told Mr. Goudy that he had whipped his father, was obliged to knock him down and wanted to know what he had better do about it. On the eighth of August, three days subsequent to the death of Lorenzo Feltis, Sr., Harry Feltis was arrested on a warrant, charging manslaughter, and was brought before H. E. Webster, Trial Justice. The magistrate found probable cause for holding the respondent and bail was furnished for his appearance at the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court sitting in Lincoln County. The indictment was returned on the twenty-sixth day of October and the trial commenced on the thirtieth.

The respondent claimed in defense that he did not strike his father with the hoe, but when he came to the house with the hoe in his hand, he reached out the hoe to prevent his father from upsetting the rain barrel and that his father grabbed the hoe and, while pulling on the handle, fell and struck his head on a sharp rock, causing the injuries from which death ensued. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The state was represented by the county attorney.

OXFORD COUNTY.

STATE vs. WALLACE G. EVERETT.

About ten o'clock in the evening of June 13, 1907, an explosion of dynamite occurred near what was known as the Brown mine on Crocker Mountain, an eminence of Oxford County situated a few miles easterly from Paris Hill. The care taker of the mine at the time was Wallace G. Everett. After the explosion Everett notified the Brown office at Paris Hill, by telephone, and as a result of this notice there appeared upon the scene the sheriff of the county, a local physician, and other interested parties. It was discovered that a small building erected for the temporary storage of dynamite had been completely shattered, and near the place of explosion was found the body of Edgar L. Ratcliff. Life was not extinct when the body was first found but consciousness was not restored and in a short time death ensued. The body was taken in charge by a local undertaker, and on the following day a coroner's inquest was held and a verdict returned that death resulted from an accident. On the day of the accident the county attorney was absent from Oxford County, but upon his return he instituted an inquiry into the affair, caused a careful autopsy of the body to be made, and as a result of the autopsy and other testimony obtained from various sources, a complaint was made and warrant issued on the 17th day of June, 1907, charging Wallace G. Everett with the murder of Ratcliff. On the 21st day of June the respondent was arraigned before the Judge of the Municipal Court of Norway, where he was held on the charge of murder without bail for the October term of the Supreme Judicial Court. The grand jury found an indictment for murder, and on the 7th day of the October term, 1907, the prisoner was arraigned and trial begun. On the 14th day of the term the jury reported that they were unable to agree upon a verdict, and the respondent was held without bail for a second trial, which occurred at the March term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court. At this term also the trial was begun on the 7th day of the term and on the 12th day the jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter. On the 13th day of the term the respondent was sentenced to the State Prison for a term of twelve years and warrant of commitment was issued March 24, 1908.

The state contended at the trial that the motive of the respondent in committing the homicide was twofold.

First, to obtain money on two life insurance policies issued upon the life of Edgar L. Ratcliff, in which policies the respondent was named as beneficiary.

Second, because the respondent was anxious to have Ratcliff out of the way lest he might betray some secrets, the knowledge of which by the public would be prejudicial to the respondent. The defense strenuously insisted that death was purely accidental and that the respondent was in no way responsible for the fatal results. The contentions of the state were finally sustained as appears from the verdict of the jury in the second trial,

The case for the state was conducted by the county attorney and assistant attorney general.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

STATE vs. PERCY W. LYONS.

A serious accident occurred on the Maine Central Railroad on the 27th day of November, A. D. 1907, near Carmel station, in which a train fireman, Harry Simonds, was killed. Two freight trains were involved, viz., extra from Waterville to Bangor with engine numbered 364, and regular Bangor to Waterville, train numbered 36.

Under the rules of the Maine Central Railroad the State contended the regular train numbered 36 was a superior train, and the extra, with engine numbered 364 was an inferior train.

According to the undisputed evidence, number 364 reached Etna station and received orders to leave at 9.27 P. M., on November 27th, A. D. 1907. It was also undisputed that train number 36 left Bangor at 8.55 P. M., on same date, five minutes ahead of time. This was the regular train scheduled to leave Bangor for Waterville at 9 P. M.

The State contended that Train Dispatcher, Percy W. Lyons, of Waterville, instead of stopping or even knowing where train number 36 was, gave train number 364, at Etna, what is termed "Complete," on an order to cross number 36 at Hermon Pond, and allowed it to leave Etna station, and afterwards tried to reach train number 36 at Northern Maine Junction, and also at Hermon Pond, both of which he claimed he was unable to do. His explanation was, that he thought the operator at Northern Maine Junction was holding number 36 when he gave "Complete" to train number 364 at Etna. If this had been true Dispatcher Lyons would have been strictly observing the rules.

The collision occurred at 9.36 P. M., about one hundred yards east of Carmel station.

The State argued on the investigation of the facts and rules of the Maine Central Railroad, that there was a plain violation of rules by Dispatcher Lyons, and gross negligence and carelessness on his part, in giving "Complete" to an inferior train, and allowing it to leave Etna station before he had given "Complete" to his superior train at Northern Maine Junction. Dispatcher Lyons, in answering this, said that he thought he was assured by the operator at Northern Maine Junction that he was holding the train, while that operator, Mr. Roy, claimed that he had given Dispatcher Lyons only a signal, I. I. O. K., which simply meant that he was displaying his red lights.

The contention of the State, under rule 73 of the Maine Central Railroad was that Dispatcher Lyons should have had Hermon Pond the meeting point, displaying red lights, and should not have given "Complete" to train number 364 until he had first given "Complete" to train number 36 at Northern Maine Junction; in other words "Complete" should never be given to an inferior train first, as stated above.

Percy W. Lyons was indicted by the Grand Jury for the crime of Involuntary Manslaughter at the February term, 1908. He was arraigned on the tenth day of the term plead not guilty, and was immediately placed on trial. The trial lasted three days, and on the thirteenth day of the term the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

STATE vs. FRANK PARENT AND WESLEY COLLINS.

On the second day of September, 1907, at Bangor, in the County of Penobscot, the body of Fred B. Bunker of Northwest Harbor, Hancock County, Maine, was found on the track of the Bangor Railway and Electric Company about two miles from the city toward Old Town. The body was seen lying on the track by the motorman at about 7.48 P. M., when the car was about nine or ten feet away, going at the rate of about ten miles an hour. The car struck the body dragging it some feet, cutting it nearly in two pieces. No sign of life was discovered in the body after the accident, and on an investigation by the coroner it was decided no inquest was necessary. About two months afterwards it was learned that Bunker in company with two companions had visited a notorious resort in the town of Veazie, about one mile distant from the place of accident, where liquor was drunk and some disturbances took place; that two men employed at this resort, viz., Frank Parent and Wesley Collins drove Bunker away from the house and followed him for a distance of nearly half a mile, throwing rocks at him; and the evidence disclosed that Bunker fell down several times and was kicked by one or both men, and finally one of the men fired a rock at Bunker which caused him to fall into a clump of bushes, which was the last time he was seen alive.

On the 14th day of November, 1907, Frank Parent was arrested on the charge of manslaughter, and held under bonds for his appearance at the February term of court.

On the 18th day of November, 1907, Wesley Collins was arrested on the charge of manslaughter and held under bonds for his appearance at the February term of court.

Both men were jointly indicted at the February term of court, 1908, for the crime of manslaughter. They were arraigned and both plead not guilty, and on the 9th day of said term were tried jointly and convicted of assault and battery and sentenced to hard labor for the term of one year each in the County Jail at Bangor, Maine.

STATE v/s. CARDINELLI.

On Sunday, April 14, 1907, a stabbing took place at a house or camp at Millinocket, Penobscot County, from which death resulted. The victim was an Italian named Giovanni de Simoni. Luigi Cardinelli, who struck the fatal blow, was arrested by other Italians present, and taken in the night a distance of some few miles and delivered to the Deputy Sheriff, Fred M. Gates, at Millinocket. He was arraigned on April 15, 1907, before

Hon. George W. Stearns, Trial Justice, of Millinocket, and was held without bail, on the charge of murder, to await the action of the grand jury at the August term, 1907, of the Supreme Judicial Court. At the August term the respondent was indicted for the crime of murder.

The case disclosed that Simoni had been in the afternoon with Cardinelli and others at another camp some little distance away; that the men had been engaged in playing cards and drinking beer; that they had had some words in connection with Cardinelli's being obliged to produce a ten-dollar bill for the purpose of paying about forty-eight cents, the amount due for the beer, but nothing could be learned as to any further difficulty between the men from other witnesses. It seemed that the men, separately, but with a short interval between their departures, left the camp where they had been playing cards, and went to the camp where they were living and where the stabbing took place. Simoni came into the latter camp some few minutes before Cardinelli. When Cardinelli came in he had a knife in his hand, held in such a way as to attempt to conceal it.

The State claimed at the trial that after Cardinelli entered the camp with knife in hand, he appeared angry, used some abusive language toward Simoni, but finally offered him his left hand; that Simoni put forth his right hand with manifest spirit of friendliness to grasp the left hand tendered by Cardinelli, when Cardinelli plunged the knife into the left side of the head of Simoni, and in the vicinity of the temple. When the knife entered Simoni's head he immediately fell, his brains oozed out in part upon the floor, and the wound was so serious that he died quickly—within comparatively a few moments.

The respondent claimed that Simoni lay in wait for him upon the way home, gave him a severe beating, said things to him which made him feel that Simoni would shoot him at the camp, that the talk between Simoni and himself at the camp was different from that testified to by witnesses for the State, and that at the moment he struck the fatal blow he did so because he felt that Simoni was about to shoot him, and that his own life was in danger.

The trial began August 22, and lasted two days. The respondent was found guilty of murder, and on August 27, 1907, was sentenced to imprisonment in the State Prison for and during his natural life, and was committed to prison on August 28, 1907.

The case for the State was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

STATE vs. VITO PRUNESTI AND NATALI PRUNESTI.

On Friday, the 8th day of November, 1907, at East Millinocket, Penobscot County, a fatal shooting took place, as near as could be determined, about ten o'clock P. M. The tragedy occurred in a bunk house, so called, near the store of Fred Peluso; and while the shooting took place on the night of November 8th, 1907, the authorities were not notified until Saturday morning, Nov. 9, 1907, when the dead body of Guiseppe Teti was found in the bunk house, death apparently being due to a bullet entering his body on the left side, passing upward diagonally through the body through the apex of the heart, lodging in the right shoulder. It was also learned that Nicola Teti, brother of Guiseppe, was severely wounded at the time Guiseppe was killed. Nicola Teti was sent to the Eastern Maine General Hospital at Bangor for treatment, and thorough investigation made. The usual difficulties were encountered, due to the fact that the parties concerned in this affair were Italians and were scarcely known personally to the officers, and investigation had to be made among persons but little, if any, familiar with the English language.

As a result, however, suspicion fell upon Vito Prunesti and his brother Natali, and on the 11th day of November, 1907, upon complaint before George W. Stearns, Trial Justice, warrants were issued charging Vito Prunesti and Natali Prunesti with the murder of Guiseppe Teti. The Prunesti brothers were arrested on the said 11th day of November, and upon hearings before the Magistrate, they were held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury at the February term of the Supreme Judicial Court.

At the February term of the Supreme Judicial Court both Vito Prunesti and Natali Prunesti were indicted for the murder of Guiseppe Teti. In the meantime, during the progress of these matters, it was learned that Francisco Guiseppe had been seen with the Prunesti brothers much of the evening of Nov.

8th, and was with them in the bunk house at the time the shooting began.

On the 16th day of November, 1907, Francisco Guiseppe was arrested and bound over to await action of Grand Jury without bail, on the charge of murder. After a thorough investigation it was learned that Francisco Guiseppe left Millinocket on the day of the murder, and went to East Millinocket and on his return stopped at Dolby, where the murder took place; that he had no previous acquaintance with the Prunesti brothers; that he was not in the shack when the shooting took place, but having previously been there and fearing trouble, immediately ran out and heard pistol shots within a few minutes. When all these matters were thoroughly presented to the Grand Jury, including all new information to that already obtained, the Grand Jury failed to find any indictment against Francisco Guiseppe.

The trial of Vito Prunesti and Natali Prunesti began at the February term of the Supreme Judicial Court, on Monday the 24th day of February, 1908, and was completed at the close of the next day, Tuesday, the 25th day of February, 1908. Nicola Teti in the meantime had recovered from the effects of his wound, and was the chief witness for the State at the trial. In the behalf of the State it appeared that on the 8th day of November a portion of the bunk house in which the Teti brothers lived, was occupied by them and two or three other Italians, that upon the night in question the other Italians, who intended to start for Italy the next morning, went to bid goodby to several friends, and that they did not return, leaving the Teti brothers there alone, that sometime in the evening Natali Prunesti came into the room and desired to sleep there through the night, that later in the evening, about ten o'clock, Vito Prunesti and one Francisco Scallisi came to the bunk house, first aroused Natali Prunesti, and then went to another part of the room, climbed to the top of a bunk, some six feet from the floor, and demanded money of the Teti brothers, and that the latter refused to give up the same, declaring they had no money. Nicola Teti testified that both Vito Prunesti and Francisco Scallisi had revolvers in their hands ready for use, that Vito Prunesti was demanding money of him, while Francisco Scallisi was demanding money of his brother, Guiseppe Teti, that when he (Nicola Teti) declined to give up any money to Vito Prunesti Vito struck him in the face, that upon the striking Nicola Teti grasped a small knife he had near at hand and struck at Vito Prunesti, without knowing whether or not he hit, that Vito Prunesti then went back toward the floor and immediately began shooting with his revolver, shooting three or four times, that one of the shots struck Guiseppe Teti as above indicated and he fell from the top of the bunk to the floor, expiring almost instantly, and that another of the shots struck him (Nicola Teti) in the shoulder. Francisco Guiseppe testified in substance, that he had been with the Prunesti brothers and Francisco Scallisi in the evening at the Peluso store, that Natali Prunesti left some little time before the others, and that the others staid until practically the time the store closed, at ten in the evening or thereabout, that during the evening the Prunesti brothers had some angry words, though over a trivial matter, that while he was standing a few feet from the Peluso store, after it had closed, he saw Vito Prunesti and Francisco Scallisi enter the bunk house, and following over he went inside the door just as Vito Prunesti was arousing Natali Prunesti, that fearing trouble he went immediately from the bunk house, and that when two or three hundred feet therefrom heard the shots which were fired. Vito Prunesti at the time of his arrest denied he was at the bunk house in question at the time of the shooting, but later admitted he was there but charged the shooting upon Francisco Scallisi. Francisco Scallisi escaped from Millinocket immediately after the shooting, and the officers with all their diligence were unable to locate him. At the trial Vito Prunesti claimed in defense that he had no part in the demand of the money of the Teti brothers or in the shooting, and that it was all done by Francisco Scallisi and without Vito Prunesti's connection with it in any possible way.

When the evidence for the State was in, counsel for the State felt that there was hardly sufficient evidence to ask the Jury to find, beyond a reasonable doubt, that Natali Prunesti had sufficient guilty connection with the affair, and thereupon a nol pros was entered against Natali Prunesti, with the consent of his counsel. On the evening of Tuesday, February 25th, 1908, the Jury, however, found Vito Prunesti, against whom the cause proceeded, guilty of the murder charged.

Vito Prunesti received a sentence on the same evening of imprisonment in the State prison at Thomaston, for the term of his natural life, and was committed to the State prison on the 28th day of February, A. D. 1908.

The case for the State was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

PISCATAQUIS COUNTY.

STATE vs. NELLIE M. CROCKER.

In the latter part of October, (on or about the 22d), 1906, Miss Nellie M. Crocker of Guilford, Piscataquis County, a young woman probably a little more than twenty years of age, gave birth to an illegitimate child. A physician was sent for, but the child was born before his arrival, and upon his reaching the house where summoned, he found that the child was dead, and apparently its throat had been cut with some sharp instrument. Investigation was instituted, and from statements made by Miss Crocker and also by information furnished by her sister who was in the house at the time of the birth of the child, it appeared that the throat of the child had been cut with a pair of large scissors.

Complaint was made October 31, 1906, against Nellie M. Crocker, for murder. The condition of her health, however, at that time, prevented the officers from making the arrest. This was made on December 29, 1906, and the respondent was arraigned before Judge E. C. Smith of the Dover Municipal Court, and bound over on the charge of manslaughter, to await the action of the grand jury at the February term, 1907, of the Supreme Judicial Court, bail being fixed at two thousand dollars.

At the hearing before the Municipal Court it was maintained in behalf of the respondent that the infant must have been dead when the wound in the throat was effected.

The State had the case very thoroughly investigated before the February term, employing prominent medical experts, both in and out of the county where the crime was committed. After thorough investigation and consideration by the grand jury, it decided against the return of any indictment.

STATE vs. HERBERT WOODBURY.

Herbert Woodbury and his wife, Phœbe Maud Woodbury, resided in Foxcroft, living in the Foxcroft Exchange, a large four story building formerly a hotel, but conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury as a lodging house, Mr. Woodbury carrying on a livery business in connection with it. Mr. Woodbury also had the contract for carrying the mail between the station of the Maine Central Railroad Company, in Foxcroft, and the postoffices in the villages of Foxcroft and Dover. The mail team was driven by Mrs. Woodbury much of the time.

In early November, 1907, Mrs. Woodbury disappeared. Several lodgers were stopping in the house at the time but left soon after she disappeared, and after some few weeks Mr. Woodbury closed up the house and went to live with his sister in Dover where he made his home until February 18, 1908, staying in the house much of the time and claiming that his health was poor. Mr. Woodbury was reported to have accounted for his wife's disappearance by stating in substance that she had deserted him, and her disappearance excited no particular comments for some weeks as it was rumored that she and Mr. Woodbury had not lived happily together at times and that on one or more previous occasions at least, she had left him. Early in February, however, the authorities and some of Mrs. Woodbury's relatives began to push the investigation for the purpose of ascertaining what they could in regard to her disappearance. Among other things it was decided to enter the Foxcroft Exchange and make a thorough examination of the premises. Permission was obtained to enter the house and examination was made. Much of Mrs. Woodbury's clothing was found together with some of her personal effects. Practically all of the rooms of the house were visited and examined, except room number 15 on the fourth floor, which was found closed, and to which it had seemed impracticable to gain ready admission. There were two doors to this room, one opening into an adjoining room and another into the hall. The first was securely fastened by a bolt on the inside. The other door opening from the hall also appeared to be fastened but there was some uncertainty as to how it was secured. An investigator reported that apparently the lock of the door had not been turned so as to fasten it.

Later this door opening from the hall was forced open and the body of Mrs. Woodbury was found lying upon the floor in room number 15, but near the other door and tied by a rope around her neck to the knob of this other door,—the body lying at full length apparently with its weight resting nearly, if not quite all upon the floor. It was discovered that the door leading in from the hall had been fastened by means of a prop of wood, the lower end of which had been placed against a box held in place by a pile of mattresses lying upon the floor, the other end of the prop leaning against the door, making what is called a "Dutch lock." The key of the hall door was found lying upon the floor where it had been pushed out of the lock during the investigation in making an entrance. Upon the pile of mattresses was found a cloak and hat of Mrs. Woodbury's. The clothing upon the body seemed to be slightly disturbed but had more or less hair upon it which apparently came from Mrs. Woodbury's head. That part of her clothing resting upon the floor was somewhat soiled with plaster dust of which there was some upon the floor under and around the body. The rope with which the body was tied to the door knob consisted of two pieces, one apparently like a halter rope, and the other, tied to this, was a short piece of rope, substantially like a piece of bed cord. There was more or less hair in and about the rope in question. The officers reported there was no indication of any struggle having occurred in the room and after an examination of the situation, the body was removed and on the following day an autopsy was performed. Complaint was made and a warrant issued immediately, charging Mr. Woodbury with the murder of his wife and he was placed under arrest. He was arraigned before Judge E. C. Smith of the Dover municipal court, on February 25th, and the preliminary hearing occupied several days. The State claimed the motive was probably jealousy and from the medical testimony and circumstances connected with the case that the woman probably came to her death by strangulation but not from the rope found around her neck. The defence put in no testimony at this hearing. After argument, the judge found probable cause, and the respondent was held without bail to await the action of the grand jury, at the September term, 1908, of the supreme judicial court. On August 29th, 1908, while the respondent was being thus held in the jail at Dover, he suddenly and unexpectedly seized a razor, used by the barber in shaving prisoners at the jail, and committed suicide by cutting his throat.

The evidence had been collected and full preparations made by the county attorney and myself for trial at said September term in case indictment was found for murder.

SAGADAHOC COUNTY.

STATE vs. SIDNEY K. PREBLE.

On Sunday, May 12, 1907, at Bowdoinham, Sagadahoc county, the body of Norris Heath, a young man eighteen years of age, son of Mr. Myrick Heath, was found about one hundred feet distant from the north side of the road which runs from the Williams mill east toward the house occupied by the Heath family.

Upon investigation it was discovered that young Heath was last seen in company with Sidney K. Preble (son of George F. Preble) of Bowdoinham, at and about the Williams mill, on the Saturday afternoon preceding. Norris Heath was at that time employed at the Williams mill, and Sidney K. Preble went to the mill, and after spending some time there, at the close of work, both young men started off together, their homes being in the same general direction from the mill. Young Heath was missing from his home on Saturday night, but his parents having some reason to think he had gone to Bowdoinham village to see some friends, felt no cause of alarm. Upon Sunday morning, however, when he had not returned, his father, Mr. Myrick Heath, instituted some search.

On Saturday afternoon, Sidney K. Preble had been at the Heath house where he had borrowed a bicycle and attempted to borrow a revolver belonging to Norris Heath, and later in the afternoon, at the Heath house, he told a story of his (Sidney's) father having shot a dog down in the road where Mr. Myrick Heath had noticed a wet and somewhat colored spot in the road on his return the same Saturday afternoon from the village of Bowdoinham to his home. Upon going to this spot in the road on Sunday, and making careful examination Mr. Myrick Heath discovered that something apparently had been dragged through the bushes on the north side of the road in the vicinity of the noted spot. The body of Norris was soon discovered, covered with leaves and with brush. Apparently he had been shot in the road and his body dragged through the bushes to the place where found. His pocketbook, knife and watch were also missing.

The young man, Sidney K. Preble (about fifteen years of age), and with whom Norris was last seen, was suspected of having committed the crime. Deputy Sheriff Isaac H. Purinton of Bowdoinham, with some assistants, went immediately to the house of George F. Preble where he found Sidney with the family and pursued the investigation. They found the young man had returned home late Saturday afternoon with his clothing wet, and told his parents he had fallen into the mill pond at the Williams mill. They learned also that he had a shotgun which he had left in the woods some distance from the house. Mr. Purinton insisted upon going to the place where the shotgun had been left. Sidney said he would show them. On their way through the woods Sidney was charged with having shot young Heath and admitted it. He was arrested and on Monday, May 13, 1907, was arraigned on complaint before Lewis M. Fulton, Trial Justice, at Bowdoinham, and by this trial justice was held on the charge of murder, to await the action of the grand jury at the August term, 1907, of the supreme judicial court.

Between the time of his arrest and the hearing before the magistrate, the respondent told various persons as to the details in connection with his commission of the crime.

At the August term, Sidney K. Preble was indicted and tried for murder. For some weeks previous to the trial, at the request of his counsel, young Preble was committed to the insane hospital at Augusta for observation where he was examined and observed by Dr. Bigelow T. Sanborn and Dr. Harry W. Mitchell.

At the trial the defense was insanity or such feebleness of mind as would indicate that the respondent was legally irresponsible for acts of the nature of that charged as committed; that he for acts of the nature of that charged as committed; that he either did not know the nature and quality of the act committed, or the difference between right and wrong with reference to that particular act. In other words, it was claimed that the respondent was not guilty under the principles of law laid down by the court in the case of State vs. Knight, 95 Maine, 467.

It appeared that young Preble had been committed to the reform school where he had been for one period of about two years and another period of a little less than one year, that he had been guilty of more or less misbehavior including various acts of theft. He practically admitted that he loaded his shotgun and hid it in the woods near the highway; that he went to the Williams mill and walked along homeward with young Heath, and when he came along near the place where the gun was concealed he got the gun and after going a short distance in the road, managed to let his companion get a few feet in front of him, when he raised the gun and fired, the charge of large shot striking young Heath in the head just back of one ear; that he dragged the body in to the place where found, took the pocketbook containing a little more than two dollars and a half in money, the knife and the watch. When the pocketbook containing the money and the knife were found upon the respondent's person, he claimed they were his, and that the money he had earned in hunting browntail moths. The watch the respondent hid in or about the stone work or foundation of his father's house, where it was found by the officer after the respondent told him where it had been hidden.

The respondent claimed, in substance, that about a fortnight before the tragedy young Heath had set his dog upon him, that he kicked the dog, whereupon Heath made some threat or talk which the respondent claimed later led him to think Heath might possibly intend to kill him, and with this belief fixed in his mind he proceeded to kill Heath in order to save his own life.

The State claimed the motive was either anger and hatred or robbery, but probably the latter, since testimony was offered to show that the respondent had seen some money in young Heath's hands on the day before the crime was committed and that the respondent knew the Saturday the crime was committed, was the usual pay day at the Williams mill, and was heard to ask the Heath boy a short time before the murder if he had been paid off that day.

The trial began on Tuesday, September 3, and lasted three days. On the evening of Thursday, September 5, the respondent was found guilty of murder, and on Friday, September 6, was sentenced to imprisonment in the State Prison for and during his natural life, and was committed to prison on September 6, 1907.

The case for the State was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

STATE vs. ELBERT BATES.

On Saturday, the 14th day of November, 1908, Winnie Kincaid, a young woman of about twenty-four years of age, unmarried, died at Richmond, Sagadahoc county. At the time she was living with the people of her family in Richmond. Suspicion was aroused that her death might have been due to a criminal operation performed by Elbert Bates of Richmond.

Upon a short investigation Mr. Bates was arrested and criminal proceedings of some character instituted against him which resulted, upon hearing, in his being held in $5,000.00 bail to await the action of the grand jury at the December term of the supreme judicial court, 1908, and being unable to furnish bail he was committed. The case is now being more fully and carefully investigated by the authorities.

MEMORANDUM: Between the date of this report and sending proof to the printer, the Grand Jury at a term of the Supreme Judicial Court held in January, 1909, at Bath, found an indictment charging Bates with manslaughter. Bates was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and upon trial was found guilty of the charge in the indictment. On January 9, 1909, he was sentenced to five years imprisonment in the state prison. The respondent through his counsel filed a bill of exceptions and presented a motion for a new trial and the case is, therefore, awaiting the disposition of motion and exceptions in the Law Court.

The case for the State was conducted by the county attorney.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

STATE vs. JOHN WILLIAMS.

The respondent in this case was the proprietor of a small hotel at Somerset Junction where, among others, woodsmen were accustomed from time to time to call for meals or lodging. On the eighth of November, 1907, Harry Sheasgreen came to Williams' hotel with others, there being in the party Thomas

P. Fenton and James Fletcher. There was some evidence tending to show that there had been trouble among the members of this party before they reached Williams' house and the trouble continued after they had entered the hotel. The fight grew somewhat furious and chairs were broken, the stove upset and other damage done. The trouble was principally between Fenton and Sheasgreen, and finally Sheasgreen was ejected from the house and Fenton induced to go upstairs out of the way. Directly, however, Sheasgreen returned and demanded admission to the hotel. The evidence tends to show that he was intoxicated and quarrelsome and the proprietor, Williams, declined to admit him and held the door against him. Sheasgreen was armed with an axe and made threats against the door and the people inside the house. Finally Williams insisted that Sheasgreen depart and as it appeared told Sheasgreen that he should have to protect himself and his house by shooting if Sheasgreen did not go away. Sheasgreen paid no attention to Williams' demands to depart but tried to force an entry. Williams discharged his gun intending, as some of the witnesses claim, to merely scare Sheasgreen but the result was much more serious. Sheasgreen was shot in the abdomen and died soon after the shooting. Prior to his death a physician was called and some attempt was made to take a dying declaration but without very satisfactory results. An investigation was begun and the evidence laid before the grand jury of Somerset county, which body returned an indictment against Williams at the December term, 1907, of the supreme judicial court, charging the respondent with manslaughter. The State was not able to have its witnesses present for trial at the December term and the case was continued until March, 1908. At this term also the State was unable to produce its witnesses and the case was again continued until September, 1908, the respondent being under bail all the time for his appearance before the supreme judicial court. At the September term and again at the December term, 1908, the case was continued and the matter stands upon the docket awaiting final consideration.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

STATE vs. NICHOLAS WALLACE, alias FRANK WILLIAMS.

On Wednesday, January 22, 1908, the dead body of Andrew Higgins, of Baileyville, Washington County, was found by a searching party of citizens, about sixty or seventy paces from the dwelling house or camp where said Higgins lived in Baileyville. The right side of the head and the forehead were badly crushed and the skull severely fractured, apparently from blows inflicted by the use of some dull instrument and thought to be a birch stick 32 inches long and about one and a quarter inches in diameter, upon which there appeared to be more or less blood, and which was found near apparent pools of blood in the yard near the house or camp. Apparently violence had been inflicted in some way also about the breast or sides, and some of the ribs were found broken.

Andrew Higgins was a man of about 75 years of age and had been living alone for some time upon the farm which he was gradually clearing up in Baileyville. A short distance from his house or camp he had erected a small stable and at the time of his death the stable was occupied by his one horse. Upon investigation it was learned that Mr. Higgins was at the house of a near neighbor, Mr. Berry, late Thursday afternoon, January 16, 1908; that he took supper with the Berrys on the last named day, and left for his home about half past six or seven that evening; that the Berrys, whose house was practically in sight of the Higgins house or camp, saw no smoke or indications of life about the Higgins house or camp on Friday and Saturday, January 17 and 18; that on Sunday, January 19, Mr. Hogan, a man in the employ of the Berrys, went to the Higgins place; that Hogan did not find Mr. Higgins there but did find the horse in the stable apparently hungry and thirsty, and he fed and watered him; that on Sunday night a light in the Higgins place was seen from the Berry house and it was supposed that Mr. Higgins had returned; that Mr. Higgins had told the Berrys he was planning to be away from his home engaged in the cutting of some wood with a friend, which allayed any fears on the part of the Berrys when they first found from Mr. Hogan that Mr. Higgins was not at the camp on Sunday, the 19th; and finally that no person could be found who had seen Mr. Higgins alive after he left the Berry house, on Thursday afternoon, January 16.

Early in the week beginning January 20, some of the neighbors begun to grow uneasy at not seeing Mr. Higgins and further search was made for him. In the meantime there had been little spurts of snow and some slight thaws. On Wednesday, January 22, when several citizens of Baileyville began to make thorough search about the Higgins premises, the little show on the ground had been pretty much removed by a thaw of the day preceding. Pools of blood were found in the yard, also a quilt having some evidence of blood thereon. Soon what appeared to be a light bloody trail was discovered leading from near the pools of blood and away from the house or camp to the spot where the body was found. Evidently an attempt had been made to hide the body, as it was put behind some small trees or bushes and partially covered with twigs or branches which had been broken off near by.

When found Mr. Higgins was dressed apparently exactly as he was when he left the Berry house, still having his mittens on his hands, but minus his cap (found in the yard) and his overshoes, which had been removed. It was learned that Mr. Higgins had on a pair of overshoes when he left the Berry house, and also that he was the owner of a fur coat.

By diligent efforts it was learned that the respondent, Nicholas Wallace, had been more or less at the Higgins place; that he knew Mr. Higgins, his habits and conditions well; that Wallace was seen, some six or eight miles from the Higgins place, about the middle of the afternoon on Thursday, January 16, and later in the same afternoon was seen a mile or two nearer the Higgins place, and headed generally in that direction; that at the time Wallace was seen on Thursday, January 16, he apparently had on leather shoes; that early the next morning, January 17, Wallace was seen going from the general direction of the Higgins place, although some few miles distant therefrom, wearing a fur coat. It was also learned that a little later on the seventeenth Wallace was wearing a pair of overshoes, and that he bought a pair of gum rubbers and afterwards on the same day burned up the overshoes.

The State further secured certain evidence tending to show that Mr. Higgins, a few days before his death, had some little money about him; that on Wednesday, January 15, the respondent, Wallace, was probably without any money, but that on Friday, January 17, he had come into the possession of at least some few dollars. An autopsy and examination of the contents of the stomach, in connection with information as to what Mr. Higgins ate for supper at the Berry house disclosed the fact that he was killed probably not more than about an hour from the time he left the Berry house on Thursday evening, January 16.

Wallace was arrested on Thursday, January 23. When questioned as to the fur coat he told conflicting stories about it, first saying in substance that he never had a fur coat, next admitting that he had taken the fur coat, but saying that he took it from Mr. Higgins' camp on Sunday night, January 19, when upon a visit there he found Mr. Higgins absent. Persons were found who gave information that Wallace had disposed of a fur coat on Saturday, January 18, and this coat was identified as the one belonging to Mr. Higgins. At the time of trial hereinafter referred to, Wallace claimed that he took the fur coat from Higgins' camp on December 28, 1907. The State, however, was able to show by some witnesses that Mr. Higgins was himself in actual possession and use of the coat some days later than December 28, 1907.

At the time of trial in the Supreme Judicial Court the respondent, Wallace, claimed that he was not at the Higgins place on Thursday night, January 16; that he slept in an unoccupied house some miles distant therefrom, and that the overshoes he wore on Friday, January 17, were overshoes which he had purchased himself some time before.

Complaint was issued dated January 22, 1908, charging Wallace with the murder of Mr. Higgins. Upon this complaint Wallace was arrested, January 23, 1908, and hearing was had before Herbert J. Dudley, Trial Justice, January 24, 1908, and the respondent was held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, at the April term, 1908, of the Supreme Judicial Court. At the April term, the respondent was indicted for the crime of murder. Trial began Wednesday, May 6, 1908, and closed on Saturday, May 9, although more than fifty witnesses were upon the stand. The respondent was found guilty of murder, and on May 9, 1908, was sentenced to imprisonment in the State Prison for and during his natural life. He was committed to State Prison on May 14, 1908.

The case for the State was conducted by the county attorney and myself.

YORK COUNTY.

STATE vs. SETH CHAMBERS.

On the 25th of September last, a party of young men in Sanford, gathered in the outskirts of the village in a social way, the party consisting of seven, among them being Seth Chambers, the respondent, and Ralph Downs who was the victim of the shooting which occurred. It appeared from the evidence taken before a coroner's jury that these young men had some beer with them although all strenuously denied that any of the party were intoxicated. Ralph Downs, the deceased, and his brother Raymond Downs had brought with them two guns. Some of the party were engaged in shooting at a mark, and in some way, as the evidence tended to show, a gun in the hands of Seth Chambers was discharged, the contents striking Ralph Downs with fatal results. A coroner's inquest was held and as a result of the finding of that inquest complaint was made and a warrant sworn out on the 5th day of October, charging Seth Chambers with manslaughter. The complaint was heard before the judge of the Sanford Municipal Court, probable cause was found for holding the respondent, and he was required to furnish bail in the sum of one thousand dollars for his appearance at the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court. Bail was furnished and the whole matter now awaits investigation by the grand jury of York County, which will assemble on the first Tuesday in January 1909. That body will determine under all the evidence presented to it whether an indictment should be found against Chambers, or whether the whole affair was accidental and without criminal liability on the part of any one.

MEMORANDUM: Between the date of this report and sending proof to the printer, the grand jury at a term of the Supreme Judicial Court, held in January, 1909, at Saco, found an indictment charging Chambers with manslaughter. Chambers was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and upon trial was acquitted.

OTHER CASES INVESTIGATED.

In addition to the cases where murder and manslaughter have been charged, as noted in the foregoing statement of cases, this department has spent much time in co-operation with the county attorneys and other officials in connection with the investigation into many other cases of homicide. There have been we believe at least fifteen cases in addition to those noted in this report where much time and attention have been given.

We are happy to report that in only one or two of these instances has investigation disclosed that a crime was committed and the prisoner entirely escaped apprehension. Investigation has shown some cases to be accident, some suicide, and some possibly either murder or manslaughter but without disclosing sufficient evidence to warrant the institution of any criminal proceedings. Some of these cases, and in fact some of the cases which occurred during my official years of 1905 and 1906, are still under investigation. It is only to be hoped that in all cases where a crime has actually been committed the guilty parties may in the end be ferreted out and brought to justice.

I regret to say that during my terms of office for the past four years there seems to have been an unusual number of homicide cases in this state, and I sincerely trust that in this respect this state may quickly return to its normal condition. During the past four years our department, with the respective county attorneys, has been prepared and ready for the trial before the jury in some nineteen homicide cases, and out of them all we believe but two absolute acquittals by a jury have so far been found. In these two instances the Attorney General's Department was represented by myself.

In addition to the general assistance given to county attorneys in various ways, this department has appeared in court in some cases of importance to assist county attorneys, notably in

STATE vs. OSCAR JOHNSON.

This was a case arising in York County in which the defendant was charged, under the statute, with the burning of his own buildings in order to defraud an insurance company. The property burned was located in the town of East Parsonsfield, and the fire occurred Sept. 22, 1906. Investigation was begun by the State Insurance Commissioner and the results of the investigation given to the county attorney who presented the facts to the grand jury and an indictment was found, upon which a trial was had at the May term, 1907, of the Supreme Judicial Court. The evidence presented to the jury tended to show that the respondent, being a resident of Boston and having occupied the Parsonsfield property only during the summer vacations, was anxious to sell this Parsonsfield property but had failed to do so. It also appeared that just before leaving this summer property, in 1906, a most ingenious plan had been devised with the aid of ropes, pulleys, friction matches and inflammable material, so that the opening of a large door in the stable would communicate by these ropes and pulleys with the matches, causing them to be ignited and fire begun. An arrangement had also been made by which an innocent neighbor was to store his carriage in this stable and in order to enter it would be obliged to open this large door. The plan was successful so far as the starting of the fire was concerned but as the stable was entered in the day time the fire was discovered before much headway was made and before the ingenious traps for setting fire had been fully consumed. It seemed quite plain that no one had an opportunity to prepare for the fire except the respondent, but the defense was insanity. The defense, however, was overborne, the respondent was found guilty and sentenced to one year in the State Prison.

The assistant attorney general appeared for the state at the trial with the county attorney of York County.

WINFIELD SCOTT EDMINSTER, Petitioner for Habeas Corpus.

This was a petition brought on the 11th day of October, 1906, while the petitioner was confined in the Waldo County jail, the complaint of the petitioner being that he was unlawfully imprisoned. The petition was presented to Mr. Justice Spear, who ordered a hearing at the Court House in Augusta on Wednesday, Oct. 17, 1906. The petition and order of court was served on the attorney general, in accordance with the statute, and also upon the county attorney of Waldo County. The latter official desired to be excused from appearing in the case and the assistant attorney general appeared for the state.

The petitioner asked for his release for the following reasons, viz:

First, that the respondent was sentenced under an indictment for being a common seller, second offence, to pay a fine of $100 and costs and to serve 30 days in jail, whereas the sentence prescribed by statute is a fine of $200 and 60 days in jail.

Second, that the sentence was imposed while the respondent was out on bail, awaiting decision on exceptions to the overruling by the court of a motion in an arrest of judgment, but this motion, the records show, was not filed at the term of court at which the respondent was convicted.

Third, that the respondent, after judgment for the State upon exceptions, and after the adjournment of the term of court at which his bail was to appear, and while in the act of escaping from arrest, was taken into custody by the officers upon a mittimus instead of a capias.

After all the evidence and arguments had been heard, the presiding justice denied the petition and ordered the petitioner to be remanded to jail to serve the several sentences imposed upon him.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS.

Our relations with the County Attorneys in the different parts of the state have continued closely in many ways. In addition to appearing with them in many murder trials, we have conferred and advised with them, not only at Augusta, but in many sections of the state and over matters, at times, of much importance.

During the last two years I have taken up with the various clerks of the Supreme Judicial court and the various county attorneys the looking after the re-districting of the counties, in connection with the drawing of grand jurors, and I believe this matter has now received attention in all parts of the state where it had been in any way overlooked.

OFFICERS.

Through strict economy and the assistance of efficient county officers we have been able to get along with quite a saving out of our appropriation for the Arrest and Apprehension of Criminals. Out of a total appropriation of $3,000.00 for this purpose for the years 1907 and 1908, there remains unexpended the sum of $565.44.

Wherever the money has been expended it has been well expended and the state as a rule has received great benefit from it in the prosecution of criminal causes. It is an appropriation which certainly should be continued, and as it often enables this Department to get an experienced, efficient man promptly at the scene of any crime we can hardly overrate its importance.

Generally speaking the sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, city marshals and other officers have been active and able, and at the request of this Department have acted promptly and efficiently whenever called upon for any assistance. In this class of work it is especially true that experience is of almost inestimable value, and we have been glad to notice the general improvement in many of the officials who were inexperienced some four years ago, from the training they have received in their personal work with criminal matters of importance. I doubt if the state as a whole ever had a better set of these officers than those who today are thus active in the protection of the public.

OTHER MATTERS IN COURT.

STATE vs. CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

This case was one relative to taxes for the year 1902, and a reference to the case, including the decision of the law court in favor of the State, was made in the last biennial report, on page 21. A petition was presented to the last legislature asking for the payment of the interest penalty, and this the legislature granted and the Attorney General's Department was thus relieve of any further duties in regard to collection.

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE TAX.

This matter relates to the claim of the United States that the State of Maine Liquor Commissioner should pay a United States internal revenue tax under the United States Internal Revenue laws, and reference was made to this case in the last biennial report on page 23.

The decision of the United States Internal Revenue Commissioner as finally rendered in this case was adverse to the State of Maine. We understand that the tax was thereupon finally adjusted between the federal government and the State.

WILLIAM R. MARSHALL vs. STATE OF MAINE.

Under the provisions of chapter twenty-nine, of the Resolves of 1907, William R. Marshall, administrator of the estate of the late William C. Marshall, was authorized and empowered to bring and maintain a suit at common law in the supreme judicial court against the State of Maine, to recover such sums as are claimed to be due said estate for the services of the said William C. Marshall as State assessor. The real question involved related to the tenure of office of a State assessor. During the term of Hon. George M. Seiders, as attorney general, and in the lifetime of William C. Marshall, the claim of Mr. Marshall was presented and an opinion as to the contention of Mr. Marshall obtained from Mr. Seiders. That opinion, together with a detailed statement of the facts and contentions, may be found on pages twenty-eight to thirty-four, both inclusive, of the attorney general's report for 1901-02.

The ruling of Mr. Seiders was adverse to the contentions of Mr. Marshall, hence the resolve of 1907 referred to above. Suit was instituted in the supreme court in Waldo county, and the case was taken to the law court on report, the assistant attorney general appearing for the State. Arguments were presented at the June term, 1908, of the law court at Portland, but decision had not been rendered by that tribunal at the date of this report.

MEMORANDUM: Since the date of this report and before copy went to the printer, a decision was handed down sustaining the contentions of the plaintiff and giving verdict against the State in the sum of $250.

CASES FOR THE LAND AGENT.

No new petitions for location of public lots have arisen since the last report but the petition for location of public lots in Elliottsville is still pending in the law court.

MEMORANDUM: Since the date of this report, to wit, December 19th, 1908, a decision was handed down in the following words:

"A committee should therefore be appointed to locate public lots as follows, viz: In the one-mile strip of the Massachusetts Medical Society, 3,000 acres, one lot of 125 acres, in the Saco Free Bridge Fund grant, 4,044 acres, three lots of 56 acres each, and in the Dudley F. Leavitt grant, 1,250 acres, being part of the State tract, 2,626 acres, last conveyed, a lot or lots containing in the aggregate 113.9 acres, of average quality with the residue of lands in each tract, and to designate the use for which each lot is so reserved and located.

Petition granted. Proceedings nisi prius according to this opinion."

MONMOUTH CHURCH MATTER.

This was an equity proceeding to reach property dedicated to pious uses, having no legal custodian, becoming wasted, etc., under provisions of R. S., chapter 16, section 33, and reference was made to this case in the last biennial report, on page 22.

The case is still pending, and there is a prospect that the property rights of all parties concerned and the best interests of the public generally will be arrived at, by mutual concessions between all such parties and that before long a decree of court may be obtained which will be satisfactory to all concerned.

SABATTUS CHURCH MATTER.

This was an equity proceeding to reach property dedicated to pious uses, having no legal custodian, becoming wasted, etc., under provisions of R. S., chapter 16, section 33, and reference was made to this case in the last biennial report, on page 22.

Appearance has been entered for certain of the defendants. There was a partial hearing on this matter, April 16, 1906, and the case was continued through some mutual understanding of the parties appearing and interested. It is expected that the matter may be taken up again before long and some satisfactory final disposition made.

BRIDGTON CHURCH MATTER.

This was an equity proceeding relative to reaching property dedicated to pious uses, having no legal custodian, becoming wasted, etc., under provisions of R. S., chapter 16, section 33, and reference was made to this case in the last biennial report, on page 21.

The bill in equity was dated the 14th day of October, 1905, and returnable at the January, 1906, rules of the Cumberland county supreme judicial court. The bill was opposed by Addie E. Pingree of Boston through her counsel. There were two hearings before Justice Whitehouse and a decree ordered in behalf of the petitioners. The case was taken to the law court where final decision was rendered approving the decree in favor of the petitioners. The decree was in the words following:

"It is hereby ordered, judged and decreed that the plaintiff's bill be sustained and Henry A. Shorey, Samuel Knight and J. Louville Bennett of Bridgton, county of Cumberland, State of Maine, are hereby appointed trustees to care for said property described in paragraph first of the bill.

It is hereby further ordered, judged and decreed that said trustees shall at once sell the meetinghouse, located on said land, and after said sale deliver a deed of trust of said property described in paragraph first of this bill to Farragut Post, No. 27, of Bridgton, Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Maine, its successors and assigns, for the purpose of converting the same into a memorial square or park upon which shall be reared a soldier's monument or other structure, to the memory of the sons of Bridgton who fought in behalf of the cause of national unity in the War of the Rebellion."

THE PRESIDENT AND TRUSTEES OF BOWDOIN
COLLEGE vs. HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL.

This was a proceeding in equity, under the doctrine of cy pres, in which the plaintiffs desired an order of court relative to the expenditure of the income of a portion of the college funds known as the Collins Professorship of Natural and Revealed Religion.

It appeared that in the year 1847, certain parties raised and paid over to the treasurer of Bowdoin College a large sum of money for the purpose of having a professorship established, which should be filled by persons selected from ordained ministers of a particular denomination, and it was provided that it should be the duty of this professor, "to endeavor to cultivate and maintain a familiar intercourse with the students, and to visit and converse with them at their chambers, and by conversation as well as by more formal preaching and teaching to impress upon their minds the truths of the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, and their suitableness to promote the happiness of the present life, and the necessity that they should be cordially embraced to secure the happiness of a future and endless life."

This professorship had been filled in former years by notable persons but for a number of years the chair had been vacant and the fund was accumulating. The plaintiffs in their bill said, among other things, "the general purpose of the said Collins' fund, as declared by its founders, was 'to increase the usefulness of the instruction in Bowdoin College.'" In less general terms, the purpose was the religious welfare and spiritual life of the undergraduate. At the time when said fund was given, denominationalism and the inculcation of theological doctrines were the methods commonly in vogue for promoting those ends. Institutions naturally turned to ordained clergymen for help in that work. But methods have greatly changed to meet new conditions since that time, while the main purpose remains the same.

The petitioners further indicated their desire to have the income of this fund applied to work closely allied to the particular purpose of the Collins Professorship and therefore asked a decree:

1. "That the court will declare and establish said trust to be a public charity, and declare its enforcement.

2. That the said fund may be decreed to be administered as nearly as possible to the directions of its founders by appropriating the income thereof to one or more of the methods of administration hereinbefore suggested and stated, or to such other method or scheme as may be reported by a master, or framed or adopted by the court."

A hearing was held before Mr. Justice Strout, at Portland, the assistant attorney general appearing for the attorney general. After a careful investigation into the conditions and circumstances it resulted in a decree of court in the following language: "That the trust created by the establishment of the fund mentioned in the bill is a public charitable trust; that the administration thereof in the particular manner prescribed by the founders of the fund now is impracticable; and that accordingly, until the further order of this court, the plaintiff, the president and trustees of Bowdoin College, is directed to apply the income of said fund to the payment of the salary of a secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of said Bowdoin College, and that the residue of said income, if any, from time to time, be added to the principal of said fund, or, at the option of said plaintiff and overseers of said Bowdoin College, be applied to the support of the First Parish church of said Brunswick, or to the support of the service at the College chapel, or to the purchase of books for the library of said College, of a religious, theological, ethical or philosophical character, or to providing speakers for, or otherwise aiding in carrying on the work of said association. Such disposition of the income is adjudged to be within the general scope of the intention of the donors of the charity fund."

HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL, BY
INFORMATION, PETITION FOR MANDAMUS vs.
THE ATLANTIC & ST. LAWRENCE RAILWAY COMPANY AND THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.

This was a petition by Hannibal E. Hamlin, Attorney General, and on relation of Hiram W. Ricker, treasurer of Hiram Ricker & Sons, to compel the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railway Company and the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada to construct an under-pass in Auburn in conformity to a decree of the Board of Railroad Commissioners. Said petition was dated June 5, 1907.

A hearing was had in above matter before a single justice and it was continued pending an attempted settlement of the matter by arrangement of all the parties interested. These possible arrangements have not as yet been agreed upon or carried out and the case still stands upon the docket in position to be pressed with further hearing if no adjustment is made.

HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL, BY
INFORMATION: PETITION FOR MANDAMUS vs.
ASSESSORS OF EAST LIVERMORE.

This was a petition by Hannibal E. Hamlin, Attorney General, and on relation of Henry Reynolds et als against George O. Eustis et als, assessors for the town of East Livermore, to compel the assessors to apportion and assess the state, county and town taxes for the current municipal year upon certain properties according to the just valuation thereof. Said petition was dated April 20, 1908.

This case was entered and, we believe, a preliminary or other hearing was had before a single justice and the matter continued, since the action of the assessors in fact in making their assessment may perhaps render any action by the court upon said petition unnecessary or not desired by the relators. It is probable that at the next term of court in Androscoggin county some arrangement may be made to remove these proceedings for mandamus from the court docket.

HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL, BY
INFORMATION: PETITION FOR MANDAMUS V.
INFORMATION: PETITION FOR MANDAMUS vs.
HENRY L. HIGGINS ET ALS, OF THE CITY COUN-CIL OF ROCKLAND.

This was a petition by Hannibal E. Hamlin, Attorney General, and on relation of Arnold H. Jones, mayor of Rockland and others, to compel the board of aldermen of the city of Rockland to go into joint convention with the common council of Rockland for the election of subordinate city officers, as required by the city charter of the said city of Rockland. Said petition was dated April 15, 1907.

This case was heard before a single justice and decided in favor of the petitioners. The matter, however, was taken to the law court and the decision of the justice below approved. Exceptions were overruled and the preemptory writ of mandamus was directed to issue as ordered. The case will be found reported as Hamlin v. Higgins, 102 Maine 510.

HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN, ATTORNEY GENERAL, AT
THE RELATION OF WALTER A. PERRY: PETI-TION FOR QUO WARRANTO AGAINST BESSIE
E. ALDRICH AND BERNICE B. WELLS AS DIRECTORS OF THE PERRY-ALDRICH COM-PANY.

This was a petition for quo warranto against Bessie E. Aldrich et al, entered in the supreme judicial court in York county, claiming that Bessie E. Aldrich and Bernice B. Wells were not lawfully elected directors of the Perry-Aldrich Company, and were assuming to act as such directors without right and authority, and asking that they appear and show by what authority they claimed to have used and enjoyed the liberties, privileges and franchises belonging and pertaining to the office of director of the Perry-Aldrich Company. Personal notice was ordered upon the petition returnable at the January term, 1908.

Before the return term a bill in equity was filed asking to have the Perry-Aldrich Company dissolved. This bill was filed November 11, 1907, and upon December 3, 1907, temporary receivers were appointed and I was informed arrangements practically were agreed upon by counsel that the corporation should be dissolved. Nothing, therefore, was done with the petition for quo warranto at the January term, 1908.

I was further advised that an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the Perry-Aldrich Company in the district of Massachusetts; that several hearings were had; that the referee adjudged that the company was bankrupt and that the district court of Massachusetts had jurisdiction; that hearing was had before the district judge and the latter dismissed the petition and no appeal was taken from his decision.

Since that decision we have expected the affairs of the corporation would be wound up. These proceedings, however, have not yet been concluded. We believe the receivers have filed their report, a master has been appointed to pass upon the debts of the company and has made his report to the court and the receivers have their final account ready to file if the master's report is confirmed. We expect therefore that very soon the final decree will be entered dissolving the corporation and that at an early term of court the quo warranto proceedings may be dismissed.

CHARLES MARTEL, PLAINTIFF, IN ERROR, vs.
STATE OF MAINE.

The above cause of action is pending in the supreme court of the United States at Washington, having been taken there by a writ of error from the supreme judicial court of the State of Maine for the county of Androscoggin.

The case arises out of prosecution in this State for violation of our law against the sale of intoxicating liquors. In brief, the question expected to be raised in the United States supreme court is the constitutionality of a statute making payment of a retail liquor dealer's tax under the United States internal revenue law prima facie evidence of a violation of the laws of the State against the sale of intoxicating liquors. This case, I am advised, cannot be reached for argument at Washington until probably sometime in the month of October, 1909, or later.

OAKLAND, CLAIMANT, vs. STATE OF MAINE.

This case was reported on page twenty-four of the last report as then pending. Careful investigation of the facts in the case was made by the assistant attorney general in co-operation with counsel representing the town of Oakland. As a result of that investigation there seemed to be no doubt that the State was legally liable to pay the claim made by the town of Oakland and so the controversy was not presented to Mr. Justice Spear, but report was made directly to the governor and council as to the liability of the State and the claim has been adjusted.

STATE TAXATION OF RAILROADS.

This department has been relieved for the past two years from any serious difficulties in the collection of the State tax against railroads. A slight difference of opinion arose between the State and the Boston & Maine Railroad relative to the construction of a certain statute, but the railroad officials upon being seen personally waived their opinions and promptly paid the tax as requested by our department on the part of the State.

STATE WATERS IN THE SO CALLED GREAT PONDS.

There has been more or less difficulty in different sections of the State over claims of rights to use of the water in certain ponds of more than ten acres and which are known as great ponds or ponds in which the State claims to have the ownership of the water and the control of its use. I have had many conferences, discussions and informal hearings as to possible legal procedure in the name of the attorney general in a number of these cases. It is my pleasure to report however that in every instance so far we have been able to venture some suggestions which have in the end brought about at least temporary amicable arrangements and saved the trouble and annoyance of litigation. Some of these cases have been of much importance and very large interests were involved.

DEPORTATION OF STATE PAUPERS.

Some interesting cases have been presented to this department under the immigration laws and regulations of July, nineteen hundred seven, issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, relating to deportation of paupers. One case might be cited whereby a large amount of money has been saved to the State, as the pauper in question was liable to be a public charge for many years. The case was that of Antonio Olivieri who was an Italian subject. This was referred to our department in September, nineteen hundred seven, and the matter was taken up by the assistant attorney general in behalf of the State. It was ascertained that the pauper in question had been committed to the insane hospital at Augusta from the city of Portland, and that the authorities at Portland had already made application for deportation but, for some reason or other, the proceedings had not resulted favorably. This former application made it necessary for our department to examine the entire case carefully, from the date when Olivieri landed in this country, together with his history since that date. It necessitated correspondence and conference with federal authorities to the end that the case might be reopened and reheard. Our efforts were successful and on the fourth day of February, nineteen hundred eight, we were notified that the Immigration Department had taken jurisdiction of the case and soon afterward an order for deportation was issued.

CORPORATIONS ORGANIZED UNDER GENERAL LAW.

During the year 1907, from January first to December thirty-first, both inclusive, one thousand fifty-two certificates of corporations organized under general statute were examined and approved. In the same period of time two hundred sixty-three corporations were excused from filing annual returns and paying annual franchise taxes.

During the year 1908, from January first to November thirtieth, both inclusive, seven hundred eighty-nine certificates were examined and approved, and in the latter period two hundred seventy-three corporations were excused from filing annual returns and paying annual franchise taxes.

During the year 1907, this department collected and turned into the state treasury, directly and indirectly, from corporations which were delinquent in the payment of franchise taxes for the year 1906, the sum of $6,980. During the year 1908, we collected, and accounted for in the same manner, the sum of $740 for the year 1906, and $23,800 for the year 1907; thus making a total collection of delinquent taxes amounting to $31,520.

EXPENSES OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

In previous years a lump sum has been appropriated for expenses of the attorney general's department, without attempting to particularize all of the items for which the appropriation should be expended. Under the system adopted by the last legislature, and now beginning to be in vogue, each department is expected to make a careful estimate of the expenditures liable to be incurred by that department during the two years next succeeding that estimate. Moreover, these new estimates must include many items which have never before been charged to the different departments, such as printing, postage, etc. Taking these items of expenditure into account, the estimate of the expenses of the attorney general's department for 1909-10 will be larger than the appropriations for previous years although, on the whole, it is merely a matter of book-keeping, for by this method each department becomes charged with some definite expenses which heretofore were estimated in other ways, although the actual cost to the State is not increased.

Since the act of 1905, which made the attorney general and his assistant the law officers for all State officials and for all departments, the expenses of the attorney general and his assistant as to travelling and hotel bills have necessarily increased. Here again is an apparent increase of the expense of maintaining the attorney general's department, while, in fact, it has not increased the general expense to the State but, on the whole, will be something of a decrease, as we believe, if all of the figures could be carefully gathered and compared. In the estimate which we have submitted to the State auditor for the expenditures of this department for the next two years, we, therefore, find the total is in excess of the annual appropriation of previous years but the reason for such increase will appear from what we have just been saying.

QUARTERS FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

In the last report of the attorney general, page 28, attention was called to the necessity of proper accommodation for this department in the State House. The need of such accommodation has materially increased since that report was made. Consultations with State officials and others having business with the attorney general's department are such in number and character as to positively require some kind of a retiring room or private office where such consultations may be held. Under the present conditions there is no privacy whatever, nor can there be any, in a room which is open to everyone and where the only possible manner of having a private consultation is to retire to the lobby or corridor and use some corner thereof, the parties remaining standing during the consultation. For the same reasons telephone communications cannot be had with any degree of privacy. Moreover, there is no supply of those office conveniences which are absolutely necessary to satisfactory work, and even if those conveniences should be furnished, they must all be put on trucks every two years and distributed in various nooks and corners of the State House. During the session of the approaching legislature, a part of the papers belonging to this department are to be in the basement, a part on the third floor and a part on the fourth floor with no proper means of preservation or filing and all subject to great inconvenience in examination and reference. If no additions are to be made to the capitol building, it would seem advisable to hire offices in some other building and, although such a plan presents many objections, it seems to be the only solution of the difficulties under the present conditions.

GENERAL REMARKS.

No complaint has been made to this department during the last two years as to the misapplication or misappropriation of funds, or breaches of trust, under laws of 1905, chapter 162, section 5. As in my last report (see pages 27 and 28) I should still recommend some legislation in connection with this subject matter, and especially the passage of some acts requiring the various registers of probate to notify the Attorney General's Department as to records in their offices relating to the subject matter, transmitting such copies as may seem desirable.

For the past two years I have managed to continue to retain the assistance of Honorable Warren C. Philbrook of Waterville, Maine, as deputy or assistant attorney general. He has continued to serve this office with the same high degree of fidelity and ability as before. To him and to me it is known that the work of our department has been constantly on the increase since the laws of 1905, chapter 162, went into effect. The duties of this office could not have been properly performed in any possible way by one person. It gives me great pleasure to speak in the highest commendation of the assistance which Mr. Philbrook has so well given me.

We have maintained the same general plan as to the approval of certificates of incorporation and the excusing of corporations from filing returns as was in force at the time of my last report. These duties have practically been almost entirely performed by Mr. Philbrook at our Augusta office; papers have there been entered and filed and the public has been generally given to understand that the proper place for corporation matters to receive attention was at our Augusta office. In this way it seemed to us that we could act for the best interests of the department and for the best interests of the people of the State. At the same time I have continued to have abstracts of the various certificates of incorporation made and sent me daily so that I could keep in constant touch with the office work.

WORK FOR OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

Since the act of 1905, chapter 162, went into effect the legal work of various other departments of the State government has constantly increased with the department of the Attorney General. The amount of this work can only be realized by seeing personally the actual amount of work which has gone through our hands in one way and another.

During the last two years the giving of oral opinions and advice by this department has very much increased. Much of this had to be oral of necessity because time would not have permitted the writing of opinions in all cases wherein we were consulted. We have however given some written opinions on various matters a few of which, among the most important, we have included in substance on some of the subsequent pages.

This report only attempts to show a part of the work covered by this department. It would be impossible for any report to show it all.

Respectfully submitted,

HANNIBAL E. HAMLIN,

Attorney General.

MARRIAGE LAWS. PUBLIC LAWS, 1907.

Hon. William T. Cobb, Governor, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge from you various inquiries in connection with the recent act of the legislature of 1907, authorizing clergymen to solemnize marriages, in connection with the provisions of section 11 of chapter 61, R. S. 1903.

The copy of the act of 1907, furnished me, reads as follows:

“Section 1. Any clergyman residing in this state and engaged in the service of the religious body to which he belongs, may solemnize marriages such facts being first vouched for by certificate signed by the bishop, the presiding elder or the clerk of such religious body, duly filed in the office of the secretary of state. A fee of two dollars shall be paid to the secretary of state upon the filing of such certificate, who shall thereupon issue to such clergyman a certificate under the seal of the state, to the effect that he is authorized to solemnize marriages, and such certificate, or a certified copy thereof, shall be received as evidence in all courts of his authority so to do, and a copy of the record of any marriage solemnized by such clergyman, duly made and kept, attested or sworn to by the clerk of the town in which the marriage intention was recorded or in which the marriage was solemnized shall be received in all courts as evidence of the fact of marriage.

Section 2. This act shall take effect when approved.”

The date of approval has not been furnished me, but the act was, of course, approved before the adjournment of the legislature and is in force.

Section 11 of chapter 61, R. S., 1903, reads as follows:

“Section 11. Every justice of the peace residing in the state, every ordained minister of the gospel, and every person licensed to preach by an association of ministers, religious seminary or ecclesiastical body, duly appointed and commissioned for that purpose by the governor, may solemnize marriages within the limits of his appointment. The governor, with the advice and consent of the council, may appoint women, otherwise eligible under the constitution, to solemnize marriage.”

Upon consideration of said act of 1907, and the said section 11, chapter 61, R. S., I am of the opinion that the act of 1907 should be considered by the state officials, until the court may rule in substance otherwise, supplementary to said section 11 and not as a repeal of any part thereof.

I should therefore advise that the fee required be exacted by the secretary of state for the certificate issued under compliance with the terms of the act of 1907, but, where applications are made and commissions issued under said section 11, that no attempt should be made to exact the fee provided for in the act of 1907.

While the purpose of the act of 1907 may have been to extend our laws on the subject matter so as to cover or provide for certain additional cases, it is unfortunate that the legislature should not have passed some slight additional act with reference to said section 11 so as to clearly and entirely remove any possible inconsistencies between said act of 1907 and said section 11. Until some judicial determination of our supreme court upon these laws would dictate advice to the contrary, it is my opinion that the state officials should consider these laws as before indicated.

STATE PRINTING.—UNIVERSITY OF MAINE AND MAINE AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION.

*Hon. Thurston S. Burns, Member of Executive Council,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your oral request for an examination of the statutes relating to State printing, and an expression of views as to the nature and amount of printing for the University of Maine and the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station which should be paid out of the appropriation made for State printing.

R. S., chapter 3, section 24, as amended by chapter 138, of the Public Laws of 1905, reads as follows:

“Section 24. The number of copies of the following named reports to be printed hereafter at the expense of the state shall be determined by the governor and council but shall not exceed the following numbers * * * * The report of the University of Maine, fifteen hundred copies annually; the report of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, one thousand copies annually; * * * * Of the above named reports seventy-five copies may be retained by the binder for public documents and at least six hundred and seventy-five copies shall be delivered to the state librarian by the binder for exchange library use and general distribution, and the balance of the number of each report shall be delivered to the head of the department or institution where it originated and was prepared for publication.”

R. S., chapter 3, section 25, was also amended by chapter 138 of the Public Laws of 1905, so as to read as follows:

“Section 25. The reports, catalogues and compilations of all state departments, bureaus, commissions and institutions, other than as enumerated in the preceding section, may be printed and bound, but the number and the styles in which the same shall be so printed and bound, at the expense of the state, shall be determined from time to time by the governor and council, who shall also fix the number of the same which shall be delivered from the bindery or printing office to the librarian of the state library.”

R. S., chapter 3, section 26, was also amended by chapter 52 of the Public Laws of 1905, so as to read as follows:

"Section 26. Each department, bureau and institution may have printed at the expense of the state, bulletins and circular letters of inquiry and information, at such times and in such numbers as the officer in charge thereof may consider necessary, such order for printing to be subject to the approval of the governor and council.

Except as hereinbefore provided, no reports, catalogues or compilations shall be printed, stitched or bound by any department, bureau, commission or institution of the state, at the expense of the state, unless by virtue of special legislative provision therefor."

From the various sections thus cited it would appear that the annual reports of the University of Maine and of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station are to be printed at the expense of the State, but the number of reports in each case is to be determined by the governor and council within the limits indicated by the amendment, to wit, not exceeding fifteen hundred copies annually of the report of the University of Maine and not exceeding one thousand copies annually of the report of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station.

The second group or class of printing, comprised under the terms "reports, catalogues and compilations," may in the discretion of the governor and council, also be printed and bound at the expense of the State but the number and styles shall be determined by the governor and council. The natural order of procedure, therefore, would seem to be, that application be made to the governor and council, the number and styles of the "reports, catalogues and compilations" be determined by them and any necessary order for printing and binding then be given.

A third group or class of printing, comprised under the terms "bulletins and circular letters of inquiry and information," may also be printed at the expense of the State and here also the natural order of procedure would seem to be that application be made to the governor and council, that the order for such "bulletins and circular letters of inquiry and information" be approved by them and any necessary order for the printing then be given. It would seem as if the method or course here suggested would make all these matters definite and certain, and tend to avoid misunderstanding and confusion.

TELEPHONE COMPANIES.—RETURNS OF MUTUAL COMPANIES.

Hon. Arthur I. Brown, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of papers referred to me relative to your inquiry concerning the returns of a so-called mutual telephone company, or a company which does not charge toll directly to its own subscribers, but does charge toll to strangers, the subscribers contributing by quarterly assessments enough to pay the running expenses after the deduction of the toll receipts paid by strangers.

We understand your inquiry to be as to whether or not the company in question should include in its gross receipts both the toll receipts from strangers and the quarterly assessments from subscribers.

Under our laws, these companies are required to make returns to you, showing among other things their gross receipts, in order that they may be duly taxed thereon. See R. S., chapter 8, section 35, et seq. Said section 25 reads as follows:

“Every corporation, association or person operating in whole or in part a telephone or telegraph line for toll or other compensation within the state shall annually, between the first and fifteenth days of April, return to the secretary of state under oath of its treasurer, if a corporation, the amount of the capital stock of the corporation, the number and par value of the shares, and a complete list of its shareholders resident within the state, with their places of residence, and the number of shares belonging to each on said first day of April; if a person or association, the owner or owners or one of them shall annually make a return under oath to the secretary of state, between the first and fifteenth days of April, of the names and residences of the owner or owners and the relative interest each owner has in any such association on the first day of April. The returns shall also contain a statement of the assessed value in each town of the real estate of such corporation, association or person used solely for the conduct of a telephone or telegraph business, and taxed by any municipality, and the gross receipts from business done wholly within the state for operating such business during the preceding year ending April first.”

In the interests of the State, I should recommend that until reason should be shown for a different course by any decision of our court, that you consider the term "gross receipts," under the section just quoted, as including both the said tolls and the said quarterly assessments. Under this view, in making its return, such company should include in its gross receipts, the said tolls from strangers and the said quarterly assessments from subscribers.

SCHOOL MILL TAX FOR 1907.

Hon. Pascal P. Gilmore, Treasurer of State, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your recent communication as to whether a tax of one mill or one and one-half mills, known as the school mill tax, shall be assessed and collected this year and apportioned under the existing law, I beg to advise as follows:

Chapter 15, section 124, Revised Statutes, now in force, reads as follows:

"A tax of one mill on a dollar shall annually be assessed upon all the property in the state according to the valuation thereof, and shall be known as the mill tax for the support of common schools."

This section was amended by the laws of 1907, chapter III, section 2, which reads as follows:

"Section one hundred and twenty-four of chapter fifteen of the revised statutes is hereby amended by striking out the words "one mill" in the first line thereof and inserting in their place the words "one and one-half mills," so that said section as amended, shall read as follows:

"Section 124. A tax of one and one-half mills on a dollar shall annually be assessed upon all the property in the state according to the valuation thereof, and shall be known as the mill tax for the support of common schools."

This amendment, however, does not take effect until January 1, 1908, since section 3 of said chapter III of the laws of 1907 reads as follows:

"This act shall take effect January first, nineteen hundred and eight."

The tax in question therefore is not changed from one mill to one and one-half mills until the year 1908. This is further verified by the terms of section 1, chapter 445, and section 1, chapter 446, of the Private and Special Laws of 1907, relating to the assessment of State tax for the years 1907 and 1908 respectively.

Said section 1, of said chapter 445, read as follows:

"That each city, town, plantation, or any other place hereinafter named, within this state, shall be assessed and pay the several sums with which they respectively stand charged in the following lists; the same being in addition to the poll tax of one cent on each poll; a tax of three mills on the dollar of the present state valuation for the current disbursements of the treasury for the year one thousand nine hundred and seven; and for the school mill tax provided by section 124, of chapter 15 of the revised statutes."

It will be noticed that the school mill tax therein expressly referred to for 1907 is that of one mill provided by said section 124, of chapter 15, of the Revised Statutes.

Said section 1, of said chapter 446, reads as follows:

"That each city, town, plantation, or any other place hereinafter named, within this state, shall be assessed and pay the several sums with which they respectively stand charged in the following lists; the same being in addition to the poll tax of one cent on each poll; a tax of three mills on the dollar of the present state valuation for the current disbursements of the treasury for the year one thousand nine hundred and eight; and for the school mill tax provided by section 124, of chapter 15 of the revised statutes, as amended by chapter 111, of the public laws of 1907."

It will be noticed that the school mill tax therein expressly referred to for 1908 is that of one and one-half mills provided by said section 2, of chapter 111 of the laws of 1907.

It is the opinion of this department that the school tax to be assessed and collected this year, and apportioned, should be one mill, as above indicated.

MATTAMISCONTIS—DISPOSITION OF FUNDS.

Hon. Pascal P. Gilmore, Treasurer of State, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to advise you that I have given investigation relative to your inquiry as to what should be done with the $500 and interest of the town of Mattamiscontis, now deposited in a Bangor bank.

We assume from the correspondence transmitted by you that the affairs of the town of Mattamiscontis are being settled under chapter 95, of the Private and Special Laws of 1907, and in connection with any other public laws in force. Said chapter 95, of the Private and Special Laws of 1907 is entitled, "An Act to repeal 'An Act incorporating the town of Mattamiscontis' approved March eight, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, and providing for the adjustment and payment of its indebtedness." This act, said chapter 95, provides among other things that for the purpose of ascertaining the legal assets and indebtedness of the town, the county commissioners are appointed appraisers of the assets, and auditors of claims against the town of Mattamiscontis, presented to the commissioners on or before the first day of July, 1907, and said commissioners are authorized and directed to make an assessment in the premises, etc.

It appears from the correspondence that the $500 and interest, above noted, is money received from the sale of school lands, the legality of which is not questioned.

R. S., chapter 7, section 19, which seem pertinent to the question before us, provides as follows:

"When the incorporation of a town is repealed, the care and custody of the school lands therein reverts to the land agent and he has the same powers in relation thereto which he would have if such town had never been incorporated; and the school funds of such town shall be collected and transmitted to the treasurer of state and by him made a part of the permanent school fund belonging to such township or tract. The land agent is charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of this section and is authorized to commence and maintain suits in the name of the state for this purpose."

I am of opinion that said chapter 95, of the Private and Special Laws of 1907, and said section 19, of R. S., chapter 7, should be construed together and that under the spirit and intent of said section 19, of R. S., chapter 7, the said $500 and interest should be transmitted to the treasurer of the State of Maine.

INSURANCE AGENTS AND BROKERS.— REVOCATION OF LICENSE.

Hon. S. W. Carr, Insurance Commissioner, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry as to the power of the insurance commissioner to revoke the license of an agent or broker under R. S., chapter 49, section 97, I have the honor to advise you as follows:

Said section 97 provides in general for the licensing of insurance brokers, for the punishment of such broker acting without a license, for the revocation of the license on account of violation of the insurance laws or upon request of the insurance company, and read as follows:

“Section 97. The insurance commissioner may license any person as broker to negotiate contracts of insurance for others than himself for a compensation, by virtue of which license he may effect insurance with any domestic company or its agents; or any resident of the state to negotiate such contracts and effect insurance with the agents of any foreign company who have been licensed to do business in this state as provided in sections seventy-nine and ninety-six, but with no others; said license shall remain in force one year unless revoked as hereinafter provided. Whoever, without such license, assumes to act as such broker, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or by imprisonment not more than sixty days for each offense. The insurance commissioner, after reasonable notice, may revoke the license of any agent or broker for violation of the insurance laws; or the license of any agent upon receipt of written request therefor from the company filed in the office of said commissioner.”

Your request is directed as to the authority of the commissioner to revoke a license of any agent or broker for violation of the insurance laws. I should recommend in the ordinary course the practice which I think has been followed in your department, that in ordinary cases, you insist first upon a conviction of the broker for his misconduct in a court of competent jurisdiction. You will then have before you a record upon which you can act with certainty.

We are not prepared to say, when in some flagrant cases where you are satisfied that, from perhaps improper motives, prosecutions are not instituted, you may not have the power to thoroughly and carefully investigate these matters upon specific charges, reasonable notice and proper proceedings, and thereupon revoke a license for sufficient cause shown. Should a special case of this kind appear, we shall be glad to advise you concerning the same. For your general line of conduct in this matter, however, we advise as above, that the charges for violation of the law should first be determined by a court of competent jurisdiction before you undertake to revoke any license.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE.

Hon. S. W. Carr, Insurance Commissioner, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry as to whether or not a marine insurance company is authorized to insure automobiles against loss or damage by fire for an extended period, while upon the land and not in transit, and a long time after the transportation of the automobiles has ended, I have the honor to advise you as follows:

Under R. S., chapter 49, section 41, clause II, corporations familiarly known as marine insurance companies may be organized:

“To insure vessels, freights, goods, money, effects and money lent on bottomry or respondentia, against the perils of the sea and other perils usually insured against by marine insurance companies, including risks of inland navigation and transportation.”

I assume that the company you have in mind has for its purposes those enumerated in the clause II just quoted. The business under consideration, therefore, would seem to be, generally speaking, the attempt of a marine insurance company, to do the business of an ordinary fire insurance company, so called, and for which purpose fire insurance companies may be organized, under said section 41, clause I, which latter clause reads as follows:

“To insure against loss or damage to property by fire, lightning or tempest on land.”

The legislature of this State, (see R. S., chapter 49, section 4,) has provided in substance a standard form of fire insurance policy and that no fire insurance company shall issue an insurance policy on property in this State other than those in the standard form as set forth in the statute, with some exceptions. The exceptions do not seem to cover the question before us as to the insurance of automobiles.

It is my opinion that the attempt of the insurance company in question, to carry on practically the business of a fire insurance company upon land, is in conflict with the spirit and intent of our law, and I should, therefore, advise against it.

ASSESSMENT CASUALTIES COMPANY.— REDUCTION OF RESERVE FUND.

Hon. S. W. Carr, Insurance Commissioner, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry as to what extent the reserve fund of assessment casualty companies on deposit in the State treasury can be reduced, I have the honor to advise you as follows:

It is my opinion that this fund cannot at any time be reduced below the amount equal to one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members, and that such an assessment refers to an assessment made to pay indemnity claims. In R. S., chapter 49, section 126, (near the middle) appears the following clause relative to the matter before us. It is as follows:

“Provided, however, that said fund shall not at any time be reduced below an amount equal to one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members.”

What is the meaning of the words “one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members”? In order to ascertain we must examine all of said section 126, which reads as follows:

“Any corporation organized under section one hundred and twenty-three, or any corporation of this state doing assessment insurance business under this chapter or its charter, shall keep on deposit with the treasurer of state a reserve fund for the benefit and protection of certificate holders in said corporation; for the creation of which it shall on or before the thirty-first day of December, of each year, deposit with said treasurer not less than ten per cent of the total receipts on assessments made to pay indemnity claims during the year then ended, until the reserve fund so accumulated shall amount, together with the amount there deposited prior to March one, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, to not less than twenty-five thousand dollars. These amounts may be deposited in such interest bearing securities as the governor and council may approve, or in such securities as any insurance company or savings bank may, from time to time, be authorized to hold for the purpose of investment. These securities shall be held in trust by the treasurer of state, but the corporation shall have at all times the right to exchange any part of said securities for others of like amount and character. When deemed advisable by a majority of the directors, such a part of the fund as may be considered necessary, may be applied from time to time, to the payment of claims under insurance contracts and the expense necessarily incident thereto, and for no other purpose. Provided, however, that said fund shall not at any time be reduced below an amount equal to one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members. The insurance commissioner shall annually, in February, certify to the treasurer of state, the minimum amount of reserve fund required to be kept on deposit in the state treasury by each corporation doing business on the assessment plan, under this chapter. If said corporation shall neglect for sixty days to satisfy any judgment against it, in any court in this state, then the said treasurer shall convert into money any of said securities, and forthwith satisfy such judgment, and said corporation shall not transact any further business until said deposit is restored. When any such corporation shall discontinue business, any justice of the supreme judicial court may appoint a receiver or agent to administer any unexhausted portion of such fund which shall be used, less compensation not to exceed five per cent, as such court or justice may allow the receiver or agent, first, in the payment of accrued indemnity claims upon certificates or policies, or if insufficient to pay such claims in full, they shall be paid pro rata; second, if a balance remains after the payment of such claims, such balance shall be distributed to the holders of certificates then in force, pro rata, in proportion to the total payments by each policy-holder after first paying all expenses incident to such distribution. If, upon the thirty-first day of December of any year, the reserve fund on any such corporation is found to be less than the amount of one assessment or periodical call upon all of the members thereof, said corporation shall, within one year thereafter, collect from its members a sum sufficient to bring said reserve fund up to one assessment or periodical call upon all its members, and deposit the amount with the treasurer of state to the credit of said fund."

The only place in said section 126, where the word assessment appears previous to its use in the clause we are now trying to interpret, is in the early part of said section 126, where after providing that there shall be a reserve fund thus kept on deposit with the treasurer it says: "for the creation of which (referring, of course, to said reserve fund) it shall on or before the thirty-first day of December of each year deposit with the state treasurer not less than ten per cent of the total receipts on assessment made to pay indemnity claims for the year then ended" etc., etc.

This clearly refers to assessments made to pay indemnity claims in express terms. I am, therefore, forced to the conclusion that the words, "one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members," used in connection with how far the reserve fund may be reduced refers to assessments made to pay indemnity claims in the early part of said section 126.

FRATERNAL BENEFICIARY ASSOCIATIONS.— DEPOSIT WITH STATE TREASURER.

Hon. S. W. Carr, Insurance Commissioner, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to report to you, in answer to your inquiry as to whether or not the deposit of $1,000 with the treasurer of the State of Maine by fraternal beneficiary associations as specified in R. S., chapter 49, section 139, is one and the same deposit specified in R. S., chapter 49, section 140, as the deposit of fifteen per cent of total mortuary receipts for the year ending December 31st.

After an investigation of the statutes in question it is the opinion of this department that the deposits referred to are not one and the same. Said section, 139, reads as follows:

"No association hereafter organized under the provisions of sections one hundred thirty-five and one hundred thirty-six shall incur any liability or issue any benefit certificate until it has received from the insurance commissioner a certificate to the effect that it has complied with the requirements of law and is duly authorized to transact business in this state. Before such certificate is granted, the association must present satisfactory evidence to the insurance commissioner that it has established mortuary assessment rates which are not lower than those now indicated as necessary by the national fraternal congress mortality tables and that at least five hundred persons have each paid one advance mortuary assessment on the rates so established and become a bona fide member of a local branch of the association, and that it has deposited with the treasurer of state at least one thousand dollars as a part of its emergency or reserve fund for the benefit and protection of certificate holders in said association, which fund shall be held and used as hereinafter provided."

Said section, 140, reads as follows:

"Each such association organized under the foregoing provisions, after March twenty-one, nineteen hundred and one, shall, on or before the thirty-first day of December in each year, deposit with the treasurer of state to the credit of its emergency or reserve fund not less than fifteen per cent of its total mortuary receipts for the year then ending, until the amount so deposited amounts to not less than fifty thousand dollars. These amounts shall be deposited in such interest bearing securities as any insurance company or savings bank may from time to time by law invest its fund in, and the securities shall be held in trust by the treasurer of state, but the association shall have at all times the right to exchange any part of said securities for others of like amount and character, and the income from said fund shall be paid by said treasurer to the association. When deemed advisable by the majority of the directors, or other officers corresponding thereto, such part of the fund as may be considered necessary, may with the written approval of the insurance commissioner, be applied from time to time to the payment of death benefits but for no other purpose; provided, however, that such fund shall not at any time be reduced below an amount equal to one assessment or periodical call upon all of its members, nor to less than one thousand dollars. The insurance commissioner shall annually in February, certify to the treasurer of state, the minimum amount of reserve fund required to be kept on deposit in the treasury by each such association doing business under this chapter. If said association shall neglect for sixty days to satisfy any judgment against it, in any court in this state, then the said treasurer shall convert into money any of said securities, and forthwith satisfy such judgment, and said association shall not transact any further business until said deposit is restored. When any such association shall discontinue business, any justice of the supreme judicial court may appoint a receiver or agent to administer any unexhausted portion of such fund which shall be used, less compensation not to exceed five per cent, as such court or justice may allow the receiver or agent; first, in the payment of accrued, mortuary or indemnity claims upon certificates or policies, or if insufficient to pay such claims in full, they shall be paid pro rata; second, if a balance remains after the payment of such claims, such balance to be distributed to the holders of certificates then in force, pro rata, in accordance with the total mortuary payments of said members, after first paying all expenses incident to such distribution. If, upon the thirty-first day of December of any year, the emergency or reserve fund of any such association is found to be less than the amount of one assessment or periodical call upon all the members thereof, said association shall, within six months thereafter, collect from its members a sum sufficient to bring said emergency or reserve fund up to one assessment or periodical call upon all its members, and deposit the amount with the treasurer of state to the credit of said fund."

It will be observed that the deposit of $1,000 to be made with the treasurer of State under said section 139, is a deposit required before the insurance commissioner can give his official certificate to the association, and it must be made before the association shall incur liabilities or issue any benefit certificate, because before the association can thus engage in business, it must receive the certificate from the insurance commissioner. Said section 139, in express language states that this $1,000 is a part (and therefore not the whole) of the emergency or reserve fund.

The deposit with the treasurer of state of the fifteen per cent of the total mortuary receipts for the year ending December 31st, noted in said section 140, appears to be a further, distinct and an annual deposit required of the association. It is credited to the emergency or reserve fund and therefore is another part thereof. It is a deposit made annually after the association has been organized and appears to be entirely additional to the said deposit of $1,000 provided for in said section 139.

STATE ROAD MATTER.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—Referring to your inquiry concerning the State road law it would seem to us that under Public Laws of 1907, chapter 112, provision is made for an available fund for permanent road building consisting of three factors, as follows:

(a) A portion of the amount annually raised and appropriated by the city for the repair of its highways, this amount depending upon the valuation of the city; (b) a special appropriation by the city equal to 50% of the amount required to be set apart, and herein denominated as (a); (c) the fund which comes from the State.

Considering the situation all over the State and the various parts of the State road law it would seem to us technically that we must advise that all these funds as a joint fund should be spent under the act in question, practically under your direction. To establish a different precedent would be unwise if our position is tenable. It seems to us that the State road law justifies our position. See for example, Public Laws 1907, chapter 112, section 7, where the fund of the various parts above cited is noted as "a joint fund for the permanent improvement," etc.

It would also seem clear, technically, that under section 8 of said chapter 112, when the work is of a sufficient size the law requires competitive bids.

STATE ROAD LAW.—CONTRACT WORK.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to inform you that this department has considered the subject matter of your recent inquiry concerning your right as State Commissioner of Highways to insist upon contract work under section 8, of chapter 112, of the laws of 1907, in the expenditure of sums properly raised by the towns entirely outside of the so-called "joint fund" specified in the State road act, to wit, said chapter 112, of the laws of 1907.

We have looked through the act with much care and we do not find any specific authority for you to so assume control of any fund except the so-called "joint fund." We advise that you should not attempt to exercise authority beyond what is clearly given. We therefore recommend that your administration in this matter should be confined to the "joint fund."

For the same reason where a town by an independent and distinct vote has raised money entirely outside the "joint fund" and to be devoted to drainage, since the State road act above referred to does not clearly provide that you can insist upon contract, etc., as noted in said section 8, we would similarly advise that you should not attempt to assume authority to so require the contract work, etc., covering the drainage.

STATE ROAD LAW.—COMPLETION OF CONTRACT.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—Your inquiry as to the liability of a town to complete its contract made for the construction of a section of State road under Public Laws, 1907, chapter 112, section 8, has been duly received and we have given the same consideration.

We understand the case you have at hand is where the municipality, having made a binding contract for the construction of a given amount of State road for a specific sum, and having expended the contract price and being able to complete only a part of the road, desires to stop work and have the portion built accepted as and for a full completion of their contract covering the entire amount.

Upon considering this matter in connection with the State road law, so-called, and the full spirit thereof, we can hardly advise you to accept such part performance in behalf of the municipality and excuse performance of the rest. Said Public Laws, 1907, chapter 112, section 8, apparently intends to provide for the submission of bids for construction work, the acceptance thereof and the making of a binding contract in connection therewith. It provides for bids and contracts both in behalf of individuals and municipalities. A contract made with either is intended to be a valid and binding contract. There seems to be no authority in the act in question to excuse performance of the contract either on the part of the individual or the municipality. If one can be excused, why not the other? If municipalities claim they can be relieved from full performance of such contracts, individuals may ask for the same relief. We see no reason why one should be bound to performance of the contract and the other excused. We believe it was the spirit and intent of the act in question that whoever made a valid contract in the premises should be fully bound thereby and it seems to us that as highway commissioner it would be an unwise policy for you to attempt to excuse a municipality for non-performance of any binding contract into which it had properly and legally entered.

STATE ROAD LAW.—ALTERATION OF LOCATION BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry as to whether or not highways which are State roads, so-called, can be altered by county commissioners under R. S., chapter 23, sections 1 to 15 inclusive, and any amendments thereof or additions thereto, I have the honor to reply that I have given the subject matter examination, and advise as follows:

It is my opinion that all parts of R. S., chapter 23, including sections 1 to 15 inclusive, and amendments thereof and additions thereto, relating to ways, and sections 99 to 105 inclusive, and amendments thereof and additions thereto, relating to State roads should be construed together, while any or all of the same may be in force. Similarly I believe that all parts of R. S., chapter 23, and amendments thereof and additions thereto, should be construed so far as possible (except parts expressly repealed) with the so-called State road law of 1907, namely, chapter 112, of the Public Laws of 1907. Bearing these principles in mind, upon a careful consideration of all the statutes in question, it is my opinion that R. S., chapter 23, sections 1 to 15 inclusive, and any amendments thereof or additions thereto, giving the county commissioners authority to alter highways, have not been repealed, and that county commissioners, therefore, have authority in proper cases, on procedure before them, to make alterations in question.

STATE ROAD LAW.—ARTICLES IN TOWN WARRANT.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 31st, making inquiry for your official use as to proper form of articles, which should be inserted in the warrants for town meetings under section 5, of chapter 112, of the Public Laws of 1907, entitled "An Act to provide for State aid, and for the expenditure of other public moneys, in the permanent improvement of main highways or State roads."

Upon an examination of the section in question, it would seem as if the two things required by the towns are first, to adopt the provisions of the act in question, and second, to appropriate and set apart for the permanent improvement of the main highways such sum of money as is contemplated and directed by said section. I would, therefore, suggest for your consideration as proper, the following articles, namely:

"Article . . . To see if the town will vote "yes," or "no," upon the adoption of the provisions of chapter 112, of the Public Laws of Maine, for the year 1907, relating to the appropriation of money necessary to entitle the town to state aid for highways for the year 1908."

"Article . . . To see if the town will raise, appropriate and set apart, for the permanent improvement of the main highways within the town, such sum of money as is contemplated and directed by section 5, of chapter 112, of the Public Laws of Maine, for the year 1907."

CONTRACT FOR STATE ROAD.

*Hon. Paul D. Sargent, State Commissioner of Highways,
Augusta, Maine:*

DEAR SIR:—Replying to the following inquiry, may any or all of the bids now submitted for the construction of the State road at B be rejected, I have the honor to advise as follows:

Chapter 112, section 8, of the Public Laws of 1907, provides as follows:

"The selectmen or other local officers having jurisdiction and the state commissioner of highways shall have the right to reject any or all bids, if in their opinion good cause exists therefor, but otherwise they shall award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder."

This language seems to make the selectmen or other local officers having jurisdiction, and the State commissioner of highways, a joint board for determining whether any or all bids may be rejected. So far as the action of the municipal officers is concerned, it was settled in this State as early as 1840, and has been the law of this State ever since, "that the selectmen of towns, being agents for the public and discharging duties of a political or municipal character may act by majorities." Stevens vs. Foss, 18 Me. 19. If the board of municipal officers is not unanimous to reject or accept bids, then we are of opinion that a majority of the selectmen or other local officers may act with the State commissioner of highways to reject or accept the bids under the act of 1907 above referred to. It would, therefore, appear necessary for you to have a meeting with the selectmen or other local officers having jurisdiction, and if a majority of those selectmen or other local officers, and yourself, agree to reject any or all bids, we think it would be competent for you to so act.

The act for 1907 gives the right to reject any or all bids, "if in their opinion good cause exists therefor." We regard this power as being judicial rather than ministerial, and in the absence of any fraudulent or improper conduct on the part of the persons making the decision, we think that decision would be final. It would only remain for you to form an opinion for good cause and if in your opinion (meaning in the opinion of yourself and a majority of the selectmen or other local officers) a good cause did actually exist, then we think you would have a perfect right to reject any or all of the bids. On the other hand, if in the opinion of the majority of the selectmen or other local officers and yourself, there was not good cause to reject any or all of the bids then the statutes plainly require that you should award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder.

SALARIES OF PUBLIC OFFICERS.

Hon. Charles P. Hatch, State Auditor, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry of this department which practically is whether or not the payment of the "salaries of the superintendent, four assistants, the steward and treasurer, chaplain and matron" of the insane hospital can be made from the appropriation for "Salaries of Public Officers," I have the honor to report as follows: It is my opinion that such payment can be made as within the spirit and intent of our existing laws.

In your communication to this department you say:

"It has been the practice heretofore to pay the salaries of superintendent, four assistants, the steward and treasurer, chaplain and matron of the insane hospitals from the appropriation for 'Salary of Public Officers.'"

You further call our attention to section 20 of chapter 2, of the Revised Statutes, which provides that,

"Money appropriated for the various branches of expenditure in the public service shall be applied solely to the object for which the appropriation is made."

You further ask if such persons, (meaning the superintendent, four assistants, the steward and treasurer, chaplain and matron, of the insane hospitals above referred to), "are public officers and thus entitled to receive their compensation from the appropriation for "Salaries of Public Officers," or are they simply employees and entitled to their compensation only from the specific appropriation for the maintenance of each institution?"

The term "public officer" is used in the statutes sometimes in a narrow and sometimes in a very broad sense. Much, therefore, may depend in construing the meaning of these words upon all of the facts and circumstances surrounding each case including various statutes which may have been passed relating to the same.

In the present instance, therefore, the substance of your inquiry, we assume, is not whether the persons in question may be regarded as public officers for all purposes in connection with any and all laws, and public officers within the narrowest and most technical definition of the same, but whether the persons in question are such officers as may be paid out of the appropriation for the "Salaries of Public Officers."

This department has made such examination as time will permit and has attempted to run over legislation with reference to the insane hospitals from the earliest date. In this connection we call your attention to some of the following legislative and historical facts:

The Resolves of 1836, chapter 30, authorized the appointment of an agent who under the direction of the governor and council, should make contracts for material and superintend the erection in Augusta of:

"A hospital and other buildings suitable for the accommodation of a superintendent and of one hundred lunatic persons, furiously mad."

The Resolves of 1838, chapter 49, provided for the additional sum of $29,500 to complete the outside of the insane hospital.

The Resolves of 1839, chapter 88, provided for the sum of $15,000 to finish one wing of the insane hospital, with so much of the central buildings as might be necessary for their convenient occupation.

In the Resolves of 1840, the report of the committee on public buildings is found on page 126. This was a report of several pages giving the history of the movement which resulted in the erection of a hospital by public appropriation aided by private subscriptions, and that committee recommended the passage of a resolve which is found in the Resolves of 1840, chapter 32, and which after providing for certain appropriations makes the following provision:

"That the governor and council be authorized to prepare suitable rules, regulations and conditions for the admission of patients and appoint suitable officers and attendants, and fix their salaries, and for such salaries or other necessary contingent expenses, the governor, with advice of council, may draw his warrant on the treasury to be paid from any money not otherwise appropriated."

This resolve was approved March 6, 1840.

Note the salaries are to be paid by warrant on the treasury.

In the first annual report of the directors of the Maine Insane Hospital, made in December, 1840, to the governor and council, they report that the building was ready for the reception of patients on the fourteenth day of October, 1840. This report contains a "system of regulations for the Maine Insane Hospital adopted by the governor and council," which sets forth with much detail the duties of directors, superintendent, steward, matron, assistant physicians, and attendants and assistants. The superintendent for that year was Cyrus Knapp, M. D., who was succeeded the following year by Isaac Ray, M. D.

As touching the question of payment of salaries out of any contingent fund or from any other sources available from the income of the hospital, it is interesting to note that the second annual report, 1841, of the directors of the Maine Insane Hospital contains the first report of the treasurer and steward of that institution. He charged himself with $5,000 drawn from the State treasury and $4,558.78 from towns and individuals for the support of patients, and small sums received for articles sold. The entire sum with which he charged himself was expended and more than expended, for the total expenditures were $9,928.69. The items of expenditure are for provisions and groceries, fuel and lights, wages and labor, improvements, furniture, medical supplies, hay and straw, clothing, stationery, and miscellaneous, but no where does it appear that the salaries of the superintendent, or other officers of the institution were paid out of any income of the institution.

The reports of the treasurer and steward of the institution have been examined for several years and in no instance did we find any payment of the officers of the institution out of the income of the same.

The management of the hospital as provided for in 1840 seems to have been continued until 1843, when by the Public Laws of that year, chapter 19, provision was made for the "Government of the insane hospital and for other purposes." This act provided for the appointment of trustees and prescribed the duties of those trustees. In section 3 of the act it was provided that:

"The trustees shall appoint a superintendent, and they shall also, in conjunction with the superintendent, appoint a steward, and such other officers as in their opinion may be necessary for conducting efficiently and economically the business of the institution; and all appointments made by them shall be made in such manner, with such restrictions and for such terms of time as the by-laws may prescribe; and the salaries of all the officers so appointed shall be determined by the trustees, subject to the approval of the governor and council."

The chapter from which we have just quoted also makes extended provisions relating to the duties of the officers and prescribed the method of procedure on the part of the mayor and aldermen to obtain commitment to the insane hospital, also for the appointment of guardians of the insane and many other interesting facts.

The first mention that we find of a chaplain of the insane hospital is in the Resolves of 1855, chapter 233, where there is an appropriation that there should be "paid out of the state treasury $100, to be expended under the direction of the trustees of the insane hospital for services of chaplain therefor."

An examination of the Private and Special Laws, as well as of the Resolves of the various legislatures from 1840 to the present time show that nearly every legislature has been called upon to make some appropriation or to prescribe some method of committing the insane or in some way dealt with this question, but we do not find in any instance where it was even suggested that the superintendent or any of the officers of the institution should be paid out of any income of the institution, but always from the State treasury. In fact, under the laws of 1847, chapter 33, section 6, it is distinctly provided:

“That the governor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant on the state treasury for the amount due to the trustees and other officers of the institution, the attendants on the patients and laborers on the premises not included.”

As showing who are meant by “officer” we would refer to section 3 of the same act, wherein the trustees are directed to appoint a superintendent, steward “and such other officers” as may be necessary, etc.

This provision of 1847 finds its place in the revision of the statutes of 1857, chapter 143, section 4. The same provision is found in the statutes of 1871, chapter 143, section 4.

In the Public Laws of 1879, chapter 150, is to be found:

“An Act establishing the salaries of certain state and county officers, fixing the number and regulating the pay and compensation of certain state employees.”

Section I of that act provides as follows:

“The following public officers are entitled to receive salaries from the treasurer of the state in quarterly payments on the first day of January, April, July and October of each year as follows:”

Section II of that act enumerates the public officers and among them are:

“The superintendent of the insane hospital, two assistant superintendents, one steward, who shall perform the duties of treasurer, a chaplain and a matron and fixes the salaries of each.”

In the revision of 1883, chapter 115, we find the same provision which is just quoted from the act of 1879. This provision finally takes its place in the revision of 1903, chapter 116.

It will be observed, therefore, that the legislature has provided for the payment of the superintendent, etc., of the insane hospital out of the State treasury ever since 1840, a period of sixty-seven years and that the superintendent, two assistant superintendents, steward, chaplain and matron have been designated as public officers ever since 1879, a period of nearly forty years.

The first legislation with reference to the insane hospital at Bangor was in 1895, when, in chapter 18 of the Resolves of that year, a commission was appointed to erect buildings. The legislature of 1899, chapter 3, of the Resolves of that year made an appropriation for the completion of the buildings. In the Public Laws of 1899, chapter 75, we find a provision as follows:

"Sec. 2. The government of the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital at Bangor is hereby vested in the trustees of the Maine Insane Hospital who are authorized to organize and prepare it for the reception of patients, to appoint a superintendent, treasurer, steward and other necessary officers, whose salaries they shall fix and to perform such other acts as are necessary to properly care and provide for patients therein. The action of said trustees to be subject to the approval of the governor and council.

Sec. 3. The provisions of chapter 143 of the Revised Statutes shall control the government of the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital so far as they may be applicable, and the board of trustees are charged with the same duties towards and given the same authority over the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital, at Bangor, that they now exercise in relation to the Maine Insane Hospital, at Augusta."

The chapter last referred to is the chapter entitled "The Insane Hospital" and contains in section 4 of chapter 143 (revision of 1883) the provision instituted in 1847 that the accounts of the trustees shall be audited by the governor and council who shall draw their warrant on the treasury of State for the amount due them and the other officers of the institution.

While we have referred to but a portion of the legislation relative to the insane hospitals in this State, we have not found in our examination any legislation of any kind providing in terms that the officers are to be paid out of any fund other than that provided for "Salaries of Public Officers," or at least, out of the treasury of State.

Calling your attention expressly to the present statutes now in force, you will perceive that R. S., 1903, chapter 116, is entitled "Salaries of public officers and compensation of members of the government," that section I of that chapter begins with the following language:

"The following officers are entitled to receive annual salaries from the treasurer of state in quarterly payments on the first days of January, April, July and October as follows:"

The list begins with the governor and proceeds until we reach the following language:

"Superintendent of the Insane Hospital at Augusta, two thousand dollars; four assistants, one of whom shall be a female, such sum as the trustees may from time to time vote, not exceeding thirty-five hundred dollars a year for the four; the steward, including his services as treasurer, such sum as the trustees may from time to time vote, not exceeding sixteen hundred dollars in full for all services; chaplain, three hundred dollars; matron five hundred dollars."

In view of all the legislation in this State and of the express language referred to in said R. S., 1903, chapter 116, it seems to this department as above indicated, that the salaries in question may properly be paid from the treasury of the State and out of the appropriation for "Salaries of Public Officers." This would seem to be the intention of the legislature under said R. S., chapter 116. It certainly could not have been the contemplation of the legislature that the persons in question should serve without pay and the legislature appears to have made no other provision for their payment.

This conclusion seems to be in harmony with the fact that as we are informed the various legislatures, through their proper committees, in making up their estimates for the sum total for the salaries of public officers have included in their totals the salaries due the officers in question. Various acts have been passed from time to time increasing the salaries of the officers in question. We are informed the amounts of these respective increases have doubtless been carefully included. This conclusion is also apparently in harmony with the line of conduct existing for substantially more than half a century. We are informed that under the custom so long observed, the salaries of the officers in question, so long as the respective offices have been created, have been paid from the treasury of the State and out of the appropriation for "Salaries of Public Officers." It would seem as if this custom, so long established, must have been so well known to the legislatures that their various acts have been passed upon the implied understanding, at least, that the custom should so continue. We believe that the salaries may be properly paid in accordance with the advice herein given.

DEPUTY FISH WARDEN.—FORM OF OATH.

Hon. James Donahue, Commissioner Sea and Shore Fisheries, Rockland, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Your inquiry is noted as to the form of oath of a deputy warden, appointed under chapter 41, R. S., (relating to sea and shore fisheries).

The statute in question requires said deputy wardens to be "sworn." Turning now to R. S., chapter 1, section 6, paragraph XXII, I quote as follows:

"The words "sworn," "duly sworn" or "sworn according to law," used in a statute, record, or certificate of administration of an oath, refer to the oath required by the constitution or laws in the case specified, and include every necessary subscription to such oath."

Under all the circumstances I should recommend that the oath noted in the constitution be taken as provided in the paragraph just quoted. As doubtless you are aware the oath can be taken and subscribed before a magistrate in your county, commissioned by the governor for the purpose of taking such oaths. See R. S., chapter 57, sections 37-40.

FORTNIGHTLY WAGES.—ENFORCEMENT OF STATUTE.

Hon. George E. Morrison, State Factory Inspector, Biddeford, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your favor making inquiry as to the enforcement of the law against persons for failure to comply with R. S., chapter 40, section 57, requiring the payment of wages fortnightly.

R. S., chapter 40, section 57, reads as follows:

“Every manufacturing, mining, quarrying, stone-cutting, mercantile, street railroad, telegraph, telephone and municipal corporation, and every incorporated express and water company, and any person or firm engaged in any of the above specified kinds of business, having in their employ more than ten persons, shall pay fortnightly each and every employee engaged in its business, except municipal officers whose services are paid for by the day, or teachers employed by municipal corporations, the wages earned by such employee to within eight days of the date of said payment, provided, however, that if at any time of payment, any employee shall be absent from his regular place of labor, he shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter on demand.”

Assuming that the persons guilty of the alleged violation are not included in the exceptions noted in the foregoing statute, they may be proceeded against under R. S., chapter 40, section 58.

R. S., chapter 40, section 58, reads as follows:

“Any corporation violating any provision of the preceding section shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten, nor more than twenty-five dollars on each complaint under which it is convicted, provided, that complaint for such violation is made within thirty days from the date thereof. When a corporation against which a complaint is so made, fails to appear after being duly served with process, its default shall be recorded, the allegations in the complaint taken to be true, and judgment rendered accordingly. When judgment is rendered upon any such complaint against a corporation, the court may issue a warrant of distress to compel the payment of the penalty prescribed by law together with costs and interest.”

Under the latter section, any of the employees having actual knowledge of the material facts proving the alleged violation, may proceed by going before the magistrate of some court having jurisdiction in the locality, and making complaint for violation of the law.

EXAMINING BOARDS.—DISPOSITION OF FEES RECEIVED.

Dr. A. G. Young, State Board of Embalming Examiners, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of the 12th received, making an inquiry in substance, if the State Board of Embalming Examiners must turn over to the State treasurer sums of money received from applicants for examination, under the laws referred to by you, R. S., chapter 18, section 18, and laws of 1905, chapter 54.

R. S., chapter 18, section 18, reads as follows:

“Sec. 18. The fee for registration under sections eleven to nineteen inclusive, shall be one dollar, and for examination five dollars. The money thus received by the board of examiners shall constitute a permanent fund for carrying out the work provided in said sections. From the money thus received the expenses of printing, for stationery, for postage, for other expenses necessarily incurred under the provisions of said sections, and for full compensation of the members of the board of examiners, shall be paid. The board of examiners shall be entitled to five dollars each a day and expenses during session. The clerk of the examining board shall be paid one hundred dollars for the first year of his services, and thereafter he shall receive the same compensation as the other members of the board; any balance shall be turned into the treasury of the board of examiners. The clerk of the examining board shall act as treasurer of the board, and shall deposit or otherwise care for any money which may be in the treasury as he may be instructed by vote of the board of examiners.”

Under this act as will be noted the board of examiners we assume have practically administered the money received in paying the matters allowed thereunder.

Laws of 1905, chapter 54, reads as follows:

“Section 1. The members of the boards of registration in medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, embalming and the examiners of applicants for admission to the bar, shall receive as compensation for their services five dollars a day, for the time actually spent, and their necessary expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties, to be certified by the clerks of their respective boards, and audited by the governor and council. The secretary of each board may also be allowed extra compensation for books, stationery and postage, and their necessary expenses actually incurred. All sums of money received from applicants for examination shall be accounted for and paid quarterly to the treasurer of the state. But in no event shall the compensation for services and expenses exceed the amounts received by each board as fees from applicants in any one year.

Section 2. This act shall take effect on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and five."

Under this act express provision appears to be made for the turning over quarterly to the treasurer of State all sums of money received by the board from applicants for examination. This is the later act, and from the time it went into effect it is the opinion of this department that the money received from applicants for examination must be paid over quarterly to the State treasurer. It will be noted by section 2 of said chapter 54, of the laws of 1905, that this act of 1905 takes effect on the first day of July, 1905.

Said act of 1905 from the time it took effect would appear to be thus somewhat inconsistent with the said R. S., chapter 18, section 18, and so far as inconsistent it is our opinion that the later act of 1905 would control. Apparently it was the intention of the legislature that there should be an express change in the administration of these funds; that the administration of the same by the Board of Embalming Examiners should cease; that the funds should be paid into the State treasury and be administered through the governor and council and the State treasurer.

VITAL STATISTICS.—FALSE RETURNS.

Dr. A. G. Young, Registrar of Vital Statistics, Augusta, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Your inquiry as I understand it is as to whether or not the last clause of R. S., chapter 61, section 21, making it a misdemeanor for any person to make a false return, applies to town clerks.

Upon an examination and consideration of the statutes pertaining to this question, I am inclined to the opinion that the clause in question relates to physicians or midwives referred to in section 21, but probably does not apply to a town clerk.

R. S., chapter 61, section 21, reads as follows :

“Section 21. A physician who has attended a person during his last illness shall within twenty-four hours after the death of said person make a certificate stating, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the name of the deceased, his age, the disease of which he died, and the date of his death, and shall either deliver it to the person superintending the burial or leave it with the family of the deceased or at the said physician's office where it may be obtained when called for ; and a physician or midwife who has attended at the birth of a child dying immediately thereafter, or at the birth of a still-born child, shall, when requested, forthwith furnish for registration a certificate, stating to the best of his knowledge and belief the fact that such child died after birth or was born dead. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to make a false return in regard to any birth or death.”

Upon investigation it appears that said section 21 had its origin in the laws of 1895, chapter 154, section 7, and that the same appears in its present form after amendment, laws of 1903, chapter 180, section 3.

Chapter 154, section 7, of the laws of 1895, reads as follows :

“Section 7. Said chapter is further amended by adding thereto the following sections.

Section 19. A physician who has attended a person during his last illness shall, when requested, forthwith furnish for registration a certificate stating, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the name of the deceased, his age, the disease of which he died, and the date of his death ; and a physician or midwife who has attended at the birth of a child dying immediately thereafter, or at the birth of a still-born child, shall, when requested, forthwith furnish for registration a certificate, stating to the best of his knowledge and belief, the fact that such child died after birth or was born dead. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to make a false return in regard to any birth or death.”

Laws of 1903, chapter 180, section 3, reads as follows :

“Section 3. Section nineteen, additional, to chapter one hundred eighteen of the public laws of eighteen hundred ninety-one, which was added thereto by section seven of chapter one hundred fifty-four of the public laws of eighteen hundred ninety-five, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

'Section 19. A physician who has attended a person during his last illness shall within twenty-four hours after the death of said person make a certificate stating, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the name of the deceased, his age, the disease of which he died, and the date of his death, and shall either deliver it to the person superintending the burial or leave it with the family of the deceased or at the said physician's office where it may be obtained when called for; and a physician or midwife who has attended at the birth of a child dying immediately thereafter, or at the birth of a still-born child, shall, when requested, forthwith furnish for registration a certificate, stating to the best of his knowledge and belief, the fact that such a child died after birth or was born dead. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to make a false return in regard to any birth or death.'

It will be noted that the statute in question from its origin has been divided into practically two parts, one relative to the physician who has attended a person during his last illness, and the other to a physician or midwife attending at the birth of a child dying immediately thereafter, or at the birth of a still-born child. In all these sections in question the last clause remains practically the same and makes it a misdemeanor for any person to make a false return in regard to any birth or death.

The only return provided for by the section of the statute under consideration is the certificate to be prepared by a physician attending the person during his last illness or the certificate prepared by the physician or midwife attending at the birth of a child dying immediately thereafter or at the birth of a still-born child. No other return of any kind is specified in the statute in question.

The town clerk, to be sure, is required to make return to the State registrar under R. S., chapter 61, section 32, as to births, marriages and deaths, but a penalty for his neglect of duty may be found in R. S., chapter 61, section 337. Upon consideration I am inclined to the opinion above expressed that the last clause of said R. S., chapter 61, section 21, does not apply to the official duties of the town clerk.

FERTILIZER INSPECTION.—AVAILABLE APPROPRIATION.

Charles D. Woods, Director, Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, Orono, Maine.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your inquiry as to the ruling of the state auditor, in substance, that $2,000 is the limit which can be expended by the state for fertilizer inspection during the year 1908, I have the honor to report as follows:

The Constitution of the State of Maine, Article V, Section 4, Part Fourth, provides as follows:

“Section 4. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but by warrant from the governor and council, and in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money, shall be published at the commencement of the annual session of the legislature.”

This section was amended, (see amendment xxiii) when we changed from annual to biennial sessions of the legislature, but not in the parts pertinent to this inquiry. It will be noted by this section of the Constitution that in order that the money shall be drawn from the state treasury, it must be in consequence of appropriation made by law.

R. S. Chapter 39, Section 19, reads as follows:

“Section 19. Any manufacturer, importer, agent or seller of any commercial fertilizer, who shall deposit with the director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station a sample or samples of fertilizer under the provisions of section seventeen, shall pay annually to the treasurer of state an analysis fee as follows: Ten dollars for the phosphoric acid, and five dollars each for the nitrogen and potash, contained or said to be contained in the fertilizer, this fee to be assessed on any brand sold in the state, and upon receipt of the treasurer's receipt for such fee and of the certified statement named in section seventeen, said director shall issue a certificate of compliance with this chapter. Whenever the manufacturer or importer of a fertilizer shall have filed the statement made in section seventeen and paid the analysis fee, no agent or seller of said manufacturer, importer or shipper shall be required to file such statement or pay such fee. Said director shall present to the governor and council itemized bills showing the cost of analyzing each sample and on approval by them a warrant shall be drawn on the treasurer for the payment thereof. Such payments shall not exceed in any calendar year the amount of fees received the same year."

This section has also been amended, (see Chapter 18, Laws 1905) but not in any part so far as pertinent to your present inquiry.

Speaking generally of the history of this commercial fertilizer legislation, as I understand it, these matters were overhauled and revised in the year 1893, and the legislature of that year passed an act, Chapter 256, entitled "An Act to regulate the sale and analysis of commercial fertilizer," which was supposed to place matters on either a new or at least, a fixed basis. Under this act and amendments for about ten years, the fees were paid to the director and placed by him in the treasury of the Experiment Station. The expenses of analysis, etc., were paid by the director out of these fees. Some ten years later, in 1903, when there was public agitation over the entire fee system, the law was changed so that these fees, instead of going into the treasury of the Experiment Station, should go directly to the state treasurer, (see laws of 1903, Ch. 217). At the same time, the legislature in its general appropriation bills for the years 1903 and 1904, inserted an item for each of those years as follows: "Analysis of Commercial Fertilizer, $2,000." See Private and Special Laws for 1903, Chapters 418, and 419. This same item has been inserted in appropriation bills for each year following to the present time. For the years 1905-6, see Private and Special Laws for 1905, Chapters 25, and 396. For the years 1907-8, see Private and Special Laws for 1907, Chapters 21 and 448.

It will thus be noted that standing along with R. S. Chapter 39, Section 19, (as amended) appears the item in general appropriation bills, in express terms, "Analysis of commercial fertilizer, $2,000," for each and every year, 1903 to 1908 inclusive.

There may be some possible question as to whether R. S. Chapter 39, Section 19, is an "appropriation made by law" within the meaning of the constitutional requirements above noted. In this connection, I beg to call your attention to the following cases:

Ristine Auditor vs. State of Indiana, 20 Ind. 328. State vs. Moore, 50 Neb. 88.

However, irrespective of whether or not the act in question is constitutional, it will be perceived upon careful examination that R. S. Chapter 39, Section 19, does not expressly provide that the expenses in question shall be paid out of the fees. It is silent as to exactly what money in the state treasury the expenses shall be paid from. It simply provides in substance, so far as this matter is concerned, that the governor and council may draw a warrant on the treasury for the payment of the expenses and adds that these payments shall not exceed the amount of fees. It does not say in express terms that the expenses shall be paid from the fees.

The view of the state auditor is that all these acts shall be construed together and reconciled so far as possible. Considering everything, it seems to him that the state cannot safely expend more than $2,000, for these expenses, for the year 1908.

In looking at the matter, the auditor perhaps should be upon the safe side in a question of any uncertainty.

In view of all the foregoing, while I must confess there is some uncertainty as to any implied provisions of R. S. Chapter 39, Section 19, and while after much time given in investigation, I am not able to find any authorities clearly and concisely settling every possible question which may be before us in this matter, yet it is my opinion that the auditor is justified in the views he has reached.

INSANE CONVICTS.—SUPPORT AFTER EXPIRATION OF SENTENCE.

H. W. Mitchell, M. D., Supt. Eastern Maine Insane Hospital, Bangor, Maine.

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to advise you as follows, as to whether the board after expiration of time of sentence of an insane jail convict, regularly and lawfully transferred from the jail, while serving sentence, to the State Insane Hospital and lawfully detained at the Hospital after the expiration of his sentence, should be charged to the state, or to the town where the person has his legal residence in the State of Maine.

R. S. Chapter 138, Section 7, provides as follows:

“Section 7. If a person convicted of any crime, in the supreme judicial court or either superior court, is found by the judge of such court to be insane when motion for sentence is made, the court may cause such person to be committed to the insane department of the state prison under such limitations as the court may direct; provided that the crime of which such person is convicted is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison; otherwise such commitment shall be to one of the insane hospitals; if at the expiration of the period of commitment to the insane department of the state prison such person has not become of sound mind in the opinion of the superintendent of the insane hospital at Augusta, prison physician and warden, he shall be removed by them to one of the insane hospitals. Persons committed by a judge of the supreme judicial or a superior court before final conviction, or after conviction and before sentence whether originally committed or subsequently removed thereto, and insane convicts after the expiration of their sentences, shall be supported while in the insane hospital in the manner provided by law in the case of persons committed by municipal officers, and the provisions of sections twenty-two to twenty-five inclusive, of chapter one hundred forty-four shall apply to such cases.”

Without quoting, as you already know, R. S., Chapter 144, Sections 22 to 25, with any amendments thereof, provide in a general way for support by towns. We assume your case in hand is not one where friends or other individuals are liable for the support.

Turning to Chapter 104, of the Public Laws of 1905, we note that the earlier sections in the act provide for the removal of insane convicts in the state prison to the insane department thereof, and in jails to one of the insane hospitals by proceedings before the judge of the municipal court as therein provided. Section 4 of this act, however, reads as follows:

“Section 4. The certificate of such judge stating the town in which the prisoner or person detained resided, when such prisoner or person is in either of the insane hospitals, is sufficient evidence in the first instance to charge such town for the expenses of his support in such hospital, if he shall be there detained after sentence on which he was originally committed would have expired, but when his friends or others file a bond with the treasurer of the hospital, in which he is confined such town shall not be liable for his support, unless new action is had by reason of the inability of the patient or his friends longer to support him, and such action may be had in the manner provided by statute for recommitment of patients to the insane hospitals.

Any town thus made chargeable in the first instance and paying for the support of such insane person may recover the amount paid from the insane, if able, or other persons legally liable for his support or from the town where his legal settlement is, but if he has no legal settlement in the state such expense shall be refunded by the state, and the governor and council shall audit all such claims and draw their warrant on the treasurer therefor. Such person shall not suffer the disabilities of pauperism or be deemed a pauper by reason of such support, but the time during which such person is so supported shall not be included in the period of residence necessary to change his settlement."

In conclusion, in the case by you presented under the laws above quoted it is my opinion that the board in question should be charged to the town where the insane person has his legal residence in the state of Maine rather than to the state itself.

STATE SCHOOL FOR BOYS—PAYMENT OF EXPENSE OF COMMITMENT AND OF SUBSISTENCE.

E. P. Wentworth, Esq., Supt. School for Boys, Portland, Maine.

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry in the case of W. S. T., reported by you as committed to the State School for Boys, after conviction under the charge in substance of intoxication in a dwelling house of another and disturbing the family of the latter, and asking if, under R. S., Chapter 143, Section 3, as amended by the Public Laws, of 1907, Chapter 120, the expenses of conveying said W. S. T. to the State School for Boys, and his subsistence and clothing during the time while he remains there, not exceeding $1 per week, shall be paid by the state, I beg leave to reply as follows:

Revised Statutes, Chapter 143, Section 3, as amended by Public Laws of 1907, Chapter 120, reads as follows:

"When a boy is or has been committed to the state school for boys, under the provisions of the preceding section, for larceny of property not exceeding one dollar in value; or for assault and battery, malicious mischief, malicious trespass, desecration of the Lord's day, riotous conduct, disturbance of the peace, embezzlement, cheating by false pretenses, vagrancy or truancy; or for being a common runaway, drunkard, or pilferer; or for any offense punishable in any house of correction, the expenses of conveying such boy to said school, and his subsistence and clothing during the time he remains there, not exceeding one dollar a week, shall be paid by the state. The sum of four thousand dollars for the year nineteen hundred and seven and four thousand dollars for the year nineteen hundred and eight is hereby appropriated from the state treasury to defray the expenses of the conveyance, subsistence, and clothing of boys under this section, to be paid to said school upon itemized bills therefor when approved by the governor and council."

It will be noted that the state bears the expenses specified in this section not exceeding one dollar a week when the boy has been committed, etc., for any of the various offenses enumerated. Among the offenses enumerated at the end appears the following "or for any offense punishable in any house of correction."

The offense described in the mittimus as reported by you is as follows:

"That said W. S. T. on the thirtieth day of May, A. D. 1907. at said Newcastle was then and there intoxicated in a certain building, to wit: in the dwelling house of W. T. there situated, and then and there being intoxicated as aforesaid, disturbed the family of said W. T. against the peace of said state, and contrary to the form of the statute in such case made and provided."

The question, therefore, arises as to whether or not the offense charged in this mittimus is an "offense punishable in any house of correction." Turning now to R. S., Chapter 29, Section 57, we find it reads as follows:

"Any person found intoxicated in any street, highway or other public place, shall be punished for the first offense by a fine not exceeding ten dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, and upon any subsequent conviction by imprisonment not exceeding ninety days. Any person found intoxicated in his own house, or in any other building, or place, who is disturbing the public peace, or the peace of his own or any other family, shall be punished for the first and any subsequent conviction, as provided in the preceding clause of this section. Any such intoxicated person shall be taken into custody by any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, marshal, deputy marshal, police officer, or watchman, and committed to the watch-house, or police station or restrained in some other suitable place, until a complaint can be made and a warrant issued against him, upon which he may be arrested and tried."

Apparently complaint was made against said W. S. T. under this statute just quoted. It will be observed that the punishment for the offense charged is as follows: "for the first offense by a fine not exceeding ten dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, and upon any subsequent conviction by imprisonment not exceeding ninety days." It would appear, therefore, that the offense charged is one punishable in a house of correction and it is my opinion, therefore, that the state should contribute in the matter of expenses specified not exceeding the limitation of one dollar a week, all as provided in R. S., Chapter 143, Section 3, and amended by the Laws of 1907, Chapter 120.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.—PLACING INMATE IN CARE OF OTHER PERSONS.

Prof. Alfred Williams Anthony, Trustee Maine Industrial School for Girls, Lewiston, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Relative to your inquiry in behalf of the board of trustees of the Maine Industrial School for Girls, as to placing one of the girls of the Industrial School in care of a person outside, I have the honor to advise you that I have examined the general form of papers used in committing girls to the school, and law relative to the subject matter in question.

R. S., Chapter 143, Section 23, reads as follows:

"The board of trustees of said school shall have all the powers as to the person, property, earnings and education of every girl committed to the charge of said trustees, during the term of her commitment, which a guardian has as to his ward, and all powers which parents have over their children. At the discretion of said board, any such girl, during her commitment, may be kept at said school, or entrusted to the care of any suitable person and may be required to work for such person, or may be bound by deed of indenture to service or apprenticeship for a period not exceeding the term of her commitment, on such conditions as said board may deem reasonable and proper. Such indenture shall specify the conditions, and shall require the person to whom such girl is bound, to report to said board as often as once in three months the conduct and behavior, of such girl, and whether she remains under such master or mistress, and if not, where she is. Said trustees shall take care that the terms of such indenture are fulfilled, and the girl well treated, and if they believe that by reason of her misconduct, vicious inclinations or surroundings, she is in danger of falling into habits of vice or immorality, or that her welfare is in any way imperiled, they may cancel such indenture and resume charge of such girl with the same powers as before the indenture was made. The powers of said board with respect to any girl entrusted, as herein provided, to the care of a suitable person are not affected thereby, nor by her being bound to service or apprenticeship, except as expressed in the bond of indenture. Said trustees, master or mistress and apprentice, shall have all the rights and be subject to all the duties and penalties provided in case of children apprenticed by overseers of the poor. Any member of said board may execute such indenture deed in behalf of the board if authorized by a vote of said board. Said board may, by vote in any case, or by a general by-law, authorize a member or committee of said board, or the principal of said school to entrust said girls to the care and service of a suitable person or persons without indenture, to see to their welfare during such service and to require their return to said school at discretion."

Under this section it would seem practically the power and duty of your board to inquire into the circumstances and conditions and surroundings of the persons who desire to take the girl in question, and if it thinks well of the matter, all things considered, your board may, at its discretion, entrust any such girl during her commitment to the care of any suitable person and she may be required to work for such person, or she may be bound by deed of indenture to service or apprenticeship for a term not exceeding the length of her commitment as your board may deem reasonable and proper, etc., all in accordance with the provisions of the statute quoted, all the terms of which must be fully complied with.

If the person so taking the girl desires to adopt her legally and this meets with the approval of your board, proceedings for adoption may be instituted by the person desiring to adopt, before the Probate Court as provided by R. S., Chapter 69, Sections 32-39.

It would seem to us that the girl may be placed in the charge of the person (if the board thinks suitable etc.,) desiring to adopt as provided by statute and that all these adoption proceedings may be had thereafter. If however, your board should think it for the best interests of the girl that she should not leave the school unless these adoption proceedings were certain to be carried through, some arrangement can doubtless be made to ensure this.

STATE STIPEND PAID TO AGRICULTURAL SOCIETIES.

DEAR SIR:—Your statement of fact is as follows:

The members of the local grange at Rockland have held an annual cattle show and fair for the past four years, paying out a large amount in cash premiums on fruit, vegetables, cattle, drawing-horses, butter, etc. That grange now presents to you a request for a portion of the appropriation provided for in Revised Statutes, Chapter 60, Section 14, commonly known as the stipend paid to agricultural societies. Your inquiry is whether payment should be made in accordance with this request.

An examination of the records of incorporated societies in the office of the secretary of state discloses the fact that the local grange at Rockland was organized as a corporation, February 3, 1904, under the name of "Pleasant Valley Grange, No. 274, Patrons of Husbandry." The records further disclose the purposes of the corporation to be, "To advance the principles of Patrons of Husbandry, as set forth in the constitution and declaration of the purposes of the National Grange of Patrons of Husbandry; and to buy, improve and sell real estate."

We have carefully examined the act of incorporation of the National Grange Patrons of Husbandry, an act of the Kentucky Legislature approved April 6, 1876, also the declaration of purposes set forth in the digest of the laws and enactments of the National Grange. In the act of the Legislature referred to, the object of the corporation is disclosed to be, "The promotion of agriculture and other kindred pursuits by inducing co-operation among farmers and those alike interested for their mutual benefit and improvement and to this end to act as the controlling body of the order known as 'Patrons of Husbandry,' an order organized in the United States for the purposes aforesaid." The general objects and the specific objects of the Patrons of Husbandry contained in the digest referred to are clear, concise but at considerable length, and by reason of their length we refrain from quoting them in this connection. We have made a careful examination of those purposes and objects, however, and while they seem to be quite comprehensive, yet the whole trend of these purposes and objects does not seem to be comprehensive enough to include, even by implication, as one of the specific objects, that of holding an annual "cattle show and fair," or the paying of "premiums and gratuities."

Referring to the brief purposes of the certificate of organization of Pleasant Valley Grange, it will be seen that those purposes do not exceed the, "principles of the Patrons of Husbandry as set forth in the constitution and declaration of the purposes of the National Grange Patrons of Husbandry." We are, therefore, of the opinion that while it is eminently proper for Pleasant Valley Grange to hold a "cattle show and fair," or to pay premiums and gratuities, yet such exhibition and payment are not among the purposes for which the grange was organized, as set forth in its certificate of organization.

Now turning to Revised Statutes, Chapter 60, Section 14, we find that, "There shall be appropriated annually from the state treasury a sum of money not exceeding one cent and one-quarter to each inhabitant of the state, which shall be divided among the legally incorporated agricultural societies of the state not provided for by special enactment according to the amount of premiums and gratuities actually paid in full by said societies."

The next question which naturally arises is, whether Pleasant Valley Grange, No. 274, Patrons of Husbandry, (admitted to be legally organized as a local grange) is one of the "legally incorporated agricultural societies of the state."

The phrase, "agricultural society," has received definition in Downing vs. Indiana State Board of Agriculture, 129 Ind. 443 in the following language:

"An agricultural society is one seeking to bring together people engaged in agricultural pursuits and the manufacture of articles adapted to the use and cultivation of the soil, and to exhibit to those in attendance the crops resulting from the various methods of farming, and give to the people of the state engaged in agricultural pursuits an opportunity of discussing various methods of farming, farm implements used, different breeds of stock raised, and to educate the people in this way in the pursuits of agriculture, that the condition of the agriculturist may be improved by knowledge of the best methods of farming, best machinery and best breeds of stock."

From this definition it may be seen that one of the prime objects of an agricultural society is to teach by exhibition. In fact, it might almost be said that teaching by exhibition embraces all the purposes of an agricultural society. Indeed, the people of the State of Maine are too familiar with agricultural societies and their exhibitions to need enlightenment as to what an agricultural society is.

The Supreme Court of Nebraska, in State vs. Robinson, 35 Neb. 401, says:

"Agricultural societies are not corporations in the ordinary sense of the term but rather agencies of the state created for the purpose of assisting in promoting the interests of agriculture."

The Supreme Court of Iowa, in Jordan vs. Iowa State Agricultural Society, 91 Iowa, 97, says of an agricultural society:

"It is an agency for the state. It exists for the sole purpose of promoting the public interests in the business of agriculture."

Our own Supreme Court has said, in Brown vs. South Kennebec Agricultural Society, 47 Me. 283,

"They (the defendants) are not a quasi but an aggregate corporation which, as defined, consists of several persons, united in one society, continued by a succession of members, and, being the mere creature of the law, possess only those properties conferred by charter, either expressly, or as incidental to its existence, and best calculated to effect the object of its creation."

On the other hand, while the local grange may give one, two, four or a dozen exhibitions, and may teach by exhibition, yet we think it is also common knowledge that the object of the grange is not primarily to teach by exhibition.

We are, therefore, of the further opinion that the legislature, in the language used in Revised Statutes, Chapter 60, Section 14, did not intend to include among the list of "legally incorporated agricultural societies" every local grange, even though the same was incorporated as a grange. If the legislature had intended to cover so large a number of associations, we cannot believe that the intention would have been left to implication but would have been more explicit.

Summing up, therefore, from an examination of the certificate of organization of the Pleasant Valley Grange, from an examination of the act of incorporation of the National Grange and its declaration of purposes, from an examination of the statute and of legal authorities, we are of the opinion that the legislature did not intend to include local granges like Pleasant Valley Grange in the list of "legally incorporate agricultural societies," and that the grange in question is not entitled to any portion of the state stipend by reason of its "cattle show and fair," or the payment of premiums and gratuities, which it has held and paid for the past four years.

CRIMINAL LAW.—ESCAPED PRISONER—
REMAINDER OF SENTENCE—EXTRADITION.

Amos F. Carleton, Esq., Office of the Sheriff, Belfast, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—Your first question relates to the claim made by respondent's attorney that his time is going on during his escape from prison. It would hardly seem necessary to cite any authorities in opposition to this proposition, but as the question has been passed upon, you may be glad to know the authority which we have for saying that defendant's time is not going on while he is absent from jail.

In the 10th Vol. of Am. & Eng. Enc. of Law, (1st Ed.) on page 199, you will find this statement; "a prisoner who escapes before his term of imprisonment is ended, should, on his recapture, be imprisoned for a time equal to the remainder of the term." This statement is upon the authority of the supreme court of New York as decided in Haggerty vs. People, 53 N. Y. 476. Moreover, the court has gone further in another New York case and has ruled that a prisoner escaping during his term of imprisonment, and retaken after the time for which he was imprisoned has expired, may be returned to prison for a time equal to the remainder of his term unserved. This point was also decided in the N. Y. case to which we have just referred and was held to be good law in a Virginia case, Cleek vs. Commonwealth, 21 Gratt. 777.

The other question is with reference to requisition. The Constitution of the U. S., Art. IV, Sec. II, Par. 2, provides for extradition in the case of a person "who shall flee from justice." Ordinarily a fugitive from justice has been thought of as a man who has fled before he has had his trial, but it has been decided that an escaped prisoner who is under sentence is also a fugitive from justice. The authority for this is found in Enc. of Law, Vol. 19, page 88, and is founded upon the decision of the court in Drinkall vs. Spiegel, 68 Conn. 411, and also in a N. Y. case, in re Hope, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 28. It is quite plain, therefore, that extradition can be resorted to in such a case as the one which you have on hand.

CORPORATIONS.—INDICTMENTS AGAINST BODY
CORPORATE AND AGAINST STOCKHOLDERS, OFFICERS, AGENTS OR EMPLOYEES.

Frederick A. Hobbs, Esq., Office of County Attorney, South Berwick, Maine:

DEAR SIR:—I have your favor of the 27th, supplementing a former letter in which you ask for suggestions relating to some of your liquor cases and in your last letter you have reduced the inquiry to three questions.

Your first question is, "in those matters what would be the criminal liability of the corporation?" If I understand your question it would mean, can a corporation be indicted, as an individual or person could be indicted, for committing a misdemeanor in that class of misdemeanors commonly referred to as violations of the liquor law. In the very early days of English jurisprudence there appears to have been some conflict of opinion as to whether a corporation could be indicted for any offense whether felony or misdemeanor. Lord Holt is reported to have said that a corporation is not indictable but particular members of it are—anonymous, 12 Mod. 559. It has been pointed out, however, that even in the time of Lord Holt, there were many instances of indictments against counties, which were quasi corporations, for their neglect to keep their roads and bridges in repair. It is now, however, a well settled principle of modern jurisprudence that an indictment will lie against a corporation aggregate, although not for every species of crime or misdemeanor. There was a very early theory that a corporation aggregate was indictable only for acts of nonfeasance, for the theory was that it could not be indictable for acts of misfeasance because it had no power under its charter to commit such acts and when it did commit such acts it was acting ultra vires so that the acts were personal acts and not acts of the corporation. There was also an early doctrine that evil intent or evil motive could not be imputed to a corporation in its aggregate form. This early idea found expression in the courts of last resort in this country and even crept into the decisions of the court of Maine. See State vs. Great Works Milling & Mnfg. Co., 20th Me. 41, where you will see this language used by Weston, Chief Justice: "They (the corporation) can neither commit a crime or misdemeanor, by any positive or affirmative act, or incite others to do so as a corporation. * * * It would be stepping aside altogether from their corporate powers * * * such only as take part in the measure, should be prosecuted as individuals, either as principals, or as aiding and abetting or procuring an offence to be committed, according to its character or magnitude. It is a doctrine then, in conformity with the demands of justice, and a proper distinction between the innocent and the guilty, that when a crime or misdemeanor is committed under color of corporate authority, the individuals acting in the business, and not the corporation should be indicted."

This doctrine, however, has been discarded both in England and in America and it is now fully settled that a corporation may be prosecuted by indictment for a misfeasance as well as for a nonfeasance. The cases in this State which establish the later doctrine are, State vs. Freeport, 43 Me. 198, State vs. Portland, 57 Me. 402, and 74 Me. 268, which distinctly overrules State vs. Great Work, etc., 20th Me. 41. Misdemeanors for which corporations have been successfully indicted are keeping disorderly houses, State vs. Passaic Co. Agr. Soc. 54 N. J. L. 260, for Sabbath Day breaking, Louisville vs. Commonwealth 26 Am. Rep. 205, and for so constructing its sewers as to create a public nuisance, State vs. Portland 74 Me. 268, and many others of like nature which might be called to your attention.

Thus far we have been discussing your first question as to the criminal liability of a corporation. We think we have said enough to warrant us in answering your first question in the affirmative, or in other words, that there is a criminal liability attached to corporations, in certain classes of offenses, under our statute, which may be prosecuted by indictment, and we have no doubt that violations of the liquor law are among the classes of misdemeanors which may be thus prosecuted against corporations.

Your second question is, "what would be the personal liability of the individual stockholders and officers," and your third question is, "what would be the personal liability of the employees." These two questions may be answered together. We do not know of any plainer answer than can be found in State vs. Bass, 101 Me. 481. It is true that in the case just mentioned judgment was found for the defendants, and it was because the agreed statement did not show that the defendants owned stock in the corporation at the date of the alleged misdemeanor, but you will observe on page 484 this dictum of the court: "It is an elementary principle of criminal law and procedure, * * * that in misdemeanors all who knowingly participate in the commission of the offense are deemed principals and may be indicted, and convicted either jointly or severally." We have no doubt, therefore, that any stockholder, officer or employee who might "knowingly participate in the commission of the offense" would be a proper subject for indictment.
