STATE OF MAINE.

LAW DEPARTMENT.

AUGUSTA, December 31, 1914.

To the Governor and Council of the State of Maine:

Following the custom of my predecessors, I herewith submit my report of the amount and kind of official business done by this department and by the several county attorneys as provided by Section 64 of Chapter 79 of the Revised Statutes. While the statutes require an annual report, it has not been customary to make one each year but to include the work of the two years in a final report at the close of the administration.

HOMICIDES.

One of the most important duties of this department relates to the conduct of homicide cases in which murder is charged, and during the past two years, this department has disposed of, or supervised the disposition of, an unusually large number. Some idea of the amount of work in this branch of the department during the past two years may be inferred from the fact that fifteen years ago during the two years of 1897 and 1898, there were but four homicide cases tried in the State, and the average number of trials has usually been from three to five per year, during the past two years no less than fifteen trials of respondents charged with murder have been begun and fifteen other cases have been investigated and disposed of without trial or are now pending. Arranged according to counties they are as follows:

STATISTICAL TABLES SHOWING REPORTS OF

STATE VS. CHARLES K. DONNELL.

In April 1913, Charles K. Donnell was charged with the murder of Emma Hall of Sabattus. The deceased came to her death by reasons of blood poisoning following an illegal operation alleged to have been done by the respondent, Donnell. The evidence for the State connecting the respondent with the crime consisted of testimony of the mother of the deceased and an alleged dying declaration of the deceased. When the case was presented in Court, however, the testimony of the mother proved to be vague and indefinite, rendered so in part, no doubt, by reason of her own guilty connection with the case, and the dying declaration of the deceased was not properly taken. Some hope was held out to the deceased that an operation might save her life and the dying declaration was taken before the operation instead of after it was performed. When it had become apparent that the operation was ineffectual, no attempt was made to obtain a confirmation or a new declaration.

The evidence was offered in Court, but the circumstances did not satisfy the presiding justice that it was properly admissible and upon its exclusion, it appeared to the prosecuting officers that it would be futile to continue the case further. The Court was then notified that the State did not desire to prosecute the case and under the instruction of the Court, the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

The case was conducted by W. H. Hines, County Attorney and the attorney general. The respondent was defended by Hon. Henry W. Oakes and Tascus Atwood.

STATE VS. PERLEY F. SAWYER.

In April 1913, one Perley F. Sawyer was arrested, charged with the murder of Alfred P. Monahan at Lewiston. Investigation showed that the respondent and Alfred P. Monahan and John Stevens met about noon on the day of the alleged crime, took lunch together and afterwards went to the room of Monahan for the purpose of drinking. Monahan took a drink from a bottle which the respondent produced but neither the respondent or Stevens drank from the bottle. Almost immediately Monahan began to complain of severe pains and within a short time died.

Analysis of the contents of the stomach disclosed a large amount of potassium cyanide and it was learned later that the respondent had purchased some of this drug at one of the drug stores in the city of Lewiston. At the trial, however, he claimed to have purchased it at the deceased's request for the purpose of cleaning clothes. Both the deceased and Sawyer had been drinking during the day and had one or more bottles of liquor which they had hidden in the cellar of the store where they were working.

There was no apparent motive for the crime and it was suggested by the defense that the bottles had become mixed up in some manner or that the deceased had committed suicide, not wanting to join the army in which he had just enlisted. After deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The case for the State was conducted by W. H. Hines, county attorney and the attorney general. The respondent was represented by Hon. Frank A. Morey.

STATE VS. ERNEST GAGNE.

In October 1913, Ernest Gagne was indicted for the crime of manslaughter. He was charged with the killing of William J. Driscoll in Lewiston on the 4th day of October 1913. It appeared at the trial that the homicide was the result of an altercation which arose on the street and there was some question as to whether the respondent was the cause of the death, it appearing that the deceased was either struck or pushed while under the influence of liquor so that he fell and struck his head upon the stone curbing resulting in his death. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The case was conducted by W. H. Hines, County Attorney.

AROOSTOOK COUNTY.

At the April term, A. D. 1913, John P. St. John was indicted for manslaughter for the killing of John Foye of Silver Ridge Plantation in Aroostook County. The homicide was the result of an altercation that arose between several parties in a house where the respondent lived, it appearing, however, that the rifle which caused the death of the deceased was fired by the respondent. The case was ably prepared and conducted by the late Perley C. Brown, County Attorney and resulted in a verdict of manslaughter.

STATE VS. LOUIS COTE AND HERBERT COTE.

Sometime in June, 1914, a most lamentable affair occurred in the town of Presque Isle resulting in the death of Hartley Webb, a boy of the age of twelve or thirteen years. The death was the result of strangulation caused by a cord which proved to be strings taken from the shoes of the deceased and drawn about his neck so tightly as to produce strangulation. The body was found in the Presque Isle stream, a stream entering into the Aroostook River just out of Presque Isle. After investigation and from inquiry of a companion Victor Porter who was with the Webb boy at the time of the occurrence and who escaped the same fate by failure to draw the cord about his neck sufficiently taut to produce strangulation, it was learned that the death was caused by two other boys, one Louis Cote, fourteen years of age and Herbert Cote, his brother, but little over eight years of age. It appeared that Hartley Webb and Victor Porter had started out fishing in the morning and were later joined by the two Cote boys and after fishing during the forenoon, and having their lunch, the Cote boys, particularly the older, proceeded to assault the Webb and Porter boys and by either terrifying them or by superior strength, forced them into the stream, tied their feet and hands and finally tied about their neck strings taken from their shoes. The Webb boy was almost immediately strangled and died, his body being pushed into the stream. The Porter boy was allowed to remain on the bank of the stream, apparently dead, and after the Cote boys left he rose and made his way to the road. It was only with the most severe pain that he was able to walk a distance of a quarter of a mile and was even then about three hours in so doing. His face became so swollen that he was unable to see in what direction he was going. The Cote boys came from a poor French family, and have had very little opportunity for education, or improvement of any kind. They were rapidly becoming the terror of the community and were committing all kinds of minor offenses. Owing to their extreme youth, it was deemed inadvisable to attempt to convict them of murder, if indeed it would have been possible in the case of the younger boy. After a conference with the Court, it was decided to nol pros the allegation of malice aforethought and to submit the matter to the jury, which after a few moments deliberation, brought in a verdict of manslaughter. They were sentenced during minority to the Reform School with an alternative of four years in the State Prison. It is hoped that with proper instruction such as they will receive at the State School, they will so improve as to become useful citizens upon their release.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Bernard Archibald, and the attorney general.

STATE VS. ALDEN BOULIER.

On the 23rd day of June, 1914, Emma Jensen was found dead beside the road leading from Caribou to New Sweden. Three bullet wounds in the head showed the cause of death. Alden Boulier, who had been keeping company with her and was last seen with her the night before, disappeared and after a three days search, he returned to the home of his parents and was arrested and charged with the crime of murder. He admitted to have been with her and to have fired the shots which caused her death, claiming to have fired them at a third party, who was taking some liberties with her. Search by the officers, however, revealed no such party and at the trial the respondent taking the stand, told such an incredible story as to how the affair took place that the jury brought in a verdict of guilty of murder. No doubt the cause of the unhappy ending of the life of Miss Jensen was due to some lover's quarrel growing out of jealousy, and that the shooting was in a heat of passion; however, the respondent's story of the affair left the jury no other alternative than a verdict of guilty of murder.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Bernard Archibald, and the attorney general. The respondent was defended by F. W. Halliday, of Newport and Cyrus F. Small of Caribou.

STATE VS. LINONEL E. DUDLEY.

On the 5th day of September, 1914, it was discovered that Mildred Sullivan of Houlton, a young girl seventeen years of age had disappeared. Search by the parents and friends disclosed the fact that an illegal operation had been performed upon her by the respondent, a physician in the town of Presque Isle. Search was immediately instituted by the county officials and finally sufficient evidence was secured to warrant the arrest of the respondent, of Alice Pelletier, and Kate O. Michaud for the crime of abortion. It was not until the fourth day of November, that the body of Mildred Sullivan was discovered, buried in a piece of woods just outside the town of Presque Isle. The discovery of the body was due to the confession of Kate Michaud who had told in part the story of the affair shortly after the respondent was arrested, but who refused to give any information as to the whereabouts of the body until a month or more afterward, when she informed the county attorney and a deputy sheriff as to how and where the body was disposed of.

On the finding of the body, Dr. Dudley was immediately arrested for murder and Alice Pelletier was arrested as an accessory after the fact. At the November term, the Grand Jury of the County found an indictment for murder and for procuring an abortion against Dr. Dudley, Kate Michaud and also Alice Pelletier and further finding an indictment against Ambrose Bridges who was responsible for the condition of the girl as an accessory before the fact to the crime of procuring an abortion. At the trial which was held at Houlton, Dr. Dudley was defended by Shaw, Burleigh & Shaw, Jerome Clark, and Doherty and Tompkins. The trial was held amidst the greatest excitement owing to the revolting details of the crime and the disposal of the body, and in this respect was probably never equalled in the criminal annals of the State. After the State had presented its evidence and particularly the evidence of Miss Michaud, the counsel for the respondent advised him to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty to manslaughter. The State after consideration consented to accept this plea upon the condition that the maximum penalty be imposed and that Alice Pelletier also plead guilty to the crime of accessory after the fact of abortion. Both pleas were entered and accepted and sentence imposed, thus disposing of one of the most sensational criminal trials ever held in this State. The charge of murder against Miss Michaud was not pressed and the charge of procuring an abortion was continued, and she was allowed to go on her own recognizance, her part in the affair arising from friendship for some of the parties, and her final decision to furnish the State with all the evidence in her possession relating to the affair was of greatest assistance to the State and probably necessary to secure a conviction of the principal offender.

The case of Ambrose Bridges was continued until the April term for further proceedings.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Bernard Archibald, and the attorney general.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

STATE VS. JOHN KUEUM.

This was a case where the respondent was charged with manslaughter for shooting a companion in a house in the city of South Portland. It was the result of a drunken quarrel, at some kind of a family or festive celebration. The trial resulted in a verdict of manslaughter.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, S. L. Bates, and the respondent was represented by J. W. Berman.

STATE VS. ALBERT L. BARKER, ALIAS ALBERT F. BARKER.

This was a case where the respondent was charged with the crime of murder of one Helen Brown. Both were negroes and the shooting was the result of jealousy on the part of the respondent. The evidence showed that he had purchased a revolver, visited the house where the deceased was stopping, fired several shots at her which resulted in her immediate death. The defense was that the shooting was the result of an accident, arising from the respondent threatening the deceased without any intention to kill. The jury, however, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder after a short deliberation.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Samuel L. Bates, and the attorney general.

Henry C. Sullivan and Jacob M. Berman represented the respondent.

STATE VS. MICHAEL L. MULKERRIN, ALIAS MICHAEL J.
MULKERN.

In this case the respondent was charged with shooting his brother, Patrick Mulkern, in a stable on India Street in the City of Portland. It appeared that there has been more or less ill feeling between the two brothers and that the elder brother had on several occasions undertaken to assault Michael and at times previous to the shooting had followed him on the street threatening to throw or attempting to throw rocks at him. After a street quarrel on the night of the shooting had ceased, and Patrick had departed, Michael walked toward his boarding house in company with two policemen and upon leaving them, threatened to get a gun and shoot Patrick. Fifteen or twenty minutes later, the same policemen were notified by someone on the street that the Mulkerns were fighting again and upon arriving at Patrick's stable, found Patrick with several bullet holes in his body and Michael in the stable who then said, that he had told the officers that he would shoot Patrick and that he had done so.

After two or three days in the hospital Patrick died, stating just before his death how the shooting occurred. At the trial, the defence was self defense, Michael claiming that Patrick had threatened to assault him again, and had threatened to kill him, but acknowledging, however, that he had gone to the stable to have an understanding with Patrick. Examination of the wounds and clothing of Patrick disclosed that the shooting could not have taken place in the manner described by Michael, and the jury after several hours' deliberation brought in a verdict of guilty of murder.

The case is now before the Law Court on motion for a new trial and argued at the December term.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Samuel D. Bates and the attorney general.

Harry Nixon and Jacob M. Berman appeared for the defense.

*Since writing above report the Law Court has denied respondent's motion.

FRANKLIN COUNTY.

STATE VS. A. DEMARCO.

In January 1913, the respondent in an altercation with another Italian fired a revolver, the bullet striking an innocent third party, Guisepe Sandillo. The respondent was indicted for the crime of murder and at his trial was ably defended by Hon. Warren C. Philbrook. The defense was self defense, the respondent claiming that the Italian at whom he fired had fired at him and he was acting in self defense and that the shooting of Sandillo was an accident. Upon cross examination, however, he admitted that he fired without taking aim and even without looking where he was shooting, although he knew that there were other parties in the room where the alleged assailant was shooting. His assailant, who testified, claimed that Demarco fired the first shot. Evidence disclosed that the respondent fled immediately after the shooting and was finally arrested in Lewiston. The jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney Blaine Morrison and the attorney general.

HANCOCK COUNTY.

STATE VS. JOHN CROWELL.

In this case the respondent was charged with the shooting of James West who was found dead in a camp belonging to the respondent. The respondent claimed that the shooting was in self defense but the location of the body, the nature of the wound and the condition of the clothing of the deceased showed that such could not have been the case. The respondent finally pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter.

STATE VS. EDWIN GOODWIN.

In this case the respondent was charged with the killing of H. C. Young at Surry in the County of Hancock. Investigation showed that the respondent knowing that the deceased, as a storekeeper, went from his store at a certain time and carried his money with him, deliberately laid in wait for him for the purpose of robbing him. He provided himself with an iron pipe or bar and as the deceased was going along the road, he approached him from the back and struck him over the head, killing him. The respondent finally admitted his guilt and pleaded guilty to the charge of murder. He had previously been admitted to the Insane Hospital at Bangor for observation, but the report was to the effect that he was sane.

Both of the above cases were in charge of the County Attorney, Herbert L. Graham, and were disposed of after conferred with and under the advice of this department.

KENNEBEC COUNTY.

STATE VS. FRANCIS VANNAH.

In March 1913, one Edward F. Hardy and his wife Cora Hardy were found shot in a camp on the Togus Stream. Both Edward Hardy and Mrs. Hardy stated that the respondent was the person who fired the shots. Edward Hardy died soon after the shooting but his wife, Cora Hardy, recovered. The respondent was ably defended by his counsel Benedict F. Maher, and denied all knowledge of the shooting. He was recognized, however, by other parties as having been seen going to and coming from the scene of the crime just before and immediately after the shooting. An umbrella, identified as his, and a revolver were found in the woods near a path leading to and near the Soldiers' Home at Togus of which the respondent was an inmate. After his arrest he gave a statement accounting for his acts on the night of the shooting but upon taking the stand his account was so at variance with his first statement as to strongly indicate his guilt. The jury after deliberation brought in a verdict of guilty of murder. The respondent at a previous term had been committed to the Insane Hospital for observation but was reported to be sane. Before the trial and after conviction, motions denying the jurisdiction of the Court were filed and the case taken to the Law Court on the ground that the act passed by the Legislature of 1913 after the commission of the offense which gave to the Superior Court of Kennebec County jurisdiction over the offense was an ex post facto law.

The case at nisi prius was conducted by the County Attorney, W. H. Fisher, and the attorney general, and was argued before the Law Court by the attorney general for the State, and W. H. Miller for the respondent. The Law Court in October handed down a decision sustaining the contentions of the State that the act in question was one regulating the method of procedure and was not an ex post facto law. The respondent is now in jail awaiting sentence.

KNOX COUNTY.

STATE VS. CLARENCE CURTIS.

This was a case pending at the beginning of this administration having been committed in the latter part of 1912. The crime was the killing of a sister of the respondent. His account of the affair was of such a nature as to indicate clearly his insanity and after commitment for the purpose of examination he was reported to be insane and at the term of Court in Knox County in April, 1913, a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity was brought in and the respondent committed to the Department of the State Hospital for the criminal insane.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

STATE VS. GILMORE H. BOWMAN.

In October 1914, an unfortunate affair occurred in Jefferson in the County of Lincoln. Hugh Clark was stabbed by the respondent after a quarrel in which the brother of the respondent and the brother of the deceased were also engaged. The affair occurred at a dance. The respondent was more or less under the influence of liquor and while the quarrel at first only resulted in a fight with the fists in which the Bowmans were worsted, the respondent after having been knocked down once or twice, went to one side and drawing a knife, returned and assaulted Hugh Clark, the deceased, stabbing him in the back and finally in the heart. It became apparent after going over the evidence that a verdict of manslaughter was all that could be expected as the whole affair occurred during the heat of passion. After the jury was empanelled the respondent's counsel notified the State that they would advise their client to plead guilty of the crime of manslaughter which was accepted and the respondent sentenced to a maximum term of six years and the minimum term of three years in the state prison.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, James B. Perkins and the attorney general. Andrew C. Halper and W. M. Hilton represented the defendant.

OXFORD COUNTY.

STATE VS. HILDA KOKANAN.

In this case, the respondent was charged with the deliberate shooting of her husband. He was found by the occupants of the adjoining part of the house bleeding from bullet wounds in the chest, and acknowledged that the shots had been fired by his wife, and she also admitted her guilt. It became apparent, however, that she was not mentally responsible for the crime and was committed to the Insane Hospital for observation. The report of the superintendent has not yet been received so that action has been delayed in this case.

STATE VS. FRANK SALITINO.

This was an Italian shooting affair in which one Gussippi Parise was found killed in one of the streets in the town of Rumford. The respondent was found hiding several days after the shooting and was shown to have been in company with the deceased on the night of the shooting. No trouble between the respondent and the deceased was shown to have existed and it became apparent that the shooting was probably the result of a drunken altercation arising just previous to the shooting.

An indictment for manslaughter was returned by the Grand Jury and the case ably handled by the County Attorney, Frederick R. Dyer. The jury disagreed, however, but later the respondent plead guilty and was sentenced to a term of fourteen years in the state prison.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

STATE VS. JAMES CANNON.

In this case the respondent was charged with the shooting of Ethel Grant, a woman with whom he had been more or less intimate. The respondent deliberately purchased a revolver with which he did the shooting and went immediately to the house of the deceased and fired the shots which caused her death. After the indictment and upon his arraignment on advice of counsel, he pleaded guilty to the crime of murder.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Donald F. Snow, and the attorney general. The respondent was represented by Raymond Fellows.

STATE VS. CHARLES SMITH.

The crime for which the respondent was accused occurred in September 1912. The affair was not properly investigated at the time, no coroner's jury was empanelled and while an autopsy was performed, it was not a thorough one and failed to disclose the material facts of the case which would probably have settled either the guilt or innocence of the respondent. The case was not finally tried until the April term, 1913. The respondent was ably defended by Raymond Fellows and Phillip S. Gardner. Investigation of the evidence disclosed that the deceased and her little boy had been brutally killed by blows from a club while lying in bed and were either killed at approximately one o'clock or about half past five. The husband left home at one and the accused returned to the house about ten minutes past five. As in all cases of this kind, where the affair is not immediately investigated, discrepancies result in observation and particularly in recollection of time that events took place. There was such a divergence in the testimony as to the time of the return of the respondent to the house of the deceased and where he had been during the afternoon that the jury were apparently unable to find beyond a reasonable doubt his guilt. A full autopsy would probably have disclosed whether the deceased was killed just after dinner or just before supper.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Donald F. Snow, and the attorney general. Raymond Fellows and Phillips Gardner represented the respondent.

STATE VS. RANCE GRASSE.

The respondent was charged with the shooting of his divorced wife with whom he had again become intimate in the house of a sister at Bangor in October, 1913. There was no question about the shooting or that the respondent was present. The claim was that it was the result of an accident in his attempt to take a revolver away from the deceased with which she was threatening him. The respondent was ably defended by Gillen & Gillen and after trial the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter. The condition of the deceased's clothing and the absence of any powder marks about the wounds made it certain that it could not have happened in the way in which the respondent claimed.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Donald F. Snow, and the attorney general.

SAGADAHOC COUNTY.

STATE VS. RASOUL KASEM LACLIOLI AND BRAHO HIRO.

These two cases for the purposes of the report may be taken together. In September 1913, one Kasem Souleyman was found in the Androscoggin River at Topsham. An investigation showed that he had been brutally murdered and money which he had drawn from the savings bank in Lewiston been taken, and was the apparent motive for the crime. Investigation further disclosed that he had last been seen in company with the respondents, and upon the finding of the body, both fled. Rasoul Kasem returned to Lewiston and was arrested and tried at the October term at Bath, 1913. His defense was an alibi, he being ably represented by Getchell & Hosmer. Pieces of letters and other papers, torn and concealed at the river bank where the affair took place indicated that the respondent was one of those participating in the crime. That together with the fact that he knew that the deceased had money on his person, was last seen in Lewiston in his company and had fled immediately following the discovery of his body, resulted in the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty of murder.

Shortly afterward the other respondent, Braho Hiro, who disappeared at the time, was arrested in Massachusetts and brought to Bath where he confessed to the crime and the manner in which it was committed by himself and Rasoul Kasem. He pleaded guilty to the charge of murder and was sentenced for life to the state prison at Thomaston.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, Edward W. Bridgham, and the attorney general.

STATE VS. SAMUEL HINCKLEY.

On September 19, 1914, Charles Barnes of Georgetown was fatally shot. Samuel Hinckley was immediately placed under arrest and brought to Bath. It became apparent that there was doubt about the respondent being mentally responsible for his acts and after indictment at the October Term of the Supreme Court, he was committed to the State Hospital for observation. The report as to his condition has not yet been filed.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

STATE VS. MICHAEL SHANNON.

This case arose out of the shooting of a negro by the name of John H. Blackwell at Shawmut just out of the town of Fairfield. The respondent was indicted for the crime of murder. Investigation showed that he had declared that he was going to Waterville to purchase a revolver with which to kill the deceased. Witnesses saw him standing over him firing shots.

However, it was not until after the State's evidence was all presented that the accused decided to retract his plea of not guilty and plead guilty to murder. The respondent was represented by Merrill & Merrill of Skowhegan.

The case for the State was conducted by the County Attorney, L. R. Folsom, and the attorney general.

STATE VS. HARLAN R. TUPPER.

The respondent was indicted for the crime of murder of Fred McLaughlin. The shooting took place at Moscow in the County of Somerset and arose from what appeared to be a trivial matter so far as the evidence disclosed. The deceased calling at the house where the respondent was stopping for the purpose of remonstrating with him for leaving some work in which they were engaged and in which the accused was lending assistance. In the altercation which followed, the respondent took a rifle and shot the deceased. He died almost immediately. The defense was self defense but the respondent's own testimony indicated that it was done under conditions in which the right of self defense could not be invoked. The jury after deliberation returned a verdict of manslaughter. The respondent was defended by Butler & Butler of Skowhegan and H. I. Goss of Bingham.

The case was conducted by the County Attorney, L. R. Folsom, and the attorney general.

WALDO COUNTY.

STATE VS. LEWIS BURGESS.

The respondent was indicted for the crime of murder. The affair took place at the house in which he was living alone and the deceased John Ranco was his son-in-law. Both had been drinking heavily during the afternoon and some time in the evening the shooting took place. There was no evidence as to just how it occurred. The respondent's story was so incredible that it was evident that he was not telling the truth, or else was so intoxicated at the time that he did not know how it occurred, his appearances, however, soon after the shooting took place, were not such as to indicate excessive intoxication on his part. There was apparently no motive for the crime or at least no motive sufficient to provoke it. It was probably the result of a drunken altercation. The jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter. The respondent was defended by H. L. Buzzell of Belfast and Wiley C. Conary of Bucksport.

The State was represented by the County Attorney, Eben F. Littlefield, and the attorney general.

OTHER CASES INVESTIGATED.

In addition to the above homicide cases in which indictments have been found, the State has also investigated the death of Wilbert D. Eldridge and Addie M. Eldridge of West Gardiner in December, 1913. The bodies of the deceased were found burned in their home and a son suspected. After a careful investigation the state officials became satisfied that the death was the result of an accident and that the person suspected could have in no way been connected with it.

In April 1914, considerable publicity was given to the death of Ethel Cummings, in Waterford in the County of Oxford. The circumstances surrounding the death were distorted and magnified by over-zealous officials and newspaper reporters. After investigation by the county attorney and the sheriff's department, together with this department, it became certain that it was a case of suicide and that there was no foundation for the sensational reports that had been sent out.

The following homicides have occurred in counties where no Grand Jury has yet sat since their occurrence.

At Hartland in September last George Hubbard was arrested for the shooting of L. D. Matthews, in September, 1914. The affair was the result of jealousy and occurred in the presence of witnesses and the respondent on being arraigned before the Trial Justice, admitted his guilt. He is now in jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

On the eighth day of December, Guiseppe Massinis was stabbed at Portland and one Emanuel Salvatore was arrested and is now charged with the crime, having been bound over awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

Two other homicides have occurred in which no parties have as yet been found who were responsible for the death. Thomas E. Preece was found beside the road in Sumner in the County of Oxford on the 7th day of December, 1914. Investigations made by the county officers up to the present time have not connected anyone with the affair, the suspected parties having disappeared and not yet located.

One John Timony was found dead beside the road in Easton, in Aroostook County on the 28th day of October, 1914, and as yet no person has been located who it is claimed is responsible for his death. Investigations in both cases are still being conducted.

STATE VS. JOSEPH CURRIER.

On December 12, 1914, Margaret Manning of Bangor was found dead in a field near Essex Street in the City of Bangor and upon investigation it appeared that death was due to exposure and shock caused by an assault and the respondent is now being held charged with the offense.

OTHER CRIMINAL CASES.

The following are other criminal cases in which this department has been called in to assist the county attorneys.

CASE OF STATE VS. WALTER L. BATCHELDER, FOR ARSON.

The respondent was charged with the burning of buildings at Dexter and was indicted by the Grand Jury of Penobscot County at the February term 1913. He was committed to the State Hospital for observation and finally at the September term pleaded guilty and was sentenced.

STATE VS. JAMES A. PARKER.

This was a case where it was charged that the respondent had falsified a statement to a bank from which he had obtained a loan. The attorney general was called into the case at the request of the county attorney and assisted him in trying the case. Owing to one of the bank directors failing to take a correct copy of the report which was signed by the respondent, it was left in doubt as to whether the respondent realized the nature of the report which he had signed and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

In connection with the conduct of homicide cases and the criminal business concerning which it is the duty of this department to investigate and conduct, we have the following recommendations to make.

ABOLISHMENT OF THE OFFICE OF CORONER.

The first recommendation which we desire to make with reference to the administration of the criminal laws of the State is the abolishment of the coroner system. The origin of this office is an ancient one. Its duties were originally associated with the king or crown and the preservation of his rights and property; hence the title, "coroner."

It was brought over to this country by the early settlers, but most of its prerogatives were never recognized, as they had no application to our conditions here. The principal one that was preserved was the investigation of homicides and the determining of the cause of death and the probable guilty party.

We think practically everyone who has made a study of the administration of our criminal laws, particularly those relating to homicides, have become convinced that we have outgrown this feature and that it is no longer adapted to our present conditions. That it lacked something was recognized in our own state several years ago by the enactment of a law providing for medical examiners. Today the prosecuting officials, we think, would all agree that the most valuable part of the coroner's report is that of the medical examiner, and that any other services which the coroner does perform could as well be performed by the medical examiner who performed the autopsy, under the direction of the prosecuting officers.

Massachusetts and New Hampshire, recognizing this fact, have abolished the coroner system and provided a system under which the medical examiner takes entire charge, makes an autopsy if necessary and under the direction of the prosecuting officers holds such inquest as may be deemed advisable.

Our experience in the past two years has convinced us that such a system should be adopted here in Maine; that while in some of the counties coroners who have had long experience handle the homicide cases properly, in many of the counties, through lack of experience, and in some instances by reason of the unfitness of the parties holding this office, serious injury to the State results and the prosecuting officials are frequently handicapped in bringing the offenders to justice. Rivalry exists between the numerous coroners in some counties, unnecessary expenses are sometimes incurred, and we strongly recommend that this office be abolished and the medical examiners be given the necessary authority to make all investigations, and under the direction of the attorney general or county attorney, hold such inquests as the prosecuting officers may deem necessary.

The attorney general of New Hampshire, with whom we have conferred in this matter, advises us that their law has worked very satisfactorily in that State, and it seems to us that with some modification it is well adapted to our own State.

An examination of the reports of my predecessors discloses the fact that the failure of the so-called coroner's inquest to meet the requirement of modern conditions in the administration of our criminal laws had impressed itself upon them and its abolishment recommended, at least, as early as 1898.

STATE POLICE.

From our experience during the past two years, we also recommend the creation of a board of state police, to consist of at least two experienced criminal investigators. One of the greatest lacks in investigating crime is that of experienced criminal officers. Some of the counties fortunately possess such, but in many there are no officers who have had experience in such matters and it often handicaps the State very much in not having a man skilled in such matters who can immediately proceed to the scene of the crime and make full and complete investigation at once. There should be at least two experienced men under the direction of the attorney general who can be sent to any part of the State upon notice of a homicide or other serious offense and who can, under his and the county attorney's direction, make all investigations in connection with the local officials. Other departments also have occasion to use investigators, particularly the insurance department, and these men should also be available for any state department which needs any work of this character. I doubt if the expense to the state and to the counties, if both are taken together, would be increased, as it often becomes necessary to employ detectives, whose charges are high and whose work is not always satisfactory.

INHERITANCE TAXES.

A considerable portion of the time of this department is taken up in the collection of inheritance taxes, as under the present law all non-resident inheritance taxes are assessed and collected through this office. While the amount is small compared with the resident taxes, yet a very large number of estates pass through this office in the course of the year, as no stocks in Maine corporations can be transferred from a non-resident estate without a waiver from this office, nor can any funds belonging to non-resident estates be drawn from our savings banks without a similar waiver. This necessarily requires an examination of the terms of a great many wills and of the disposition of the property of many non-resident estates as well as the laws of other states.

In addition to this, this department has been frequently called upon the past two years to advise and appear in the case of resident estates in our probate courts.

On entering upon the duties of this office, it was found, owing to the numerous changes in the law in recent years, that no system of collecting the resident taxes had grown up or become established, and that there was a lack of coöperation between this office and the various probate courts in the different counties. At the beginning of the present year, a meeting of the registers and judges from the different counties was called at Augusta and a large number responded. At that time an understanding was finally reached as to the method of procedure. Many of the probate courts had been lax with reference to the forwarding to this office of the information required by law and the method of procedure for determining the tax varied considerably in the different counties. Finally a system was evolved by which an effort has been made to get this department in closer touch with the probate officers in each county, and a docket or record is now kept showing the condition of the various estates in every county in the state from which an inheritance tax may be due.

In the month of May each year each register of probate is required by the law to furnish this office with a list of all the estates in which it appears at that time a tax may be due and in which administration has been taken out during the past year. Previously notices were immediately sent out to all of these estates and the result was that many estates were notified which had not been under process of administration but a year, and were not in a position to settle the inheritance tax, if any were due. As a result a great deal of useless correspondence was carried on. It has now been arranged so that the estates are separated into classes according to the length of time they have been in process of administration, and notices are not sent out from this department until after the expiration of twenty months and only to the then delinquent estates, when the estates should be ready for settlement and inheritance taxes ready to be paid.

In the past when estates were settled in Court, and no tax was found to be due, no notice was sent to this office and the result was that the names of many estates were left on our records in which no inheritance tax was due and notices were continued to be sent. Arrangements have now been made by which registers of probate notify this office in all such cases so that they are stricken off our docket.

It has been the aim of this department to have the resident taxes collected through the probate courts in all cases and inventories filled in every estate. A lax practice in this particular had grown up in some of the counties, and in one, at least, this department has had to proceed for the removal of the administrator or executor in a large number of cases, by which procedure adjustment has been secured and a considerable amount of money collected.

However, we are of the opinion that the collection of the inheritance taxes should all be under the treasury department; a clerk with sufficient legal experience should be employed there to look after this work. Any special legal assistance that might be required could be all times obtained from this department, but the clerical work could be better done in the treasurer's office. The law itself should be revised, as it has now become a piece of patch work and there are several features of it that are not clear and in one or two instances inequalities result.

This work has been in charge of the assistant in this department and the fact that during the past two years, the sum of $453,571.57 has been collected from inheritance taxes which is the largest amount collected by any administration since the law was enacted, is a high compliment to the faithfulness and ability of the gentlemen who have served as our assistant during the past year and a half, Messrs. Harold H. Murchie and Roscoe T. Holt.

CORPORATIONS.

The approval of all certificates of incorporation is a part of the duties imposed upon this office by law. During the past two years one thousand and eighty business corporations have been organized, and seventy-five corporations for charitable and benevolent purposes under Chapter 57, Revised Statutes.

Where corporations have ceased to do business, excuses are issued from this office, which exempts corporations from making further returns and payment of franchise taxes. This department also has charge of the collection of the delinquent franchise taxes. During the past two years $5400.00 have been collected as fees for the approval of certificates of incorporation, $2510.00 for the issuing of excuses and $55,965.00 from franchise taxes.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

From examination of the certificates that are forwarded here for approval, we have become strongly impressed with the view that our corporation laws are subjecting our State to well deserved criticism. Maine is now being used by incorporators from all parts of the country who desire to obtain liberal provisions in their so-called charters, and in most cases of the corporations that are now organized here the real incorporators have no intention of ever transacting any business in this state. On the face of it there does not seem to be any reason why the State of Maine should create corporations to transact business in other states except for her own citizens; especially does it seem to us to be unnecessary and questionable practice for this State to organize public service corporations to do business in other states, or corporations which are nothing more or less than mere holding companies and are being used in many cases for the purpose of perpetuating or creating monopolies and trusts. Another objectionable result of this practice is the difficulty of obtaining jurisdiction where wrongs to stockholders result. A so-called holding company organized in Maine may control the stock of a New York corporation and then of an Arizona corporation and unless all the corporations come in voluntarily, jurisdiction in the case of suits by injured stockholders in either of the corporations may become impossible, and as presented in one or two instances that have been brought to our personal attention, serious complications may arise.

The State of Maine has now reached a point when the income from the organization of what are termed "tramp corporations" cannot be upheld on the ground of her needing the revenue, if it ever could be upheld on any ground; and we would recommend that our corporation laws be carefully revised with the aim of meeting the full needs of our own citizens, whether doing business in Maine or outside of the State, but that the State of Maine cease to organize corporations for the sole purpose of doing business in Michigan, Arizona or any foreign country where the real incorporators are all non-residents. Certificates are frequently presented to this department for approval which can only be approved upon the adding of restrictive clauses which probably render a large part of the purposes expressed in the certificate absolutely worthless; yet certificates continue to be sent to our State for approval drawn by and for non-residents with seeming reference to the laws of every state in the union except our own.

INVESTIGATIONS.

COAL INVESTIGATION.

This department has been called upon in connection with a number of investigations during the past year, the first being that of the investigation of the so-called coal trust in Maine for which purpose a joint committee was appointed by the last legislature and a large number of long hearings held and much testimony taken. These were all conducted by this office and occupied a great deal of time and a large mass of testimony was taken. The result was the passage of state laws modeled after the so-called Sherman "anti-trust" laws, the enforcement of which, however, is left to the local officials in the different counties.

SHERIFF REMOVALS.

At the close of the last legislature, proceedings were instituted against the sheriffs of five counties and one county attorney. These proceedings, by reason of their importance and of their unusual nature, aroused great public interest and occupied much time in their preparation and conduct. The attorney general was directed by the legislature to conduct the hearings with the assistance of able counsel, including Hon. E. C. Plummer of Bath, B. W. Blanchard of Bangor, Hon. W. B. Skelton of Lewiston, Hon. B. F. Cleaves of Biddeford and E. K. Gould of Rockland.

Addresses were adopted by both branches of the legislature in the case of three sheriffs who were afterwards removed by the Governor; one sheriff resigned and another failed to appear by reason of alleged illness, and an address requesting the removal of the county attorney of Androscoggin County after passing the Senate failed to pass the House of Representatives.

After the removal of Sheriff Moulton of Cumberland County proceedings were brought by his counsel by quo warranto to try the title of the appointee to the office. This case was prepared by the attorney general and a full brief written and was orally argued by him before the Law Court, which sustained the contention of the State as to the regularity of the method of removal. E. W. Freeman, Esq., of Portland was also employed by Sheriff E. W. Scully, the appointee of the Governor and rendered valuable assistance in the case.

STATE HOSPITAL.

During the fall of 1912 charges were made against the superintendent of the State Hospital at Augusta and this department was called upon to conduct the investigation. Considerable time in preparation was spent, but as both sides finally employed counsel this department was relieved of the active prosecution of the investigation before the Governor's council.

CIVIL SUITS.

During the past two years numerous proceedings to determine title to office in which the name of the attorney general has been used as representing the State, but in which the relator has employed personal counsel; and in one case action was brought in the name of the attorney general to determine whether a corporation has forfeited its franchise. In none of these cases has the attorney general been called on to participate actively in their prosecution.

STATE VS. SHIP POND LUMBER COMPANY.

At the time of taking office there was pending an action in Piscataquis County brought by the plantation of Elliottsville to recover for stumpage cut on school lands in that plantation against the Ship Pond Lumber Company. This case has been prosecuted to a final judgment, the attorney general acting in behalf of the State and J. S. Williams, Esq., of Guilford in behalf of the plantation. Hudson & Hudson appearing for the Lumber Company. The rescript has recently been handed down by the Law Court, sustaining practically all of the State's contentions and awarding to the State a sum which with interest amounts to approximately four thousand dollars. This will be held by the State for the benefit of the schools of the plantation.

DISSOLUTION OF INSURANCE COMPANIES.

One action has been begun during the past year for the dissolution of the Maine Fire & Marine Insurance Company of Portland, and is now under process of adjudication.

A proceeding is pending in the Supreme Judicial Court at Bath relating to the Equitable Mutual Fire Insurance Company, in which there has been much delay on account of the receiver failing to file proper report. Creditors have appeared and objected to the report filed and it is now ready for hearing upon a supplementary report as soon as the creditors are ready. Counsel for the creditors reside in Houlton and it has been difficult to arrange a time to accommodate all parties.

DEPARTMENTS.

With the establishment of the Public Utilities Commission, three new and important departments have been created since our term of office. During the past year, probably more than any other, there have been calls upon this department by the other state departments for advice and opinions upon questions of law. This is due in part to the fact that the creation of the new highway department, which by reason of the nature of its work has many legal questions for settlement. The new Board of Charities and Corrections, the agricultural department by taking over the administration of the pure food law and the law relating to the packing and grading of apples, and the assessors department, have made frequent demands upon this office for opinions. During the past two years probably more than one hundred written opinions have been given, some of which are of more importance than others and are included in this report. Of course, in addition to these, many conferences with state officials have been held, and advice given which has not been put in the form of a written opinion.

Effort has been made to file the written opinions in a way that may be of some use and benefit to this department in the future by indexing them. At present there is no convenient way of ascertaining what previous attorneys general may have advised upon any particular question. The only way in which it can be done is to search through the various reports which are not complete. It is proposed to file all written opinions, indexed under titles that will make them easy of access, and in the course of time as they accumulate from year to year, of some use to the department.

AMERICAN EXPRESS COMPANY TAX.

The legislature of 1911 increased the rate of taxation of express companies from three to four per cent upon intra state receipts and upon a proportionate part of the interstate receipts. In 1912 the American Express Company raised the question of the constitutionality of the statute and the then Governor and Council under advice finally accepted the tax based upon the old rate of three per cent. Obviously there was no legal foundation for such an adjustment, and when the matter was presented to this department in the early part of 1913, after examining the authorities, we advised the state assessors that in our opinion there was no occasion for holding the statute unconstitutional, at least without judicial decision. Further examination, however, disclosed difficulties in determining the amount of the receipts upon which the tax was based, particularly the proportional part of the interstate receipts. Previously a lump sum had been taken which apparently had no special basis in fact for its acceptance. After numerous conferences with counsel for the Express Company, a new method of computation was agreed upon, which seemed to be as equitable as any that could be devised between the state and the Express Company, and the tax provided for in the law of 4% was assessed. This adjustment will probably take care of this question in the future and result in the increase of the company's taxes by several thousand dollars.

OFFICE EQUIPMENT.

Before closing this report, I desire to call the attention of your Excellency and the Honorable Council to the equipment of the attorney general's office. Through the courtesy of the Superintendent of Public Buildings, Andrew L. McFadden, sufficient furniture has been placed in the office occupied by this department to, at least, make it presentable, which it was not at the beginning of this administration. There is yet a lack in the matter of law books. Unfortunately the offices occupied by this department are situated some distance from the State Library and so many calls are made by the different departments for advice that there is absolute need of having certain law books at immediate hand, namely; a set of Maine Reports and also the Acts and Resolves of the State, together with certain other books of reference that are indispensable in any law office. During the session of the last legislature, there was not even a set of Maine Reports in the office, in fact there were scarcely any law books except copies of the Revised Statutes. At the adjournment of the legislature the Maine Reports and the Acts and Resolves, which it is claimed belongs to the Judiciary Committee, were placed in the office of this department and have been available for use during the rest of the year. I presume they will again be appropriated during the coming session of the legislature and the result will be that during the very busiest time of this department, when members of the legislature are daily and many times during the day calling at the department for information and legal advice, this department is absolutely without a set of Maine Reports or of the Acts and Resolves of the State, and it becomes necessary to make many trips a day to the State Library in order to consult these necessary sources of information. This much, at least, should be remedied and some provision made for keeping the Maine Reports and the Acts and Resolves in this office during the coming session of the legislature when they are most needed.

COUNTY ATTORNEYS AND ASSISTANTS.

I wish also to recognize, by calling your attention to, the faithful and efficient work that has been performed by the several county attorneys in the State and by the assistants, in this department. The relation of the attorney general to the administration of the general criminal laws of the State has never been clearly defined or understood. In most states the attorney general is made the chief prosecuting officer, as it were, of the State and the several county attorneys, or district attorney are under his direction. In this State, however, the statute only goes so far as to say that he shall advise with the county attorneys. He has no power of direction unless he has such by reason of the nature of his office. This authority has never been exercised to any extent in this State so far as we know. In fact, there has been little or no occasion for the attorney general to assume general authority over the work of the county attorneys as they are in general ready to respond to any directions or advice from this department.

However, numerous requests and calls upon this department in relation to the administration of the minor criminal offenses are frequently made, but under the statutes the only course open to us is to refer them to the county attorneys in their respective counties. It seems doubtful whether the attorney general has the right to appear before the Grand Jury except in certain specified cases.

In addition to the calls made upon this department in relation to criminal matter, requests for opinions and interpretations of law are frequently made by town officials and even by individuals, who have no official connection whatsoever. There seems to be a popular notion that this department is available to be called upon by anyone for legal advice. The policy has been during the past two years, as in the past, to as courteously as possible notify the inquirers that it is not a part of the duties of this department to advise local officials; that they must consult their own counsel. The reason for this is so obvious to an intelligent person that in most cases no further comments or inquiries are made.

We desire to especially commend to your attention the very faithful and efficient work performed by the assistants who have served in this office the past year and a half. Under the law enacted by the last legislature restoring this office, Harold H. Murchie of Augusta was appointed as assistant Attorney General and he entered upon his duties in this office in July 1913. These duties he performed throughout the period of his service with great fidelity and efficiency and it was with great regret that his resignation was accepted, brought about by reason of a personal loss which caused such a change in his personal affairs as to make further continuance in the office a great sacrifice. His successor, Roscoe T. Holt of Portland, has performed the work since October 1st, 1914, with equal ability and fidelity and we feel that the State has been fortunate in being able to have the service of young men of such high character and ability as Mr. Murchie and Mr. Holt.

OPINIONS.

The following are some of the most important opinions that have been rendered by this department during the past two years:

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.—TOWNS NOT OBLIGED TO PAY FOR ANTITOXIN UNLESS PURCHASED
OF PARTIES DESIGNATED BY STATE BOARD.

8th January 1913.

Dr. A. G. Young, Sec. State Board of Health, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR DOCTOR: Replying to your letter of December 28th, addressed to the attorney general, I am of the opinion that a city or town would not be obliged to pay for the antitoxin purchased by local boards of health furnished by other firms than those with which the State Board had contracted. A town might voluntarily pay for antitoxin purchased from other firms, unless enjoined from so doing by some of the citizens, and the local board of health might distribute it free among its own residents.

From the intent of the statute as indicated by the title and the provisions of Section 1, I do not think a town which furnished antitoxin to an indigent person could collect of the town in which the indigent person resided, unless it was antitoxin purchased of the parties designated by the State Board.

To permit one town to collect from another for antitoxin furnished to an indigent person resident of the latter town, unless purchased in accordance with this statute, or to permit a town to collect from the State for antitoxin furnished any person not a resident of any city or town, if not purchased in accordance with this act, would in a large measure frustrate the whole purpose of the statute, which is to place the matter within the control of the State Board.

It is possible that the town by which antitoxin was furnished to an indigent person might collect as for pauper supplies, but that would have nothing to do with this statute or with your inquiries.

Trusting that I have covered the matter sufficiently to answer your question,

I am,

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

AGRICULTURAL COMMISSIONER—AUTHORIZED TO DIRECT WORK OF LIVE STOCK SANITARY COMMISSIONER.

14th May 1913.

Hon. J. A. Roberts, Commissioner of Agriculture, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 14th, inst., inquiring as to the construction of Chapter 195 of the Public Laws of 1911, and particularly as to the authority of the Commissioner of Agriculture to in any way direct the work of the Live Stock Sanitary Commissioner, was duly received.

And in reply will say that it seems to me apparent from the act that it was intended to place the Live Stock Sanitary Commissioner under your department and make you the head of that branch of the department as you are the head of other branches which are under your direction. The words "shall work in conjunction with and under the general direction of" must have some meaning and undoubtedly were intended to give you general oversight over his work and with authority to give general direction as to the manner in which he should perform his duties.

The words "work in conjunction with" evidently contemplate conferences with you and a general understanding and agreement as to how his work shall be done such as would be expected to exist between the head of a department and one of his subordinates.

Of course, his duties are prescribed by law and it would probably be a general oversight that you would have, such as might be necessary to see that his work was done in conformance with the requirements of the statutes and to the end that the purposes of the statutes might be accomplished.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

BOARD OF MEDICAL REGISTRATION.—MEETINGS AND CERTIFICATES.

6th August, 1913.

To Board of Medical Registration, F. W. Pearl, Secretary.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the matter of the certificate of registration of Abbott J. Fuller issued by the Board of Medical Registration under date of April 18, 1913, I am of the opinion that the certificate was not properly issued, although the facts are not entirely agreed upon, and I am obliged to draw certain conclusions of fact from data more or less incomplete and unsatisfactory.

However, it may be stated at the outset as a principle of law applicable to this case, that the Board of Medical Registration cannot act as a Board unless in a meeting duly called, or at which all are present. Acts assented to by individual members on the street or by telephone are not acts of the Board, although, of course, the same might be ratified at a meeting duly called and held.

With this rule of law in mind, has a certificate of registration ever been issued to Abbott J. Fuller which was authorized by the Board, provided, of course, it is necessary for the Board to act in the case of a non-resident physician desiring to be registered under the reciprocity provisions of our statutes?

Under the rules adopted by your Board, we are of the opinion that action by the Board is necessary. The rule says: "any person etc., may be registered by this board". "Applicant must send certified photograph and appear in person before the board". Application must be sent to secretary; "and if found satisfactory". In view of the other provisions and considering the nature and purpose of the law, we think this means satisfactory to the Board; hence we think action by the Board is necessary.

We understand, however, that it is claimed that upon the filing of the first application which was found not to be in due form, the Board acted thereon so far as deciding to issue a certificate in the event of the application being amended to conform to the requirements of the law. Such a course might have been pursued and no further action by the Board have been necessary, when amended application was filed, and the certificate could have properly been issued by the President and Secretary in accordance with previous action of the Board. On the other hand it is claimed that the Board took no action on original certificate, and that it was withdrawn and application was made de novo on April 18th, 1913, and on this application no action by the Board has ever been taken at any meeting, and the issuing of the certificate was therefore unwarranted.

From the data which has been furnished us, we think the latter view is the only tenable one. The records of the Board do not show any action by the Board on the first application and it was withdrawn entirely from the files of the Board. The second application shows by memoranda upon it that it was treated as a new application and attempted action of the Board was had upon it, but we understand such action was not at a Board meeting but by telephone, which according to our understanding of the law, could be of no effect.

While it has no effect upon any of these questions, we also note what on the face appears to be an irregularity in the second application, in that at the time the applicant made oath to it, it was not fully made out in this respect; that on the twelfth day of March, 1913, there was no statement contained therein as to his good professional standing, this part of the certificate having been completed on the tenth day of April, 1913. This, however, is a technical matter, perhaps, and if the Board was satisfied it was done in good faith, should not weigh in determining whether or not a certificate should be granted.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

SEA AND SHORE FISHERIES,—RIGHT OF WARDEN
TO SEARCH VESSELS.

8th August, 1913.

Henry D. S. Woodbury, 120 Exchange St., Portland, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 6th inst., inquiring as to the rights of wardens to board fishing smacks and examine the cargo to ascertain whether they have short lobsters on board, was duly received, and in reply will say that it seems to me within the authority of the wardens, provided they have a search warrant, to board a vessel and examine the cargo notwithstanding the vessel may be owned by non-residents and the lobsters are purchased or taken on board for the purpose of taking them out of the State.

A question does, however, arise as to in what waters this can be done. Unquestionably the jurisdiction of the State extends three miles to sea, but a peculiar situation seems to exist in Maine as to the extent of the county lines, and, therefore, of the jurisdiction of the courts over offenses of this nature unless committed within some county. Without further extension by the statutes, county lines seem to be bounded by low water mark but include all bays and harbors along the coast where "a man standing on one shore can reasonably discern with the naked eye objects and what is done on the opposite shore." I have not made a careful examination as to the limits of all the counties but undoubtedly they all include the islands along the coast at least, and in all probability no question will arise over any bay or harbor.

Probably this is sufficient for your purposes, as I presume if you want to make a test case of this you can locate one of these vessels in some port and have a search warrant made out and examine their cargo and if short lobsters are found bring them before the magistrate issuing the warrant.

I call your attention to Section 59 of Chapter 41 which makes the boat itself liable to seizure as security for any judgment that may be recovered. It will undoubtedly be wise for you to take it up with the county attorney, and be sure that the papers are properly made out.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

TAXATION OF BREAKWATER.

24th September, 1913.

Hon. B. G. McIntire, Chairman Board of State Assessors, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Replying to your question concerning the taxability of a break water proposed to be erected some five hundred feet in the ocean off the shore of Rockport, I beg to state that determination of this matter is impossible without further facts.

If in the act incorporating the town of Rockport, the town lines are set forth so as to include the situs of the proposed break-water, I think there is no doubt but the town would have the right to tax.

If there are islands off the shore at that point, so that the county lines might be held to extend out beyond, here also the possibility of a tax by the town of Rockport might arise.

If on the other hand, the town lines stop at the shore or at low water mark, and there are no islands outside so that the county line would be extended, there seems to be no way in which the town could claim the right to tax.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

TAXATION OF PERSONAL PROPERTY ON NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COM-PANY.

25th September, 1913.

*Hon. B. G. McIntire, Chairman Board of State Assessors,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: Replying to your question in regard to the taxability of poles of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company now located in the town of Monmouth and held there as a source of supply, it seems to me that said town has no right to impose a tax.

Under the provisions of the Revised Statutes touching this point, it is stipulated that the franchise tax should stand in lieu of a property tax on poles, wires, etc., used in the exercise of the franchise. Under this provision some question might arise as to poles held in a supply station on the ground that a strict construction of the exemptions would include only such as were actually in use. Chapter 210 of the Public Laws of 1909, however, amends that provision of the Revised Statutes so as to place it beyond dispute. It is therein stated that the excise tax or franchise tax shall be in lieu of all taxes upon the property of any telephone corporation except the land and buildings located in any town.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

MARRIAGE.—AUTHORITY TO PERFORM CEREMONY AFTER ONE HAS CEASED TO BE A CLERGYMAN OR ORDAINED MINISTER.

16th December, 1913.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the inquiry of Rev. C. M. Clark of the Bangor Theological Seminary as to the interpretation of Chapter 161 of the Laws of 1909, I will say that the act is perhaps susceptible to two interpretations; one that the license to a clergyman or an ordained minister is a continuing authority until removed, whether the clergyman or ordained minister remains such or not; and second, that this statute changed the law as laid down in Section 11 of Chapter 61 of the Revised Statutes and provided that a clergyman or a licensed preacher as such was qualified to perform the marriage ceremony, but before they could legally do so, they must obtain a license from your office. Under the latter interpretation, it seems to me that if for any reason one ceased to be a clergyman, or his license as a preacher was taken away, he was no longer authorized to perform the marriage ceremony; that that is an essential. Both Chapter 61 of the Revised Statutes and the Law of 1909 provide that the authority given under the appointment mentioned in Section 11 of Chapter 61 and the license mentioned in Chapter 161 of the Laws of 1909 shall continue until revoked.

It seems to me, however, that the second interpretation is the correct one; that it was the intent on the part of the legislature to change the existing law; in other words, that under the law as enacted in Section 11 of Chapter 61 of the Revised Statutes, a clergyman or person licensed to preach performed the marriage ceremony by virtue of his appointment by the Governor; that the appointment was of him as an individual although only clergymen or ordained ministers, etc., could receive the appointment, and that authority confined until his appointment or commission was revoked.

Under the act of 1909 the legislature evidently proposed a change of the law, and instead of there being an appointment by the Governor, a license issues automatically from your office whenever proof is made from the fact that any individual applying is an ordained minister or clergyman. In this connection, the language of the statute seems to me to have some significance, in that it says that marriage may be performed by certain officials and by any clergyman or ordained minister but after he has obtained a license. In other words the authority to perform the marriage ceremony comes rather from the fact that he is a clergyman, or ordained minister, but which authority he can only exercise after receiving a license from your office; and when he ceases to be a clergyman or ordained minister, or his license to preach from any religious seminary or ecclesiastical body is revoked, he is no longer authorized to perform the ceremony.

No doubt any ceremony performed by any person under the impression that he was legally authorized to perform it would be a valid marriage. The only question would be whether the person so performing it subjected himself to the penalties provided in Section 12 as amended by Chapter 161 of the Laws of 1909.

No doubt, if such is not the law, the termination of the license to preach would be sufficient cause for the revocation by the Governor of the license to perform the marriage ceremony.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

LICENSE TO SELL STOCK BY CORPORATIONS.

3rd January, 1914.

Hon. Harry M. Smith, Bank Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: On examination of Section 1 of Chapter 209 of the Public Laws of 1913, it does not seem that a Dealers Registration would be required for a company to sell stock to its own stockholders. This, of course, would apply only in case the corporation did the selling itself. If they should employ an outside person to sell the stock, he would necessarily be registered as a dealer.

The same would, of course, be true where an individual was selling his personal stock as an investment, no registration would be required for this as it is not in any sense a dealing in securities.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

*Attorney General.*BOARD OF HEALTH.—DUTY AND EXPENSE OF DISINFECTING.

8th January, 1914.

Dr. A. G. Young, Sec. State Board of Health, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR DOCTOR: In reply to your letter of December 30th, addressed to the Attorney General, permit me to say that in cases arising under Chapter 78, Public Laws of 1909, the option seems to be with the owner as to whether he shall disinfect at his own expense, in case he does not so elect, however, it is then the duty of the Board of Health to disinfect.

As to the expense: If the owner does the disinfecting, it is expressly provided that he shall do it at his own expense; if, however, the local board of health permits that duty, it is at the public expense, which I understand in this case, to be at the expense of the town or city. I should hold that the town or city must pay all the reasonable bills contracted by the local board of health in performance of these duties, subject to such powers as the city or town may have over it under Section 28 of Chapter 18 of the Revised Statutes. Persons employed by the board of health in this work, and I should say any person furnishing any materials for the purpose, could recover for the same from the city or town.

I should lay this down as a general rule, possibly exceptional cases might arise, but if so, local counsel could advise the boards of health in relation thereto.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAYS.—PROCEDURE OF VOTING FUNDS FOR STATE AID HIGHWAYS IN CITIES.

14th January, 1914.

*Paul D. Sargent, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: In the matter of interpretation of Section 20 of Chapter 130 of the Public Laws of 1913 as to whether it applies to cities in so far as it requires a submission of the question of raising money for State aid highways to the voters thereof at their annual meeting, I have examined the statute and it seems to me that while Sections 19, 20, 21 and 22 by their terms and by the express provision of Section 2 of the Act, do apply to both cities and towns, yet I do not feel that it was the intent of the legislature to require that the question of raising money for State aid highways in cities should be submitted to the voters of the city, and in my opinion, it would be sufficient for this question to be submitted to the city council of the several cities as the body having charge of the appropriations of money.

I should, however, recommend that this be made clear at the next session of the legislature.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION,—AUTHORITY TO ACCEPT
ASSIGNMENT OF FUNDS DUE ON HIGHWAY
CONTRACTS.

14th January, 1914.

*Paul D. Sargent, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: In relation to order of Cochran and American Trucking Company; in the first place I think the order should be on the State, and not on the Highway Commission, and in the second place, I do not think the authority of the Highway Commission goes to the extent of accepting for the State partial assignment or full assignment of funds in the hands of the treasurer due or to become due on contracts they enter into. That is an authority the Legislature did not vest in the State Highway Commission; nor so far as I know does the State Treasurer possess it, so as to bind the State. In practice it may never be questioned as the remedies which the respective parties might have against individuals on equitable assignments and in case of unauthorized acceptance are not available against the State, unless authorized by the Legislature.

I, therefore, cannot advise the Highway Commission to accept this order, nor advise parties that it would be valid, if accepted even by both the Highway Commission and the State Treasurer. The Highway Commission might vote to approve the payment of the order when the funds became due if that would satisfy. It probably would result in the assignee getting his money as surely as though there was a duly authorized acceptance of this order.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

PUBLIC LANDS.—AUTHORITY OF LAND AGENT
TO LEASE.

14th January, 1914.

Hon. Blaine S. Viles, Land Agent, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 13th inst., was duly received.

I have examined the statutes and authorities, so far as they seem to have any bearing upon the right of the Land Agent to dispose of in any manner lands reserved for public uses, and I do not find that the statutes vest in the Land Agent any authority to lease such lands for any period of time.

He is given authority to superintend and manage the sale of public lands and to have the lands reserved for public uses set out, but his authority in relation to lands reserved for public uses seems to be limited to the right to dispose of the timber and grass growing thereon and until the land is incorporated into a town. He has the right to sue for trespass in case of a person unlawfully entering and cutting the trees and grass and no doubt take such steps as would protect the State's interest therein as is implied by the word "care," but he has no authority to sell, and I do not find anything in the statute that seems to give him any power to convey any rights therein except the timber and grass rights.

This being so, leases to persons occupying and using the land for sporting camps are void and of no effect.

The language of the Court in case of Stetson vs. Grant, 102 Maine, 222, seems to proceed upon the same view. The Court expressly holding that a sale by the Land Agent of the public lots is of no validity saying, "the land agent had no authority to sell and convey public lots and no title in the demanded premises passed by his deeds." I note also that the Court refused to decide in this case as to whether the Land Agent had any power to lease the public lands for the purpose of erecting and maintaining sporting camps upon them, but I think if such power has been contained in the statutes, they would not have hesitated to have said so considering the claims that were made in this case.

Taking this view of it, of course, the question as to whether it will be necessary to have the signature of the owners of the timber and grass privileges is of no importance. The situation, as I view it, results in the owners of sporting camps located in public lots being trespassers, the Land Agent having no authority to grant them leases or permits. Of course, the Land Agent can treat them as trespassers and make such settlement with them as he deems wise in behalf of this State until the legislature shall have rectified this condition. As I understand it, it has now become a matter of considerable importance to the State to obtain this revenue from these public lots. The rights of the timber and grass owners as against the owners of the camps is a private matter between them, and probably would be simply a question of damages, if any, suffered by the owner of the timber and grass rights, who has simply the right to enter upon the land for the purpose of cutting and removing the timber and grass and no right to the soil.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

BLUE SKY LAW.—WHAT CONSTITUTES “DEALER IN SECURITIES.”

4th February, 1914.

Hon. H. M. Smith, Bank Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to Chapter 209 of the Public Laws of 1913 and what constitutes a “dealer in securities” under this act, I have given the matter some consideration and would suggest the following rule for your guidance.

That a dealer shall include every individual, partnership, association or corporation engaged in the business of selling or offering for sale securities whether its own or those of other individuals or partnerships or corporations unless done through a registered dealer or salesman. By the express terms of the statute this does not apply to personal investments, or changing of investments, or where a corporation sells its stock to its own stockholders or members. Neither do I think it was intended to include every sale of stock by a corporation to persons outside of its own stockholders, as for instance; where an individual desires to invest money in a certain corporation and take part in its management, or the stock is transferred in the organization or re-organization, of a corporation. But if any corporation in order to sell its stock takes the same course that the regular dealer in securities usually takes, namely; advertising, sending out of circulars, or salesmen or its own officials in order to dispose of its stock to the public wherever it may, my view would be that a corporation was then "engaged" in selling and offering for sale securities within the meaning of this law and would require a license. It seems to me that it is a question of whether they are "engaging" in the selling or offering for sale of securities that determine whether they come within the class.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

SAVINGS BANKS.—INVESTMENT IN BONDS OF CORPORATION OPERATING RAILROAD AND OTHER PUBLIC UTILITIES.

4th February, 1914.

Hon. H. M. Smith, Bank Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the interpretation of Section 23 of the Banking Laws relating to the investments of Savings Banks, and sub-paragraph under the third paragraph of Section 23 in relation to railroad bonds, it seems to me that where a company is engaged, not only in operating a railroad, but also in the operation of other public utilities, the company must show not only that its main business is the operation of a railroad, but also that an amount equal to its bonded indebtedness together with an additional amount equal to 33 1-3% of such indebtedness is invested in that part of its property devoted to the railroad business; unless, of course, it comes in under the provision in relation to the payment of dividends. And in this matter, I am of the opinion that it would require dividends of 5% each year for a period of five years rather than an average rate of 5% in order to legalize such bonds for Savings Bank investments. It is "annual dividends"; not simply dividends, in amount equal to 5% per annum; not only to be earned, but paid for a period of five years, and not during a period of five years. It seems to me that the ordinary effect and meaning of this language must be held to be, an annual payment each year of at least a 5% dividend.

If corporations whose business is largely electric light and heating can come in under the provisions of the third paragraph because they have a small railroad mileage, where a large part of their money is invested in the electric light and heating business, it would permit the investment of Savings Bank funds in securities of corporations of a nature that is not recognized as safe investments in any other part of the law unless they are domestic corporations. Bonds of electric light companies outside of this State are not legal for investments of Savings Bank funds. I do not see why they should become so because they are able to masquerade as railroads by the reason of operating a few miles of road. I do not see where you can draw the line unless you require them to live up to the express terms of the statutes.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

BLUE SKY LAW.—DEALERS, INFORMATION
REQUIRED TO BE FILED.

4th February, 1914.

Hon. H. M. Smith, Bank Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: With reference to the proper interpretation of Section 8 of Chapter 209 of the Public Laws of 1913, relating to the "Business of Dealing in Securities," I have given the matter consideration, and it seems clear that under this section, you have the right to require every dealer to file with you a list of the securities which he has sold or offered for sale within the preceding six months, or which he proposes to offer for sale, and may require him to file a statement of the assets and earnings, or any other facts, that you may deem necessary in relation to such securities to enable you to determine their value and the honesty and good faith of such dealer in selling or offering the same for sale.

You may also require such dealer to file copies of any and all printed circulars and advertisements relating to the same; and if after the receipt of all information furnished you, you are not then satisfied that such dealer is offering such securities honestly and in good faith with disclosure of sufficient facts to enable the intending purchaser to determine the nature and value of such securities, and without intent to deceive and defraud, you may prohibit such dealer from further selling or offering for sale such securities.

The question of whether or not a failure to disclose all facts necessary to enable a purchaser to determine the nature and value of the securities alone, without any evidence of intent to deceive, would be sufficient to warrant you in prohibiting the sale of such securities is perhaps doubtful, unless such a condition may be taken as evidence of a lack of good faith; and I should be inclined to view an absence of this requirement in that light, viz: as prima facie evidence of a lack of good faith, to be taken with other evidence as indicating bad faith on the part of the dealer and intent to deceive and defraud.

It might be properly urged by the dealer that while the circulars do not contain all of the information necessary, yet a salesman always answers all inquiries and orally supplies all the necessary information to enable the intending purchaser to determine the nature and value of the securities; but as it is necessary to satisfy the Bank Commissioner of the honesty and good faith of the dealer, a failure to satisfy him that all the facts necessary to enable a purchaser to determine the nature and value of the securities were being disclosed at the time of sale, would ordinarily raise a question as to the honesty and good faith of such dealer, especially if the statement on file showed the securities to be of doubtful value and might warrant the Commissioner in prohibiting the sale of such securities, I doubt, therefore, whether this particular feature of the law will cause you much trouble.

Very sincerely,
SCOTT WILSON,
Attorney General.

TEACHER'S PENSIONS.—SUPERINTENDENTS OF SCHOOLS NOT EXCLUDED.

11th February, 1914.

Hon. Payson Smith, State Superintendent of Schools, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Yours of January 16th, relating to the interpretation of Chapter 75 of the Public Laws of 1913 relative to teacher's pensions was duly received.

In the matter to which you refer as I understand it, the applicant is qualified as a teacher by reason of length of service to receive a pension. The question being whether he is entitled to receive one while acting as a Superintendent of Schools, he having retired from active service as a teacher.

As I understand it in the legislative discussion of this law, it was concluded not to make it apply to superintendents and from the language of the act, it seems to me clear that it was not intended to apply to superintendents. The words "employed as a teacher" in the first section, which is one of the necessary qualifications of the pension, indicates that the act was intended to apply to any in the employ of the cities and towns as teachers in the ordinary acceptance of that word and no persons holding an office as superintendent of schools, though as such official he may be engaged in the general business of the instruction and education of the young.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the fact that an applicant having all the other qualifications required by the statute entitles him to a pension, namely, length of service and retirement from the service of teaching, is not disqualified to receive a pension under the present statute because he has accepted the office of superintendent of schools. I could conceive of conditions similar to the case in hand where there might seem to be little occasion in granting a pension, however, that may be, such an applicant seems to be entitled to one under our present law.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

SCHOOLS.—AUTHORITY OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY TOWN TO ESTABLISH SCHOOL.

13th February, 1914.

Hon. Payson Smith, Superintendent of Schools, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: With reference to the conditions in the town of Durham relating to the maintenance of a school in the so-called Shiloh Colony, and the disbursing of the town money for that purpose, as I understand it, the situation is substantially as follows:

At a meeting of the town held in 1907, and pursuant to an article in the warrant, it was voted to instruct the school committee to make such arrangements with the "Kingdom" for their school for the ensuing year, (or such time as shall be necessary), as the school committee shall think best for the town. A similar vote has been passed each succeeding year.

Under this vote, as I understand it, the school committee has, by agreement, apparently with someone in authority at the "Kingdom," voted to pay certain teachers who are evidently members of the Colony, for instructing the children located there. It appears now that some parents have left the "Kingdom," but are residing within the limits of the town, and still desire to send their children there. Those in authority at Shiloh, however, refuse to receive them. The question now arises as to whether a public school is being conducted within the so-called Shiloh Colony for which the school committee is authorized to expend any of the town funds, or whether the money now being paid under the present arrangement to the teachers in the so-called Shiloh school is being illegally disbursed. If it is being legally disbursed and a public school exists, no one but the school committee would have the right to exclude a child from the school.

In the first place, I do not suppose it will be contended that the school committee has any authority to disburse any of the public money for the purpose of maintaining or assisting in maintaining, a private school, notwithstanding children are attending it for whom the town might otherwise be obliged to provide. The public money can only be expended for the maintenance of public schools to be conducted under the supervision of the superintending school committee and the superintendent of schools. It is clear, I think, that unless the school maintained at Shiloh is a public school, the superintending school committee, or the superintendent of schools, has no right to expend any of the money of the town in employing teachers there.

The question has been raised, as I understand it, as to whether or not the superintending school committee has established under the vote of the town, a public school in the "Kingdom," as it is called, and, therefore, has a right to expend the town's money in employing teachers there. I do not understand that the town has ever voted in town meeting to establish a school there, and the committee's power in this respect is confined to such as was conferred upon it by the votes of the town previously referred to.

Section 2 of Chapter 15, R. S., relating to Education provides: that the "location of any school legally established prior to March 17, 1893, shall continue unchanged, notwithstanding the district is abolished, but any town at its annual meeting, or a meeting called for that purpose, may determine the number and location of its schools, and may discontinue them or change their location; but such discontinuance or change of location shall be made only on the written recommendation of the superintending school committee, and on conditions proper to preserve the just rights and privileges of the inhabitants for whose benefit such schools were established."

This section confers upon the town the power to establish a school at any point in the town; also the right to discontinue any school or change its location. The town of Durham has not, as the town records show, by any vote at an annual meeting, or at a meeting called for that purpose, either established a new school within the limits of the "Kingdom," or changed the location of any other school to that place. Could it delegate its power in this respect to its superintending school committee?

The authorities are in accord that a town cannot delegate any power which required the exercise of discretion. It seems to me that the language of this section clearly indicates that the legislature intended that the inhabitants of the town should express their final judgment in open town meeting as to the number of schools they would have in the town and upon the discontinuance or change of the location of any school. I am the more strongly impressed with the correctness of this conclusion, since a discontinuance or change of location can only be made after a written recommendation by the school committee, and on "conditions proper to preserve the just rights and privileges of the inhabitants for whose benefit such schools were established," all of which imply, in my opinion, that it was intended that the inhabitants should, after discussion and deliberation only, take such action in open town meeting where all interested might be heard.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that the votes of the town at its annual meeting authorizing its school committee to make any arrangements it saw fit with the "Kingdom" for their schools, conferred no authority upon the committee to employ teachers at public expense in private schools, or in any place except a public school located under Section 2 of Chapter 15 of the Revised Statutes; nor did it authorize the school committee to establish new schools or change the location of any school within the town, and any action of the school committee, under such votes, in establishing a school, or aiding in the maintenance of one within the limits of Shiloh Colony and not legally established by the town, were ultra vires and illegal.

The results obtained by the committee may have been a wise solution of a difficult problem, but it seems to me that substantially the same results could be accomplished by legal methods as have been obtained by the method now in vogue.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

TAXATION OF LOGS.

30th March, 1914.

Hon. B. G. McIntire, Chairman, Board of State Assessors, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Replying to your question with reference to the taxability of floating logs in the town of their intended manufacture, I would advise that the Maine authorities seem to support the contention of the East Machias selectmen, namely; that logs may be taxed in the town where they are to be manufactured even though not physically present there on tax day and though the owner may be resident in another town.

I call your attention particularly to the case of Ellsworth vs. Brown in the 53rd Maine where the identical question was raised and the Court, stating that the tax perhaps could not be sustained on the strict letter of the exemption now contained in the first paragraph of Section 13 of Chapter 9 of the Revised Statutes, held that the intent of the law was to cover that very situation and sustained the tax.

This case has been sustained from time to time in our Courts. the last decision in the 93rd Maine reaching the same result by a slightly different course of reasoning—Farmingdale vs. Berlin Mills Company. Here the Court in upholding the tax quoted the above case but went on to say—"The logs were intended for manufacture in that mill. They had been cut, hauled to the landing, and were in transit to the mill, and may therefore be fairly considered as employed in the trade or business of the mill on that day, within the meaning and purpose of the statute."

Yours sincerely,

HAROLD H. MURCHIE,

Assistant Attorney General.

POLITICAL PARTIES.—NOMINATION BY PARTY OF MEMBERS OF ANOTHER PARTY AT PRIMARY ELECTION.

1st April, 1914.

Hon. Joseph E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: AS to whether members of a political party can nominate as one of the candidates of that party and have his name appear on their party ballot at the primary election, a member of some other political party, I have examined the text of the so-called primary law and am of the opinion that such a proceeding is proper.

The language may not be absolutely free from doubt but we think the only reasonable interpretation of it is that the political belief of the candidate is of no consideration. It is the political belief of the signers of the petition that must appear in order to determine on which ballot the name shall be placed and to make it a strictly party nomination. We do not think it was intended to limit the right of the members of a party to nominate any citizen they please whatever his political faith may be.

The words "political party which he represents" in the fifth section apply to the candidate, but we think it means just that, viz: the party which he is to represent at the primary election and, if there nominated, then as its candidate at the polls. It is not the party to which he belongs. One may be selected to represent a political party as its candidate without belonging to it, and, herein, we think, lies the distinction.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

AUTOMOBILES.—REGISTRATION OF.

18h April, 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Referring to our conversation of Wednesday, I understand your question to be whether or not a garage owner keeping and operating automobiles for hire shall be allowed, under Section 9 of Chapter 162 of the Public Laws of 1911, to register the cars so kept and operated for hire as a dealer; that is, whether he shall be allowed to register his several cars under a general distinguishing number or be held to the requirement of a separate registration for each car.

I think there is no doubt but that he should be held to a separate registration for each car and that Section 9, which provides for a dealer's registration, is meant to apply (excluding manufacturers) only to persons engaged in the sale of cars and not to the renting or hiring of the same.

The method of registration is set forth in Section 8 of said chapter as follows: The owner or person in control shall apply for registration setting forth certain material facts. The fee for such registration to be determined, first, from the horse power of the car itself, and second, from the use to which such car is to be applied. Under this section there is no provision by which more than one car could be included in any registration, and each registration would require a separate statement of facts and a separate registration fee. Section 9 then goes on to provide for registration of a particular kind by a particular class of persons and by its terms is limited to "every manufacturer of or dealer in motor vehicles." It is an exception to the general rule laid down in Section 8. Unless the garage owner can bring himself within the terms of that exception then clearly there is no basis for a claim on his part to be permitted to register more than one car under any single application or fee.

It will not be contended for a moment that a garage owner comes within the first of the description of that section, namely, a manufacturer. He can expect the benefit of the exception only, if at all, by qualifying under the second of said descriptions, that is, a dealer. By reference to the dictionaries and decided cases, I find that the term "dealer" is universally limited to persons "engaged in the business of selling commodities." The Century Dictionary and Webster's Dictionary define a dealer as a "distributor," "one whose business is to buy and sell goods," or who "makes a business of buying and selling goods, etc."

In Words and Phrases under the term "dealer," numerous cases are cited, the substance of which is the same, i. e. that a dealer is "one who makes successive sales as a business." 37 Mich. 506. The trend of the authorities then would seem to negative any construction that would permit of including garage owners within the particular class of persons who are meant to benefit under this section.

Turning to the act itself, we find that in Sections 9 and 10 which speak of manufacturers and dealers and create this special right, references are made to sales by these parties. The registration provided, is by its own terms declared to terminate when a sale is made. In Section 10 certain duties are imposed on manufacturers or dealers at the time of making such sale. These things would seem to show the intent of the act to conform to the accepted meaning of the term "dealer" and "manufacturer," and I have no hesitation in advising you that garage owners throughout the State should be held to the same requirements in the registration of cars as any private owner who maintains more than one car in his own garage,

Very sincerely,

HAROLD H. MURCHIE,

Asst. Attorney General.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.—WHETHER A WOMAN IS ELIGIBLE TO HOLD OFFICE.

29th April, 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: The question has been submitted to me as to whether or not a woman is eligible to hold the office of Register of Deeds in this State. While the question is not wholly free from doubt, still I am of the opinion that under our statutes a woman is not eligible to hold this office; not because of lack of qualification or fitness, as she is in many cases, at least, especially fitted for this kind of work, but because of her original disqualification under the common law to hold public office.

I have come to this conclusion after a historical examination of the rights of women under the law, and a consideration of the views expressed by our Court in Opinion of Justices, 62 Maine, 598, together with certain acts of our legislature as indicating its recognition of the necessity of express legislation to qualify women for public positions, and also the views of the Courts of Massachusetts and New Hampshire upon this question under their constitutions and laws.

In several states, particularly in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Tennessee and Illinois and in our own state, the question of the rights of women to hold public office has arisen in connection with the office of Justice of the Peace, Notary Public and the right to be admitted to the bar. It has been held that a woman was not eligible to the office of Justice of the Peace and Notary Public, without express authority of the legislature; and in Massachusetts, the court held that even the legislature could not authorize the appointment of women to this office without a modification of the constitution, 165 Mass., 599.

In Robinson's case, 131 Mass., 376, is perhaps the best historical discussion of the rights of women to hold public office contained in any judicial decision, where the question under consideration was whether an unmarried woman was eligible for admission to the bar as attorney at law. It is there pointed out that by the law of England which was also adopted in this country, a woman was not entitled to hold public office where the duties would be discharged by the incumbent in person, and it was held that under the statute authorizing admission of “citizens” to the bar for the practice of law, a woman could not be admitted without further legislative action; and in 1899 the legislature of this State extended our statute and now expressly provides that women are eligible to admission to the bar for the practice of law in this State. This would seem to indicate that our legislature had recognized the necessity of action in order to render the rights of women to hold public office clear.

It is true that under the opinion of the Justices in 62 Maine, 598, there was dissenting opinion by three Justices on the question as to whether or not women were eligible to the appointment of Justices of the peace, but the majority of the Court held, as has been held in New Hampshire, 73 N. H., 621, and several of the other states, 92 Tenn., 531; 55 Ill., 535, that in consideration of the conditions that existed at the time of the adoption of the constitution, in relation to the manner in which political power was then exercised by the male citizens alone, it was not the intention of those adopting the constitution to include women as eligible to constitutional offices unless it expressly appeared in the language of the constitution.

It was intimated, however, that the legislature might create new ministerial offices and authorize the performance of the duties thereof by either sex. However, when the office of Register of Deeds was created in 1821 by Chapter 98 of the Public Laws of that year, nothing is found therein expressly making sex a qualification of holding the office. But in interpreting this statute, it should be borne in mind that women under the common law were ineligible to hold public office; and while the use of the masculine pronoun is perhaps of little weight except in connection with the other considerations; it should be noted that it was therein provided that the register should furnish a bond with sureties in the sum of two thousand dollars, a contract which married women at least at this time were not capable of entering into.

These considerations together with the fact that for ninety years, it has been the uniform practice to elect only males to this office are sufficient in our opinion to warrant you in refusing to depart from this unbroken practice without legislative action or judicial interpretation.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

RE-VALUATION OF REAL ESTATE BY STATE
ASSESSORS.

13th May 1914.

Hon. B. G. McIntire, Chairman Board of State Assessors, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the correspondence between your office and certain parties in the town of Waterboro, I beg leave to say that the provisions of Section 7 of Article IX of the Constitution which requires a general valuation shall be taken at least once in ten years, in my opinion refers to a state valuation and not to local valuation in the several towns. It is a "general valuation" which it would be almost impossible to procure if it was left to the towns themselves.

At least the legislatures in the past seem to have so interpreted it as I find that from 1841 down to 1890, every ten years a commission was provided for the making of a general valuation in the state.

Town officials under Sections 73 and 74, of Chapter 9 of the Revised Statutes are supposed to make a correct valuation each year and if a piece of property is over-valued or under-valued, they should change it.

In relation to the situation that has developed at Waterboro, it would probably be difficult for me to advise and perhaps it is not proper I should advise with reference to the rights of the several parties as it is a matter between the committee and the town and if there are any questions involved as to their legal rights, they should employ counsel. However, I will say that I think they are in error in assuming that the committee which they selected are in the nature of officials which they could not discharge at any time they saw fit. Neither in my opinion would the result of the appraisers be binding upon the selectmen. It could only serve as a guide for them in making their assessment. The selectmen must finally make their valuation according to their own judgment.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAYS.—RECISION BY TOWN OF VOTE TO APPROPRIATE AFTER HIGHWAY COMMISSION HAS APPORTIONED STATE'S MONEY.

13th May, 1914.

*Paul D. Sargent, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 1st inst., relating to the appropriation for state aid in the town of Lebanon was duly received.

The facts appear to be these: That at the March meeting the town of Lebanon appropriated the regular amount for State aid of $533, under Section 19 of the highway law; that on the 24th day of April, the highway commission apportioned to the town of Lebanon under Section 21, an equal amount, namely, $533; on the 25th day of April, the town of Lebanon at a special town meeting undertook to rescind the vote passed at the regular town meeting in March appropriating the above named sum. The question is whether or not the town could rescind the vote after the state highway commission had apportioned the state's share of the state aid fund.

I think not. At least as soon as the highway commission had apportioned under Section 21 the state's money, the two become a joint fund to be expended by the state highway commission and the town became liable to be called on for it under Section 25. Whether the town could reconsider the vote before the state had acted in appropriating the state's funds, it is not necessary to decide. It appears in this case, that they did not and I think the rights of the state have intervened and the town has become liable to be called on for the appropriation.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

REPRESENTATIVE APPORTIONMENT.—RESOLVE
OF 1911 AS APPLIED TO LONG POND, SOMERSET COUNTY.

15th May 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Your question as to whether the ballot to be prepared in your department for Long Pond in the County of Somerset should contain the name of any of the representatives to the legislature nominated for the several representative classes in said county is at hand.

A reading of the representative apportionment as made by the Seventy-fifth legislature, Chapter 226, Resolves of 1911, shows that this Plantation was not included by name in any one of the seven classes provided for the County of Somerset, nor was there any language used in the defining of those classes of such general nature as that used in connection with the Counties of Aroostook, Oxford, Penobscot, Piscataquis and Washington, where in each case one class was defined as including several towns and also "all other territory not otherwise classified."

Long Pond not having been included in any particular class either by express name or by a general statement of that nature, it would have no right within the Opinion of the Justices, 33 Maine, 537, to vote for a representative to the legislature from any class in that county. To place the name of a representative on the Long Pond ballot would be an alteration of the representative apportionment contrary as the Opinion of the Justices declares to the express terms of the State Constitution and I should, therefore, advise that the ballot for said Long Pond should contain no such representative.

Very sincerely,

HAROLD H. MURCHIE,

Asst. Attorney General.

AUTOMOBILES.—REGISTRATION OF BY DEALER
AND GARAGE OWNERS.

20th May, 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the various questions submitted by the Automobile Association in regard to the registration of dealers, Section 11 of Chapter 162 of the Laws of 1911 provides that no motor vehicles shall be operated on any street or highway unless registered as therein before provided. Section 8 provides that all motor vehicles shall be registered by the owner; but Section 9 permits every manufacturer or dealer in motor vehicles, instead of registering each motor vehicle under Section 8, to make application for a general distinguishing number or mark and the secretary of state shall issue it, whereupon each motor vehicle owned or controlled by such manufacturer or dealer until sold or exchanged shall be regarded as registered under such general distinguishing mark.

If the statute stopped there, its interpretation would be quite clear that all automobiles owned or controlled by a dealer for sale or exchange would be registered no matter to what use they might be put; but the section goes farther and says; that the fee for every certificate of registration shall be $25, for the privilege of purchasing, demonstrating, selling or exchanging automobiles and auto trucks.

I do not now see any other way of interpreting the law than to hold that the registration by a dealer only covers the use of automobiles in connection with the purchasing, demonstrating, selling or exchanging of the same, and that under the dealer's license or registration, they are not registered within the meaning of Section 11 for any other purposes than those connected with the purchasing, demonstrating, selling and exchanging of automobiles; and that if a dealer uses the public highways with such machines for other purposes, it must be registered under Section 8.

I appreciate that such a strict interpretation of this law will work a hardship on the regular automobile dealers, as under it, I do not think they would have the right to use one of their machines registered under Section 9 for pleasure purposes, or to let, or as a matter of fact for any business purposes, that are not connected with the purchasing, demonstrating, selling and exchanging of automobiles.

It would seem quite clear, as I have previously advised you, that a garage owner who does not deal in automobiles, but simply keeps them for hire should not have a dealer's license but should be obliged to license each one of his cars; nor a hotel man using them in connection with his hotel, nor any person operating them in any kind of commercial business. Neither does it seem to me, that if a dealer even, has a private car for repairs, that he would be authorized to use it upon the highways under one of his dealer's numbers even for testing it. It is not a car owned or controlled by a dealer for the purposes of selling or exchanging. The owner must see to it that it is properly registered under Section 8 before the garage owner can take it out on the streets for testing purposes.

As to the use of a car, registered only under a dealer's number, by a dealer for hire for the purpose of towing in cars of unfortunate automobilists that are broken down on the road, it seems to me very doubtful whether he is even authorized to do that under his dealer's registration. It is stretching the statute pretty far to hold that this is a privilege connected with the purchasing, demonstrating, selling or exchanging of automobiles. It may be that they should have this right, but the statute should be amended to make it clear.

The point for the automobilist to bear in mind is that he has absolutely no right on the streets unless his car is properly registered, and in case of accident, it may become a very serious matter with him whether his machine is properly registered.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

POLITICAL PARTIES.—PARTIES ENTITLED TO HAVE ELECTION OR BALLOT CLERKS AT PRIMARY AND GENERAL ELECTION.

27th May 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the question whether or not under Section 21 of Chapter 6 of the Revised Statutes, as now amended, any other political party than the Republican, Democratic and Socialist are entitled to be represented at the polling places by election or ballot clerks at the coming primary and general elections, I have examined the statutes previous to the amendment of 1909 and considered them as affected by that amendment, and also the primary law.

It seems perfectly clear that at the primary election no party except the Republican, Democratic and Socialist are entitled to have election or ballot clerks to serve at the polls. The Republican and Democratic parties are the two parties casting the largest vote at the last gubernatorial election and the Socialist is the only other one which conforms to the definition of a political party in Section 1 of the primary law, so there would be no question I think, that neither the Prohibition nor so-called Progressive party have any right to request the municipal officers of a town to appoint extra election clerks under Section 6 as amended by Chapter 17 of the Public Laws of 1909, to act in the coming primary election.

Neither do I think they have this right at the September election. Any other interpretation would result in rendering the statute absurd. The statute reads that "on the recommendation of the political party committee of any other party represented on the official ballot, the municipal officers shall appoint one such election clerk for each polling place of such political party." Of course, there will be other parties represented on the official ballot in September, or at least other party designations used than those of the Republican, Democratic and Socialist. Query: Is any group of citizens, styling itself a political party, and nominating its candidates by petition a political party within the meaning of the language of this statute? We think not.

The statute further provides that such an election clerk, that is, such additional one, shall hold office for a like term as those appointed on the recommendation of the two parties polling the largest vote, or "for such part thereof as the party for which he is appointed maintains its right to be represented upon the official ballot." I cannot conceive of any other interpretation of the above than that it refers to a party which is entitled to nominate its candidates as a party in convention under Section 3, of Chapter 6, R. S.

It is, of course, true that nominations by any group of citizens, calling themselves a political party can be made by petitions under Sections 4 and 5 of Chapter 6, R. S. And they may be said to be entitled to be represented upon the official ballot; but the point is that such nominations would not be made by a party, but by individuals, and when so made, it is possible to have three or four nominations for the same office of men claiming to belong to the same political party, or at least, claiming the right to be placed upon the ballot under the same political designation. In order to secure a party nomination so there will be only one candidate for each office, the political party must have polled at least one percent of the total gubernatorial vote at the last state election and that alone in my opinion gives a party the right to be represented upon the official ballot within the meaning of the language of Section 21 as amended by Chapter 17, P. L. 1909.

To hold that any organization arising between two gubernatorial elections, and calling itself a political party, and by organizing its political committees, thereby has the right to have an election clerk appointed might result in as many different election clerks as there were groups of citizens large enough in number to nominate a candidate for any one of the offices by petition under some political or party designation, which would, of course, give them sufficient number to organize a "political party committee" that could make a request for an election clerk. Such a thing is, of course, improbable, but an interpretation that would permit it, is in my opinion absurd.

The whole language of the election law and of this statute in particular seems to indicate that where a political party is referred to, it is one that has polled the necessary number of votes to entitle it to act as a party in convention under the old law or under the present law to nominate its candidates at the primaries. The so-called Progressive party undoubtedly has a sufficient number of members to qualify as soon as an election is held, but at present in this particular it is only suffering the penalties of youthfulness; the Prohibition party may again possess this privilege when it finds its purposes can no longer be best attained by supporting the candidates of some other party, but at present both are deprived of this right under my interpretation of this statute.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAYS.—RIGHT OF STATE TO CLOSE FOR REPAIR, DISCOMMODING CARRIAGE OF MAIL.

25th June 1914.

*Paul D. Sargent, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commission,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 20th inst., relating to the closing of the roads to travel in the town of Trenton was duly received.

I think there can be no question but that the State must have the right to close the road whenever necessary for the proper construction and repair of it, even though it may temporarily discommode transportation of the United States mail. However, in the case of any extended closing, I should take the precaution to notify the Post Office officials from which R. F. D. matter goes out in order that suitable provisions may be made for taking care of it, and accommodate where possible.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

CORPORATIONS.—APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEY
BY FOREIGN CORPORATIONS.

8th July 1914.

Hon. J. E. Alexander, Secretary of State, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the inquiry of Francis B. Sanford as to whether or not joint stock companies are required to appoint an attorney in this State before doing business in this State under Chapter 152 of the Laws of 1911 governing foreign corporations, I have examined the statutes and authorities which seem to be pertinent in the matter and am of the opinion that joint stock companies organized under the laws of New York State are not subject to the provisions above referred to.

They are recognized in New York as partnerships with certain characteristics of corporations only, and are also looked upon in the same light by the Courts of this State, as appears in People vs. Coleman, 133 N. Y., 279, and Frost vs. Walker, 60 Maine, 468.

The discussion of the nature of joint stock companies in Edwards vs. Warren Lin etc., 168 Mass., 564, seems applicable to the conditions existing under our own statute. In other words, a joint stock company in this state is not regarded as a separate entity from its members; and I am of the opinion that our Courts would not recognize it as an organization entitled to be treated as a corporate body nor could one organized in New York exercise any of the privileges conferred upon it by the laws of that state within its jurisdiction.

It seems to me that the persons making up the company would do business in this State as individuals, bound of course, by the ordinary contractual relations governing joint stock companies. This together with the fact that our statute does not in terms include anything but corporations leads me to think that it was not the intent of the legislature to impose the conditions of the above act upon joint stock companies. I am, therefore, of the opinion that they are not obliged to observe any other requirements than individuals are required to observe in doing the same kind of business in this State.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.—NOT EXCEPTED
FROM ASSESSMENT UNDER PARA. II, SEC. 6,
CHAPTER 9.

20th August 1914.

T. F. Callahan, State Auditor, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In relation to the question submitted by you as to the right of Bowdoin College to have reimbursement for the amount of street sprinkling taxes paid on certain property held by it in the City of Portland, it does not seem to me that it is entitled to reimbursement for that part of this tax, or perhaps I should say for the amount paid by it on account of an assessment for street sprinkling purposes.

The statutes creating exemptions from taxation are construed strictly, and in my opinion it was only intended to relieve educational institutions from taxation under paragraph 11 of Section 6, Chapter 9, R. S. in the case of taxes assessed in the customary way for town, county and state purposes. It is held as a general rule by authorities on taxation including Dillon on Municipal Corporations, Vol. 1, Sections 777-778 and Cooley on Taxation, Third Edition, Vol. 1, Pages 362-365, that there is distinction between taxes and assessments. By the terms of the statute and in fact the amount collected for street sprinkling is an assessment and is determined by the municipal officers according to betterments.

I must therefore advise you that in my opinion no reimbursement should be made for any amount paid for street sprinkling assessments by educational institutions.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAYS.—AUTHORITY TO CLOSE.

20th August 1914.

Paul D. Sargent, Chief Engineer, State Highway Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your favor of the 11th instant as to the authority of towns to close roads while in process of construction or repair, and also as to the liability of the town in case they are left open to travel and prove to be unsafe, I will quote the language of the court in the case of Jacobs v. Bangor, 16th Maine, 190, which seems to cover all the questions asked in your letter from Lovejoy:

"When a highway is defective, it becomes the duty of the town immediately to repair it. And if the repairs are of such a character as to require it to be wholly obstructed, as in building or repairing a bridge may be the case, it would be justified in closing it until the repairs can be made. When the town concludes, that the repairs can be made without interrupting the travel, and proceeds to repair without making known that the way is not in a condition to be used, or that there is danger in using it, its liability for injuries, as in other cases, must be regarded as continuing; although it may not have been guilty of any other neglect than that of permitting the way to be out of repair. Its general liability under the statute is not in such cases suspended. And it cannot reasonably claim that it should be, unless there is a necessity for it; and then travellers should have notices of such necessity, that they may avoid the danger. If the way is not closed, and no notice is given, travellers may expect that it is practicable to pass it safely; and that they will have the usual protection which the law affords. The traveller cannot, however, when he perceives that a way is under repair and much incumbered for that purpose, and that but a narrow and difficult passage is open for him, claim to drive with the same rapidity, and to exercise only the same attention which would be allowable in a smooth and unincumbered way. He is bound to exercise that degree of watchfulness, and caution which men of ordinary prudence would under such circumstances."

. It is clear from the above that towns have the authority to close up a road if in their judgment it is necessary. The Court laid down the same rule in Kimball v. Bath, 38th Maine, 219. If the towns allow the way to be used they must see to it that it is safe for a traveller using due care; on the other hand, a traveller using a way that is undergoing repairs must exercise care in proportion to the dangers that obviously exist from the condition of the way.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

ALMS HOUSES.—NOT WORK HOUSES OR HOUSES
OF CORRECTION.

2nd October 1914.

James F. Bagley, Sec., State Board of Charities and Corrections, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Your favor of the 1st inst., in relation to the use of almshouses for work houses or houses of correction was duly received.

The statutes are a little confusing as to what is meant by almshouses. The index of the Revision of 1883 under that title refers to work houses and in 1903 refers to town farms. I am inclined to think, however, that the latter is what is meant and that almshouses or place provided by the town for the support of its poor does not ipso facto become a work house or house of correction, and I am of the opinion that there should be a vote of the town before any part of it is used for that purpose, or at least for the purpose of receiving those committed by any Court.

It may be that the overseers of the poor of a town may set to work paupers who are being cared for at their town farms or almshouses so long as they remain there, but that is more or less of a voluntary matter on the part of the pauper so far as his stay is concerned, and I think before a town farm can be used as a work house or house of correction, the town should so vote and that a Court could not commit to a town farm until the town had set apart a part of it as a work house or house of correction and until it is so done or has built a work house or house of correction, there is no such institution in the town although it may have a town farm.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

FORESTRY DISTRICT.—EXPENSES FROM UNAPPROPRIATED FUNDS.

9th October 1914.

Hon. T. F. Callahan, State Auditor, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 2nd inst., was duly received.

Under the act of 1909, Chapter 193, it unquestionably was the intent of the legislature, no appropriation being made for the purpose, to limit the expense of protecting the forests from fire to the funds received from the forestry district tax. It is also clear under that act that all such funds were to be disbursed by the State Treasurer, after being approved by the forest commissioner and the auditor.

Under the act of 1913 to which you refer, a change was made in the method of payment and likewise in the policy of the state as expressed in Section 11 of the act of 1909. Under Section 6 as amended by Chapter 85 of the laws of 1913, instead of the moneys being disbursed by the treasurer, the state treasurer pays such sum as the commissioner may deem necessary for the purpose direct to that officer, and he disburses, his accounts afterwards being audited by the state auditor.

By amendment to said Section 6, it was also provided in Chapter 85 of the laws of 1913, that wherever the tax assessed upon the forestry district was not available or proved insufficient in any year for carrying out the purposes, that the Governor and Council may issue their warrant to the State Treasurer to advance to the forest commissioner for the purposes of this act, such sum or sums of money as they may deem necessary, the same to be paid from any moneys then in the treasury and not otherwise appropriated.

In my opinion this last provision modifies the provisions of Section 11 of Chapter 193 of the act of 1909, although it is not an amendment to that section. Chapter 85 of the laws of 1913 is the last word of the legislature and it expressly provides that if the tax assessed on the forestry district is not sufficient, the Governor and Council may, from moneys not otherwise appropriated, direct to be paid to the forest commissioner such sums as he may deem necessary for the purposes of carrying out the purposes expressed in the forestry district act.

Of course, the wisdom of such legislation is not for me to comment upon; neither can I determine whether any moneys are in the treasury unappropriated at this time. I can see how that may be a difficult thing to do at this time of year. However, I presume you will agree with me that that is a problem for the Auditor and State Treasurer to work out. If there are no moneys that are otherwise unappropriated, an order such as passed by the Governor and Council would, of course, have no effect. If there are unappropriated funds, in my opinion such an order would be valid.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

STREET RAILWAY LOCATION.—RATIFICATION OF
ACTS OF MUNICIPAL OFFICERS.

13th October 1914.

Hon. Frank Keiser, Railroad Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 9th inst. was duly received with enclosed petitions and findings of the Board of Municipal Officers of the City of Rockland.

The situation as I understand it is this, that the Rockland, South Thomaston and St. George Railway was organized under foreclosure proceedings to take over the Rockland, South Thomaston and Owl's Head Railway and has been operating its railroad up to the limits of the City of Rockland and desiring to enter the City of Rockland petitioned the Municipal Officers for approval of location, preliminary to petitioning the Railroad Commissioners under Section 7 of Chapter 53. Upon their petition the Municipal Officers of the City of Rockland granted them a location, but a part or all of it was within the limits of the street where another railroad was located which was contrary to the provisions of Section 21 of Chapter 53. However, the legislature of 1913, Chapter 205, rectified and made valid the acts of the Municipal Officers taken on the 26th day of December, 1911, which as I understand it refers to this finding with reference to the location. That being so, in my opinion the action of the Municipal Officers has been made a valid act and constitutes sufficient approval of the location by the Municipal Officers for the Railroad Commissioners to act under Section 7, if they see fit.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

TAXATION OF MORTGAGES AND SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITS IN OTHER STATES.

24th November 1914.

Hon. Bertrand G. McIntire, Chairman Board of State Assessors, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: The question recently submitted by you I understand to be whether or not a mortgage owned by a resident of Maine on real estate situated in another state is taxable in Maine.

Section 12 of Chapter 9 of the Revised Statutes provides that "all personal property within or without the State except in cases exempted in the following sections shall be assessed to the owner in the town where he is an inhabitant on the first day of each April." Section 5 of the same chapter defines personal property:

"Personal property for the purposes of taxation includes all goods, chattels, moneys and effects, wheresoever they are; all vessels, at home or abroad; all obligations for money or other property; money at interest and debts due the persons to be taxed more than they are owing; all public stocks and securities; all shares in moneyed and other corporations within or without the state, except as otherwise provided by law; all annuities payable to the person to be taxed, when the capital of such annuity is not taxed in this state; and all other property, included in the last preceding state valuation for the purposes of taxation."

A mortgage is an obligation for money, a debt due and also is money at interest so that it is included under Section 5 and is taxable under Section 12 unless it is exempted.

I do not find any provision exempting mortgages except the act in the laws of 1911, Chapter 179 which applies only to mortgages on real estate situated in this state, which reads as follows:

Chapter 179, Laws of 1911. Section 6 of Chapter 9 of the Revised Statutes is hereby amended by adding at the close of said section the following paragraph:

"All loans of money made by any individual or corporation and secured by mortgage on real estate situated in this state."

A mortgage on real estate in another state owned by a resident of Maine coming under the sections above quoted and not being exempted is taxable under our laws.

Very sincerely,

ROSCOE T. HOLT,

Asst. Attorney General.

CONDITIONAL PARDONS.

19th December 1914.

Hon. Edward W. Wheeler, Brunswick, Maine.

DEAR BROTHER WHEELER: With reference to the last paragraph of your letter of November 12th, relating to conditional pardons, I have made further examination of the authorities and have come to this conclusion: That it is within the authority of the pardoning power to grant a pardon upon a condition that may extend beyond the expiration of the sentence, as for instance, that he refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors during the rest of his life, or that he leave the state and never return, and if the pardon was accepted by the prisoner, he would be bound by that condition. However, if the conditions were left indefinite, that is, without being certain as to whether they were to extend beyond the term of the sentence, they should, I think, be construed in favor of the prisoner and would be held to continue only during the term of sentence. In other words, it depends on the terms of the condition imposed.

The case of Huff vs. Dyer, in the Ohio Circuit Report, Vol. 4, page 595, seems to me to be the best statement of the law that I have been able to find bearing upon this question. In this case the Court says:

"We conceive the true ruling to be that the duration of a condition subsequently annexed to a pardon will be limited to the term of the grantee's sentence, unless an intention to extend it beyond that term is manifest from the nature of the condition or the language in which it is imposed."

The reason of this conclusion being previously stated by the Court as follows:

"If there be doubt as to the soundness of the conclusion intimated, it must, according to a familiar and beneficent rule, be resolved in favor of the plaintiff's liberty, for it is well settled that pardons are to be construed most favorably to the grantees, and conditions subsequent are not to be extended by mere inference."

This seems to me to be founded upon sound principles. In most of the other cases which I have examined, the language of the pardons was such that the conditions were by clear intention extended beyond the time of sentence.

I have not now before me the language of the forms that our state is accustomed to use in granting conditional pardons, but my recollection of it is that there is nothing in it to indicate that it was intended that it should be extended beyond the term of the sentence. It may be that in order to make it clear, it would be better in all past cases where there is a request for the state to remove the conditions, that the pardon should be made absolute, which I think, is the proper course rather than the removal of the conditions; and in future cases to make it clear what the pardoning power intends, whether to have the conditions extend beyond the term of the sentence or not.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

HIGHWAYS.—CHANGE OF GRADE.

19th December 1914.

*Lyman H. Nelson, Chairman, State Highway Commission,
Augusta, Maine.*

DEAR SIR: Your favor under date of November 25th, relating to the interpretation of Section 14 of Chapter 130 of the Public Laws of 1913 was duly received.

As a general proposition the power to change the grade of highways resides absolutely in the state, and at common law there was no damage in case of the state exercising this authority. However, it is customary for the state to provide a remedy for abutters in case they are damaged by reason of the change of grade of any street or highway in front of their premises as in Sec. 68 of Chapter 23, R. S. The authority to construct and repair highways does not necessarily, I think, carry with it the power to change the grade, at least in any substantial manner or to such an extent that an abutter would be injured.

After examining the provisions of Chapter 130, known as the State Highway Law, especially the provisions of Section 14, I have come to the conclusion that it was not the intent of the legislature to authorize the Commissioners to change the grade of highways except after hearing and that it would not be safe for a contractor to proceed to re-construct a highway which involved a substantial change of grade without the highway commission first fixing the new grade in accordance with the provisions of Section 14. I appreciate this may entail some inconvenience but as a practical matter, it can probably be worked out without very much trouble.

For instance, I think you can use release agreements, such as you suggest for the purpose of adjusting the matter so that you can safely fix the grade at your convenience and it may be that no trouble would ever arise if the change was made after settling with all parties interested without any further proceedings, but I could not recommend it as the hearing contemplates not only the fixing of damages but whether public necessity requires the change of grade. It would seem as though it was the intent of the legislature that a change of grade could not be legally made by the commission until they first found after hearing that public necessity required it.

It should not be understood that this would mean that every slight variation in the grade of reconstructing an old way would require a hearing. Every act of repair entails the filling up of slight depressions and the cutting down of slight elevations which would not within the meaning of this statute be considered a substantial change of grade in the highway itself. I could not in a written opinion define where the line must be drawn, but I think common sense would in most cases tell you where the change was of such a substantial nature that it would be unsafe to proceed without taking the steps provided in Section 14.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

BANGOR POWER COMPANY BONDS.

23rd December 1914.

Hon. Harry M. Smith, Bank Commissioner, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: In reply to a letter of yours under date of November 17th, relative to the Bangor Power Company bonds and endorsement by Bangor Railway & Electric Company, I will say that it does not seem to me that endorsement by the last named company can make those bonds a Railroad bond and a legal investment for Savings Banks.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.

CORONERS.—EXPENSE OF INQUEST AND BURIAL
OF "STRANGER NOT BELONGING TO STATE."

31st December 1914.

Hon. T. F. Callahan, State Auditor, Augusta, Maine.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 16th inst, relating to the expenses of the coroner's inquest and the burial of the body under Section 11 of Chapter 140 of the Revised Statutes as amended by Chapter 185 of the Public Laws of 1909, was received. I am not sure that sufficient facts are at my command to enable me to pass upon the question involved in the particular case to which you refer for reasons which will appear later.

The statute as it appears in Revised Statutes, Chapter 140, was in substance enacted in 1821, and in its original form was substantially an adoption of the Massachusetts statute relating to such matters which was first enacted in that State March 7, 1806. I refer to these earlier statutes for the reason that they throw some light upon the meaning of certain words and phrases, a correct view of which is necessary to a proper understanding of this law.

The provisions of Section 11 of Chapter 140, Revised Statutes, previous to the enactment of Chapter 185 of the Laws of 1909, provided in terms that whenever a coroner should certify under oath that to the best of his knowledge and belief the dead body which he had been called to view was that of a "stranger not belonging to the State," the expenses of burial and the inquisition should be paid out of the State Treasury; otherwise the expenses of the inquisition should be paid by the County, and of the burial by the town in which the body was found, which town might recover such expenses of the town to which the deceased belonged. Questions evidently had arisen over what class of persons were included in the terms "stranger" and "stranger not belonging to the State" and in an effort to make it clear the Legislature of 1909 declared that the word stranger meant a person who had "no residence or place of abode in this State" and further declared in substance that it should not include any State pauper residing in the State.

Apparently the Legislature in its amendment of 1909 proceeded under an erroneous view of the meaning of the word "stranger" as originally used in this statute, so that the statute as now worded presents many strange incongruities.

It is true that the word, stranger, when referring to locality usually means one foreign to that locality, coming from another place or country; but it is also used referred to those outside the family, as one outside the ties of blood or relationship.

Webster's Dictionary,
Bouvier Law Dictionary,
Am. & Eng. Enc. of Law, 2nd, Ed. Vol. 26, P. 1127.

At first blush it might appear that the term was here used with reference to locality, as meaning one who had come here from another state. It is an uncommon term in legislative enactments. Our attention has not been called to its being used in any other statute, but our conclusion is after examining the early statutes, that originally it was intended to refer more particularly to the lack of kinship, or friends and failure of any party to claim the body, and to describe one who by reason of his being without relatives or friends or representatives of his estate to claim his body for burial might be said to be a stranger in the community whether resident or non-resident. There was, in other words, no privity between him and anyone in the State that would impose upon them any obligation legal or otherwise to care for his remains. We are led to this conclusion first because obviously the act refers only to persons whose bodies are unclaimed and are in consequence a public charge, and yet there is no other word in the act to express that condition except the word "stranger" used in the above sense; and also because the original act of Massachusetts coupled the words "stranger" in the only place where it is used with the words "not belonging to the State," which would seem entirely unnecessary if the word was used in the sense of his being a non-resident of the State, the original act making no provision for the resident stranger, or inhabitant, as was later done.

The original act read as follows:

"That every coroner within the county for which he is appointed, shall, after the return of an inquisition of the jury, upon the view of a dead body of any stranger, not belonging to this commonwealth, bury said body in a decent manner; and the expenses thereof, together with all the expenses of said inquisition and coroner's fees, shall be paid to such coroner out of the treasury of this commonwealth, an account of such expenses being first examined and allowed by the general court, in the same manner that accounts for state paupers are allowed; and the same certificates shall be required from the selectmen or overseers of the poor of the town where such stranger was found dead, as if the said stranger were taken sick in such town or became unable to support himself.

This Act passed March 7, 1806."

We are confirmed in this view also because it seems to render intelligent certain provisions in the Massachusetts Act of February 1807 in which the original Act of March 1806, was amended and also in the first Act of this State adopted in 1821, which reads as follows:

"Chapter 93, Section 3. Be it further enacted, that every coroner within the county for which he is appointed, shall after the return or an inquisition of the jury from a view of a dead body of any stranger, bury said body in a decent manner, and the expenses thereof, together with all the expenses of said inquisition and the coroner's fees, shall be paid to said coroner out of the treasury of this State, an account of said expenses being first examined and allowed by the legislature in the same manner that accounts for state paupers are allowed; provided the coroner who shall return the inquisition shall certify under oath that the person found dead was a stranger not belonging to this state according to the best of his knowledge and belief; otherwise the expenses of taking up and burial shall be paid to said coroner by the town where such dead body was found and repaid to them by the town to which such stranger belongs, if an inhabitant of this state, and the expenses of said inquisition shall be paid to the coroner by the county in which the inquisition shall be taken.

Approval March 19, 1821."

In the Act of 1807 and in the first Maine law of 1821, as will be noticed, the word "stranger" in the first part of the Act is no longer qualified with "not belonging to the State." It is any stranger. And after the view of the body, "the coroner shall bury it decently;" but if a non-resident person is meant, unless he was without means, relatives or friends to take charge of the body, why should the coroner bury it at all? Again even though he be a "stranger," the expenses are not paid by the State unless the coroner certifies that he was "a stranger not belonging to the State;" otherwise, that is, if he was a stranger belonging to the State, a resident stranger, the expenses of burial shall be paid by the town in which the body was found to be repaid by the "town to which such stranger belonged if an inhabitant of the State." If the members of the class included in the term "stranger" as originally used in this statute, are all non-residents, what meaning can the alternative proposition beginning with "otherwise," have, particularly the words "town to which such stranger belonged if an inhabitant of the state?"

Obviously a person without means, relatives or friends is contemplated, and only the use of the word "stranger" in this sense allows any rational interpretation of these early statutes or gives them as a whole any practical effect.

Applying this meaning, the statute before the passage of the Act of 1909 was consistent, and we think intelligible. By the amendment of 1909, it is no longer consistent, nor intelligible. To say that a coroner in the case of every person found dead in the state through violence, if he has no residence here, shall bury him at the expense of the State is absurd without distinguishing between prince and pauper; or to provide that otherwise, (that is, if he has a residence here) he shall be buried at the expense of the town in which found, to be recovered of the town to which he belonged is equally without reason. Why should the latter be done, unless there are no relatives or friends or representatives of his estate to claim the body and assume the expense? As the statute now stands there is not a word limiting its application to paupers, or to those lacking friends or relatives except by implication, unless the word "stranger" is still held to have that meaning in addition to the one declared by the legislature.

The word stranger as originally used, in our opinion, is a broader word than pauper. A person might be a pauper, yet friends or relatives be ready to assume the expense of suitable interment; one is only a "stranger" when he has neither an estate, friends or relatives to claim him as theirs in this sense, he may never have been a pauper yet prove to be a "stranger" when dead.

The law as it now stands has no interpretation at all, its provisions that is consistent or practical, and should be amended to accord with its original intent.

This much, however, may be said as bearing upon the case in hand, that the effect of the amendment of 1909 was to provide that only the expenses of the burial of and the inquest upon such persons as are not residents of this State should be borne by the State, as I am of the opinion that the legislature used the terms "residence" and "place of abode" in the sense of a permanent residence or abode as distinguished from a temporary sojourn or visit; that is, such a residence which if continued would render the person liable to a poll tax, entitle him to vote, or obtain him a pauper settlement. This does not mean necessarily a house with an intent to reside here permanently, but rather a coming in to this State with no definite intent to return from whence one comes. A lack of intent to move or return, rather than a definite intent of remaining indefinitely, is all that is necessary to establish a residence such as this statute contemplates.

Warren v. Thurston, 43 Maine 418;

Church v. Rowell, 49 Maine 37.

Wilbraham v. Ludlow, 99 Mass. 590,

Palmer v. Hampden, 182 Mass. 513.

To put it another way, a person here for a visit or temporarily here for employment, notwithstanding he might have a "place of abode" or a "residence" in its broadest sense, if there was still the definite intent to return when his temporary purpose was accomplished, would in my opinion, still be a non-resident and a "stranger" within the meaning of the statute as it now stands.

As to the case in question of Kasem Souleyman, it will now be apparent, I think why it may not be possible to determine his case upon the facts at hand. Was he here in Maine with no definite purpose of returning or going elsewhere? He may not have formed a fixed definite purpose to remain here indefinitely, or at least, it is not susceptible of proof; but had he ever and did he still have any intent to return from whence he came,—not a vague indefinite purpose to sometime return to his native country, but a purpose at some reasonably definite time to return? If so, he never became a resident of this State in my opinion; if on the other hand, he had no definite intent to leave this State, the fact that he was a laborer seeking work where he found it would not prevent him becoming a resident.

Wilbraham v. Ludlow, 99 Mass. 590.

Parsonsfield v. Perkins, 2 Maine 414.

Such evidence on this question as the inquest discloses would, I think, indicate that he had no purpose of leaving this State at any definite time, and that, if he had remained in Biddeford until April 1st, 1914, he might have been liable to a poll tax in that city. However, the facts are not full upon that point and the coroner has, I assume certified that to the best of his knowledge and belief, he was a "stranger not belonging to the State." Further inquiry with this point in view might settle this question beyond peradventure. From my present information, I should rule that he had a residence in Biddeford within the meaning of this statute, and, therefore, was not a "stranger" within the meaning of this statute as amended.

Another difficulty will arise in the event that it is held that the expense does not fall upon the State and that is, where the expense of burial will finally fall; but that I do not think is at present a state problem. The statute places it in the first instance on the town in which the body is found, that town may, so the statute says, recover of the town to which the person belonged. I am of the opinion, from my examination of the early statutes, that this phrase "town to which he belonged" refers to the town in which he had a pauper settlement.

Eden v. Southwest Harbor, 108 Maine 493, and earlier Maine cases therein cited.

This, however, is not clear, as the word, belong, is used in the same act in the sense of resident and it does not necessarily follow that the expenditures incurred under this act are pauper supplies. This question may later arise as to whether they are pauper supplies for which the town paying is entitled to reimbursement from the State, but that question is not yet raised and may be left for future settlement.

Very sincerely,

SCOTT WILSON,

Attorney General.
