SCHOOL BUILDING

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL.

October, 1876, through the influence of Dr. Thomas Hill and Frederick Fox, Esq., a school for the deaf was begun in a room at 4 Free Street, Portland, and three pupils were admitted, all of whom were residents of Portland. Miss Mary H. True was appointed teacher and the school was under the care of the School Board of Portland.

During the year 1877-78 there were eleven pupils in attendance. Miss True having resigned, Miss Ellen L. Barton of the Horace Mann School, Boston, was appointed principal, with one assistant.

At the close of the school year in 1880, there were nineteen pupils in attendance and State aid was given fifteen pupils who resided in different parts of the State. At that time there were two assistants. The State appropriation was $200 per capita, of which $80 was applied for tuition and $120 was expended for board and lodging. Children not residents of the city were boarded in private homes. The State allowed $80 for the tuition of each child whose parents were residents of Portland.

In November, 1892, the school was removed to a building at 79 Spring Street. The building was also used by the Fraternity and the Diet Mission.

Miss Barton continued as principal of the school until her death in January, 1894. In February, 1894, Miss Elizabeth R. Taylor, a teacher in the Pennsylvania Institution at Philadelphia, was asked to accept the position of principal and assumed the duties March 21st of that year, remaining in that position until June, 1931. The school then numbered thirty-five pupils, with six assistants.

In 1895, an appropriation of $18,000 was requested for the purchase of a large dwelling house adjoining the school and this was remodelled and furnished under the direction of Hon. E. Dudley Freeman, a member of the Governor's Council, as a dormitory for the pupils. The following year it was decided, as the city owned the school-house and the State owned the dormitory, to propose to the Legislature that the school be made a State Institution and An Act establishing the Maine School for the Deaf was passed March 15, 1897. The new dormitory was named in honor of Mr. William H. Brownson, the president of the first Board of Trustees. The City of Portland conveyed, free of charge, to the State its title to the school-house and lot adjoining the dormitory and the State assumed entire control of the education of the deaf children of Maine.

A special appropriation was granted and the Board of Trustees took immediate steps to put the buildings and grounds in repair. In 1901, because of the crowded conditions of the building, the residence 91 Spring Street, adjoining the dormitory, was purchased at a cost of $10,000. No special appropriation was made but the annual appropriation was increased by $2,500, and $2,000 a year for two years was paid to acquire the title and a special appropriation of $6,000 was granted April 22, 1903, to complete the purchase. By Council Order, this building was named Taylor Hall. In 1905, an addition was built in the rear at a cost of $5,000 and was paid for out of the yearly appropriation.

In 1907, a special appropriation of $20,000 was made for a new school building. Material and labor had advanced and it was found that the total cost of the building was $35,000. Part of the overdraft was paid from the yearly appropriation and part by the personal credit of the Trustees and an additional appropriation of $12,000 was asked for and granted in 1909.

A brick corridor connecting Brownson and Taylor Halls was completed in 1913 at an approximate cost of $1,500.

The property adjoining the school building was purchased in 1915 with a special appropriation of $12,000. This was fitted up at a cost of $3,500 as a dormitory for small girls and a hospital and by Council Order was named Winslow Hall. In 1917 an addition was made to this building at an approximate cost of $3,000.

Since the purchase of these buildings repairs have been kept up and numerous improvements made, including the installation of a sprinkler system in 1927 at an approximate cost of $9,000, and the electric system revised at a cost of practically $4,000.

In 1925, under the direction of the State, the property was appraised and the recorded value increased so that the present value on the books is $199.974.50.

The original school building donated by the City of Portland is now used as an industrial building and is well equipped for Manual Training and Domestic Science.

Our former pupils have taken their places in the community as respectable self-supporting citizens. Two former pupils are now most capable instructors in our wood-working department. Another, a teacher with the degree of B. A., is now a member of our faculty in the literary department.

The State of New Hampshire paid tuition for four pupils in 1932-33 and for five pupils in 1933-34.

HEALTH

The general health of the pupils was unusually good during the year 1932-33. As usual the new pupils were given toxoid and were vaccinated by the school physician.

WINSLOW HALL ENTRANCE

Dr. Small operated on a boy for acute appendicitis at the Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary. The operating room there was used at other times for treatment of a felon and two abscesses. One boy received treatment there for his eyes from April 15th to 24th.

A girl was treated for abscesses at the Queen's Hospital. A fractured elbow was cared for at the Maine General Hospital.

The following year, soon after school opened in the fall, there were sixteen cases of mumps. Later sixteen cases of chicken-pox developed among the younger children. At Easter time two cases of pneumonia were taken to the Maine General Hospital for treatment. One child did not recover. There was one case requiring mastoid operation and one for appendicitis at the same hospital. Two other minor operations were cared for there.

We are indebted to the Red Cross Dental Clinic for the care of pupils under twelve years of age. Weekly visits were made to the clinic during the school year.

The school is also indebted to the different clinics of the Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary for attention given to pupils all through the year.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

In June, 1933, seven pupils completed the course in the academic department. Graduation exercises were held June 7th. There was also a demonstration of school work and an exhibition of work done in the manual training department to which the public was invited.

Miss Louise Jenkinson resigned from her position as teacher to take further training in the normal class at Clarke School, Northampton, Massachusetts. Miss Betty McLoughlin, a teacher of experience, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Miss Eva B. Heizer's retirement in June, 1934, closed a term of long and valued service in the teaching of the deaf. We regret also the resignation of Miss Frances Lee Lord. Miss Kate Alcorn, an experienced teacher, and Miss Mary Probyn have been appointed to fill the vacancies.

The Seventh International Conference on the Education of the Deaf was held at the New Jersey State School in Trenton June 18th to 23rd, 1933, and was attended by some of the teachers from the Maine School for the Deaf. Two other teachers took summer courses at the University of Maine.

PHYSICAL TRAINING

The work in the gymnasium under the direction of Mr. George Vinall with the boys and Mrs. Vinall with the girls has been a benefit to the pupils,

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

The girls have shown increasing interest in their work in domestic science during the past two years. The boys have done creditable work in the printing office, sloyd and manual training rooms and in repairs made about the buildings.

HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT

Under the careful supervision of the matron, Miss Helen Stinson, the Household department has been efficiently and economically conducted.

Much to the regret of the whole school, Miss Elizabeth Fickett, one of the supervisors of small boys, died after an operation for appendicitis in February, 1933. The vacancy left by her death was filled by the appointment of Mrs. Eva M. Stevens.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS

The walls of the school building were painted and the ceilings whitened, also the walls and ceilings of the second floor of the Industrial Building.

In Winslow Hall the walls were painted and most of the floors resurfaced.

The roofs, gutters and conductors of all the buildings were put in repair.

The extremely cold weather last winter caused one of the pipes in the sprinkler system to freeze in the attic of the Industrial Building. The ceilings and walls damaged at that time have been repaired.

A washing maching was installed in the laundry. Thirty-two beds were bought for the dormitories, also blankets. Chairs were purchased for the pupils' sitting rooms and class rooms. Silver-ware was purchased for the pupils' dining room, also for the teachers' table.

NEEDS

There is not enough dormitory space, particularly for the boys.

Another teacher should be added to our staff for our classes exceed the number usually considered the maximum for successful teaching in schools for the deaf.

APPROPRIATION

From our appropriation of $56,500 for the year 1932-33 approximately $13,000 was saved to return to the State.

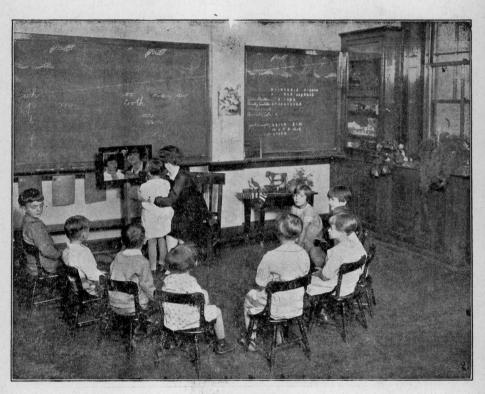

For the year 1933-34, the school received from the State of New Hampshire $2,000 for board and tuition of five pupils. This amount added to our State appropriation of $48,000 gave a total of $50,000 of which a balance of $7,025.22 was returned to the State.

From our appropriation for 1933-34, we have paid for the coal used for the year just ended and also for a supply to fill our bins for the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

LOUISE T. YOUNG, Superntendent.
