The text of the Maine State Government Annual Report is meant to be a lightly-edited narrative report of the organizational units of State Government and is not intended as legal authority either for judicial notice or legal citation.

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART OF MAINE STATE GOVERNMENT

FOREWORD

The Maine State Government Annual Report is compiled by the Bureau of the Budget on behalf of the Governor pursuant to the Maine Revised Statutes, Title 5, chapter 3, sections 43 - 46. It documents, in convenient reference form, the administrative and financial structure, activities and accomplishments of the agencies of the State Government. In accordance with legislative intent, it replaces a profusion of costly annual or biennial reports independently published by state departments and agencies, and it establishes accountability with respect to many agencies, boards and commissions not previously subject to reporting requirements.

The Maine State Government Annual Report reflects the scope and diversity of Maine State Government operations during the fiscal period covered by this report. The mass of reports accumulated by the Bureau of the Budget have been edited and revised as necessary to conform to statutory requirements and the overall report concept.

Individual reports of departments, their principal subdivisions, and other agencies generally feature seven basic elements of construction as follows:

- 1. Identification Summary
- 2. Purpose
- 3. Organizational Background
- 4. Program
- 5. Licenses, Permits, etc.
- 6. Publications
- 7. Finances, Fiscal Year

This form of construction is used wherever possible in all reports. However, in view of certain inconsistencies and questions which may arise concerning nomenclature, the following discussion of terms and report construction may be of assistance.

IDENTIFICATION SUMMARY. This section "headlines" the report of each agency and serves to identify the agency, its executive officers, central office location and telephone number. Specific items appearing in the agency heading, which may require some interpretation, include the following:

Established: This reflects the year in which the organizational unit was created as a statutory or administrative entity, despite a subsequent change of name. If, at some point in time, the department or agency experienced a major reorganization in terms of administrative structure, purpose or function, the year in which the change occurred is considered the year it was established.

Reference:

Policy Area. There are 9 broad areas of emphasis under which all activities of State Government are categorized. Each organizational unit reported in the Maine State Government Annual Report is assigned to the Policy Area which most appropriately identifies the prevailing nature of its legislation. Each of the 9 Policy Areas has been assigned a name and a 2-digit number as follows:

- 00 Governmental Support and Operations
- 01 Economic Development and Workforce Training
- 02 Education
- 03 Arts, Heritage and Cultural Enrichment
- 04 Natural Resources Development and Protection
- 05 Health and Human Services
- 06 Justice and Protection
- 07 Business Licensing and Regulation
- 08 Transportation Safety and Development

Umbrella. In order to make the list of organizational units manageable, they have been classified based on the relationship between them. This was done by two criteria:

a) Each State Department, the Public Utilities Commission, Maine Maritime Academy, and the Board of Trustees of the University of Maine System was assigned a different 2-digit number and each unit which was, by law, determined to be a part of these was assigned to that 2-digit "umbrella" number. Thus, all units carrying an "01" in front of their 3-digit unit number are part of the Department of Agriculture, Conservation & Forestry, for example.

Each of these Umbrellas has been assigned a name and a 2-digit number as follows:

- 01 Department of Agriculture, Conservation & Forestry
- 02 Department of Professional and Financial Regulation
- 03 Department of Corrections
- 05 Department of Education
- 06 Department of Environmental Protection
- 07 Executive Department
- 09 Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife
- 10 Department of Health and Human Services
- 12 Department of Labor
- 13 Department of Marine Resources
- 15 Department of Defense, Veterans and Emergency Management
- 16 Department of Public Safety
- 17 Department of Transportation
- 18 Department of Administrative and Financial Services
- 19 Department of Economic and Community Development
- 26 Department of the Attorney General
- 27 Office of the State Auditor
- 28 Office of Treasurer of State
- 29 Department of the Secretary of State
- 30 Legislative Department
- 31 Law and Legislative Reference Library
- 32 Reserve Fund for State House Preservation and Maintenance
- 33 Office of Program Evaluation and Government Accountability
- 40 Judicial Department
- 65 Public Utilities Commission
- 75 Maine Maritime Academy
- 78 Board of Trustees of the University of Maine System
- b) The many independent units not part of the umbrellas listed above were assigned to one of five 2-digit umbrella numbers which helped to classify the units in terms of the prevailing nature of their statutory or other authority or relationship to State Government. Thus umbrella "90" identifies those that "Regulate", "92" those that "Advise", etc. Each of these umbrellas has been assigned a name and a 2-digit number as follows:
 - 90 Independent Agencies Regulatory
 - 92 Independent Agencies Advisory
 - 94 and 95 Independent Agencies Other
 - 98 Independent Agencies Interstate Compact
 - 99 Independent Agencies Not Part of State Government

Unit. Each State Government organizational unit created by the Constitution, Statute or Private and Special Law has been assigned a different 3-digit number. Each unit created by Legislative Order, by Judicial Order, by Executive Order of the Governor - or, in a few cases, by other acceptable authority - has been assigned its parent's 3-digit number followed by a letter.

Unit Citation. Reported here is the legal citation which created the organizational unit. When one locates this citation in the appropriate document, one should find additional data relating to its purpose, authority and membership close by. If such a citation appears in the Statutes, that is the entry used since it has closer proximity to additional meaningful data than, for example, a Constitutional citation.

Average Count - All Positions and Legislative Count. The Average Count - All Positions represents the full-time equivalent of all positions authorized by the Legislature for the time frame covered by this report. The Legislative Count, where applicable, represents the count associated with only positions that have been authorized for 52 weeks per year.

Organizational Units. Listed under this heading are all organizational units, both statutorily and administratively - created, which are an integral part of the agency. Most of these organizational units are either discussed in the accompanying text or are presented separately in a successive report.

PURPOSE: This is a brief expression of the agency's overall objective, purpose or mission. This section also outlines the primary responsibilities of the agency as specified by statute or expressed in other legal instruments which authorize the agency to perform certain functions or conduct certain activities. There is no attempt to state the full extent of the agency's powers and duties which are often interspersed throughout the law. One interesting aspect of the laws relating to the Executive Branch is that the statutes seldom confer powers of the State upon administrative units, but rather upon administrative officials. This is reflected in many reports where a department or agency created by statute is indicated as functioning solely through authority vested in its executive head. There are some reports, however, where this distinction is not noted.

ORGANIZATION: It is characteristic of the State Government to exist in an organizational flux as it is modified and altered by each successive Legislature and each Administration to meet contemporary needs for programs and services. This section offers some clarification of the past and present administrative position of each principal agency in the hierarchy of Maine State Government in an effort to minimize confusion caused by name-changing, establishment, abolishment, transfer and merger of agencies and their subdivisions. The organizational background is based upon that contained in the Maine Revised Statutes Annotated, as amended, and the Public Laws of the State of Maine.

PROGRAM: Although the identification, administration and organization of state agencies are significant to the purposes of this report, an account of their specific activities and accomplishments during the past fiscal year is fundamental.

At the departmental level, the program summary generally consists of a broad review of overall departmental activity, with details provided in the reports of component organizational units which follow. Several departments are unique in that they embrace a number of somewhat autonomous units under the general administrative direction of an executive head. In such instances, the department's program summary may be comprised solely of the reports of its component units.

LICENSES, PERMITS, ETC.: Many state agencies issue licenses, permits, registrations or certificates. This heading is an attempt to assemble such information in a broad-interest document.

PUBLICATIONS: This section provides an opportunity for an agency to make known additional information concerning its programs and products by listing its available publications.

FINANCES, FISCAL YEAR: Financial data relating to agency operations during the past fiscal year displays all agency expenditures by category and type of fund.

This data is generated from the Budget and Financial Management System (BFMS) supplemented by data not included in the State's accounting system or not carried in sufficient completeness as to present a useful picture. Examples of the latter are the University of Maine System and the Maine Maritime Academy. Data relating to enterprise-type accounts reflect only those expenditure elements which are included in the work program process.

Expenditures of the agency are indicated by fund and line category detail in general accordance with the State's accounting system. Some categories are split and some are combined in an effort to meet what is interpreted to be the intent of the Annual Report law.

The chief administrative unit of each department-type umbrella will have two financial displays: one which records the summary of all expenditures for the umbrella; and one for those expenditures relevant only to the operation of the chief administrative unit. Since BFMS deals with "rounded" whole-dollars, some small dollar differences will exist between this report and the Financial Report issued by the State Controller.

This Maine State Government Annual Report is the culmination of a joint effort to produce an understandable documentation of the structure and operations of Maine State Government during a particular year in its history. It has been an attempt to create a factual, objective and definitive reference of permanent value in a manner, hopefully, in keeping with the spirit and the intent of the law and in the interests of promoting greater comprehension of the workings of the State Government and its responsibility and responsiveness to the public it serves. How closely this report achieves these objectives is left to the judgment of those who will use it.

In addition, DAFS oversees and sets policy for the fiscal, human resource, technological, and facilities needs of state government.

ORGANIZATION:

DAFS is led by the Commissioner and two Deputy Commissioners, one overseeing financial and human resource matters and the other overseeing operations. DAFS is comprised of the units listed at the top of this section. Information on each of these individual units can be found in the following pages.

PROGRAM

The Department's goals, objectives, and operational activities are reflected in the reports of the different component units listed on the following pages.

The ACFR for fiscal year 2022 received the Certificate of Excellence in Financial Reporting for the sixteenth consecutive year. Several statewide systems are managed within the Office. The Advantage System includes fund accounting, budget and appropriation control, general ledger and financial reporting, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cost accounting, fixed assets management, procurement management and vendor management. All payment transactions above $5,000 are reviewed and approved by Office staff. The Human Resource production system keeps current personnel, payroll and position control information. This system keeps current personnel, payroll and position control information. The Office's Payroll Unit audits agency payroll input and initiates statewide payroll weekly. Other system functionality key to the work of the Payroll Unit includes tax withholding data and W-2 production. In addition, the Maine State Time and Attendance System is used by more than 9,700 employees to record and track work and leave house the Office green than 2,700 employees are recorded and track work. and leave hours. The Office generates more than $20 million annually in General Fund revenue through the Statewide Cost Allocation Plan (STACAP). STACAP is the allocation of certain central services costs to other funds/accounts. The Controller's Office, Bureau of the Budget, Bureau of Human Resources and Bureau of General Services are examples of central service costs that are paid for by the General Fund and then recovered through STACAP to ensure other funds pay their fair share of costs.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages and Lottery Operations is to provide for: the pricing, listing and delisting of spirits; oversight of liquor licensing and enforcement; and the creation, distribution, and sales of Maine State Lottery and Tri-State Lotto Commission Lottery games. The Bureau is authorized through its Director, as the Chief Administrative Officer of the State Liquor and Lottery Commission, to: have general charge of the office and records; employ personnel and make expenditures as necessary; and to conduct, with the guidance of the Commission, the administration of laws relating to the sale of spirits at agency liquor stores. The Bureau is responsible for the distribution and the sale of lottery products through licensed Lottery agents. The Bureau is responsible for the oversight of liquor licensing and enforcement.

ORGANIZATION:

The State's regulation of liquor originated in 1862 with the establishment of a Commission to Regulate Sale of Intoxicating Liquors and to have control of liquors kept and sold for medicinal and manufacturing purposes. In 1987, the Commission was increased to five members. A State Lottery was approved by public referendum in November 1973 to generate additional revenues for the State's General Fund. The first State Lottery Commission was appointed in January 1974. In 1992, the Maine State Lottery and the Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages were combined to become The Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages and Lottery Operations. The Bureau is managed by the Bureau's Director with the guidance of the State Liquor and Lottery Commission and oversight by the Commissioner of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau continues to meet its goal of transferring the maximum profit to the General and Highway Funds for both the spirits and lottery businesses of the State, as well as revenue generated from the collection of excise tax on beer and wine, and the licensing of distribution and sale of beer, wine and spirits. Regarding the Lottery business, the Bureau continues to research and implement new and innovative lottery games that are fun and entertaining for its players, and to provide its retail agent partners with guidance on the best ways to maximize the sale of lottery games. For the Spirits business, the Bureau continues to work with the alcoholic beverage industry to improve Maine's portfolio of product listings, and to provide guidance to our agency store partners on merchandising and product selection. The Bureau also oversees the warehouse and distribution process, which is managed by Pine State Spirits, a division of Pine State Trading Co. The Bureau guides and collaborates with Pine State Spirits on all trade marketing matters as they manage this process. With the inclusion of licensing and enforcement of all alcoholic beverages, the Bureau is working to automate many paper driven processes to maximize its service to the regulated industry.

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of the Budget provides central budget and position planning and control in support of gubernatorial objectives and legislative intent. The Bureau's professional services work involves: preparing budget documents; analyzing and implementing department and agency annual work programs and requested changes; administering position actions; and developing financial forecasts and special analyses. Through these activities, the Bureau can review the administrative activities of the departments and agencies of the State, study organization and administration, identify duplication of work, and formulate plans for better and more efficient management.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of the Budget was established in 1931. The Bureau is under the direction of the State Budget Officer who is appointed by the Commissioner. Deputy State Budget Officer supervises eight budget analysts and two position control analysts. The Bureau is supported by a part-time administrative assistant.

PROGRAM:

Activities of the Bureau primarily involve the State's budgetary processes which are coordinated by the Bureau with involvement of all state government entities, as well as other entities desiring to receive state funds as provided for in law. The Bureau prepares the biennial State Budget Document, and any subsequent annual supplemental budgets, for submission to the Governor or Governor-Elect. During the process, the Bureau reviews and evaluates budget submissions from State departments and agencies, including those relating to the establishment, elimination, reallocation and/or reclassification of positions, to ensure initiatives are appropriate and accurate. The Bureau adjusts the proposed initiatives at the direction of the Governor and finalizes the budget that the Governor submits to the Legislature. Allotments must be established before a department or agency can spend the appropriations or other funds that have been approved by the Legislature in budget bills or other laws. The Bureau also performs the administrative functions necessary to implement the legislatively-authorized position actions in enacted budgets and other laws. Throughout the fiscal year, departments and agencies may request changes in their work programs and quarterly allotments through Financial Orders and other transactions. The Bureau examines and makes recommendations on these requests for the Governor's consideration and The Bureau also evaluates, authorizes and implements department and agency requests for position actions during the fiscal year to ensure the actions are financially viable and comply with state budgetary laws, rules and procedures. The Bureau analyzes the proposed means of funding these actions and may approve or deny requests based on availability of funding. The budgetary process is informed by forecasts the Bureau prepares for financial planning and analysis. This includes a 4-year forecast of revenues and expenditures produced every even year and the General Fund and Highway Fund revenue forecasts that are developed twice a year through consensus forecasting pursuant to Title 5, chapter 151-B. The Bureau also researches state laws and conducts ad hoc data analysis to inform policy and decision-making at executive levels.

The State Claims Commission consists of five members, four of whom are appointed by the Governor for terms of four years. Two of these appointees must be qualified appraisers and two must be attorneys at law. The Governor designates one of the latter as Chairman. The fifth member of the Commission is appointed for each hearing or series of hearings within the county where the land taken lies. He or she must be a member of that county's Board of County Commissioners, and is appointed by the chairperson of the State Claims Commission upon recommendation by the Board of County Commissioners, such service being as a member of the State Claims Commission and not in the capacity of County Commissioner. Hearings are conducted by one of the attorney members, one of the appraiser members, and the County Commissioner from the county in which the real estate or other interest taken by eminent domain is located.

STATE EMPLOYEE HEALTH COMMISSION SHONNA POULIN-GUTIERREZ, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR HEATHER PERREAULT, MANAGEMENT CO-CHAIR

PURPOSE:

The State Employee Health Commission was established to serve as trustee of the State Employee Health Insurance Program, including health and dental insurance, and to advise the Executive Director of the Office of Employee Health and Wellness (EHW) and the Director of the Bureau of Human Resources on issues related to employee health and wellness, and the employee assistance program (EAP).

ORGANIZATION:

Membership of the Commission consists of 24 labor and management representatives: One labor member from each bargaining unit recognized under Title 26, Chapter 9-B; one labor member from the largest bargaining unit recognized under Title 26, Chapter 14; one labor member appointed by the retiree chapters of the Maine State Employees Association; one member appointed by the Maine Association of Retirees; one labor member from the Maine Turnpike Authority; one labor member from the Maine Community College system faculty or administrative unit; one labor member from the Maine Public Employees Retirement System; one labor member from the Maine Maritime Academy; four management members appointed by the Commissioner of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services; one management member appointed by the Court Administrator; one management member from the Maine Community College System; one management member from the Maine Public Employees Retirement System; one management member from Maine Maritime Academy; and the Executive Director of Employee Health & Wellness, ex officio.

PROGRAM:

The Commission collaborates with the Office of Employee Health and Wellness, in the Bureau of Human Resources, to administer the State health plans (health, prescription, dental, retiree and Medicare Advantage), and represent the interests of labor and management in the development of plan design, vendor selection and contract approval, and wellness initiatives. The State Employee Health Plan currently provides a self-insured preferred provider organization (PPO) managed care plan for active employees and non-Medicare Part A-eligible retirees. A Medicare Advantage Private Fee-for-Service (PFFS) plan provides coverage for Medicare Part A eligible retirees. The plan has a contract with a Pharmacy Benefits Manager to provide pharmacy benefits for the PPO plan, and a stop-loss insurance policy protects the PPO Plan against claims in excess of $750,000. Additional benefits contained in the PPO plan include a clinical advocacy program, a surgical Centers of Excellence program, a 24/7 nurse line, and an online telehealth program. Combined, the group health plans provide health care benefits for approximately 38,000 participants. The Commission provides dental insurance coverage for participating active employees. For health benefits, the Commission has adopted the strategy of value-based purchasing to improve the quality of healthcare services provided to its members. The Commission has introduced a pay for performance strategy to: encourage consumers to make informed, prudent decisions about healthcare; to provide incentives for plan members to seek care from high quality and lower cost providers; and to reward providers who demonstrate superior performance. The overall objective is to engage members in seeking efficient, high quality healthcare and to encourage providers to publicly disclose their performance data. The Commission develops a health premium credit program that enables employees to reduce their premium contribution by 5% for completing wellness initiatives identified by the Commission. Wellness initiatives vary from year to year. Some examples have included: enrollment with a primary care practice; having a dental visit; tracking biometric health data such as cholesterol levels; having a vision exam; and completing a short online wellness questionnaire.

PURPOSE

General Services was established to: provide one centralized bureau to manage and oversee the State's procurement process; supervise, control and maintain state owned land and buildings in the State Capitol Complex and greater Augusta area; manage and record the leasing of all grounds, buildings, facilities and office space required by all departments and agencies of state government; record, manage, and assist with remediation of asbestos and other hazardous materials in state-owned and leased buildings and advise public schools on matters pertaining to hazardous materials; maintain a central fleet of vehicles for use by government agencies; provide central services including postal and surplus property; and plan and oversee the construction of public improvements, including schools. The Bureau is authorized to plan and develop long-range public improvement programs and to make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature regarding such programs. It advises on and approves engineering and architectural services, proposals, plans, specifications and contracts for public improvements to state facilities and public school construction. The Bureau also oversees three State-owned landfills.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of General Services consists of four major divisions: Planning, Design & Construction, Property Management (including Operations and Maintenance and Custodial Services), Procurement, and Leased Space. The Procurement Division includes Procurement and State Purchases Review Committee, Central Fleet Management, and Central Services (including Postal Operations and Surplus Property). Within General Services is the Safety and Environmental Services unit. The organization also participates on the State House and Capitol Park Commission, the Capitol Planning Commission, the Blaine House Commission, Friends of the Blaine House, and the Capitol Riverfront Improvement District.

PROGRAM:

The Planning, Design & Construction Division staff oversee public improvements at approximately 2,000 state buildings and state-funded school projects. The Bureau formerly prepared the biennial capital and repair budgets for all state agencies; however, now each agency prepares its own capital repair budget. Property Management has responsibility for operations and maintenance, including housekeeping services for 53 buildings and 3 memorials in the various Capitol Complexes (East and West Campuses), the Maine Criminal Justice Academy and other buildings in the Greater Augusta area.

The Division of Purchases is responsible for procurement of goods and services for state government. Central Fleet Management and Central Services manage not only the State fleet, but also Postal Services, State Surplus property and Federal Surplus property. The Leased Space Division locates state agencies either in state facilities or in privately leased facilities throughout the State.

The Division of Safety and Environmental Services was reinstated in the FY 22-23 biennial budget. The Division oversees hazardous material testing and abatement and air quality assessments and mitigation.

Landfill Management oversees three state-owned landfills: Juniper Ridge in Old Town, operated by NEWSME Landfill Operations under an agreement with the State; Dolby in East Millinocket; and Carpenter Ridge in Township 2, Range 8 NWP, Penobscot.

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Human Resources is responsible for: centralized administration of the State's Civil Service system; employee health and benefit programs; Workers' Compensation program; wellness and safety initiatives; recruitment, development and training programs; equal employment opportunity programs; bargaining agreement negotiations; and representation of management in labor relations matters

ORGANIZATION:

In 1937, the State of Maine enacted legislation to parallel Federal Civil Service Law. A three-member State Personnel Board and a Bureau of Personnel within the then Department of Finance were established to administer this new law. The Bureau was headed by a Director of Personnel who was appointed by the Governor and the Board to serve at the pleasure of the Board. In 1941, the Bureau was made an independent state agency referred to as the Office of Personnel. In 1953, the State Personnel Board was enlarged by adding a member selected by the Maine State Employees' Association and a member selected from department heads. In 1975, these two special memberships were deleted and the State Personnel Board returned to an all-public body. In 1976, the State Civil Service System experienced its first major change. The Office of Personnel was made a Cabinet-level department, headed by a Commissioner appointed to serve at the pleasure of the Governor. The Commissioner was given the authority formerly vested in the State Personnel Board and the State Personnel Board was redefined as an advisory and appellant body. In January 1981, the Governor placed the Office of Employee Relations under the Commissioner of Personnel and a Director of Employee Relations was appointed by the Commissioner to manage labor relations and collective bargaining activities. In 1986, the Legislature significantly altered the mission and purpose of the Department of Personnel and provided a year of transition for the Department to become the Bureau of Human Resources within the newly established Department of Administration. The State Personnel Board was discontinued and replaced by the State Civil Service Appeals Board, and an advisory Policy Review Board comprised of the leadership of the larger State departments was established. The Office of Employee Relations was established as a separate Bureau, and the former training division of the Office of Employee Relations was placed under the Bureau of Human Resources. In July 1991, the State Employee Health Insurance, Workers' Compensation, and State Employee Health and Wellness programs were placed under the Bureau of Human Resources. In July 2008, the Bureau of Employee Relations became the Office of Employee Relations and was returned to the Bureau of Human Resources. In 2010, the Office of Training and Organizational Development was disbanded. In 2012, the Bureau created a Programs Unit that provides leadership training, online training, organizational development protocols and other models for statewide organizational development. This unit is now referred to as the Talent Management Division. In 2019, Employee Relations, Investigations and EEO, Compensation and Classifications, and Civil Service were organizationally placed under the Division of Compliance. In 2020, the Office of Workers Compensation, Office of Employee Health and Benefits, and Wellness Programs unit were organizationally placed under the Division of Employee Health and Wellness.

PROGRAM:

Division of Compliance: The Classification, Compensation, and Civil Service unit provides job classification audits for both employee and management-initiated requests, assists agencies with reorganization efforts, and represents the Bureau at job classification mediations and arbitrations. Salary Schedules are created and maintained by this unit. The unit also researches, interprets, and provides guidance to line agency management on human resource rules, policies, practices and procedures in the Executive Branch; reviews and acts on requests for exceptions to rules and polices; and tracks human resource-related legislative activities during the legislative sessions. The Office of Employee Relations negotiates and administers collective bargaining agreements by providing advice and counsel to managers and human resource personnel, conducting grievance hearings, and representing all State agencies in grievance arbitrations. In addition, the Office represents State agencies before the Maine Labor Relations Board in unit clarification and unfair labor practice proceedings, and it trains new supervisors and managers in the principles of discipline and other contract administration issues. The Office of the State EEO Coordinator has statutory responsibility to ensure statewide compliance with all federal and state regulations governing equal employment opportunity. It provides direction and support in all areas related to EEO as well as in the conduct of personnel investigations.

Division of Employee Health and Wellness: The Office of Employee Health and Benefits provides centralized administration of the State's health insurance, dental insurance, vision care, flexible spending accounts, and voluntary retirement savings programs. This includes the coordination of payroll deductions, health and dental eligibility determinations, and benefits communications. The Office of Workers' Compensation provides direction and technical assistance in the administration of workers' compensation claims. The Employee Assistance Program guides and assists participating employees, family members and retirees with financial, family, substance abuse and other personal problems. The Division also administers wellness programs. The Wellness Programs unit oversees the State's Employee Assistance Program, Health Premium Credit program, and other wellness initiatives. The unit also collects data from a variety of sources in order to develop and manage programs to enhance the health, wellness, and safety of employees.

Division of Talent Management: The Talent Management Division provides consulting services to agencies in the areas of recruitment, organizational development, workforce management strategies, workplace culture, succession planning, and more. The division develops and delivers surveys, training sessions, reading groups, and workshops in order to assess needs, meet management goals, and enhance managers' skills. Trainings offered include but are not limited to Managing in State Government; Leadership Institute; Compassionate Integrity; and Diversity, Equity and Inclusion. Other services provided are communication of recruitment needs and bureau-wide information through websites, social media outlets, and an HR newsletter; coordination of state-wide employee recognition events; and employment/career counseling for employees impacted by layoff or displacement.

PURPOSE

The Office of Information Technology was established in 2005 as an agency focused on delivering information technology services ("IT Services") to the Executive Branch agencies. IT Services are also provided to support other state and local government entities as needed. The services provided by the Office allow agencies to perform their missions and support the citizens of Maine.

ORGANIZATION:

MaineIT is led by the Chief Information Officer (CIO). The four areas which fall under the leadership of the CIO are: Client and Infrastructure Services, Enterprise Shared Services, Information Security Office, and the Office of the CIO. There is an additional unit within MaineIT, the Project Mangement Office, that reports directly to the Director of Operations within the Commissioner's Office. The Office of the CIO along with the four other units makes up the technology services delivery arm of the Executive Branch.

PROGRAM

In order to safely and effectively provide IT Services, the Office is responsible for identifying needs, procuring and contracting to meet these needs, and ensuring services are provided in a safe and secure manner. The various units within the Office provide the network, phones, computers and other tools which allow agencies to perform their missions. Development staff work closely with the agencies to determine system needs, develop applications as needed, and perform maintenance. Project management resources are used to ensure projects stay on time and on budget. Data security is the top priority and the Information Security Office continuously assesses the threat environment and takes steps to ensure that the information related to Maine citizens is kept safe and secure.

PURPOSE:

The Information Resource of Maine, known as InforME, serves as a self-supporting and cost-effective electronic web portal (www.maine.gov) to provide and enhance access to the State's public information for individuals, businesses, and other entities.

See the InforME Public Information Access Act at: http://www.mainelegislature.org/legis/statutes/1/titlelsec531.html (sections 531-538).

ORGANIZATION:

The InforME Board consists of 15 voting members and 2 nonvoting, advisory members as follows:

The Secretary of State or the Secretary of State's designee; three members who are chief executive officers of agencies of the Executive Branch that are major data custodians, who are appointed by the Governor and who serve at the pleasure of the Governor, or their designees; a representative of the University of Maine System, appointed by the Chancellor; a representative of a statewide association of municipalities, appointed by the Governor from nominations made by the association's governing body; a representative of a nonprofit or user organization advancing citizens' rights of access to information, appointed by the Governor; and a representative of a statewide association of public librarians, appointed by the Governor from nominations made by the association's governing body; two members from user associations of a statewide character appointed by the Governor; the Commissioner of Administrative and Financial Services or the Commissioner's designee; the State Librarian or the State Librarian's designee; two public members, one appointed by the President of the Senate and one appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; a representative of the membership or staff of the Judicial Department, appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, who serves as a nonvoting member; the Chief Executive Officer or designee of the private entity under contract as the Network Manager who serves as a nonvoting member; and the Chief Information Officer or the Chief Information Officer's designee.

PROGRAM:

The web service governed by the InforME board and executed by the Maine Information Network, is continually recognized nationally for outstanding services and content on the Maine.gov website. In 2019, Maine.gov was ranked a finalist in the Government Experience Awards program and Gold in the Ava Digital Awards. Each program that has honored Maine.gov has done so because of the Network Manager's attention to usability, accessibility and the user experience.

Maine.gov is a very important medium for the electronic delivery of public information and services. It is not the exclusive means of delivery of information and services to the public. There exist many other avenues of electronic delivery including direct delivery by agencies through the Office of Information Technology as well as through other 3rd party providers.

The InformE Board provides direction to the InformE portal manager, Maine Information Network. Maine.gov provides universal continuous access to accurate, current web-based electronic public information that may be searched to suit the user's own purposes. Services include, at a minimum: providing standardized access to customized databases and data custodians' databases; providing links to other information sources; conducting electronic business and payment transactions; assisting state agencies in electronically disseminating public information in their custody; and constantly improving access to and the utility of the public information available through maine.gov. The Network Manager under oversight from the InforME board explores, and, where appropriate, implements ways to: A. Expand the amount and kind of public information available free of charge; B. Increase the utility of the public information provided and the form in which it is provided; C. Expand the base of users who access the public information; and D. Improve individual and business access to public information through improvements in technology. Maine.gov provides opportunities for individuals, businesses, and other entities to review public information for accuracy and to indicate to the data custodian when corrections may be appropriate; provides a mechanism for the authorized transfer of nonpublic information; promotes opportunities for interagency cooperation; and provides opportunities for innovative uses of public information.

 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000000283A

PURPOSE:

The Commission was established to provide oversight for the controlled distribution and sale of spirits and lottery products so that it may effectively generate additional revenues for the support of the State government.

The Commission has the following powers and duties: control and supervise the pricing, listing and delisting of spirits for sale to the public; promulgate and amend rules; make recommendations and set policies; and transact other business that may be properly brought before it.

ORGANIZATION:

The State's regulation of liquor originated in 1862 with the appointment of a Commissioner to Regulate Sales of Intoxicating Liquors to exercise control over liquors kept and sold for medicinal and manufacturing purposes. In 1905, a Liquor Enforcement Commission was established to enforce the law against the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Both agencies were abolished in 1911.

A State Liquor Licensing Board was created in 1933 consisting of three members appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, for terms of three years. The chairman was designated by the Governor. The Board was renamed the State Liquor Commission in legislation effective 1934 which outlined responsibilities with respect to the State control of liquor still basic to the Commission in conjunction with the present Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages.

As of 1977, the members of the Commission are appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Legislature. In 1987, the Legislature raised the membership to five. In November 1973, a public referendum approved a State Lottery, and the first State Lottery Commission was appointed in January 1974. In 1992, the Maine State Lottery and the Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages were combined to become the Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages and Lottery Operations. In July 1993, the Maine State Liquor and Lottery Commissions were merged into a single, combined Commission of five (5) members.

PROGRAM:

The Commission provides oversight to the financial performance and operational activities of the Bureau of Alcoholic Beverages and Lottery Operations.

OFFICE OF CANNABIS POLICY JOHN HUDAK, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 19 UNION ST, 1ST FLOOR, AUGUSTA, ME 04330 Mail Address: 162 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333

FAX: (207) 287-2671 Telephone: (207) 624-7490 Established: 2018

Reference: Policy Area: 00 Umbrella: 18 Unit: 691 Citation: PL 2017 M.R.S.A., Sect.: C409 Average Counts-All Positions: 49.000 Legislative Count: 49.00

PURPOSE:

The Office of Cannabis Policy (OCP) is responsible for the oversight of all aspects of legalized cannabis. The mission of OCP is to ensure the health and safety of all Mainers by effectively and responsibly licensing and regulating cannabis establishments. It aims to develop a good faith partnership between the State of Maine and stakeholders by establishing rules and policies that provide interested consumers with access to a regulated industry while diminishing an unregulated, untested illicit market.

The powers and duties of OCP are detailed in Title 22, Chapter 558-C (medical) and Title 28-B (adult use).

ORGANIZATION .

In Maine, the responsibility for licensing, compliance, enforcement, and general oversight of Maine's medical use of cannabis and adult use cannabis programs is unified within OCP. The Office is led by a Director who oversees a senior leadership team consisting of a Deputy Director of Operations, Deputy Director of Strategic Initiatives, Director of Licensing, Director of Compliance, Policy Director, Director of Special Projects, Director of Media and Stakeholder Relations, and Data Analytics Director. The Deputy Director of Operations oversees the day-to-day operations of OCP's licensing and compliance divisions. The Deputy Director of Strategic Initiatives oversees the day-to-day and long-term operations of OCP's policy, data analytics, special projects, media and stakeholder relations staff.

PROGRAM:

The State of Maine first legalized medical cannabis by referendum in 1999. In 2009, Maine voters again took up the topic of medical cannabis, this time establishing a distribution mechanism that had been nonexistent since 1999. It took another two years before the first of Maine's medical cannabis dispensaries began operating. Presently, over 50 active dispensaries, hundreds of caregiver retail stores, and approximately 2,000 caregivers serve the State's roughly 106,000 medical cannabis patients. In November 2016, Maine voters approved the recreational use, retail sale and taxation of cannabis. The Maine Legislature spent the next two years working to overhaul the Marijuana Legalization Act. OCP was established within the Department to complete the rulemaking process required by law that would permit the State of Maine to proceed with accepting and processing applications for adult use cannabis establishments. In the adult use program today, there are 89 cultivation licensees, 66 manufacturing licensees, 130 retail store licensees, 4 licensed testing facilities and there are hundreds of additional license applications in the queue. Regardless of these changes to Maine law, cannabis is still illegal at the federal level. While limited federal protections exist for medical-use, Mainers should educate themselves about the potential consequences of the recreational use of cannabis.

LICENSES:

Adult Use Licensing under Title 28-B; Medical registrations under Title 22, Chapter 558-c

PURPOSE:

The Bureau has the primary responsibility for: animal and plant health; farm and consumer quality assurance; agricultural product marketing; and partnerships that promote rural educational events. The Bureau is also charged with developing the public's understanding of the importance of agriculture to the state's economy, the vitality of rural communities, and Maine's quality of life.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources includes three divisions: the Division of Agricultural Resource Development, the Division of Quality Assurance and Regulation, and the Division of Animal and Plant Health. It is home to the PFAS Response Program, which provides technical and financial assistance to farms impacted by per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) contamination. The Bureau Director is assisted by directors and program managers in each Division, in addition to staffing associated with the Harness Racing Commission, Maine Milk Commission, and the Board of Pesticides Control.

Agricultural Resource Development (ARD) supports agricultural producers, processors, and consumers through marketing, promotion, and technical assistance.

Through Real Maine and other programs, ARD supports direct market farmers, farm-to-institution sales, and agricultural education. ARD offers several grant and loan programs. Staff also support agricultural resource programs, including farmland protection, farmland property tax, farmland registration, beginning and veteran farmer support, Maine Senior FarmShare Program, The Emergency Food Assistance Program, Local Foods Purchase Assistance Program, the Commodities Supplemental Food Program, and Hunters for the Hungry.

The Division of Quality Assurance and Regulation (QAR) inspects and licenses regulated food enterprises, ensuring that foods are packaged, processed, prepared, stored, and sold in sanitary and safe environments. Regulated enterprises include meat and poultry slaughter and processing facilities, dairy producers and processors, retail food establishments, consumer-size potato packaging, and egg and fruit and vegetable operations surpassing a certain threshold. QAR administers the Produce Safety Rule of the Food Safety Modernization Act under a Cooperative Agreement with the FDA.

The Division of Animal and Plant Health (APH) prevents the introduction and spread of poultry, livestock, and plant diseases. The State Apiarist is responsible for licensing, managing education and training, and inspecting for beekeepers and hives. APH certifies seed potatoes and oversees the licensing of livestock facilities. The Animal Welfare Program (AWP) ensures the humane and proper treatment and licensing of companion animals. AWP is responsible for planning, preparing, and responding to natural disasters that impact domestic animals and their owners and certifies all local animal control officers.

The Bureau's PFAS Response Program supports farms by identifying PFAS contamination, pursuing strategies to reduce or eliminate PFAS, and providing technical and financial assistance to retain farm viability. Staff provide comprehensive testing at commercial agricultural sites with known or suspected PFAS contamination and work with producers to develop a thorough understanding of site-specific factors. The Program prevents adulterated products from entering the food supply while supporting producers seeking to depurate their animals or otherwise resume operations safely.

Several Bureau programs, commissions, and functions are treated in separate sections of this report. These include Weights and Measures, the Board of Pesticides Control, the State Horticulturist, the Maine Milk Commission, the Harness Racing Commission, the Pull Events Commission, and the Animal Welfare Advisory Council.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act authorizes producers of agricultural products to form organizations to bargain with handlers of those products regarding price and other terms and conditions of their sale. The Act provides for the certification of those producer organizations that meet the statutory criteria for qualification and requires qualified associations and handlers to bargain in good faith. When an association and a handler cannot reach an agreement, the statute provides for binding final offer arbitration.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Agricultural Bargaining Board consists of five members and two alternates, whom the Governor shall appoint. One member and one alternate shall be appointed from a list of names submitted by agricultural producer organizations. One member and one alternate shall be appointed from a list of names submitted by processors of agricultural products. In appointing these members and alternates, the Governor shall seek to represent as many different agricultural products as possible, and a member and the alternate for that member may not be associated with the same agricultural product unless suitable persons cannot otherwise be appointed. An alternate shall serve when, for any reason, the respective member is unable to serve. Three members shall be representatives of the public. A public member may not hold any interest or stock or securities in any producer, dealer, processor, or other person whose activities are subject to the jurisdiction of the Board.

PROGRAM:

For many years, only one organization has been certified, representing producers of potatoes used for processing. On June 1, 2023, the Maine Forest Stewardship Cooperative was certified to represent certain timber harvesters in the forest products industry.

PURPOSE:

The State Horticulturist assists the Director, Division of Animal and Plant Health, in the implementation of plant, insect, and disease laws and quarantines, the certification of plant materials, honeybees and hives involved in interstate and international movement, licensing of hemp and ginseng growers and arborists, monitoring and surveying for invasive exotic plant pests, and supervision of the Integrated Pest Management Program (IPM).

ORGANIZATION:

The State Horticulturist resides in the Division of Animal and Plant Health.

PROGRAM

Primary responsibilities of this unit include nursery, greenhouse, and plant dealer inspections; licensing of plant sales outlets and assisting industry and the general public on horticulture issues; managing the arborist licensing program, hemp licensing program, apiary program, IPM program, and Cooperative Agricultural Pest Survey program (CAPS).

Businesses selling rooted plant material are licensed and inspected for a variety of plant pests, focusing on pests that are either not found in the state, are new to the state, or are of limited distribution, and pests that have the potential to impact the health of economically important agricultural and horticultural crops and forest resources.

With help from the seed potato certification program, this office inspects and certifies plant material and issues phytosanitary certificates to assist growers in marketing products to other countries. Most certificates are issued for seed, nursery crops, seed potatoes, feed barley, and wheat.

This office also licenses arborists to work on shade and ornamental trees in the state. Candidates must pass a written examination to be eligible for licensing.

The office licenses hemp growers under agreement with the USDA , who must plant certified seed, and their crops must be tested for tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) content and inspected before harvest.

The State Apiarist licenses commercial and hobby beekeepers and inspects beehives. This Program also issues certificates of inspection to allow for the interstate transfer of commercial hives.

Division staff also survey for several exotic pests of importance to Maine's agriculture and forest industries. In cooperation with others, including the Bureau of Forestry, Soil & Water Conservation Districts, and the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, plant commodity and emergency pest surveys are conducted to look for exotic pests and pests with regulatory significance.

The IPM program leads initiatives to develop and promote guidelines, resources, and education to minimize reliance on pesticides and safeguard health. The IPM entomologist coordinates activities for the 11-member Maine IPM Council. The IPM program provides technical guidance and outreach to schools, government agencies, institutions, businesses, and citizens.

LAND FOR MAINE'S FUTURE BOARD STEPHEN WALKER, DIRECTOR

Established: 1987 Telephone: (207) 287-7576 Reference: Policy Area: 04 Umbrella: 01 Unit: 683 Citation: T0005 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000006202

The Land for Maine's Future (LMF) program is the State's primary funding vehicle for land conservation. The Program provides funding through a competitive process for the purchase of conservation easements and fee acquisitions for public use and benefit. The LMF Program promotes working landscapes, which are part of Maine's rural economy. LMF farmland preservation projects support farmer and community efforts to keep land in agricultural production. Working forest easements are part of Maine's wood supply for the forest products industries and provide access for recreational use. The working waterfront access protection program makes key points of access along Maine's coast available to the commercial fisheries industry. LMF also prioritizes the protection of wildlife and fisheries habitat, as well as key public access points to Maine woods and waters, and ensures that land utilizing LMF funding is available for traditional recreational activities where suitable.

Since the creation of the Program, over 610,000 acres have been conserved, which includes approximately 333,425 acres of working lands, reflecting LMF's efforts to conserve the working landscape and keep lands in private ownership with permanent land conservation agreements. Additionally, over 1,250 miles of shoreline on rivers, lakes, and ponds have been protected as have over 62 miles for public coastal access.

In 2023, LMF was strengthened by moving the Program's funds to a designated trust fund, enabling it to accept private donations while earning interest on its funds. Thus, the LMF Board manages the Land for Maine's Future Trust Fund, the Public Access to Maine Waters Fund, the Conservation and Recreation Fund, the Conservation Land Management Fund, and jointly administers the Working Waterfront Access Protection Fund with the Department of Marine Resources and the Working Farmland Access and Protection Fund with the Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry's Bureau of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources. The Board consists of nine members: six are private citizens appointed by the Governor, and the remaining three are the Commissioners of the Departments of: Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry; Inland Fisheries and Wildlife; and Marine Resources. The Governor appoints the Board's chairperson. The program director, technical staff, and clerical support operate within the Bureau of Resource Information and Land Use Planning.

The Board is responsible for reviewing funding requests for land protection projects and authorizing the distribution of bond proceeds to priority projects.

Funding is drawn from the sale of bonds approved by voters. LMF bond funds are matched with additional funds at a ratio of at least $1 in matching funds for every $1 of public funds expended.

The Board has established a process for the public to nominate lands and a scoring system to evaluate proposals. There are five proposal categories: Conservation and Recreation Lands, Conservation Land Management, Farmlands, Working Waterfronts, and Water Access Lands.

Legislative Count: 48.00

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Bureau of Resource Information and Land Use Planning centers on providing science, technical assistance, information, and administering discrete funding in support of resource management and land use planning.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau has six programs: Geological Survey, Natural Areas Program, Municipal Planning Assistance Program, Land Use Planning Commission, Floodplain Management, and Land for Maine's Future.

PROGRAM:

Maine Geological Survey: Geologic Mapping provides interpretation of surficial materials, rock types, and structures and the identification of aquifers, minerals, and geologic hazards such as earthquakes. Hydrogeology assesses groundwater supply, aquifer delineation, and groundwater quality. Marine Geology conducts studies of shoreline stability, landslides, storm surges, sea-level rise, beach nourishment, and dredged material disposal sites.

The Maine Natural Areas Program (MNAP) inventories lands and maintains a centralized data management system containing current and historical information about at-risk species and habitats. MNAP provides this information to landowners, developers, land trusts, municipalities, and state and federal agencies to guide land management, development, conservation actions, and acquisitions. MNAP also provides outreach and education on terrestrial invasive plants in Maine, including iMapInvasives, a web-based map and database that shows where invasive species are on Maine's landscape.

The Municipal Planning Assistance Program (MPAP) provides technical assistance to organized municipalities and funding and technical assistance to regional planning organizations. MPAP provides grants to municipalities and eligible public entities for projects that improve water quality, increase resiliency/adaptation to erosion and flooding, restore habitat, promote development, and enhance the economy while preserving natural resources. MPAP also provides information and guidance to towns on comprehensive planning and reviews plans for consistency with Maine's Growth Management Law.

The Land Use Planning Commission (LUPC) serves as the planning and zoning authority for the unorganized and deorganized areas of the state, including townships and plantations. These areas cover over half the state, encompassing more than 10.4 million acres, and either have no local government or have chosen not to administer land use controls at the local level. The LUPC land use controls impact many local economies as well as Maine residents and visitors.

The Floodplain Management Program assists communities participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) by: providing workshops for local officials and other professional groups that focus on flood maps; interpreting ordinances and administering floodplain management requirements; and providing information about flooding to homeowners, businesses, lenders, realtors, surveyors, engineers, and others.

The Maine Milk Commission, in consideration of public health and welfare as it relates to an adequate supply of fresh, healthy milk, has economic influence over the purchasing, distribution, and sale of milk within the state. It has the power to conduct hearings and subpoena and examine dealers under oath, along with their records, books, and accounts, and any other person from whom information may be desired. It may act as a mediator or arbitrator to settle any controversy or issue among producers, dealers, and consumers, any of whom may petition the Commission to change prices or conditions in any market area.

ORGANIZATION:

The Commission is comprised of four consumer members and the Commissioner of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry or designee, ex officio. The Commission holds regular meetings each calendar month, and special meetings may be called by the chairperson whenever requested by two or more members. The Commission is financed by a fee assessment on milk produced and sold by industry members.

PROGRAM:

The Commission establishes a uniform system of accounts for reporting and allocating costs of processing, packaging, and distributing milk within Maine. The Cost of Production, Dealer Margin, and Retail Margin studies provide information used by Commission members in their monthly deliberations for setting minimum prices. The findings presented in the Cost of Production study are also used for setting target prices in the Maine Dairy Stabilization Program.

The Commission sets minimum wholesale and retail prices based on the lowest achievable cost at which milk purchased from Maine producers can be received, processed, packaged, and distributed within the state at a reasonable return.

The Executive Director also administers the Maine Milk Pool, which balances prices paid to producers whether they ship milk to processors outside the state or in Maine. The Executive Director also administers the Maine Dairy Stabilization "Tier" Program, which pays dairy farmers the difference between a legislatively determined cost of production and their actual price received when that price drops below the cost of production levels.

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Parks and Lands (BPL) manages land, constructs and maintains outdoor recreation facilities, distributes information, implements management plans, administers grants, and coordinates with other state and federal agencies with related programs. The Bureau manages more than 720,000 acres of land, including over 85,000 acres in 35 State Parks, the Allagash Wilderness Waterway, and 13 State Historic sites, and more than 635,000 acres of Public Lands. The State also holds more than 1 million acres of easements. In addition, the Bureau has jurisdiction over 2.3 million acres of submerged lands, 1,333 coastal islands, and 341 miles of former rail beds converted to multi-use trails. The Bureau also administers programs related to boating access, navigational hazard marking, snowmobile and ATV trails, the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF), the Recreational Trail Program (RTP), and the Maine Conservation Corps (MCC).

ORGANIZATION:

A Director heads the Bureau. There are six regional offices -- three supervising the State Park system and three supervising the Public Reserved Lands system.

PROGRAM:

Over 700,000 acres are managed by the Bureau of Parks and Lands, encompassing State Parks, Historic Sites, the Allagash Wilderness Waterway, and Public Lands, which provide recreational and educational opportunities to Maine citizens and visitors.

The Public Lands program manages more than 630,000 acres for wildlife, forest products, and recreation. This acreage includes more than 100,000 acres of Ecological Reserves. Revenues from forestry timber sales on Public Lands help to pay for trails, campsites, roads, and other infrastructure and wildlife management projects. BPL maintains its third-party forest certification through the Sustainable Forestry Initiative and the Forest Stewardship Council.

In recent years Maine's 48 State Parks and Historic Sites have supported more than 3 million visitors annually. The Bureau is currently investing $50 million of Maine Jobs and Recovery Plan funds into State Park infrastructure, including roads, bathrooms, water systems, ADA-accessible trails, and administrative facilities.

The Planning and Acquisition Program supports the management of Maine's state parks and lands, oversees the acquisition of new lands, and monitors conservation easements held by BPL. It manages a variety of leases on public lands, including residential camp lots, sporting camps, telecommunications, utility rights-of-way, and agricultural uses. The Grants and Community Recreation Program administers federal and state grant programs, including the Land and Water Conservation Fund and the Recreational Trails Program. It also serves as a liaison with the Maine Recreation & Park Association, the National Recreation & Park Association, and regional parks and recreation organizations. The Maine Conservation Corps (MCC), an AmeriCorps State grantee, engages members who undertake conservation initiatives while completing job readiness training and achieving personal development goals. Outputs include the construction or maintenance of recreational trails, water quality monitoring, aquatic and terrestrial habitat restoration, invasive monitoring and removal, GIS projects, interpretive programming, environmental education, and volunteer management.

The Boating Facilities Program provides access to lakes, ponds, rivers, and the coast at almost 400 locations. The program provides grants for public recreational boat access and the replacement of boarding floats, and it also oversees the placement of navigational aids on inland waterways. The program also produces boat launch and navigational aids information. The Submerged Lands Program oversees residential and commercial leases on Maine's freshwater and tidal submerged lands and oversees multiple grant programs.

The Off-Road Recreational Vehicle program grades, mows, and maintains converted railroad trails for recreational use. The Snowmobile Program establishes new trails and manages 14,000 miles of interconnected trails statewide. The Program serves as a liaison to snowmobile clubs, municipalities, and private landowners, provides trail map information, and provides grants to clubs and municipalities. The ATV Program helps establish trail systems and produces maps, works to help solve landowner/user conflicts, and helps organize clubs. The program also provides grants to clubs and municipalities, provides trail signs and sign guidelines, and can provide club and landowner insurance.

Investigations include extensive interactions with law enforcement officers, scene visits, review of medical records, and telephone interviews with family and physicians, as well as external examination of bodies, autopsy, toxicologic and other laboratory tests.

The OCME monitors trends in cases to identify public health related concerns and reports contagious and infectious disease. Additionally, the OCME continuously conducts surveillance for drugs, elder and minor abuse and neglect, and other public health matters related to violent deaths and suicides. The OCME collaborates with and participates in many teaching and training activities for personnel in law enforcement, health care, and institutions of higher education.

AUDIT BUREAU UNORGANIZED TERRITORY

PURPOSE:

The Office of the State Auditor (OSA) has the authority to audit all accounts and other financial records of State government and its departments or agencies, with the exception of the Governor's Expense Account. OSA has the authority to audit counties, municipalities, and any organization, institution or other entity receiving or requesting an appropriation or grant from state government. The Office conducts financial and compliance audits of all state agencies subject to the Single Audit Act Amendments of 1996, 31 United States Code, Section 7501-7507 (1998) and in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States.

OSA is authorized to review departmental budgets and capital programs for effective and efficient management of state government, to serve as a staff agency to the Legislature and the Governor in making investigations of the State's finances. OSA prepares the annual financial statements of the Unorganized Territory Education and Services Fund and coordinates the related external audit, and prepares the annual Municipal Cost Components legislation for submission to the Legislature.

OSA also operates a fraud hotline for receipt of complaints from persons alleging fraud, waste, inefficiency, or abuse in state government. The complaints are either investigated further or referred to other state agencies for investigation. The State Auditor prepares and publishes quarterly and semi-annual fraud reports for distribution to the Governor and Legislature. The State Auditor is required to notify the Governor and Legislature immediately of improper transactions or improper financial administration.

ORGANIZATION:

OSA originated in 1883 with the establishment of a three-member Committee to examine accounts of the State Treasurer. In 1907, the Committee was replaced by a State Auditor who examined all accounts and demands against the State, including all matters requiring payment from the State Treasury. In 1931, the Department of Audit was created under the administrative direction of the State Auditor who is elected by a joint ballot of the Legislature for a term of four years. In 2013, the name of the Department of Audit changed to the Office of the State Auditor. This change is consistent with Public Law Chapter 16 of the 126th Legislature. OSA is headed by the State Auditor who is responsible for the overall executive management of the Office and receives support from staff who perform the duties and responsibilities outlined primarily, but not exclusively, in Title 5 MRSA Chapter 11.

PROGRAM:

The programs of OSA are implemented through its bureaus.

PURPOSE:

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

Bolduc Correctional Facility (BCF) aims to protect the public by providing a safe, healthy environment where residents are held to a high standard of conduct and are provided with opportunities for personal growth that allow them to return to society as productive citizens.

ORGANIZATION:

The BCF in South Warren can house 221 minimum security residents. In 1978 the official name of the minimum security unit became the Ronald P. Bolduc Unit, in honor of Ronald P. Bolduc, the first Director. The former barracks now serve as $\frac{1}{2}$ the BCF . Prior to 1970, a fire destroyed the working farm at BCF which had previously supported the prison with beef, dairy, and produce. Currently BCF is supporting both the prison and its own kitchen with fresh produce and beef from the farm that is currently continuing in full operation.

PROGRAM:

Services include behavioral health and substance use programming that is offered through contracted medical provider Well Path (WP), education programs, and vocational programming. Case management services are provided to all residents. Case management staff develop an Individual Case Plan and monitor compliance. They also act as advocates and serve on their unit's multi-disciplinary unit team. For residents nearing release, the case managers focus on community resources and re-entry programs. They frequently play a role in defusing potentially disruptive situations and provide a more stable environment. The facility's Community Programs Coordinator works with all arenas in the local area to place offenders on work release with local employers and also in volunteer roles for Maine Department of Transportation, Camden Hills State Park, Rockland Transfer Station, Rockland Public Works, Rockland Harbor Master, and the towns of Union and Warren.

Educational programs at the BCF include Adult Basic Education, High School equivalency, and college education. Vocational programs include Welding, Agriculture, and Automotive certifications. Other programs and activities, such as typing, computer science, music, literature, writing, art, horticulture, composting, recycling, Long Distance Dad's, Thinking for a Change, self-reflective challenge programs, and languages provide additional choices. Religious services are provided by ordained clergy who support a varied faith group base. The Stopping Abuse For Everyone (SAFE) program is in place to address the needs surrounding domestic abuse convictions. The facility has a Work Ready Coordinator that aids in the process of rehabilitation to promote interviewing techniques and many other facets of the re-entry process.

Industrial programs offer a variety of paying jobs which include plate shop and a prison showroom. These programs are designed to establish meaningful work programs for residents and to help reduce the financial burden of correctional programming to the general public.

PURPOSE:

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

While striving to complete this mission, the Maine Correctional Center (MCC) recognizes the indispensable and valuable contributions of its security, programs, and support staff and is committed to the ongoing development of a professional and skilled work force with high ethical standards.

This mission is accomplished through the MCC's responsibility as the Department of Corrections' (DOC) primary reception center, and the utilization of professional correctional practices, objective risk assessment and research-based rehabilitation programs, which have been proven to reduce the likelihood that an offender will re-offend.

Throughout their MCC commitment, residents are expected to accept increasing levels of personal responsibility for their conduct and for successful participation in rehabilitative programs. They are strongly encouraged to participate in the programs that will teach skills to assist them in being successful upon release and to overcome obstacles to their success. The MCC also strives to have incarcerated men and women recognize their family obligations and to plan for a successful reentry into their communities. The MCC is generally designated as a medium security institution with a maximum-security capability for short duration confinement. The Women's Center and Southern Maine Women's Re-Entry Center are separate, comprehensive housing and programming units.

ORGANIZATION:

The male population of MCC is comprised of three management units:

The Multi-Purpose Unit (MPU) is a high custody correctional setting. Its operation includes the reception center for the MDOC system. In addition to performing the initial classification and assessment of resident risks and needs as well as orientation to incoming residents, it also specializes in restrictive housing for residents presenting more challenging behavioral and security concerns.

Unit One is primarily a medium custody housing area, now located in the new 240 bed housing unit. The Unit's mission is to serve as a general population housing unit for residents who present higher custody and security issues. Its programming and focus are on behavioral stability, followed by risk reduction using a high level of coordination and planning between security and not security staff.

Unit Two is primarily a medium custody housing area with a small population of medium and minimum custody residents. Programs in Unit Two include transition skills re-entry programming and non-violent communication for men. The purpose of this unit is to prepare residents for transfer to minimum custody facilities or plan for a release back into the community.

Unit Three is the Women's Center, which is a separate comprehensive housing and programming unit for females. It includes industries, education, and substance use disorder treatment. All programming is based in gender responsivity and presented with a trauma informed lens. The Women's Center is designed as a secure correctional community with focus on personal development, trauma recovery, substance use disorder treatment, and community re-entry. This unit falls under the oversight of the Director of Women's Operations.

The Southern Maine Women's Re-Entry Center (SMWRC) is a stand-alone unit, that provides women with five years or less left on their sentence who are either minimum or community custody, with the skills, opportunities, experience, and support they need to successfully live as positive citizens and employees after they transition from state correctional facilities into their home communities. This 100 bed unit is also under the oversight of the Director of Women's Operations. Recognizing that women offenders have unique pathways to their crimes, the Center assesses and provides programs with a gender responsive and trauma informed approach.

SMWRC currently has a rated capacity of 100. SMWRC provides structure, supervision and security to residents during the transition from incarceration to release. SMWRC uses a variety of gender responsive approaches to achieve their goals. The SMWRC focuses on educational and vocational opportunities and growth, while encouraging the reunification and development of family and natural supports.

The Maine Correctional Center in Windham received re-accreditation in January 2018 by the American Correctional Association.

PROGRAM:

Programs for residents confined at the Maine Correctional Center focus on teaching appropriate conduct, personal responsibility, and work skills. The Center has specialized programs to assist residents re-entering the community.

DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

The women at SMRC participate in community re-entry programs (work release, education release, public service release, and family reunification) and utilize community-based services when available. An emphasis is placed on reducing their risks of reoffending and on increasing their positive outcomes.

Residents also work various jobs within the institution which include kitchen, laundry, agriculture crew, grounds maintenance, and landscaping. Industry programs include upholstery and print shop. Educational programs include Hi-Set preparation and testing, as well as Adult Basic Education and college education. Vocational training offers Work Ready, Serve Safe, business courses and building trades programming along with certificate programs.

Medical, mental health and psychiatry services are available to all residents through a contract with Wellpath. Residents are assigned to a unit team which monitors resident adjustment to case management and transition/release planning. The substance use programs for both men and women are provided through a partnership with Wellpath.

Through these units and programs, the Maine Correctional Center strives toward its mission to improve community safety by teaching personal responsibility, involving residents in rehabilitation programs, and lowering recidivism.

During FY23, MCC reorganized its Administration to better serve the male and female populations. Warden Ben Beal maintains oversight over the male operation while Director Amanda Woolford was assigned Chief Administrative Officer (CAO) level oversight over the female operation. The intent of this reorganization is to allow women's programs to have more autonomy from the male operation and be able to develop more gender specific practices.

In FY23, MCC moved into the full-scale build-out phase of a major construction and renovation project. As part of this, the following housing units were closed: Security East, North and South, and Dorms 1, 2 and 3. This reduced the male population by a little over 100 beds. This was made possible, in large part, by overall system wide bed capacity caused by COVID. The facility reduction is allowing demolition to occur to permit the construction on new buildings.

As of September 2022, most new buildings associated with the project have come online. Since the last report, the program support space for staff who support Unit 2 has been completed. Demolition is underway for buildings that have come offline.

PURPOSE:

The mission of the Maine Department of Corrections and the Downeast Correctional Facility is to make our communities safer by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. The Downeast Correctional Facility offers residents the opportunity to learn new skills, build community relationships and prepare for reentry in a thoughtful and supported way. The first days and weeks following release from custody are vital to the long term success of residents; establishing plans that support medications, treatment, housing, work and family reunification are essential. Staff and residents work collaboratively to positively impact each component of their reentry plan providing the best opportunity for success.

ORGANIZATION:

The Downeast Correctional Facility is located in Machiasport Maine on the grounds of the former Bucks Harbor Air Force Base. In the early 1980's the shuttered base was leased and eventually deeded to the Maine Department of Corrections which established the Downeast Correctional Facility in 1984. From 1984 to 2017 the facility operated as a minimum/medium security correctional facility with 160 beds. In 2017 the facility was closed mainly in part due to failing infrastructure. In 2020 design and planning was initiated for a new facility on the grounds of the former Downeast Correctional Facility. Construction of the new facility was completed in 2022 which included upgrades to the water and septic system as well as the demolition and removal of 1960's-era buildings. The updated facility was re-opened in January 2022 and can house 48 residents in a modern and safe environment.

The Downeast Correctional Facility has a staffing compliment of 15 state employees and 3 contracted nurses who provide on-site operational and supervisory duties. Administrative oversight and support services are provided by the Warden and staff of the Mountain View Correctional Facility.

PROGRAM:

The compassionate and dedicated staff at the Downeast Correctional Facility prioritize a culture and environment that humanizes the residents in their care while normalizing activities that are consistent with outside communities. The staff model pro-social relationships, problem-solving, and accountability to oneself and one's community. Each resident has an individualized case plan that identifies strengths, risks, and needs. Individual goals are established that outline programmatic needs and reentry planning support. Individual case plans and reentry planning is managed and supported by a Correctional Care and Treatment Worker.

Medical services offered at the Downeast Correctional Facility include 12 hours of on-site nursing coverage daily, medications for substance use disorder, psychiatry services, behavioral health interventions, and medical provider access in collaboration with the Mountain View Correctional Facility. Emergency treatment and specialist access are provided in the community.

Residents have access to Adult Basic Education and Hi-Set completion through support of a local agency. Access to online college programming is accessible through an onsite learning center with internet access and individual laptops provided to each student to support learning.

Vocational learning is supported by a work-release program that partners with local employers to provide on the job training in various vocational areas such as the fishing industry, construction trades, and manufacturing. These partnerships provide the employer with a motivated work force while allowing residents to learn a trade and set aside funds for a successful reentry upon release

The Downeast Correctional Facility also operates a community restitution program which provides free labor to local towns and non-profits. This program teaches basic skills while modeling the importance of giving back to one's local communities.

PURPOSE:

The Juvenile Justice Advisory Group (JJAG) exists to administer a voluntary partnership between the State of Maine and the federal Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) for the purpose of improving Maine's juvenile justice system. In return for an annual formula grant allocation, Maine must meet four defined standards ("Core" Requirements) for the management of juveniles. These core requirements include: 1) deinstitutionalization of status offenders; 2) sight and sound separation of juveniles from adult arrestees and prisoners; 3) removal of juveniles from adult-serving jails; and 4) elimination of racial and ethnic disparities among youth involved in Maine's juvenile justice system. The JJAG operates as the supervisory board for all state planning, administrative, and funding functions under the federal Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (JJDPA) as reauthorized in 2018.

ORGANIZATION:

The JJAG was first established as a committee of the Maine Criminal Justice Planning and Assistance Agency. It was formalized by Executive Order 4 FY80 on October 5, 1979, and authorized by statute in 1984 (34-A MRSA, section 1209). Since July 1, 1982, the Department of Corrections (DOC) has acted as the JJAG's administrative and fiscal agent.

The JJAG Board consists of 15 to 33 volunteer members appointed by the Governor for to serve four year terms. Membership must consist of federally mandated representatives of various juvenile justice stakeholder groups, a majority of whom may not be full-time governmental employees. At least one fifth of the members must be under the age of 28 at the time of appointment, and at least three members must have been or currently be under the jurisdiction of the juvenile justice system.

PROGRAM:

The JJAG must establish a Comprehensive Three Year Plan outlining its goals and objectives for the period of the plan. The OJJDP must approve the State's Plan and annual updates to the plan. The Plan for years 2021 through 2023 included the following goals:

- 1) Develop a community-based continuum of care for youth involved in, or at risk of becoming involved in, Maine's juvenile justice system;
- 2) Address the particular needs of historically and currently marginalized populations of youth involved in, or at risk of becoming involved in, the juvenile justice system, including youth of color, immigrant youth, LGBTQ/GNC youth, youth with disabilities, and tribal youth;
- 3) Improve system policies and procedures consistent with national best practices and recommendations reflected in the 2020 Children's Center for Law & Policy system assessment to reduce the number of youths in, or at risk of becoming involved in, the justice system; and
- 4) Elevate and amplify the voices of youth involved in, or at risk of becoming involved in, the juvenile justice system, to ensure that Maine youth are authentically engaged in reform efforts.

The JJAG works with other juvenile justice system stakeholders and devotes resources in accordance with its 3-year plan, to implement the following objectives toward achieving the above-listed goals. A full description of the JJAG's goals and the objectives identified as necessary to achieve the goals can be found at

PURPOSE: It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, $\frac{1}{2}$ and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

Juvenile Community Corrections (JCC) provide effective supervision to youth under its jurisdiction who are residing in the community. Using a risk reduction case management model, JCC staff assess individual juveniles' risk domains and strengths; develop case plans; access and advocate for appropriate resources to implement case plans; collaborate with other state agencies and public and private providers to ensure that appropriate interventions are provided; and monitor progress of the case plan. This approach targets dynamic risk factors that could lead to continued delinquent conduct, directs appropriate interventions to mitigate those risk factors, and allows the youth to succeed in their home, school, and community. Concurrently, Juvenile Community Corrections Officers (JCCOs) divert youth from the juvenile court system, supervise juveniles on conditional release, probation, or aftercare status, and help support youths responsible for the administration of the Interstate Compact for Juveniles.

ORGANIZATION:

Three regional offices provide services to juveniles across the state. A Regional Correctional Administrator, who reports directly to the Associate Commissioner for Juvenile Services, administers each region. JCCOs accept referrals from law enforcement officers and supervise and case manage juvenile clients in the community. Regional Correctional Managers provide case management consultation and direct supervision to JCCOs and assist in locating appropriate resources for juvenile clients residing in the region. Regional contracted services are funded by the Department to establish or supplement existing resources consistent with the assessed needs of juvenile clients. Outcome and performance measures are incorporated into all contracts to ensure program effectiveness. Support staff assists in the overall management of the regional offices and contracts for community-based services are administered by the Manager of Juvenile Evidence-Based Programs.

PROGRAM:

Law enforcement officers may refer any juvenile alleged to have committed a juvenile crime to JCC for possible diversion or juvenile court action. JCCOs determine whether a youth may be appropriately diverted from the formal juvenile court process and may offer an informal adjustment whereby the youth and their family agree to abide by mutually agreed upon conditions, e.g., participation in a restorative justice event. Using an evidence-based risk management and risk focused intervention approach, JCCO's supervise and case manage youth placed on court-ordered conditions of release, probation, or on community reintegration status upon release from Long Creek Youth Development Center. Law enforcement officers must also contact a JCCO when requesting detention of a juvenile arrested for a juvenile crime. The JCCO may authorize detention, conditional release, or unconditional release of the juvenile pending their court appearance. JCCOs also serve as the primary case managers for juveniles committed to or detained at Long Creek Youth Development Center.

PURPOSE:

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

The Long Creek Youth Development Center is Maine's sole secure juvenile correctional facility which serves both detained and committed youth. Staff at Long Creek Youth Development Center are responsible for providing crucial services to juvenile residents committed by Maine courts, applying the disciplines of education, casework, group work, psychology, psychiatry, medicine, nursing, vocational training, and religion as they relate to human relations and personality development. Boys and girls between the ages of twelve and twenty one may be committed to the Center for any indeterminate period of time. The Superintendent serves as the legal guardian to all committed residents up to age eighteen and may authorize the release of any resident to community reintegration status prior to the maximum period of commitment ordered by the juvenile court. Youth on aftercare status are allowed to reside independently or with any suitable person or persons. Long Creek Youth Development Center also serves detained juveniles pending their court appearances or until released subject to court restrictions.

ORGANIZATION:

Long Creek Youth Development Center in South Portland was established in 1853 as the State Reform School, administered by a Board of Trustees. It was renamed State School for Boys in 1903. The Board of Trustees was abolished in 1911, and its duties were assumed by the Trustees of Juvenile Institutions. In 1931, the State School for Boys was placed under the Department of Health and Welfare and in 1939, transferred to the Department of Institutional Services, which later (1959) became the Department of Mental Health and Corrections. In 1981, The Department of Corrections was established. In 1959, the School was renamed the Boys Training Center. In 1976, when the Stevens School for Girls closed and the girls were transferred to the Boys Training Center, the 107th Maine State Legislature, in special session, established the Maine Youth Center as the only coeducational institution for juvenile residents. On July 1, 2001, the Maine

Youth Center changed its name to Long Creek Youth Development Center.

PROGRAM

Long Creek Youth Development Center functions as the only correctional facility for juveniles in Maine. The purpose of the Long Creek is to provide for the detention and rehabilitation of juvenile residents. Long Creek Youth Development Center provides a variety of programs that address the risk factors associated directly with recidivism. Youth are provided with education, behavioral and substance use treatment, employment skills, as well as other services that teach skills and competencies, strengthen pro-social behaviors, and require accountability to victims and communities. A small staff secure facility on the Long Creek Youth Development Center campus may house moderate and low risk residents. The Department is also committed to creating a second staff secure facility for eligible male residents to serve as an alternative to secure confinement at Long Creek Youth Development Center. These alternative programs help the Department of Corrections reduce reliance on secure confinement and assist in reintegrating the youth back to the community.

Long Creek is accredited by the American Correctional Association; the A. R. Gould School at Long Creek Youth Development Center is accredited by the Maine Department of Education.

PURPOSE:

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

A dedicated team of professionals at Mountain View Correctional Facility provides treatment programs and models behavior to promote rehabilitation and reintegration back to families and communities. Mountain View Correctional Facility offers education, vocational and real-world work opportunities, along with graduated furloughs to promote successful re-entry, thereby promoting public safety.

ORGANIZATION:

The original Northern Maine Juvenile Detention Facility opened in 1998 and was constructed with 40 beds for detained juvenile residents on the grounds of the Charleston Correctional Facility. This facility alleviated the northern and central county jails of holding juvenile residents in adult county jails and/or transporting them to Southern Maine.

In February 2002, in order to meet the demands of the rising rates of juvenile incarceration, the Maine Department of Corrections Juvenile Services expanded its services by building and reorganizing two new facilities: the Mountain View Youth Development Center in Charleston and the Long Creek Youth Development Center built in So. Portland. Mountain View Correctional Facility's capacity expanded to provide services for long-term commitments alongside the detention beds. Committed juveniles were afforded the opportunity to continue their education through a unique alternative school that provided special education services, and vocational programs in culinary, carpentry, and small engine repairs. Professional staff offered therapeutic treatment, psychological and cognitive behavior therapies, and religious, recreational, substance use disorder treatment, and 24-hour medical services.

In April 2014, while still serving a reduced juvenile population in one unit of the facility, services were expanded to open a new program for committed young adult male residents ages18-25 that could greatly benefit from the continued educational, therapeutic and substance use services that facility staff were already providing to juveniles. In 2015, the remaining committed juvenile residents at Mountain View Correctional Facility were transferred to Long Creek Youth Development Center and Mountain View Correctional Facility reopened adult treatment units specializing in problematic sexual behavior treatment, residential substance use disorder treatment, young adult resident programming, and an Assisted Living Unit.

Mountain View Youth Development Center and Charleston Correctional Facility were combined into one facility in 2017 and renamed to Mountain View Correctional Facility. The former Charleston Correctional Facility is now the Minimum Custody Unit and the former Mountain View Youth Development Center is now the Medium Custody Unit. Mountain View Correctional Facility now provides a total of 510 adult beds.

PROGRAM:

The staff at Mountain View Correctional Facility are dedicated to helping each resident develop the skills and judgment that will allow them to be successful and make a positive contribution to society. Programs and services offered promote each resident's growth toward mature thinking, decision making, realistic understandings of themselves and others, and the knowledge and competence to deal well with problems and challenges encountered in daily life.

A comprehensive treatment program is provided in a structured, safe, and supportive environment. Objectives of the treatment program include: assisting residents to accept responsibility for behavior; helping residents develop pro-social skills; increasing resident's self-awareness; understanding the consequences of poor decisions; enhancing ability to empathize with victims; enabling residents to employ more adaptive thinking patterns; and utilizing effective problem solving strategies. The overall program goal is to focus on a treatment and educational foundation that will support future life goals as well as increase the likelihood that these skills will be used in personal life, both within and outside the facility. Residents are also offered Adult Basic Education, High School equivalency, and college educational opportunities.

Program offerings include substance use disorder treatment, problematic sexual behavior treatment, assisted living for those with physical and medical needs, and a young adult offender program providing treatment specific to youthful offenders. A Medication Assisted Treatment program was added to the substance use disorder treatment spectrum in 2020, this treatment component allows treatment in the facility to mirror best practices in the community.

Additional programs include: Thinking for a Change and Reasoning and Resiliency for improving social development; domestic violence programming; Inside Out Dads for incarcerated fathers; and education. A robust vocational programming menu includes WorkReady, wood harvesting, culinary arts, computer literacy, building trades, and small engine repair. Several national certification programs have been added in the areas of food service and the National Center for Construction Education and Research (NCCER). The vocational programs work cooperatively with the Maine Department of Labor to offer formal apprenticeship programs in the areas of food service, construction trades, sawmill, wood harvesting, and material handling.

PURPOSE:

The State Parole Board was established to evaluate and adjudicate applications for parole as well as to provide oversight and management of clients already admitted to parole. The two primary responsibilities of the Board are to determine the eligibility for access to parole or to sanction clients when warranted due to rule violations. The Board also determines the time of discharge of clients from parole supervision, formulates policies, adopts regulations, and establishes procedures.

ORGANIZATION:

The State Parole Board, created in 1931 under the name of Parole Board, originally consisted of three members: The Commissioner of Health and Welfare and any two members of the Executive Council designated by the Governor. From 1931 to 1939, the Board was under the Department of Health and Welfare, and from 1939 to 1957 under the Department of Institutional Service. In 1957, the Parole Board's duties were assumed by the State Probation and Parole Board. In 1967, a Division of Probation and Parole was created within the Bureau of Corrections to administer probation and parole services in conjunction with the Board's parole duties. The Board was re-designated State Parole Board in 1971, to consist of five members appointed by the Governor, for terms of four years. In 1976, the State of Maine abolished parole though the Board continues to serve in a limited capacity providing services to clients placed on parole prior to its 1976 abolition.

PROGRAM:

The State Parole Board hears cases within one of the Department's facilities for those residents who were sentenced prior to May 1976 (the abolition date for parole in Maine) to determine if or when residents should be released on parole. If they have been accused of violating the terms of their parole, the Board sits as an adjudicatory body to determine if a violation has occurred. If they find that violations have in fact occurred, they impose sanctions as they see fit.

PURPOSE:

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

The Maine State Prison (MSP) was established to confine convicted residents and to provide correctional treatment and rehabilitation programs designed to prepare such residents for eventual release. The institution is responsible for the custody, control, employment and government, as provided by law, of adult male residents lawfully committed to MSP.

ORGANIZATION:

The State Prison at Thomaston was opened officially in July of 1824, to serve as a penitentiary where convicts were sentenced to hard labor for life or for any term one year or longer. The Prison has always been a maximum-security facility for adult felons. Women were sentenced to the institution until 1935 when they were transferred to the Women's Correctional Center in Skowhegan. The Prison was plagued by fires in 1837, 1841, 1851, 1873 and 1923. Renovations and additions took place throughout the years and in 1992 high risk residents were transferred from Thomaston to a new maximum-security facility in Warren known as Maine Correctional Institution (MCI). It was built to house male residents who posed the highest risk to the public, safety of staff, other residents, and the security and orderly management of the Department's facilities. An increasing population and an antiquated prison resulted in the construction of a new facility in Warren, adjoined to MCI. On February 13, 2002, residents were transferred to the new Maine State Prison and the former Thomaston facility was demolished in June 2002. Only a section of the wall remains at the site beside the prison cemetery.

The new facility was built to house 916 residents and now has a capacity of approximately 1050. MSP also houses a 7-bed infirmary for the adult population.

MSP is organized under the philosophy of unit management and direct supervision. It was designed to separate residents into three separate housing units, including a Special Management Unit. The units operate semi-autonomously under the authority and guidance of the Warden. Staff are trained in the concepts of unit management which improves control and relationships by dividing a large population into smaller, more manageable groups.

PROGRAM:

A 32-bed Intensive Mental Health Unit operates in the 600 Building of MSP. Mental Health Services assure assessments and treatment planning for all residents with mental illnesses and/or behavioral disorders. Treatment may include medication management, supportive counseling, cognitive-behavioral psychotherapy, group therapy, and discharge planning. Mental Health Workers collaborate with security staff and medical personnel, as well as community agencies to provide consistency and continuity of patient-resident care and treatment. Opioid Use Disorder services are provided by licensed alcohol and drug counselors. Case management services are provided to all residents. Staff develop an Individual Case Plan and monitor participation and compliance. They also act as advocates and serve on their respective multi-disciplinary Unit Management Teams. For residents nearing release, the Case Managers focus on community resources and re-entry programs. They frequently play a role in defusing potentially disruptive situations and provide a more stable environment.

Educational programs at the prison include Adult Basic Education, High School equivalency, and college education. Vocational programs include Building Trades, Agriculture, and Automotive certifications. Other programs and activities, such as typing, computer science, music, literature, writing, art, horticulture, composting, recycling, Long Distance Dad's, Thinking for a Change, self-reflective challenge programs, and languages provide additional choices. Religious services are provided by ordained clergy who support a varied faith group base along with a facility Chaplain. In addition, recreational programs available to all residents include basketball, softball, soccer, pool, yoga, and physical fitness.

Industrial programs offer a variety of paying jobs which include wood working, upholstery, plate shop, machine shop and a prison showroom. These programs are designed to establish meaningful work programs for residents and to help reduce the financial burden of correctional programming to the general public.

A partnership was developed in late 2019 with Habitat for Humanity and in 2020 wall partitions and roof rafters were built for six homes. These prebuilt units were delivered to a building site in Rockland where local volunteers assembled them. In addition to the house structures, six 8×10 sheds and a portable 16×10 office were built at MSP for Habitat for Humanity. In 2021 additional homes kits were completed.

The Doris Buffet Higher Education Center was opened in 2021 and over 50 residents participated in undergraduate college level programming and four were involved in masters level programing. The Earned Living Unit was opened in 2022.

PURPOSE

It is the mission of the Maine Department of Corrections to make safer communities by reducing harm through supportive intervention, empowering change, and restoring lives. This is supported by providing opportunities for correctional rehabilitation in a setting that assures the safety of the public, the staff, and the incarcerated population and through the utilization of objective risk and needs assessment, professional practices, and evidence-based programming in a supportive and restorative community environment.

The Division of Adult Community Corrections (though more commonly referred to as Probation and Parole) was established to provide community-based supervision and related services to clients sentenced to probation or parole. The Division's primary role is to motivate a change in the client's behavior in order to lessen the likelihood of the clients to re-offend. The enhancement of public safety is achieved through the reduction of victimization. Over the years the role of the probation officer has changed dramatically. Thus, while monitoring and supervision are still important activities performed by probation officers, they are also actively involved in promoting individual pathways to recovery, risk and needs assessments, interventions, case management, treatment and program referrals, etc. Traditional duties such as pardons and commutation investigations for the Governor's Office, pre-sentence investigations for the Courts, post-sentence, pre-parole, furloughs, and other investigations for the State's correctional institutions remain part of their assignment.

In addition, activities such as sex offender registration, restitution/fine collection, DNA and substance abuse testing, data collection, community notification, and supervision of adult clients under the interstate compact duties have been assumed by probation officers as new laws and court cases impact their duties and responsibilities. The demands on probation officers continue to escalate and therefore the need for ongoing training has never been greater in the history of this division.

ORGANIZATION:

When the Division of Probation and Parole was created in 1967 it included adult and juvenile clients. In 1976 parole was abolished in the State of Maine and the only available post-release supervision was probation ordered by the Courts. However, the State of Maine still maintains a parole supervision function for clients sentenced to parole before 1976, and more importantly, for all clients on parole who come to Maine through the Interstate Compact for Adult Offender Supervision. In 1986, an Intensive Supervision statute was passed and, in 1991, the Supervised Community Confinement Program was created through a legislative initiative. Both these programs were directed at providing responsible alternatives to incarceration.

In 1996, the Division was reorganized, and all adult services were consolidated into the newly formed Division of Adult Community Corrections headed by a newly authorized Associate Commissioner. At the same time, juvenile services were similarly reorganized. Adult Community Corrections consisted of 4 regional offices, 20 suboffices and numerous reporting sites. Each regional office was administered by a Regional Correctional Administrator (RCA), and an Assistant The Assistant RCA positions were reclassified to Regional Correctional Managers in 2010. In early 2011, the Division implemented a coaching, mentoring and supervision model that provided more direct field supervision for the Probation Officers. Regional Managers provide direct and immediate feedback on performance, decision-making, and case management. This is critical to the full implementation of evidence-based practices in the Department. maximize resources and improve continuity of practice, the Division was reduced to three (3) regions. The majority of Probation Officers are assigned to a general caseload made up of clients who have committed a wide variety of felony level offenses. The Department currently has specialty caseloads for those clients on supervision for a domestic violence or a problematic sexual behavior offense as well as for female clients. In 2012, Probation Officer Assistant positions were created to reduce the administrative tasks that Probation Officers were responsible for, leaving them more time to work directly with their clients on risk reduction. Each region has Probation Officer Assistants who are responsible for court intake, drug testing, and supervision of administrative and low risk clients. In 2015, the role of Director of Adult Community Corrections was established to enhance the direction of Adult Community Corrections, directing and implementing policies and initiatives and to support the goals and objectives of the Department. In order to enhance the work of the division, a newly created position of Manager of Evidence Based Practices has been developed.

PROGRAM:

The Division of Adult Community Services is dedicated to balancing the needs of public safety, victim and community restoration, client accountability, and using effective approaches to reduce re-offending and enhance effective reintegration into communities. Under community supervision, clients receive services that include: increased personal contact with Probation Officers and dialogue that encourages and supports behavior change; monitoring of special court ordered conditions of probation through surveillance; referrals to services that are based on the assessed risk of re-offending; and treatment intervention that target specific identified needs and promote recovery.

PURPOSE:

The Office of Victim Services (34-A MRSA, section 1214) is established within the Department to advocate for compliance by the Department, any correctional facility, any detention facility, Community Corrections, or any contract agency with all laws, administrative rules and institutional and other policies relating to the rights and dignity of victims.

ORGANIZATION

The Office of Victim Services provides services to crime victims, in which residents are in the custody of, or clients under supervision of, the Department of Corrections.

PROGRAM:

The Office of Victim Services helps with victim impact statements and promotes the inclusion of victim impact statements into decisions regarding resident releases. The Office of Victim Services offers safety planning meetings to victims of sexual assault, domestic violence, and other high-risk offenses prior to the resident's release from incarceration.

The Office of Victim Services treats all requests for action by the Office confidentially and may be disclosed only to a state agency if necessary to carry out the statutory functions of that agency or to a criminal justice agency if necessary to carry out the administration of criminal justice. In no case may a victim's request for notice of release be disclosed outside the Oepartment and the Office of the Attorney General for the state with which the request was filed.

The Office of Victim Services certifies and monitors Batterer Intervention Programs throughout the State, provides training and technical assistance as requested throughout the State, and provides victims with referrals to appropriate community-based victim service providers.

The Office of Victim Services administers the Elder Victims Restitution Fund. The Fund is established for the purpose of compensating elder victims of financial crimes who are entitled to receive restitution from clients as a result of the sentences for the crimes in cases in which those clients are not meeting their restitution obligations.

BUREAU OF MAINE VETERANS' SERVICES

PURPOSE:

The Department of Defense, Veterans and Emergency Management is responsible for all military, veterans, and emergency management related operations within the State of Maine. The Department's Soldiers and Airmen are also readily available to respond to the Governor during emergencies or disasters in Maine. The Bureau of Maine Veterans' Services provides numerous support services to Maine's 106,000 veterans and manages Maine's Veterans' Memorial Cemeteries. The Maine Emergency Management Agency is charged with all disaster mitigation, preparedness, response, recovery, and Homeland Security operations within the State of Maine.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department of Defense, Veterans and Emergency Management was created by the Legislature in 1972 under the original name of Department of Military, Civil Defense and Veterans Services. In this legislation, the administrative offices of the Adjutant General became the Military Bureau; the former Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency became the Bureau of Civil Defense; and the former Department of Veterans Services became the Bureau of Veterans Services; with the Adjutant General designated as both Commissioner of the new department and Director of the Military Bureau.

Effective in June 1974, the 106th Legislature revised the law to direct the appointment of the Deputy Adjutant General as Director of the Military Bureau, thus freeing the Adjutant General to function solely as Commissioner of the Department. This revision also renamed the Bureau of Civil Defense as the Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness. Subsequently the Department was redesignated as the Department of Defense and Veterans Services.

During the 113th Legislature, the Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness was renamed the Maine Emergency Management Agency (MEMA). At the direction of the 115th Legislature, the Bureau of Veterans Services was changed to the Division of Veterans Services. In 1995, the 117th Legislature added the requirement that the Adjutant General/Commissioner's appointment be subject to legislative confirmation. In 1997, the 118th Legislature redesignated the Department as the Department of Defense, Veterans and Emergency Management, re-designated the Division of Veterans' Services as the Bureau of Maine Veterans Services and designated its leader as the Bureau Director. In October 2001, the Department was assigned responsibility for coordinating the homeland security activities of the State, to include interface in such matters with federal, county, and local government. The Commissioner was assigned the additional duty of directing these activities. In 2007, the position of Maine Emergency Management Agency Director was changed to become a gubernatorial appointment, recommended by the Commissioner, and subject to confirmation by the State Senate. The Adjutant General was also designated as the Governor's Homeland Security Advisor (HSA) at this time.

PROGRAM:

The programs of the Department of Defense, Veterans and Emergency Management are outlined in the reports of its operating units.

PUBLICATIONS:

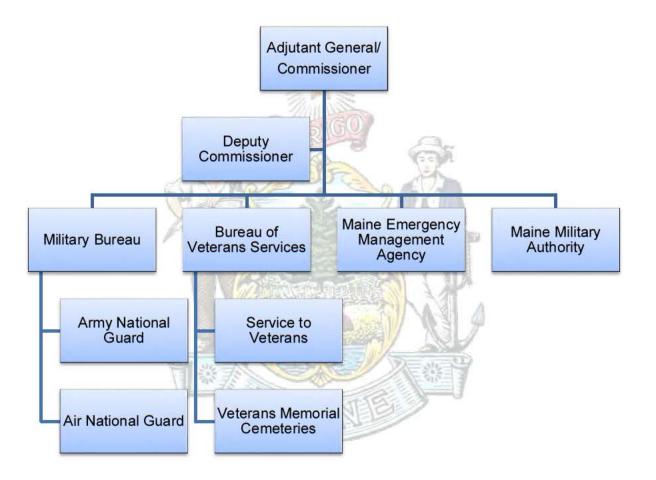

The Adjutant General's Report is a biennial publication highlighting events and accomplishments of the Department during the previous two years.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) Mission Statement, which was updated in November 2018, states, "Through leadership, coordinate the protection of life, property, environment, and economy across all hazards by managing preparedness, mitigation, response and recovery efforts within the State." The MEMA Vision is "A Ready and Resilient Maine."

MEMA supports its mission and works to achieve its vision by coordinating the mitigation, preparedness, response, and recovery from disasters or catastrophes such as forest fire, floods, earthquakes, severe winter and summer storms, nuclear power accidents, hurricanes, and more. It also provides guidance and assistance to county and local governments in their efforts to provide protection to citizens and property.

MEMA's proactive public outreach efforts educate citizens on potential hazards and preparedness steps they can take to help become resilient individuals as well as keeps them informed of impending threats and safety and resource information during disasters.

MEMA's Homeland Security programs are integrated into its all-hazard mission. MEMA is the coordinating agency within state government for homeland security operational preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation. Cybersecurity continues to be a focus for MEMA, working with the Office of Information Technology (OIT) within the Department of Administrative and Financial Services, the Maine State Police, Maine National Guard, and other partners to develop plans and procedures for managing cyber related incidents.

In accordance with Maine Revised Statute, Title 37-B, Chapter 13, Sub-chapter 1, MEMA has developed the Comprehensive Emergency Management Plan (CEMP) to provide a framework for state-level emergency management activities and to define how state government interfaces with other emergency management stakeholders, including local, county, and tribal governments, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), other states, the federal government, and the private sector.

ORGANIZATION

MEMA was originally established under the Maine Civil Defense and Public Safety Act of 1949, which authorizes the Governor to establish, within the Executive Department, a Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency. A 1972 amendment, re-titled the Maine Civil Defense Act, caused the agency to be re-designated as the Bureau of Civil Defense within the Department of Military. In 1974, the Department of Military was re-designated as the Department of Defense and Veterans Services and the bureau name changed to the Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness. Public Law 1987, chapter 370, signed by the Governor on June 19, 1987, re-designated the Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness as the Maine Emergency Management Agency, effective September 29, 1987.

The Emergency Management Assistance Compact was enacted in 1998 and provides for, and facilitates the use of, mutual aid between states to cope with a disaster regardless of cause. The International Emergency Assistance Compact was enacted in 1999, to provide mutual aid among northeast states and eastern Canadian provinces. The Governor, through Executive Order, created the State Emergency Response Commission in April of 1987 to coordinate state government's role in carrying out Maine's planning and preparedness responsibilities for hazardous materials in compliance with Title III of the Federal Superfund Amendments and Reauthorization Act of 1986, Emergency Planning and Community Right-To-Know. MEMA carries out the planning and preparedness activities for the Commission.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE, VETERANS AND EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

MEMA also coordinates the State Homeland Security Advisory Council (HSAC) under the chairmanship of The Adjutant General, who is also the Governor's Homeland Security Advisor (HSA). The HSAC brings together law enforcement, public health, and other safety and security officials from state departments, as well as federal offices operating in Maine, to share information and brief on emerging Homeland Security issues.

MEMA coordinates state government operations with county and local governments for emergencies resulting from natural disaster, technological hazards or national security incidents. During an emergency, MEMA's effectiveness is dependent upon representatives from numerous state agencies staffing the State Emergency Operations Center. In addition, MEMA relies upon the county and local organizations throughout the state which are comprised of paid and volunteer personnel.

PROGRAM:

The federal government has been granting money to the states for civil emergency preparedness (emergency management) for more than 40 years. The Emergency Management Performance Grant (EMPG) has been the primary source of funding for EMA programs at the state, county and local levels since 1998. MEMA receives funding from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) for administration and administrative services. In addition, MEMA distributes EMPG funds to 16 counties to support their emergency management programs. In addition to EMPG funding, MEMA also distributes State Homeland Security Grants and Operation Stonegarden grants for border protection. MEMA activities are additionally supported by the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) Hazardous Materials Emergency Planning Grant and FEMA Dam Safety grant.

MEMA administers the Maine Dam Safety Program, which facilitates Emergency Action Planning with owners of all high and significant hazard dams in Maine, inspects state-regulated dams for both hazard and condition, and recommends action on inspection findings. The Program is funded by the state and FEMA grants. The principal grant is the National Dam Safety Program (NDSP) grant administered by

PURPOSE:

The Military Bureau provides the Army and Air National Guard with units organized, equipped, and trained to function efficiently at authorized federal strength. Units muster on order of the Governor to perform disaster relief, control of civil disturbance, or provide other support to civil authority as required. In the event of war or other national emergency, designated National Guard personnel will report for federal service on call of the President of the United States. Should the National Guard be federalized and moved out of State, other forces may be organized under 37-B MRSA, Chapter 3, to be known as the Maine State Guard.

The Military Bureau was created in July 1972, under state government reorganization legislation. It previously had been the Office of the Adjutant General, established in 1921 by the Maine Constitution. In the reorganization, the Governor, as Commander in Chief of the Maine militia, appointed the Adjutant General as administrative head of the Department of Military, Civil Defense and Veterans Services and as Director of the Military Bureau. The law has been revised several times to more appropriately reflect and meet the needs and actual functions of the Department. The most recent revisions have eliminated the requirement that the Director of the Military Bureau be the Deputy Adjutant General and changed Civil Defense to the Maine Emergency Management Agency (MEMA).

ORGANIZATION:

The Military Bureau's two components, the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard, both report to the Adjutant General and are collectively referred to as Maine National Guard. The Maine National Guard, as a professional military institution, performs a dual role. One role supports the State and the other supports the Nation. In support of the State, the Maine National Guard provides the people of Maine with a highly skilled and disciplined military force. These Soldiers and Airmen, when called upon by the Governor, assist other state agencies, as well as the private sector during times of floods, hurricanes, forest fires, snow emergencies, and other civic needs. In its other role, the Maine National Guard acts as a supplement to the active military. In this capacity, units of the Maine National Guard can be called to Active Duty by the President of the United States in support of national security.

PROGRAM:

The Maine Army National Guard has authorized strength of 1,918 Soldiers who serve across the State. In addition to their federal combat-focused capabilities, units of the Maine Army National Guard (MEARNG) provide support to local and state authorities. Domestic support capabilities include security forces, horizontal and vertical construction, debris removal, air and ground search and rescue, distribution and transportation, urgent medical care, hazardous material identification, and weapons of mass destruction response.

The MEARNG supported several missions this year. The 120th Regional Support Group returned from Poland where over 80 members supported Operation Atlantic Resolve. The 488th MP Company had 125 Soldiers returned from supporting the Southwest Border mission for a year. Several Aviation units have deployed to CENTCOM, AFRICOM, and NORTHCOM in support of both rotary and fixed wing missions. The 11 Weapons of Mass Destruction Civil Support Team (WMD-CST) continued support to local first responders at several high-profile events and was called out numerous times to respond to real world missions where suspected chemical agents were found. Our Cyber Team worked with our State Partnership Country of Montenegro following a cyber-attack and also deployed for a year in August 2023 in support of a Homeland Security mission. The Directorate of Facilities Engineering (DFE) is responsible for operating, constructing, maintaining, and repairing over 150 buildings totaling over 1.5 million square feet. DFE executed $13.4M of federal funds matched by only $1.85M of state funds.

The Maine Air National Guard (MeANG) has authorized strength of 1,127 Airmen; has 19 units composed of a Wing, Groups, Squadrons, and Flights ready to serve in federal missions in areas of Air Refueling, Combat Communications, and Engineering Installations. The 101st Air Refueling Wing provides world-wide air refueling for all major combatant commands for the United States Air Force, United States Navy, United States Marine, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, and all North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) countries. The 243rd Engineering Installation Squadron and 265th Combat Communications Squadron are co-located units in Southern Maine that are rapidly deployable anywhere in the world, in any conditions for engineering and expeditionary communications. In fiscal year 2022-23, the MeANG deployed 241 personnel to all points around the globe, maintained alert aircraft and crews 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and processed 6.7 million gallons of jet fuel between in-flight and ground refueling missions both in the continental United States and overseas. The MeANG is ready to support sister services and state, federal, and regional partners to protect lives and property of the citizens of Maine and to preserve peace, order, and public safety under the orders of the Governor of Maine.

PUBLICATIONS:

The Maine National Guard (MENG) Public Affairs Officer (PAO) distributes press releases on Army and Joint activity through ReadMedia Newswire (readmedia.com) to local print and broadcast outlets. The Defense Visual Information Distribution System (DVIDShub.net) is also used for material that may garner a wider national audience. The MENG PAO maintains official MENG Facebook, X (formerly Twitter), and Instagram accounts, as well as monitors downtrace unit social media activity. The MeANG's 101st Air Refueling Wing Public Affairs Office also maintains Facebook and X accounts, distributes public affairs content through DVIDS, as well as produces a podcast that is made available through iHeartRadio, Spotify, and iTunes. Army and Air family programs both create newsletters for their members, as do most individual units. Additionally, the PAO and/or a senior leader or program manager appears monthly on a statewide talk radio program to discuss current events within the Maine National Guard.

BUREAU OF MAINE VETERANS' SERVICES DAVID RICHMOND, DIRECTOR MG DOUGLAS A. FARNHAM, COMMISSIONER/ADJ GENERAL

Central Office: CAMP KEYES, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 117 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0117 FAX: (207) 626-4471 Established: 1947 Telephone: (207) 287-7020 Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 15 Unit: 215 Citation: T0037B M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000000501 Average Counts-All Positions: 48.000 Legislative Count: 48.00

PURPOSE:

The Maine Bureau of Veterans' Services provides support to Maine's estimated 106,000 veterans and their dependents to connect them to state, federal, and U.S. Department of Veterans' Affairs resources. These veterans' benefits include, but are not limited to advocacy, veteran and constituent briefings, housing, medical and hospital care, educational aid and compensation, vocational rehabilitation, employment, nursing homes, and burials. The Bureau's 7 field offices are staffed by a team consisting of a Veterans Services Officer (VSO) and an assistant. The offices are located throughout the State and provide support to veterans statewide; 3 of which are co-located with the U.S. Department of Veterans' Affairs at the Togus Regional Office, the Vet Center in Lewiston, and the Bangor Community Based Outpatient Clinic. VSOs cover districts and travel to 19 itinerant office sites at least 4 times a month to reach as many of Maine's veterans as possible with 2 Mobile/Traveling VSOs.

The Central Office, located at Camp Keyes in Augusta consists of the Office of the Director and staff, Central Claims Office, and the State Approving Agency. These sections administer claims support, quality control, appeals advocacy program, educational benefits, provide disabled hunting and fishing licenses, maintain records of military service, issue park and museum passes, process applications for Gold Star license plates, coordinate services for homeless veterans, oversee the Maine Veterans' Dental Network, and organize outreach events and strategic partnerships. Under the Bureau of Maine Veterans' Services is the Maine Veterans' Memorial Cemetery System which provides for the burial and perpetual care of eligible veterans and their dependents.

The Bureau administers the Honoring a Veteran from a Grateful State Program which recognizes the service and sacrifice of Maine's veterans. The Director sits on the Board of Trustees for the Maine Veterans' Homes, the Executive Council of the Governing Body for the VA (Veterans Administration) Maine Healthcare System, the Statewide Homeless Council, the State Workforce Board Veterans Employment Committee, and serves as the primary public advocate for Maine veterans and their families.

ORGANIZATION:

After the Civil War, services to veterans were provided through specific acts or laws. The earliest coordinated services were represented by the Soldier Board of 1919. The Bureau of Veterans' Services was created by Council Order in 1945, as the Division of Veterans' Affairs. The agency received authorization in 1947 and was established with a state office and 7 local offices. In 1950, a claims office was established at the VA Center at Togus. The Division was renamed the Department of Veterans Services in 1963. In the spring of 1970, the Maine Veterans' Memorial Cemetery became operational. Under reorganization legislation of 1972, the agency was placed within the new Department of Military, Civil Defense and Veterans' Services which, in 1974, was re-designated the Department of Defense and Veterans' Services.

PROGRAM:

CLAIMS SERVICE. The 7 regional offices during FY23 filed 1,937 claims with the U.S. Department of Veterans' Affairs. The Claims Office at Togus, acting as the advocate for veterans, filed 1,945 new Powers of Attorney on the behalf of veterans and/or their dependents. Actions taken by the Bureau have resulted in 1,158 new awards or recoveries totaling $34,999,458.60 by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. The Bureau also maintains the discharge records of Maine veterans who were discharged from service in the Armed Forces of the United States and makes those records available to veterans and their families free of charge.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE, VETERANS AND EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT

VETERANS DEPENDENTS EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS. Dependents of permanent and totally disabled veterans may be eligible for free tuition at a state supported institution. During FY23 there were 336 students enrolled in the program, valued at $1,999,513, across 15 University of Maine System schools. The top 3 schools by amount of tuition waived were the University of Southern Maine, the University of Maine, and the University of Maine Augusta.

MAINE VETERANS' MEMORIAL CEMETERY SYSTEM. The Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery System serves veterans throughout Maine with 2 cemeteries in Augusta, one in Caribou, and one in Springvale. During FY23 1,071 burials were conducted and a total of 31,971 persons have been buried in the cemetery system since its inception in 1970. In FY23, 316 reservations for burial were made. At the end of the year there were 2,915 reservations for future burial on file.

STATE APPROVING AGENCY. The Maine State Approving Agency (MESAA) approves educational courses and programs at over 300 educational institutions, training facilities, and branch campuses in Maine so that individuals can use their GI Bill educational benefits. MESAA works to ensure that every veteran and eligible person who enters a MESAA approved educational facility receives quality instruction, appropriate administration, and fair and equitable practice. While previously housed at the University of Maine System, the MESAA was relocated to the Bureau of Maine Veteran's Services in July of 2021 due to legislative changes. In FY23 the MESAA approved 2,421 higher education programs, 29 non-college degrees, 15 apprenticeships, and 12 flight training programs for a total of 2.477.

VETERANS HOMELESSNESS PREVENTION COORDINATION. The Veterans Homelessness Prevention Coordination program provides services to homeless veterans as well as those at-risk. OFFICE OF TOURISM

OFFICE OF INNOVATION OFFICE OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

PURPOSE:

The Department of Economic and Community Development is responsible for administering Maine's programs related to business growth, community development, broadband expansion, tourism, and film promotion. These programs fall within five divisions: The Office of the Commissioner, the Office of Business Development and Innovation, the Office of Tourism and Film, the Office of Community Development and the ConnectMaine Authority. In most cases, the Department's programs require a significant amount of interaction with other organizations in the public and private sectors.

The Office of the Commissioner is responsible for policy development, including legislative activities and participation on numerous boards, commissions, and task forces; financial management, including purchasing, contracting and human resources; facilities management; and the development and implementation of the State Economic Development Strategic Plan and several grant programs.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department traces its roots back to the Maine Development Commission which was established in 1933. A reorganization in 1955 created the Department of Development of Industry and Commerce, and further reorganization in 1957 established the agency as the Department of Economic Development. In 1971, another reorganization reconstituted the Department as the Department of Commerce and Industry, and shortly thereafter, in 1975, the Department was abolished and many of its functions transferred to other agencies. As part of this process, the State Development Office was established within the Executive Department and assumed responsibility for Maine's general business development functions. On October 1, 1987, the State Development Office was abolished and replaced by the newly established Department of Economic and Community Development, which also assumed the development-related activities of the State Planning Office and the Department of Conservation. In 1995, the Department transferred its Natural Areas, Growth Management, Coastal Zone Management and Code Enforcement programs to the State Planning Office and the Department of Conservation.

In 1996, the Department was reorganized for efficiency by consolidating the Energy Conservation Division within the Office of Business Development. This reorganization also shifted the Department's primary accounting, personnel and information services functions to the Department of Administrative and Financial Services under a "clustering" arrangement, and established the Maine International Trade Center, which assumed the Department's international commerce functions. In 1999, the Legislature established the Maine Technology Institute with the purpose of coordinating grants to businesses to commercialize new products and processes. The Directors of the Maine Technology Institute and the Maine International Trade Center are employees of the Department of Economic and Community Development. In 2004, the Energy Resource and Conservation programs were transferred to the Public Utilities Commission as a part of their energy office. The Department underwent a reorganization in 2003 when the Office of Innovation was established to support research and development throughout the State. In 2006, the Legislature created the Office of Small Business and Entrepreneurship in realigning the small business programs in the Office of Business Development, but this office was left vacant by budget cuts in 2008. In 2012, after the State Planning Office was abolished, The Department acquired the Code Enforcement Training and Certification Program and oversight of the State-owned landfill properties. In 2019, the Code Enforcement Training and Certification Program was transferred to the Department of Public Safety and in 2021, oversight of the state-owned landfill properties was transferred to the Bureau of General Services in the Department of Administrative and Financial Services.

PURPOSE:

The Office of Community Development (OCD) provides financial assistance to municipalities for community revitalization, enhancing economic growth, and infrastructure improvements. The OCD accomplishes this by providing technical assistance and grant funds (through a method of distribution approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development) to municipalities to assist with community and economic development initiatives; develop, repair and establish public facilities, services, and infrastructure; and create and/or rehabilitate affordable housing units.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department of Economic and Community Development assumed responsibility for administration of the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program in October 1987, when it was transferred from the State Planning Office. The program is funded by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and state General Funds and administered by a professional staff of eight full-time employees.

The OCD also supports the Maine Made Program, the Brownfields Revolving Loan Fund and the Municipal Tax Increment Financing Program.

PROGRAM

The CDBG program distributes funds to municipalities in two general areas: community development and economic development. The primary focus is to benefit low and moderate-income persons, but it may also be used to address slums and/or blighting conditions, or for the purpose of addressing conditions having an urgency because of serious health/safety conditions affecting the community. CDBG funded programs include but are not limited to: Public Infrastructure, Housing Assistance, Micro Enterprise Program, Public Service, Downtown Revitalization, Public Infrastructure, Community Enterprise and Economic Development. The OCD also offers technical assistance to communities that want to access the program and to provide information on other available funding resources. The state program is not available to the communities of Auburn, Bangor, Biddeford, Lewiston, Portland, and all of Cumberland County except Brunswick and Frye Island. These are entitlement communities, which receive an annual allocation directly from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

CDBG program materials may be obtained from the OCD or from its web site at https://www.maine.gov/decd/community-development.

PURPOSE:

The Office of School and Student Supports (03S) strives to ensure that Maine schools are inclusive, healthy, safe, and supportive communities where every student thrives. 03S endeavors to coordinate resources and programs that promote equitable, psycho-socially, physically, and environmentally healthy school communities for all.

ORGANIZATION:

Each 03S team provides information and guidance to parents, administrators, educators, legislators, and other stakeholders within their focus areas:

The Climate, Culture, Resilience Team provides trauma-informed resources in support of developing safe and inclusive educational communities. Membership includes Mental Health Specialist, Family Engagement/Cultural Responsiveness Specialist, McKinney-Vento Specialist, Highly Mobile/Migrant Student Specialist, and Social-Emotional Learning Specialist.

The Coordinated School Health Team provides professional development, resources, and guidance to school health professionals (or school personnel) resulting in healthy and safe learning environments, physically literate and health literate students, and access to health care resources and services. Membership includes State Nurse Consultant, School Health Promotion/Health Education Specialist, and Physical Education Specialist

Physical Education Specialist.
The School Approval and Enrollment Team provides accurate, timely, and sensitive policy and infrastructure analysis, recommendations, and execution regarding Maine Pre K-12 schools, school approval, home instruction, alternative methods of education, and student attendance, eligibility, and enrollment.

A Management Analyst and administrative staff also support the work of this Office.

PROGRAM

Specialists work directly with schools to provide both technical assistance and professional learning. O3S continues to support the field as we emerge from the pandemic - hosting monthly office hours for school nurses and updating both synchronous and asynchronous trauma-informed trainings to support educators, families, and students. In September 2020, the Maine Department of Education purchased SEL4ME from Navigate 360/Evolution Labs, which serves as a free resource to all Maine educators and parents. These modules support growth in self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, responsible decision-making, and relationship skills; the scope and sequence for each grade level K-12 allow for seamless accessibility. In November 2021, the Office of School and Student Supports released similar modules devoted entirely to adults - SOS/Support our Staff. These sixty-four modules, although aligned with the five competencies aforementioned, focus on themes of adult emotional intelligence, safety, diversity, and instructional resources. The combination of these free resources, along with the expertise of O3S' personnel, provide high quality support to the field. O3S provides support and attention to home instruction as well as McKinney-Vento. McKinney-Vento is an annual formula grant the Department receives to provide additional supports for the education of homeless children and youth.

LICENSES:

03S collaborates with other state agencies to ensure appropriateness of nurse, school counseling, and mental health specialists' licensing.

PUBLICATIONS:

O3S provides several guidance documents to support the health and wellness of our students and educational stakeholders, including but not limited to Standards of Operating Procedure through the pandemic and medication guidelines. O3S maintains a website that provides resources to staff, parents, and students when applicable. List servs are also maintained to provide immediate information from the following specialists: Nurse Consultant, Mental Health Specialist, McKinney-Vento Specialist, and School Health Promotion Specialist.

PURPOSE:

The School Finance and Operations team provides policy oversight, implementation and support for General Purpose Aid to Local Schools, school data collection, management and reporting, and state and federal Child Nutrition programs.

ORGANIZATION:

The School Finance and Operations team is comprised of three sub-teams: the School Finance, Fiscal Compliance and Governance sub-team, the Data sub-team and the Child Nutrition sub-team. The eight-member School Finance, Fiscal Compliance and Governance sub-team administers the Essential Programs and Services Funding Act, controls distribution of General-Purpose Aid to Local Schools, collects statutorily required financial data, calculates the annual tuition rates, and oversees school unit governance. Twelve team members of the Data sub-team provide data management support including the collection, validation, report production, and dissemination of school statistical data in support of departmental programs, for legislative information, federal reporting, local school unit information and taxpayer information. The Child Nutrition sub-team of 15 members provides nutrition education training and technical and financial assistance for the provision of USDA breakfast, lunch, after school snack, and fresh fruits and vegetables programs to public and private schools, charitable and residential childcare institutions, and summer camps. There is currently one contract employee providing support to the Child and Adult Care Food Program team. Dietetic Interns assist with specific projects such as program marketing and training materials.

PROGRAM:

The School Finance, Compliance and Governance's sub-team's annual production goals were met with the accurate and timely fulfillment of all programs. For General-Purpose Aid to local schools, the distribution of the 2022-2023 State school subsidies of $1.4 billion was accurately processed, analysis performed, and information prepared and distributed for the 2022-2023 subsidy program and legislative actions. This team provided extensive technical assistance and professional development to school business managers and collaborated with the Data sub-team to provide data to meet state and federal reporting requirements and to work toward developing efficiencies to data collection. The Data sub-team successfully provided management support and collection; processing and production of educational data to meet state and federal reporting requirements; and funding allocations accurately and on time. The team continues to work with the vendor for the PreK-20 Data Warehouse; the warehouse will store data from the Department, as well as other state agencies, to provide information to policy makers and taxpayers.

During the 2023 school year, the meals at no charge legislation was implemented, allowing public and publicly funded school administrative units (SAUs) to serve complimentary breakfast and lunch to students due to a combination of state and federal reimbursement. Many SAUs implemented special provision options to streamline paperwork requirements and maximize free/reduced eligibility rates. Maine received statewide waivers that SAUs could apply for to provide meals offsite in case of COVID-19 or if schools closed due to an unanticipated event. Afterschool nourishment was provided through the National School Lunch Program Afterschool Snack Service and in eligible areas, the Child and Adult Care Food Program At-risk Afterschool meals program. The Farm and Sea to School Program continued to receive enthusiastic participation from providers promoting the use of Maine grown, raised, and caught ingredients in the delivery of meals to students throughout the State. The Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Program also operated, which exposed Maine students to a variety of produce they may not have eaten before. The Summer Food Service Program served meals through the summer months with some rural areas offering meals to be eaten offsite. The Department also supported the Maine Department of Health and Human Services in providing pandemic EBT benefits to eligible households.

PURPOSE:

The Maine School Safety Center (MSSC) is an office established within the Department of Education to assist schools in their efforts to provide for the overall safety of their school community. The primary role of MSSC is to provide training, guidance, and technical support to schools in Maine regarding safety and security and to support our schools in their efforts to safely mitigate against, prepare for, respond to, and recover from all hazards and threats.

The purpose of MSSC is: to serve as a central location for school safety and security information, training and technical assistance related to successful implementation of school safety and security programs in schools; be a resource for the prevention of youth violence; promote overall school safety by developing recommendations to support a positive school climate and multiple-hazard mitigation and response plans; develop and provide school emergency management, training, guidance, and technical support to include information provided by persons with expertise in the relevant subject matter in the development of MSSC's school safety specialist education program; promote, develop, and implement technical support and training for a behavioral threat assessment program; facilitate and assist local schools and public safety stakeholders in preventing, preparing for, and responding to threats and acts of violence, including self-harm, through a holistic, solution-based approach to improving school safety; and advise and make recommendations to the department on policies and legislation related to the overall safety of schools and school communities.

ORGANIZATION:

MSSC functions under the leadership of a Director and Assistant Director followed by seven Service Lane Leaders in the following operational areas:

- 1. School Emergency Management
- 2.Behavioral Threat Assessment and Mental Health 3.Restorative Justice

- 4. School Safety and Security 5. Training and Educational Design 6. Food Insecurity
- 7.Student Transportation

The above Lanes are projected to be supported by an Administrative Operations Manager that will assist MSSC in managing the various grants, contracts, fiscal matters, staff needs, event and program management and other logistical needs.

PROGRAM:

MSSC is currently training Maine schools in Behavioral Threat Assessment. To date, MSSC has trained over 1336 school staff in this important safety program for our schools.

The School Emergency Management Lane of Service has operationalized our School Safety Specialist Program, a program that is training school staff in school emergency management to enhance overall capabilities of our schools, serve as a liaison to the MSSC and as a support to their school administration to assure all safety measures and plans are up to date and meet national standards. This Lane also regularly works with schools to improve their emergency operations plans and is currently developing a student emergency management training program that will be imbedded on our schools furthering the school's capabilities to address emergency planning, response, and recovery. This effort was launched in February 2023 and has trained 20+ safety stakeholders per month. The MSSC anticipates this level of attendance to continue in furtherance of our goal to have at least one trained person in every school administrative unit (SAU) and eventually in every school building in Maine.

The Safety and Security Lane of service conducts the annual School Safety Summit, school resource officer (SRO) Certification Academy in collaboration with the Maine Criminal Justice Academy (MCJA) and regularly assists schools in their physical security needs. This Lane also conducts training for positive police youth interactions and recommends and develops policy to address public safety's interactions with schools and youth. The School Safety Summit for 2023 estimated an attendance of 400+ attendees.

The Restorative Practices Lane of Service assists schools with implementing restorative practices in their schools. This Lane provides training and is in the process of developing an extensive restorative practices educational program for schools, assisting schools in updating their code of conduct to meet legislative requirements to add restorative and nonpunitive language to their code of conduct. This lane of service is on track to launch its training program in September 2023.

The Food Insecurity Lane works with schools to connect to local food resources to assure all students are well fed and trains schools on the relationship between safety and good nutrition.

MSSC's Training Coordinator and Educational Designer is continuing to develop several extensive asynchronous training programs including the Schools Safety Specialist and Restorative Practices Programs as well as assisting with the school safety summit, SRO academy, and the many other trainings that are ongoing.

The Student Transportation Lane of Service is now fully under MSSC and is underway working towards efficiencies and increasing safety trainings for our schools' transportation directors. TEACHED DETERMENT

Public Law 2013, Chapter 368 changes the method for funding normal costs of teacher retirement. Beginning in fiscal year 2014, the normal cost of retirement for a teacher is reflected in the General Purpose Aid for Local Schools expenditures for School Finance and Operations Team Unit and included in the costs for the school administrative unit that employs the teacher. The remaining employer retirement cost component is the unfunded actuarial liability, which forms the expenditures for teacher retirement.

The Bureau issues air emission licenses, assesses ambient air impacts from emissions, ensures compliance with state and federal air emission regulations, monitors ambient air quality, and manages data systems to measure environmental impacts and program performance.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Air Quality (BAQ) is comprised of two divisions: the Division of Air Quality Assessment and the Division of Licensing and Compliance.

PROGRAM

The Division of Air Quality Assessment is responsible for all ambient air quality monitoring conducted and the data collected throughout the State, which is carried out by the 4 regional offices in Presque Isle, Bangor, Augusta and Portland. The data obtained is submitted to Environmental Protection Agency and used for issuing daily air quality forecasts, making attainment demonstrations and tracking trends, among other multiple uses. The Division is also responsible for the operation of the Air Laboratory that supports the monitoring program by performing various analyses of collected air samples, conducting performance audits of all monitoring equipment, the creation and/or upkeep of the Division's Quality Assurance Project Plans and Standard Operating Procedures, and managing and maintaining the monitoring program's and Air Lab's data management systems and their applications. The Division also performs sophisticated technical analyses of a variety of complicated data sets, draft regulatory proposals and final promulgations and provides comments, notes potential issues and makes recommendations to division and bureau management based on results of, and conclusions from, completed assessments.

The Division of Licensing and Compliance consists of four sections: Licensing, Compliance, Mobile Sources, and Emissions Inventory. The Licensing Section is primarily responsible for reviewing applications from facilities that are required to obtain air emission licenses and writing the licenses to include state and federal requirements to which each facility is subject. The Compliance Section is primarily responsible for evaluating the compliance status of regulated facilities. The Mobile Sources Section is primarily responsible for determining compliance with Maine's laws and regulations relative to mobile sources, including the motor vehicle inspection and maintenance program, the sale of motor vehicles that meet California emission standards, and the heavy-duty diesel truck emission standards. This section is also responsible for determining and implementing the appropriate enforcement action for any non-compliance events. The Inventory Section collects and evaluates data on emissions of criteria pollutants, hazardous air pollutants, and greenhouse gases.

LICENSES

Minor and major source air emission licenses, Nonmetallic Mineral Processing Plant General Permits, Concrete Batch Plant General Permits, Class IV-A Incinerator General Permits, Dry Cleaner Registrations, Smaller-Scale Electric Generating Resources Registrations.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Remediation and Waste Management administers Maine's oil, hazardous materials and materials management programs, including emergency response for oil and hazardous materials spills, regulation of underground oil storage facilities, marine oil terminals, piping associated with above-ground storage tanks, certification of underground oil storage facility installers and inspectors, and licensing of waste facilities, waste transporters, oil terminals, and spreading sites for septage, sludge and other residuals. Other programs include beverage redemption, product stewardship, oversight of asbestos and lead management and disposal, investigation and cleanup of uncontrolled hazardous substances sites, investigation of emerging contaminants at sites statewide, including per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), coordination with the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on investigation and clean-up of Superfund sites, and implementation of the Brownfields and Voluntary Response Action Programs.

The Bureau also manages the Maine Ground and Surface Waters Clean-Up and Response Fund, the Maine Hazardous Waste Fund, the Uncontrolled Sites Fund, and the Solid Waste Management Fund, as well as bond accounts for uncontrolled sites and landfill closures. The Bureau provides staff support to the Clean-up and Response Fund Review Board and the Board of Underground Storage Tank Installers.

ORGANIZATION

The Bureau of Remediation and Waste Management consists of five divisions: Materials Management, Petroleum Management, Remediation, Response Services, and Technical Services. Each of these divisions is described in more detail below.

PROGRAM

The Division of Materials Management is responsible for regulatory oversight, assistance, and outreach concerning liquid residuals and solid and hazardous waste facilities and activities. The Division supports and encourages the handling of materials in ways that are consistent with Maine's solid waste management hierarchy. The Division also administers Maine's beverage redemption law and regulations as well as several new laws relating to product stewardship, including a new packaging law, post-consumer beverage container law, pharmaceutical take-back program and the phase-out of sale and distribution of mercury-added lamps. The Division is significantly involved with the ongoing statewide PFAS investigation.

The Division of Petroleum Management is responsible for regulatory oversight, assistance, and outreach for petroleum facilities (such as oil terminals), underground piping associated with aboveground storage tanks, and underground storage tank facilities. The Division is responsible for investigating and mitigating risks posed by the release of petroleum. The Division processes applications from owners and operators of underground oil storage facilities to the Maine Ground and Surface Waters Clean-up and Response Fund.

The Division of Remediation investigates and mitigates risks posed by uncontrolled hazardous substance sites. The Division coordinates with the EPA and the U.S. Department of Defense on the investigation and clean-up of federal Superfund sites and formerly-used defense sites in Maine. The Division administers the lead and asbestos abatement programs, reimburses municipalities for the State's share of closure costs at former solid waste landfills, and investigates and mitigates the risks posed by these closed landfills to adjacent landowners. The Division oversees private investigation and remediation under the Voluntary Response Action Program and facilitates such action by administering the federal Brownfields Grant program. This Division is also significantly involved with the ongoing statewide PFAS investigation.

The Division of Response Services is the lead entity for response to oil spills in Maine, and is the co-lead, along with the appropriate public safety agency, for the assessment and remediation of hazardous materials releases in Maine. The Division responds to reports of spills and threatened releases of petroleum products and hazardous materials statewide, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and 365 days a year. It also responds to incidents involving weapons of mass destruction, radiation, and clandestine drug labs. The Division coordinates emergency clean-up and provides training to local fire departments and the State's hazardous materials teams.

The Division of Technical Services provides technical support to the Bureau's other divisions and programs in the areas of engineering, geology and chemistry. The Division plans and implements the cleanup of long-term petroleum remediation sites, provides technical assistance to the business community and the general public, and operates a program to replace home heating oil tanks that are at high risk of leaking. The Division is also responsible for regulatory oversight, assistance, and outreach for active solid waste landfills. This Division is also significantly involved with the ongoing statewide PFAS investigation.

LICENSES:

Oil Terminal Facility Licenses; Hazardous Waste Facility Licenses; Waste Transporter Licenses; Registration of Used Oil Collection Centers; Waste Oil Facility Licenses; Biomedical Facility Licenses; Registration of Underground Oil and Hazardous Substance Storage Tanks; Certification of Underground Storage Tank Operators; Solid Waste Facility Licenses; Septage Spreading Site Licenses; Licenses for Land Application of Sludge and Other Residuals; Beneficial Use Licenses; Asbestos Abatement Certification; Lead Abatement Certification; Redemption Center Licenses; Initiator of Deposit Licenses; and Registration of Labels and Beverage Containers.

Numerous publications are available to assist the general public and regulated community in understanding and achieving compliance with the requirements of the programs administered by the Bureau of Remediation and Waste Management. These publications are available at http://www.maine.gov/dep/publications/index.html.

Some programs are so closely allied to the (Office of) Governor as to be in reality a part of it. A brief description of each follows

Governor's Office. The administrative office of the Governor serves to provide staff support to the Governor as she carries out the responsibilities of the Chief Executive of the State of Maine. This support includes functions of: correspondence; policy development; legislative relations; national and regional Governors' associations; scheduling preparation of reports and addresses; public information; executive appointments; case work; and managing the operating budget of the Governor.

Blaine House. The Blaine House, a National Historic Landmark, is the official residence of the Governor of the State of Maine. The Blaine House staff provides services for the Governor, the Governor's family, and guests; maintains House offices for the Governor; displays the mansion during public visiting hours; and assists at official receptions and other gatherings at the Blaine House. The Governor is responsible for the operation of the building and general maintenance of its interior. The Bureau of General Services within the Department of Administrative and Financial Services maintains the grounds, service buildings, and exterior of the mansion, and is authorized to approve and execute any remodeling of the interior.

The Governor's Office of Policy Innovation and the Future (GOPIF) works to address critical long-term issues facing the State of Maine. As a key policy coordinator for the Governor, the office engages state agencies, stakeholders and the public in the planning and implementation of innovative, data-driven policy solutions. GOPIF's current leadership areas include: climate and energy policy, including the Maine Climate Council; opioid response and prevention; the Governor's Children's Cabinet, which focuses on education and childhood support policy; and economic innovation and workforce development policy. In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, GOPIF also provided planning, policy, communications and technology support to the Governor and several state agencies, and managed the Governor's Economic Recovery Committee. GOPIF addresses critical, long-term issues facing Maine, by engaging state agencies, stakeholders, and the public in the planning and implementation of innovative, data-driven policy solutions.

The mission of the Maine Department of Health and Human Services is to provide integrated health and human services to the people of Maine and to assist individuals in meeting their needs, while respecting the rights and preferences of the individuals and families it serves. The Department promotes Health, Safety, Resilience and Opportunity.

All of the Department's functions and activities are directed toward one or more of the following goals:

(a) Maine children grow up in safe, healthy, and supportive environments, allowing them to thrive throughout their lives; (b) All adults have the opportunity to work, live with independence, and have good health; and (c) Older Mainers live with dignity in the place that balances their needs and preferences.

ORGANIZATION:

Effective July 1, 2004, the Governor and the Legislature created the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) by combining and reorganizing the former Department of Human Services (DHS) and the former Department of Behavioral and Developmental Services (BDS). The organizational framework for the new department was established the following year by Public Law 2005, Ch. 412.

PROGRAM:

The Department's statutory mandate requires it to provide the following programs and services to adults, children and families: economic assistance and employment support services; behavioral health services, including mental health and substance use prevention and treatment services; developmental disability and brain injury services; physical health services; public health services and affordable health care coverage.

Services targeted specifically for children, families, and adults include: child welfare services; early childhood services, including Head Start and child care services; maternal and child health services, including home-visiting programs; paternity establishment and child support enforcement and recovery services; residential and community support services for children and adults with disabilities; adult protective services; and long-term care services for older Mainers and adults with disabilities.

The Department delivers programs and services through an integrated delivery system that focuses on meeting the needs of individuals and families. The Department uses a combination of public personnel and contracts with private agencies to administer programs and deliver services.

The Department administers the Medicaid program funded jointly by the federal government's Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) and the State. MaineCare provides health care services for Maine's children and adults who are elderly, disabled or with low income.

The Department's Office of Health Insurance Marketplace operates the State Based Marketplace for affordable health care coverage. The Office was established under Public Law 2019, Ch. 653.

OFFICE OF CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICES TODD A. LANDRY, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 2 ANTHONY AVENUE, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0011

Mail Address: 11 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0011 FAX: (207) 287-5282 Established: 1974 Telephone: (207) 624-7900 Reference: Policy Area: 05 Umbrella: 10 Unit: 148 Citation: T0022 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000005308 Average Counts-All Positions: 144.500 Legislative Count: 144.50

PURPOSE:

The Office of Child and Family Services (OCFS) seeks to serve and protect Maine's children and families by providing early care and education, children's behavioral health, and child welfare services. Through these services OCFS seeks to ensure the safety, stability, happiness, and health of all Maine children and families.

ORGANIZATION:

OCFS is comprised of five primary divisions consisting of early care and education, children's behavioral health, child welfare, children's licensing and investigation, and operations. OCFS' child welfare staff provide direct services, while the other divisions primarily support community providers who deliver services to children and families. OCFS has staff throughout the state in eight districts and twelve district offices. OCFS' child welfare division also manages a statewide 24/7 intake hotline for reporting suspected child abuse and neglect.

The Office is administered out of a central office located in Augusta.

PROGRAM

Early Care and Education (ECE) focuses primarily on supporting families and providers through the Maine Child Care Affordability Program (also known as the Child Care Subsidy Program) and efforts to enhance the quality and availability of child care statewide. The ECE division administers federal Child Care Development Block Grant (CCDBG) funding and state funding to provide subsidized child care for parents who are working or attending school or a job training program.

Children's Behavioral Health partners with families, providers, and MaineCare to oversee behavioral health services for children in Maine. This includes policy development and management, provider relations, and activities to ensure the availability of high-quality services. Services are geared towards youth with developmental disabilities or delays, intellectual disabilities, autism spectrum disorders, mental health disorders, substance use disorder, and those experiencing homelessness.

Child Welfare works with families and the community to promote long-term safety, well-being, and permanent families for children. Child abuse reports with allegations of abuse and/or neglect are investigated, and efforts are undertaken to keep children safe and to guide families in creating safe homes for children. When children cannot safely remain with their parents, child welfare staff petition the court for removal, place children with resource (foster) families, oversee the reunification process, and ensure the care of the children while in State custody. Child welfare seeks to reduce the risk and effect of adverse childhood experiences, such as neglect, abuse, or exposure to violence. Child welfare includes direct services delivered by caseworkers and supervisors throughout the state who investigate reports of abuse and/or neglect and act to protect children, but also includes oversight of the State's violence prevention services related to domestic abuse and sexual assault, resource (foster) home licensing, adoption, youth transition services (for youth reaching adulthood while in State custody), and child abuse prevention activities.

Children's Licensing and Investigation Services oversees the licensing of all facilities that furnish care to children in the State. This includes all licensed child care providers and all residential facilities for children, including homeless shelters serving youth. Staff in this division work with individual providers on obtaining a license, ensure compliance with licensing rules, and investigate reports of alleged violations of licensing rules, as well as alleged out of home abuse and/or neglect.

PURPOSE

The Division of Disease Prevention (DDP) promotes health and disease reduction in the following program areas: Tobacco and Substance Use Prevention and Control (inclusive of Adolescent Health & Injury Prevention), Maternal and Child Health, Chronic Disease Prevention and Control, and the Women, Infants & Children (WIC) Nutrition Program. The DDP provides data-informed public health planning, implementation, and evaluation to decrease high-risk health behaviors and chronic diseases and improve the health of Maine residents across their life span.

ORGANIZATION:

The Office is organized under the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

PROGRAM:

The Tobacco and Substance Use Prevention and Control Program works to decrease the initiation of tobacco and substance use among Maine's youth and young adult population as well as promote adolescent health and injury prevention. The Program works to decrease health costs and increase quality of life by providing information and support to individuals in making healthy choices regarding tobacco, substance use and injury prevention. The Program provides funding to local communities for these efforts through the Maine Prevention Network initiative. State and local providers implement programming, outreach, and education rooted in best-practice and evidence-based models of service. The Program collects service-level data and analyzes that collectively with data on individual behaviors and health outcomes. By focusing on support and development of healthy, safe environments, the Program seeks to prevent the onset of use of tobacco and other substances as well as preventing injuries.

The Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Program works to improve the health of the MCH population (women 15 to 44 years, children birth through 21 years, and children with special health needs). The Program provides direct funding for community-based and public health nursing services. Data collection, analysis and dissemination are conducted to ensure programming is based on need and emerging health trends. The Program collaborates with governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations to ensure seamless services across the service population spectrum. It also provides education on key topics such as safe sleep. The Program oversees the Maternal, Fetal, and Infant Mortality Review Board (MFIMR) and publishes an annual report based on its findings.

The Chronic Disease Prevention and Control Program works to prevent, detect, and control some of the most serious chronic health conditions (asthma, cancer, obesity, diabetes, Alzheimer's disease, and cardiovascular diseases). The Program develops and applies collaborative strategies to improve the health of Maine people by: mobilizing partners to support evidence-based prevention efforts; gathering and disseminating data to drive healthy decision making; empowering patients to self-manage chronic disease; promoting evidence-based guidelines to strengthen health care systems; linking health care systems with community resources; increasing access to screening of early detectable chronic diseases; and promoting evidence-based screening recommendations.

The Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Nutrition Program, funded by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), is a supplemental nutrition program for pregnant, breastfeeding or postpartum women and infants and children from birth to five years. WIC counselors provide growth assessment, health screening, breastfeeding promotion and support and referrals, along with individualized nutritious food benefits. WIC services are available for families whose income is less than or equal to income guidelines established for the program by the USDA. WIC food benefits follow federal regulations, which are based on nutrition research as well as recommendations from the National Academies of Science. Program goals include positive pregnancy outcomes and optimal growth for infants and children.

The Health and Environmental Testing Laboratory (HETL) isolates, identifies, analyzes, and monitors biological, chemical, and radiological hazards that may cause harm to human health and/or the environment.

ORGANIZATION:

The Office is organized under the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

PROGRAM:

The Infectious Disease Epidemiology Program conducts surveillance for notifiable diseases and conditions of potential public health significance, investigates outbreaks and clusters of disease, and recommends intervention strategies to reduce disease related morbidity and mortality. The Program consults with health care providers on the prevention and control of various infectious diseases and provides public health alerts and updates to key public health stakeholders.

The Infectious Disease Prevention Program partners with health professionals to prevent the transmission of diseases such as HIV, STD, TB, Monkeypox, and Viral Hepatitis through targeted outreach and testing services. The Program administers funds for medical case management for people living with HIV/AIDS and oversees the AIDS Drug Assistance program (ADAP) as the payer of last resort for low-income Mainers living with HIV/AIDS. The program also monitors the State-certified syringe service partners (SSPs) in Maine. The SSPs exchange syringes and make referrals to services such as primary care, STD clinics, HIV and hepatitis testing, and substance use treatment.

The Maine Immunization Program strives for full protection of Maine people from vaccine preventable disease. Through cooperative partnerships with health practitioners and community members, the program provides: vaccines; comprehensive education and technical assistance; vaccine-preventable disease tracking and outbreak control; and population-based management tools. This Program manages universal immunization for uninsured or underinsured Maine children, and the federal Vaccines for Children Program while assuring compliance with federal guidelines. The Program also provides a limited amount of vaccine from the Adult 317 Vaccine Program allows for vaccines to be given to any adult 19 years and older who is either uninsured or underinsured.

PURPOSE:

The Dorothea Dix Psychiatric Center (DDPC) operates under laws established by the Maine Legislature to provide care and treatment for both voluntary and court-committed patients. The hospital has its own Advisory Board with by-laws covering organization, purpose, duties, appointment process, committees, and relationship to the medical staff. DDPC is part of a comprehensive mental health system of services in the State, which includes community mental health centers with multiple branch offices, private psychiatric, community hospitals and private providers.

ORGANIZATION:

DDPC was established by the Legislature in 2005, renaming the former Bangor Mental Health Institute. The hospital's roots in the community date back to 1901, when it was known as the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital.

PROGRAM:

DDPC is a 67-bed facility. The hospital is organized into major clinical, administrative and support service departments. DDPC has four adult inpatient treatment units, admitting 168 people in fiscal year 2022-23. Our three main building units are co-ed and represent a mixed milieu of adults. Our fourth unit bordering our main building, provides acute inpatient psychiatric services to a mixed milieu of older adults. DDPC also has an Outpatient Services Program that serves patients found to be "not criminally responsible", who have been discharged into community settings and, on occasion, civil patients when extenuating circumstances in the community indicate that only DDPC can provide the needed service to prevent re-hospitalization.

The two state psychiatric hospitals, DDPC and Riverview Psychiatric Center, work closely together to create efficiencies by sharing resources, processes and collaborating on admissions. Evaluating processes in all aspects of hospital functions is ongoing to maximize efficiency and offer patients treatment that is evidenced-based and focused on personal recovery.

PURPOSE:

The Office for Family Independence (OFI) administers multiple state and federal programs to help Maine citizens in need. There are 16 offices across the State where staff assist people who may need assistance.

In addition to policy and program functions, OFI also monitors benefit distribution through quality assurance activities, investigations, and recovery through audits of municipal welfare programs.

ORGANIZATION:

The central office unit provides staff support to the Department's local offices. As an administrative unit of the Department of Health and Human Services, the Office's internal structure and functions are subject to the discretion of the Commissioner of the Department Health and Human Services. Funding for all programs, except General Assistance, is provided by the federal and state government. General Assistance is funded by the State and municipal governments. All programs follow the regulations of their respective funding sources.

PROGRAM:

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) is a work program that provides financial assistance for basic needs to families with children who meet the financial and non-financial rules of the program. TANF is funded through a federal block grant, with a required state maintenance of effort contribution. The State operates a state-funded TANF program for non-citizens who are ineligible for federal benefits.

The Parents as Scholars (PaS) program provides cash assistance to parents enrolled in a post-secondary education, like the TANF program. Additional Support for People in Retraining and Employment (ASPIRE) engages with people receiving TANF and PaS to support their efforts to attain employment and become self-sufficient. The ASPIRE program is administered through a contractual agreement with Fedcap.

Transitional Services provides post-TANF assistance in the form of food support, childcare, transportation and medical assistance. Alternative Aid provides voucher payments for services to help parents retain or obtain employment and to help them remain self-supporting. Emergency Assistance provides payment of services to families who are threatened by destitution or homelessness because of emergency situations.

The Higher Opportunity for Pathways to Employment (HOPE) program is funded by TANF grant funds and helps parents with costs related to pursuing education beyond high school by bringing statewide support service benefits to up to 800 low-income parents and caregivers.

Whole Family Services are funded by TANF grant funds and support multi-generation family coaching services, helping whole families gain stability through early childhood education, adult education and career services, healthcare, and economic supports.

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) provides a monthly food benefit via an electronic benefits card. SNAP-Education provides nutrition education for SNAP-eligible Maine residents. SNAP-Ed and SNAP benefits are 100% federally funded. The State pays half the administrative cost and operates a state-funded SNAP program for non-citizens who are ineligible for federal benefits. SNAP-Employment and Training program provides job readiness activities to SNAP eligible recipients.

MaineCare (Medicaid) and Cub Care provides payment of medical expenses, including long term care, for individuals who meet financial and non-financial criteria. MaineCare eligibility is funded through state contributions with a federal match of approximately 67% percent and 50% (administration).

State Supplemental Benefit provides a state-funded monthly cash benefit to recipients of federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI). This is required as part of the maintenance of effort for Medicaid participation. The State operates a state-funded SSI cash program for non-citizens who are ineligible for federal SSI.

Division of Support Enforcement and Recovery (DSER) establishes and enforces child support obligations. Administrative expenses of the DSER program are matched 66% by federal dollars; the remaining costs are borne by the State.

General Assistance provides vouchers at the municipal level for individuals who meet strict income and asset criteria. General Assistance is the program of last resort for basic life necessities.

The Division licenses and inspects sources of radiation and oversees the storage of high-level nuclear waste in Maine. This Division also conducts preventative environmental health campaigns and responds to incidences of childhood lead and carbon monoxide poisoning, tracks ambient air quality and many other environmental health and occupational disease factors, and creates resources related to healthy homes topics such as asthma, injury prevention, radon, bedbugs and other pests, and secondhand smoke, heat-related illness, and recommendations for the safe consumption of fish and game.

ORGANIZATION:

The Office is organized under the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

The Division of Environmental and Community Health consists of four programs: Drinking Water, including the Subsurface Wastewater Unit and the Laboratory Accreditation Unit; Health Inspection; Environmental & Occupational Health, including the Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Unit; and Radiation Control.

Drinking Water and Health Inspection staff are located at DHHS offices statewide. The Radiation Control Program and Environmental & Occupational Health Program (EOHP) are centrally located in Augusta.

The Drinking Water Program is responsible for ensuring that public water systems provide safe and reliable supplies of drinking water to more than half of the State's population. The Program regulates 1,900 public water systems. It also provides grants and low interest loans to eligible public water systems for infrastructure improvements, wellhead protection and source water protection through the Drinking Water State Revolving Loan Fund.

The Environmental & Occupational Health Program works to protect and enhance public health by objective, scientific evaluation of health risks for chemical and radiological exposure. EOHP develops health risk analyses to inform public and regulatory decision making on several environmental health topics including lead poisoning, private well water safety and testing, carbon monoxide poisoning, healthy fish-eating guidelines, and heat-related illness. EOHP also operates a toxicology consultation phone service for Maine residents and runs the Maine Tracking Network, an online, interactive public health data portal.

The mission of the Office of Aging and Disability Services (OADS) is to promote the highest level of independence for older adults and adults with disabilities throughout Maine. The priority is to assure the safety and well-being of all adults.

ORGANIZATION:

OADS was created by the Legislature on August 30, 2012, when it merged the former Office of Elder Services and Office of Adults with Cognitive and Physical Disability Services. The merger integrated the operations, programs, and services of the two offices and combined district operations under one organizational structure.

At the direction of the Commissioner, OADS establishes the overall policy objectives for functions and activities relating to older adults and adults with disabilities in Maine. Pursuant to federal and state laws, OADS promotes independence for older adults and adults with disabilities through services, including evidence-based prevention programs and comprehensive home and community-based services.

Programs fall within the following categories:

Adult Protective Services (APS), which is responsible for receiving and investigating reports for abuse, neglect and exploitation of incapacitated and dependent adults. APS is the Commissioner's designated representative for public guardianship and conservatorship services for adults who are incapacitated and have no family member or other private individual able or suitable to serve in those capacities;

Developmental Disability and Brain Injury Services, which serves persons with intellectual disabilities or Autism Spectrum Disorder, acquired brain injuries, or other related conditions. These services include community and state case management services, management of four federal home and community-based waiver programs and a statewide crisis response system;

Long Term Services and Supports (LTSS), which includes the management of state and federal long term care programs serving older adults and adults with disabilities, oversight of the medical eligibility process for long term care, and policy oversight of nursing facilities and community residential settings;

Aging Services, which includes serving as the Older Americans Act (OAA) State Unit on Aging, management of social services and nutrition programs funded by the OAA and management of the State Health Insurance Program, and Senior Medicare Patrol program; and Operations, which includes office-wide operational resources for business services and contracts, information services and technology, data and compliance for quality assurance across OADS programs, and policy development and rulemaking.

PURPOSE:

The Office of Behavioral Health (OBH) is grounded in the promotion of evidence-based, timely and appropriate access to behavioral health services with the goal of achieving improved outcomes for persons with mental illness and/or substance use disorders. OBH is the federally recognized single state agency (SSA) for mental health and substance use disorder services and State Opioid Treatment Authority, providing access to healthcare for the uninsured, funding for services not covered by Medicaid, program and policy development, and expertise to the provider community, legislature, and public.

ORGANIZATION:

OBH is the federally recognized single state agency (SSA) for mental health and substance use disorder services and State Opioid Treatment Authority, providing access to healthcare for the uninsured, funding for services not covered by Medicaid, program and policy development, and expertise to the provider community, legislature, and public.

PROGRAM:

OBH promotes a continuum of behavioral health services and supports spanning promotion, prevention, early intervention, treatment, crisis services, and recovery supports. OBH funds mental health and substance use disorder services by contracting with community-based services and provides direct service through our Intensive Case Management Program and State Forensic Service.

OBH is further responsible for services delivery oversight, quality, and accountability of behavioral health services across the state and monitors quality of services, timely access to care and compliance of providers. In addition, OBH leads behavioral health policy development and rulemaking to advance and strengthen the system of care. In addition, OBH works closely with the Consumer Council System of Maine (CCSM) and Disability Rights Maine (DRM) to ensure rights protections for individuals with serious and persistent mental illness.

OBH is the lead office within DHHS to address the requirements of the Bates vs. DHHS Consent Decree and on strategies to improve timely access to high quality adult mental health services and assure provider compliance.

OBH oversees an array of service delivery areas including Substance Use & Opioid Response, Housing, Recovery, Mental Health, State Forensic Services, Criminal Justice, Workforce and Data & Evaluation.

OBH has advanced several initiatives and efforts in 2022-2023, outlined below.

OBH works to advance the Opioid Response Strategic Plan of which many activities and services are the responsibility of OBH, such as making naloxone widely available, the real time overdose mapping tool (ODMAP), training of recovery coaches, deployment of recovery coaches to Emergency Departments, rapid access to buprenorphine, and partnering with the Department of Corrections to support availability of Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT) to incarcerated individuals. OBH is also implementing a substantial increase in Naloxone distribution across the state with the goal of achieving community saturation to address unmet needs.

In 2021, OBH established as a pilot the first full-service crisis receiving center in Portland and has worked with community partner Spurwink to support the program's full opening in 2022. The center is currently serving 177 individuals per month, with 54% of clients being served within 2 visits or less and 91% receiving services that did not require hospitalization.

In 2022, OBH led the implementation of Resolve 2021, chapter 80 developing a Comprehensive Behavioral Health Plan for Maine to improve the continuum of behavioral health services available to Maine people from childhood throughout their lifespan. The plan includes 74 actions currently underway as well as numerous additional planned actions.

OBH also oversees the Prescription Monitoring Program (PMP), which is a web-based tool that was developed and implemented by OBH to prevent, detect, and reduce prescription drug misuse and diversion. In 2022 OBH developed a process and threshold algorithm to identify problematic prescribing practices and to refer as necessary prescribers to respective licensing boards for review or referrals to education pathways and resources.

OBH is working in partnership with the Office of MaineCare Services (OMS) and the Office of Child and Family Services (OCFS) to implement Crisis System Reform and the implementation of Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinics (CCBHCs) in Maine.

BUREAU OF RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

BUREAU OF WARDEN SERVICE

PURPOSE:

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife was established to preserve, protect and enhance the inland fisheries and wildlife; to encourage wise use of the resources; and to ensure the resources are maintained and perpetuated for their intrinsic and ecological values, for their economic contribution and for their recreational, scientific and educational use by the people of the State. In addition, the Department is responsible for the establishment and enforcement of laws and regulations governing fishing, hunting and trapping; the registration and operation of snowmobiles, watercraft, and all-terrain vehicles; propagation and stocking of fish; acquisition of wildlife management areas; safety programs for hunters, snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles and watercraft; and, the issuing of licenses and permits (hunting, fishing, trapping, guide, wildlife possession/importation, as well as many other miscellaneous permits).

The overall department budget is comprised of three parts: general fund, federal grant funds and other special revenue funds. The Department's revenue from license sales, registrations, fees and other items is constitutionally protected and can only be used for the administration of the Department. This requires the Legislature to appropriate to the Department a general fund appropriation that is not less than the revenues collected by the Department for a given year. In essence, this gives the Department an advance from the general fund against anticipated revenue which is then repaid to the general fund with the Department's revenue from license sales, registrations and fees as it is received through the fiscal year. This allows the Department to overcome fluctuations in license sales and fees that occur throughout the year, impacting cash flow, and instead have a predictable and responsible budget. The difference between the annual appropriated amount and the actual revenue earned through license sales, registrations, fees and other items is the true general fund contribution to the Federal funds come from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Department. Federal lunds come from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration Program. These funds are distributed to state fish and wildlife agencies through grants authorized under the Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration Act (PR) and the Dingell-Johnson Sport Fish Restoration Act (DJ). The funds are generated by excise taxes and import duties on equipment and gear manufactured for purchase by hunters, anglers, boaters, archers, and recreational shooters. Federal taxes on motorboat and small engine fuels are also a source of DJ funding. These federal funds require a matching share which comes from state hunting, trapping and fishing licenses. This program is an example of a user pay, user benefits program based on hunters, trappers, and anglers who recreate here in Maine. In this case all the residents and visitors to Maine benefit from the sportsman's dollars as they are used to manage all of the fisheries and wildlife resources of the State of Maine both game and nongame.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife (formerly Game) traces back to 1830 when wardens were first appointed by the Governor to enforce the moose and deer laws enacted that year. Two Commissioners of Fisheries were appointed in 1867. In 1880, the Commissioners were assigned responsibility for enforcing game laws as well as fish laws, and in 1895, their title was changed to Commissioners of Inland Fisheries and Game. The two Commissioners were later replaced by the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Game in 1917. Function divisions were added as the Department mandates and responsibilities were expanded, e.g. Warden

Service Aviation in 1937; Wildlife Division in 1938; Fisheries Division in 1951; Information and Education in 1955; Program Development and Coordination in 1968; Snowmobile Registration in 1969; Realty in 1970; Watercraft Registration and Safety in 1974.

Effective October 1, 1975, the Department was renamed the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. In 1984, the Department underwent its first Sunset Review by the Legislative Committee on Audit and Program Review. As a result, the Department was reorganized into the following: 1. Bureau of Administrative Services; 2. Bureau of Resource Management; 3. Bureau of Warden Service; 4. Office of the Commissioner, including the Division of Public Information and the Division of Program Development and Coordination.

In 2006, a statewide reorganization removed the financial and information technology functions of the agency and placed them within the newly-created Natural Resources Service Center and the Office of Information Technology. The Bureau of Administrative Services, as it was known prior to this reorganization became the Division of Licensing, Registration and Engineering in 2009 to more accurately reflect the duties of the Division. In 2011, the Division of Engineering was established as a separate Division to oversee maintenance, contracting and repair of Department facilities.

PROGRAM:

The Department's program focuses on the management of the State's inland fish and wildlife (game and nongame species), enforcement, applied research studies, surveys and inventories, program development (planning), artificial propagation and stocking of fish, coordination of department interests between state and federal agencies and the private sector, environmental permitting coordination, the search for lost persons, the registration of watercraft, snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles, hunter/trapper education programs, and hunter, snowmobile, boating and ATV safety programs.

The establishment of rules is an important part of the program carried out by the Department. The Commissioner provides abstracts of the inland fisheries and wildlife laws and rules for distribution to the public (six summaries plus migratory bird regulations are updated and distributed in electronic and some printed formats). The Open Water and Ice Fishing Regulations, upon filing with the Secretary of State as an electronic document and distributed to the public, are declared to be official consolidations of fishing rules.

A complete reporting of these programs will be included in the reports for the various Bureaus and Divisions.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the Division is to administer the issuance of department licenses, stamps and permits and the registration of snowmobiles, watercraft and all-terrain vehicles.

ORGANIZATION:

In 1984, the 111th Legislature reorganized the Department, thus creating the Bureau of Administrative Services as one of the major Bureaus. This Bureau was structured in the following manner: Accounting Section, headed by a Chief Accountant; Division of Engineering and Realty, headed by a Supervisor; Division of Licensing and Registration, headed by a Director; Personnel Section-headed by a Personnel Officer; Central Purchasing and Supply Section, headed by a Property Officer.

During FY06 a statewide reorganization of administrative functions substantially changed the make-up of Administrative Services. A new entity, the Natural Resources Service Center under the Department of Administrative and Financial Services, was established to provide budget, accounting, human resources and payroll services to all of the Natural Resource departments within state government. These functions were removed from the Department during that consolidation. In addition, the Office of Information Technology centralized the Department's IT functions under a consolidated Natural Resources IT cluster. The licensing and registration, engineering and land acquisition functions were left in Administrative Services. In 2009, legislation was passed to change the name from the Bureau of Administrative Services to the Division of Licensing, Registration and Engineering to more accurately reflect the responsibilities and duties of the Division. In 2011, the Engineering Division was separated from Licensing and Registration to become its own Division. The Natural Resources Service Center coordinates the purchase of capital equipment and supplies and disperses these items on a department-wide basis. Adequate inventories of vehicle, snowmobile, and outboard motor parts, clothing, footwear and miscellaneous items are held in stock to be issued to all field personnel.

PROGRAM:

The Division of Licensing and Registration provides the public with hunting and fishing licenses and miscellaneous permits through the Department's main office and designated license agents. The Division also registers all watercraft, snowmobiles and all-terrain vehicles. The operation of these machines is regulated in cooperation with all law enforcement agencies and information is provided as required.

MAINE OUTDOOR HERITAGE FUND BOARD CAROL GAY, SECRETARIAT

Central Office: 353 WATER STREET, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0041

Mail Address: 41 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0041 FAX: (207) 287-8094 1995 Telephone: (207) 458-8421 Established: Reference: Policy Area: 04 Umbrella: 09 Unit: 585 Citation: T0012 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000010308

PURPOSE:

The Maine Outdoor Heritage Fund was established by the Legislature in 1995 after it became clear there was insufficient funding for worthwhile projects that would perpetuate Maine's outdoor heritage -- the state's endangered species, wildlife habitat and pristine lands for outdoor recreation. By funding the program solely with revenue from the sale of special Outdoor Heritage lottery tickets, the Legislature was able to support financially worthwhile projects.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Outdoor Heritage Fund is governed by a board of seven members. The Commissioner of the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, the Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry and the Coordinator of the Natural Areas Program are permanent members. With approval from the Legislature, the Governor appoints four citizen members to staggered four-year terms. One citizen member must represent a state sportsman's organization, one must represent a state wildlife conservation organization and one must work in a field related to natural resources. The Board has hired an administrator on a contractual basis to perform the duties of administering the grants once they are awarded, organizing the application process for grants and coordinating with the Lottery Commission and other state and private organizations.

PROGRAM:

The Board awards grants semi-annually to natural resources agencies and organizations for conservation and recreation projects that meet the guidelines stated in the Outdoor Heritage Fund's Strategic Plan.

- The grants are awarded in four categories:
 conservation of fisheries, wildlife, and habitat;
 acquisition and management of public lands, parks, wildlife conservation areas, public access and outdoor recreation sites and facilities;
- conservation of endangered and threatened species;
- natural resources law enforcement and protection of public health.

Revenue is raised from the sale of instant lottery tickets, which are available at most outlets that sell other Maine State Lottery tickets. The Outdoor Heritage ticket design changes twice per year.

PURPOSE: The main function of the Public Information and Education Division is to create and maintain public understanding, participation in, and support for department objectives and programs including wildlife and fishery management, safety in the outdoors, and ethical hunting and fishing practices.

ORGANIZATION:

The Division was created in 1952, as the Information and Education Division, under authorization granted by the 96th Legislature in 1951. It was reorganized into the Public Information Division, effective July 1, 1980; it was again reorganized, as the Division of Public Information and Education under the Office of the Commissioner, effective April 24, 1984. Another reorganization, effective July 1, 1993, established the Division of Public Information and Education as its own unit. Currently, the division includes 16 full-time positions, and seven part-time positions and is supported by a large network of volunteers.

PROGRAM:

The major programs of the Public Information and Education Division are marketing, public relations, educational outreach, and the operations of the Maine Wildlife Park.

The Information Center within the Division provides knowledgeable staff responding to telephone inquiries and directing calls to appropriate department divisions, as well as e-mail and social media requests. The Information Center handles an average of 1,000 phone calls and hundreds of e-mails and social media messages per week.

Through a variety of methods, the Division communicates with members of the public daily sharing information regarding department programs and projects related to wildlife and fishery management and education messaging related to outdoor sports such as hunting, fishing, trapping, boating, ATV and snowmobile riding. Communication is done in person through a variety of shows and events, through digital communication (email, blogs, web updates, social media, etc.), through the production of video, and through the development and distribution of printed publications including the annual law summaries. Additionally, the Division coordinates several education outreach programs and provides training to hundreds of volunteers and educators across Maine. These programs include hunter safety, trapping safety, ATV, boating and snowmobile safety, Becoming an Outdoors Woman, Hooked on Fishing - Not on Drugs, 4-H Shooting Sports, Project WILD, Nature of Teaching, and National Archery in the School Program. The Division provides support to Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife (MDIFW) staff across the State to visit classrooms, speak to groups and organizations, and supply tools and materials to MDIFW regional offices for public consumption.

Maine Wildlife Park in Gray, Maine hosts over 125,000 visitors annually. The Park has over 30 species of native Maine wildlife on exhibit in naturalized enclosures. Interpretation of the Department's wildlife management programs and projects are offered via signage, an audio tour, and guided tours. A variety of wildlife and conservation education school programs and tours are offered at the Park, reaching well over 4,000 Maine school children annually. Weekend events with wildlife, outdoor, and conservation themes occur here from May through October.

The Bureau of Resource Management is responsible for the management of the State's inland fisheries and wildlife resources and the development of rules governing the effective management of these resources.

The Bureau of Resource Management was established by the 111th Legislature as a result of recommendations made by the Legislative Program Audit and Review Committee. The Bureau presently consists of the following: Division of Wildlife

Division of Fisheries and Hatcheries

PROGRAM:

Division of Wildlife:

Management of Maine's Wildlife - Management of Maine's wildlife is carefully planned and monitored. Department biologists enlist members of the public to help develop long-term management goals for Maine's key wildlife species. Biologists use that public input in management systems that direct how the Wildlife Division manages a species. The Department owns or has management agreements on more than 100,000 acres of land acquired for wildlife management purposes. These wildlife management areas (WMAs) are covered by management plans that are designed to maintain or create the highest quality wildlife habitats possible, allow public access and recreational use, and serve as demonstration areas. In addition, the Department works with the Bureau of Parks and Lands to implement wildlife habitat management on the State's public reserved and state park lands, as well as with private landowners interested in wildlife management.

Research and Assessment - The Wildlife Division coordinates, supervises, plans, and directs all wildlife projects; collects and analyzes information on species abundance, use, habitat requirements, and habitat quality and quantity; monitors wildlife populations; maintains species assessments and management systems; produces technical reports and develops recommendations for specific harvest and use regulations in support of the Department's species management goals and objectives. The Division also provides biological guidance and technical support to all parties having management, planning, or regulatory responsibility concerning wildlife.

Division of Fisheries and Hatcheries:

Maine's inland fisheries are managed under structured work programs that ensure the preservation, protection, enhancement and wise use of the State's fishery resources. The conservation of native fish, their habitat, and providing sustainable recreational and commercial fisheries for both wild and stocked fisheries remain an important management focus. Maine is a recognized fishing destination in the eastern United States, generating over $300 million annually to the State's economy.

The Fisheries Management section works with public members to plan and develop work programs to investigate, monitor, and manage recreational and commercial fisheries. Management includes various types of stocking programs, adoption of fishing regulations, population monitoring, supporting development of public water access, habitat improvement/restoration, remediation of invasive species, and research. Management recommendations are rooted in sound science and data collection, guided by public input.

The Hatcheries Section is comprised of eight fish culture facilities and a fish pathology laboratory responsible for the propagation of healthy fish to support statewide fisheries management programs. Currently the hatchery program stocks over one million salmon and trout annually. The fish health lab also manages biosecurity interests related to importation and private fish cultivation.

Additional Program Areas:

The Environmental Review, Federal Aid Coordination, Water Access, and Habitat Information Transfer Programs are also located within Resource Management.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the Judicial Branch is to administer justice by providing a safe, accessible, efficient, and impartial system of dispute resolution that serves the public interest, protects individual rights, and instills respect for the law.

ORGANIZATION:

Until the signing of the Articles of Agreement for Separation in 1820, Maine was part of Massachusetts and included in the Massachusetts court system. In 1820, Article VI, Section 1, of the new Maine Constitution established the Judicial Branch of government stating: "The judicial power of the State shall be vested in a Supreme Judicial Court, and such other courts as the Legislature shall from time to time establish". From the start of statehood, the Supreme Judicial Court was both a trial court and an appellate court or "Law Court." The new State of Maine also adopted the same lower court structure as existed in Massachusetts, and the court system remained unchanged until 1852. The Court Reorganization Act of 1852 increased the jurisdiction of the Supreme Judicial Court to encompass virtually every type of case, increased the number of justices and authorized the justices to travel in circuits. The Probate Courts were created in 1820 as county-based courts and have remained so.

The next major change in the system came in 1929, when the Legislature created the statewide Superior Court as a trial court to relieve the overburdened Supreme Judicial Court. Meanwhile, the lower courts continued to operate much as they always had until 1961 when both the municipal court and trial justice systems were abolished and the new District Court created. The Administrative Court, which was created in 1978, was abolished on March 15, 2001.

The administrative structure of the Maine Judicial Branch is similar to a corporation. The Supreme Judicial Court serves as the Branch "board of directors" and by statute has general administrative and supervisory authority over the Branch. This authority is exercised by promulgating rules, issuing administrative orders, establishing policies and procedures, and generally advising the Chief Justice. The Chief Justice is designated as head of the Judicial Branch and is assisted by the State Court Administrator. Each of the two trial courts has a Chief Justice or Judge, appointed by and responsible to the Chief Justice, who also heads the Law Court. The Administrative Office of the Courts, under the direction of the State Court Administrator, assists in meeting the operational needs of the courts.

The purpose of the Board of Bar Examiners is to examine all applicants for admission to the Bar as to their legal learning and general qualifications to practice as attorneys in the several courts of the State. After passing the examination or being found eligible for admission without examination, and compliance with the statutes has been accomplished, the Board issues a certificate of qualification which states the standing of the applicant and recommends his/her admission to the bar.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board is composed of seven lawyers of the State and two representatives of the public appointed by the Governor. As the terms of the members expire, members of the Board are appointed annually by the Governor on the recommendation of the Supreme Judicial Court and hold office for terms of five (5) years. Terms begin on the first day of January of the year of appointment and end on the last day of December of the year of expiration of the appointment.

The Board holds two examination sessions annually at such times and places in the State as the Board determines and the Supreme Judicial Court approves. The members of the Board elect a chair and a secretary who may, but need not be, the same person, and a treasurer. The Board makes rules and regulations relative to the performance and duties of the Board and to the examinations which the Board conducts Five members of said Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

In its efforts to discharge its statutory duties, the Board must review its policies and practices in such matters as:

- 1. the necessity of examining applicants who already have been admitted by examination in other jurisdictions;
- 2. the eligibility of graduates of foreign law schools to take the bar exam;

- 3. the fairness and validity of examination procedures and standards;
 4. the relationship of a law school education to the bar examination; and
 5. the effectiveness of procedures to determine the character and fitness of applicants to practice law.

The Board works closely with the National Conference of Bar Examiners and the American Bar Association to receive the benefit of the experience of the other jurisdictions in bar examination matters.

DISTRICT COURT FOR THE STATE OF MAINE HON, BRENT DAVIS, CHIEF JUDGE

Established: 1961 Telephone: (207) 213-2971 Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 40 Unit: 279 Citation: T0004 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000000151

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the District Court is to serve as a court of general jurisdiction in law and equity for the State, excluding civil jury trials.

ORGANIZATION

The District Court was originally created by the Legislature in 1961 as Maine's court of limited jurisdiction. The Court's jurisdiction has expanded substantially. In criminal matters, it has original jurisdiction in non-felony cases. However, effective July 1, 2015 the Judicial Branch developed a Unified Criminal Docket (UCD) for all criminal misdemeanor and felony matters. Responsibility for all criminal matters in the UCD is shared by justices of the Superior Court and judges of the District Court.

Until March 15, 2001, the Court had concurrent jurisdiction with the Superior Court in divorce and non-equitable civil cases involving not more than $30,000. As of March 15, 2001, the monetary claim limit for civil cases was eliminated, creating concurrent jurisdiction with the Superior Court. The District Court now has exclusive jurisdiction of divorce and family cases. The District Court also may grant equitable relief in a wide variety of cases including unfair trade practices and cases involving environmental law violations.

The District Court hears all child protection cases, and protection from abuse and protection from harassment cases. The District Court is the small claims court (for cases involving not more than $6,000) and the juvenile court. In addition, the Court hears mental health, forcible entry and detainer, quiet title, and foreclosure cases. It is the only court available for the enforcement of money judgments. The District Court also has original jurisdiction over civil violations, and exclusive jurisdiction over all violations bureau matters.

There are 39 judges in the District Court, including the Chief Judge, who is designated by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court. All District Court judges are appointed by the Governor, reviewed by the legislative Joint Standing Committee on the Judiciary, and confirmed by the Senate for seven-year terms. Pursuant to Administrative Order, District Court judges may also sit in the Superior Court. In the District Court, judges are assigned by the Chief Judge to sit in any District Court in the State.

PROGRAM:

Within the District Court, there are administrative units and systems designed to enable the Court to achieve its purposes. The Family Division of the District Court was established by the Second Session of the 118th Legislature, which enacted 4 M.R.S.A. section 183 as follows: "There is established within the District Court a Family Division that has jurisdiction over family matters filed in District Court. The Family Division shall provide a system of justice that is responsive to the needs of families and the support of their children." In May of 1998, Family Case Management Officers, renamed Family Law Magistrates in 2005, began to hear and dispose of certain family matter cases, usually involving child support.

The District Court Judges, along with Superior Court Justices, preside over the Family Recovery Court, Co-Occurring Disorder Court and Veterans Court Proceedings. The Family Recovery Courts operate in York, Cumberland, Androscoggin, Hancock, and Washington Counties. The Co-Occurring Disorder Court and the Veterans Court are statewide courts located primarily in Kennebec County.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

The Family Treatment Drug Court is operating within the Maine District Court in the Lewiston-Auburn area, the Bangor area and in Central Maine. This federally funded docket works with families in child protection proceedings when substance use disorder is a major problem in the family. The District Court also operates Domestic Violence Monitoring Courts in several locations throughout the State. This grant-funded docket provides ongoing court monitoring of individuals that have been convicted of criminal acts of domestic violence.

The Chief Judge of the District Court rosters all Guardians ad Litem (GAL), who are appointed by the Court in part to provide children with a voice in family and child protection matters in the District Court. The Chief Judge of the District Court also appoints all Bail Commissioners and Justices of the Peace.

PURPOSE

The Committee on Judicial Conduct was created by the Supreme Judicial Court by court order in 1978. The Committee is empowered to receive and investigate complaints of judicial misconduct. Judicial misconduct is defined by the Maine Code of Judicial Conduct, which was promulgated by the Supreme Judicial Court. By order of the Court, the Code of Judicial Conduct is binding on all state judges and magistrates, as set forth in the Code and the Court's order.

ORGANIZATION:

The Committee on Judicial Conduct consists of eight members appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court. One member is a Justice of the Superior Court, one is a Judge of the District Court, and one is a Probate Judge. Two members are attorneys at law admitted to practice in the State of Maine, and three are public members, all appointed by the Supreme Judicial Court upon the recommendation of the Governor. Four alternate members are also appointed to serve with respect to any matter from which a regular member is excused or otherwise unavailable.

PROGRAM:

Proceedings before the Committee are typically begun upon receipt of a complaint concerning the conduct of a judge. If the Committee members decide that the facts involved in the complaint appear to come within its authority, a copy of the complaint is submitted to the judge for a response, unless the allegations or facts available to the Committee show that no disciplinary misconduct is involved. At the time a complaint is submitted to the judge, an investigation is conducted appropriate to the circumstances of the complaint. Based upon its investigation and the judge's response, the Committee determines whether the complaint should be dismissed or whether an evidentiary hearing is necessary.

The Committee cannot itself impose disciplinary sanctions. Unless the complaint is dismissed, the Committee's findings and conclusions, together with recommendations, are reported to the Supreme Judicial Court in any matter in which the Committee finds misconduct warranting formal disciplinary action. Thereafter, the matter is in the hands of the Court. The Committee may also seek informal correction of any judicial conduct or practice that may create an appearance of judicial misconduct.

Upon written request of the Governor, the Legislature's Joint Standing Committee on Judiciary, or an appropriate federal agency or official, in connection with consideration of the appointment of a person who has been a judge, the Committee is directed to provide information on any complaints made against that person and the Committee's disposition thereof. The Committee reports annually to the Supreme Judicial Court a summary of each year's activities.

PUBLICATIONS:

The Committee has available for distribution material describing the Committee's operation and function, as well as the rules that govern the Committee's operation and function, as well as the fulles that govern the committee significance of the jurisdiction and procedure. Copies are available upon request. Copies of the available Annual Reports of the Committee are also distributed upon request. SUPERIOR COURT HON. ROBERT E. MULLEN, CHIEF JUSTICE

Central Office: 47 COURT STREET, SKOWHEGAN, ME 04976 Mail Address: 47 COURT STREET, SKOWHEGAN, ME 04976

FAX: (207) 822-4283 Telephone: (207) 822-4269 Established: Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 40 Unit: 278 Citation: T0004 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000000101

PURPOSE:

The Superior Court was originally created by the Legislature in 1929 as Maine's trial court of general jurisdiction. Since 2001, the Court no longer has jurisdiction over divorce, family matters, child protection, or protection from abuse and harassment family matters. The Superior Court has exclusive jurisdiction over civil jury trials, including medical malpractice cases; limited appellate jurisdiction regarding questions of law and de novo proceedings in certain District Court cases; and limited concurrent original jurisdiction with the Supreme Judicial Court over certain proceedings. Since its creation, the Superior Court has had exclusive jurisdiction over all felony-level criminal proceedings; however, the Judicial Branch has developed a Unified Criminal Docket (UCD) process for all criminal misdemeanor and felony matters, which was fully implemented Statewide by July 1, 2015. Responsibility for criminal matters in the UCD is shared by justices of the Superior Court and judges of the District Court.

ORGANIZATION:

There are 17 justices of the Superior Court who hold sessions of the court in each of the State's 16 counties. The justices are appointed by the Governor for seven year terms, with the consent of the Legislature. A single justice is designated by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court to serve as the Chief Justice of the Superior Court.

The Chief Justice of the Superior Court is responsible for establishing the regular and special assignments of the justices, for specifying when the Grand Jury shall be summonsed in each county, and for assigning justices to the Single-Justice program and to Post-Conviction Review matters, and to other matters throughout the State. The Chief Justice also supervises the Medical Malpractice Pre-Litigation Screening Panel program for all medical malpractice cases in the Superior Court.

PROGRAM:

In 2004, the Superior Court established a statewide Single-Justice system in which an individual justice is assigned for all purposes to each civil case and each criminal homicide case, including manslaughter, filed in the State. As a result, only one justice is responsible for all decisions and matters in each of

The Superior Court also conducts several types of problem-solving courts throughout the State, including the Business and Consumer Docket (aka The Business Court), the Adult Drug Treatment Court and the combined Co-occurring Disorders and Veterans Court. The Superior Court also has pioneered the use of judicially assisted settlement conferences, a highly successful form of mediation in which a judge not involved with the case being mediated serves as the neutral. This system is now used throughout the trial court system.

ORGANIZATION:

The Supreme Judicial Court is the highest court in Maine, and, as the Law Court, is the court of final appeal. As of January 1, 2001, the Law Court hears appeals of civil and criminal cases from District and Superior Courts; appeals from all final judgments, orders, and decrees of the Probate Court; appeals of decisions of the Public Utilities Commission; and appeals from the Workers Compensation Board. A justice of the Supreme Judicial Court may be assigned by the Chief Justice to sit in the Superior Court or the District Court to hear cases of any type, including post-conviction matters and jury trials.

In addition, the Supreme Judicial Court defines and regulates the practice of law and the conduct of attorneys in Maine by the promulgation of Maine Bar Rules, published in the annual Maine Rules of Court. It also is the ultimate authority for admitting lawyers to the bar, and for administering lawyer discipline including disbarment. The justices of the Supreme Judicial Court may be called upon to make decisions regarding legislative apportionment and render advisory opinions concerning important questions of law on solemn occasions when requested by the Governor, Senate, or House of Representatives. Three members of the Maine Supreme Judicial Court serve as the Sentence Review Panel for the review of sentences of one year or more.

The Supreme Judicial Court has seven members: the Chief Justice and six Associate The justices must be trained in the law and are appointed by the Governor for seven year terms, with the consent of the Legislature. By statute, the Chief Justice is head of the Judicial Branch, and the Supreme Judicial Court has general administrative and supervisory authority over the Judicial Branch. Upon retirement, a Supreme Judicial Court Justice may be appointed an Active Retired Justice by the Governor, for a seven year term, with the consent of the Legislature. On assignment by the Chief Justice, an Active Retired Justice has the same authority as an active justice.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Rehabilitation Services - Division for the Blind and Visually Impaired was established to provide a broad spectrum of services to people who are blind or visually impaired. These services include the prevention of blindness; location and registration of people who are blind or visually impaired; provisions of certain education services to children who are blind or visually impaired from birth to age 22; provision of vocational rehabilitation services to accomplish job placement; provision of instruction in blindness specific skills in the area of independent living; and provision of other social services.

ORGANIZATION:

The Division was established in 1941 as the Division of Eye Care in the Department of Health and Welfare. Since 1996, the Division has been part of the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services in the Department of Labor. The Division is based in CareerCenters and provides services throughout the State.

PROGRAM:

The Division for the Blind and Visually Impaired (DBVI) administers four programs specific to persons in Maine who are blind or visually impaired. The Education Program provides specific instructional services to blind children in assisting local school units to meet their responsibilities for a free appropriate public education under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). These services (braille instruction, travel training, direct teaching, special materials, and personal and family counseling) are provided in part by DBVI staff and in part through contracted Teachers of the Visually Impaired (TVI). This program currently serves approximately 300 children per year.

The Independent Living Program provides direct blindness-specific skill instruction and training activities to assist older people in achieving or maintaining independence in their homes and communities and to avoid costly institutionalization. Services are provided in part by DBVI staff and in part by contracted Vision Rehabilitation Therapists. This program serves about 550 older adults each year.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Program provides blindness-specific training and other services to enable people who are blind or visually impaired to acquire, retain, or advance in employment including through vocational counseling, application of technology, direct blindness-specific instruction, skill training activities, and a variety of purchased and contracted services. The Vocational Rehabilitation Program currently serves approximately 300 transitioning youth and adult clients.

The Business Enterprise Program (BEP) was developed under federal legislation enacted in 1936 called the Randolph-Sheppard Act. Under this law, legally blind individuals are given the priority to operate "vending facilities" on federal property. The operation of BEP facilities on state and municipal property in the State of Maine is provided by state legislation which parallels the Federal Act. This program provides employment opportunities for persons who are legally blind.

ORGANIZATION:

DDHHLD was established on November 1, 1982, and was known as the Office of Deafness. DDHHLD received its present name in July of 2009, as the result of a five-year plan goal to make the Division more inclusive. In 2011, for streamlining purposes, legislation was put in place to move the supervision of DDHHLD under the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR). By moving the DDHHLD under DVR, employment services became an added service to this division to include four specialty vocational rehabilitation counselors for the deaf and hard of hearing.

PROGRAM:

DDHHLD's work is accomplished through contracts that provide individual and systemic advocacy, as well as the provision of telecommunications equipment. DDHHLD consults with and offers training to state agencies to assist in making state services fully accessible. DDHHLD also provides information and referral services and periodicals to support consumers and providers. DDHHLD responds to approximately 100-150 calls per month concerning information, referral, training, advocacy, and other related services for people who are deaf, hard-of hearing, or late deafened. DDHHLD also administers the State's telecommunication device program, which provides telecommunications equipment for people with any disability on either a cost-share or loan basis depending on the individual's income. Supervision and oversight of four Vocational Rehabilitation Counselors for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing is provided by the Director. DDHHLD provides voluntary identification cards for people who are deaf or hard of hearing.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation contributes to the economic stability of Maine by providing temporary employer funded benefits to eligible individuals when they have lost their job through no fault of their own. The Bureau, in cooperation with federal and state agencies, operates multiple unemployment insurance benefit programs.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Unemployment Compensation is organized into five divisions: The largest is the Division of Benefit Services which includes unemployment claims centers responsible for making initial determinations of benefit eligibility and for processing benefit claims. Benefit Services also includes the unemployment fraud investigation unit and benefit overpayment collections unit. Benefit Services handles all processes associated with banking and the issuance of benefit payments.

The Unemployment Insurance Tax Division incorporates all unemployment tax functions including employer registration, determination of employer unemployment insurance tax liability, employer account management, and employer tax and wage record collection. Staff within this Division assist employers with questions regarding unemployment laws and regulations, worker classification to ensure unemployment insurance coverage, and any other questions related to the unemployment insurance employer account.

The Program Performance & Policy Division is responsible for the Bureau's technology production system support and interface with the system managed services vendor, system help desk services, staff training, and document management. It is also responsible for carrying out quality control reviews of claim processing, adjudication and tax performance through the Benefit Accuracy

The fourth division, Division of Administrative Hearings, is described separately in this report.

The final unit within the Bureau is the Unemployment Compensation Administration Office which is comprised of the senior Bureau leadership responsible for Bureau oversight and strategic direction, budget and contract administration, legislation and rule-making activities, reporting, and interface with the program's federal partner, the U.S. Department of Labor.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau administers several unemployment programs with varying eligibility requirements, but all pertaining to the loss of employment that was not caused by the individual. The following programs were in effect during the fiscal year: State Unemployment Insurance (UI); Unemployment Compensation for Federal Employees (UCFE); Unemployment Compensation for Ex-Service Members (UCX); the Dislocated Workers Benefit (DWB) program; the federal Trade Readjustment Allowances (TRA) program, and Workshare, which is a short-term compensation program.

During economic downturns such as the COVID-19 pandemic, the unemployment program acts as an economic stabilizer for the State. Benefits go directly to individuals to support themselves and their families, and their spending goes directly into Maine's economy.

BUREAU OF LABOR STANDARDS DR. JASON MOYER-LEE, DIRECTOR JOHN RIOUX, DEPUTY DIRECTOR

Central Office: 45 COMMERCE DR, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 45 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0045 Established: 1973 FAX: (207) 623-7934 Telephone: (207) 623-7900 Reference: Policy Area: 01 Umbrella: 12 Unit: 170 Citation: T0026 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000000041 Average Counts-All Positions: 42.000 Legislative Count: 42.00

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Labor Standards enforces State labor laws: regulating the employment of minors and the payment of wages; State laws established for the protection of the health and safety of workers; and those enacted for the protection of working people in general. The Bureau also provides business consultations to support employers in compliance with state and federal labor laws and to improve the safety and health of the workplace.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau was established in 1873 as an activity under the Secretary of State to collect and print statistics on manufacturing, mining, commercial, and industrial interests, together with the valuation and appropriations of municipalities. In 1887, the Bureau of Industrial and Labor Statistics was established by the Legislature. In 1911, this was changed to the Department of Labor and Industry with added responsibilities for enforcing laws regulating employment of children and women, the protection of the physical well-being of factory workers, and the payment of wages. The Department remained as a separate entity until 1972, when in the reorganization of state government, it became the Bureau of Labor and Industry within the new Department of Manpower Affairs. In 1975, the Bureau's name was changed to the Bureau of Labor. In 1981, when the name of the Department of Manpower Affairs was changed to the Department of Labor, the Bureau's name changed to the Bureau of Labor Standards.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau is composed of three divisions, the State Monitor Advocate, and an Outreach and Education Coordinator.

The Wage and Hour Division enforces state laws relating to employment including but not limited to child labor, equal pay, minimum wage, overtime, nonpayment of wages, construction wages on publicly-funded projects, and severance pay. It investigates complaints alleging violations of these laws. In addition, the Division evaluates and approves requests for work permits for minors to ensure compliance with state and federal requirements. The Division offers several classes for employers to promote compliance with child labor and labor standards laws.

The Workplace Safety and Health Division enforces workplace safety standards as adopted by the Board of Occupational Safety and Health (also listed in this publication) on state and local government employers. It also conducts a variety of non-enforcement programs to assist state and local government and private employers in improving their occupational safety and health performance and complying with state and federal requirements. Public training classes, on-site consultations, and video library items are available through the SafetyWorks! program to all Maine employers.

The Research and Statistics Division collects and publishes statistical data concerning labor and industry; collects and analyzes data on the prevalence and causes of occupational injuries and illnesses; and evaluates interventions towards lessening their number and effect. Regular data series prepared by this unit are available at libraries around the State and online at the link below: https://www.maine.gov/labor/labor_stats/research.html.

The Outreach and Education Coordinator creates and maintains partnerships with external groups, especially underserved communities with barriers to employment and services, to leverage and enhance bureau and department services and best practices. The State Monitor Advocate reviews state services to Migrant and Seasonal Farmworkers to ensure that they have equitable access to career services, skill development, and workforce protections offered by American Job Centers.

State funds for bureau operations are augmented by funds from cooperative agreements with the US Occupational Safety and Health Administration, the US Mine Safety and Health Administration, and the US Bureau of Labor Statistics.

PURPOSE:

Public-sector employees in Maine have the right to engage in collective bargaining, as provided by four separate laws that govern labor relations in the State. State, county, municipal, school department, university, community college, judicial, and legislative employees come within the Board's jurisdiction. The State's labor relations laws share a common foundation that establishes the framework for collective bargaining in Maine. The stated purpose of each law is to improve the relationship between public employers and their employees. Employees may choose to engage in collective bargaining by selecting a bargaining agent, i.e. union, to represent a group of the employees, called a bargaining unit, who share common working conditions.

The Maine Labor Relations Board's primary mission is to enforce the rights and obligations provided in the State's four public-sector labor relations laws. To do so, the Board and its affiliated organizations perform three central functions: (1) the certification of bargaining units, typically through an election, where employees vote on whether to be represented by a union; (2) the resolution of collective bargaining impasses through mediation, fact-finding, or interest arbitration; and (3) the adjudication of complaints that allege violations of the labor relations laws. The Board is responsible for resolving disputes over the composition of bargaining units, conducting and certifying elections for bargaining agents, conducting hearings for prohibited practice complaints, and issuing decisions and orders for those complaints.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Labor Relations Board consists of three primary members, one representing each of the elements of public sector labor, public sector management and the general public interest, with the member representing the general public interest serving as chair. These members, and their alternates (two for each of the primary positions), are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Legislature, and serve for terms of four years.

PROGRAM:

The municipal sector continues to be the most diversified and most active of all sectors utilizing the services of the Maine Labor Relations Board. During FY23, Board officials conducted 9 elections and processed 12 majority sign-up petitions. Also in FY23 19 prohibited practice complaints were filed with the Board. The administration and processing of these complaints involves both the Board and its staff in the details of docketing; arranging hearings before the Board members; processing prehearing conferences; scheduling post-hearing memoranda; meeting for deliberation of cases; research; and drafting the decisions themselves.

The Panel of Mediators (Panel) was established to implement the public policy of the State of Maine by providing a full and adequate facility for the settlement of disputes between employers and employees or their representatives and other disputes subject to settlement through mediation. By law, mediation procedures are mandatory, whenever either party to a controversy requests such services and the Maine Labor Relations Board or its Executive Director finds that the dispute is subject to settlement through mediation and that it is in the public interest to mediate.

ORGANIZATION:

The Panel was established in 1951 and came under the administrative auspices of the Maine Labor Relations Board in 1973. The law provides that there be no less than five nor more than ten impartial mediators nominated by the Maine Labor Relations Board and appointed by the Governor for terms of three years. There are currently nine State Mediators.

PROGRAM:

In FY23, parties filed a total of 27 requests for Panel mediation. These requests typically involved parties at the municipal or county level. Additionally, 13 mediations were held over from previous fiscal years. Of the 40 matters pending in FY23, a total of 32 were closed during the year either through the parties reaching agreement during mediation itself or shortly thereafter.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services (BRS) is to help Maine people with disabilities find, maintain, and advance in employment and achieve full participation in the community. Working in partnership with the Maine Department of Health and Human Services, Maine Department of Education, and other rehabilitation providers, the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation administers state and federal rehabilitation services for people (including students transitioning from high school) with disabilities.

ORGANIZATION:

State administered rehabilitation services originated in 1921 with the creation of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division under the supervision of the State Board of Education. In 1969, the Legislature directed that a functional unit of rehabilitation services be created within the then Department of Health and Welfare to consolidate rehabilitation programs and to administer services under the federal Rehabilitation Act. BRS was created under this legislation. The administration of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, the Division of Eye Care and Special Services, and the Division of Disability Determination Services were consolidated under this legislation. In 1994, the Legislature moved the BRS to the Maine Department of Education, and then in 1996, to the Maine Department of Labor.

PROGRAM:

The main program within BRS is the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. This program provides comprehensive vocational rehabilitation services and endeavors to bring about full access to employment, independence, and community integration for people with disabilities including youth and young adults. The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation assists eligible individuals with physical or mental disabilities to prepare for and achieve an employment outcome. "Employment outcome" means entering, retaining, or advancing in full-time employment or, if appropriate, part-time competitive employment in the integrated labor market, supported-employment, or any other type of employment in an integrated setting. This includes self-employment, telecommuting, or business ownership that is consistent with an individual's strengths, resources, priorities, concerns, abilities, capabilities, interests, and informed choice.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Unemployment Insurance Commission conducts appellate reviews of benefit eligibility and unemployment tax determinations made by the Division of Administrative Hearings of the Maine Department of Labor and issues decisions on those appeals

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Unemployment Insurance Commission consists of three Commission members and their support staff. The three members are a representative of labor, a representative of employers, and a neutral member. The neutral member serves as Chair of the Commission and, by statute, must be an attorney licensed to practice law in the state of Maine. The members of the Commission are nominated by the Governor and confirmed by the committee of jurisdiction in the Maine Legislature and the Maine Senate. Each member is appointed to a six year term, or until a new member has been appointed and duly confirmed. While the finances of the Commission are included in those of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, the Commission and the Bureau are separate entities.

PROGRAM

The Commission review of decisions includes analyses of evidence, procedures, rules, statutes, and case law. After review, the Commission issues decisions on each appeal. Where the Commission determines that further development of the record is needed, the Commission may remand cases back to the Division of Administrative hearings for the taking of additional evidence. In limited circumstances, the Commission conducts additional hearings and issues decisions. The Commission also processes requests for seasonal employer designations and decides appeals of state income tax offsets and wage garnishment cases.

PURPOSE

The Center for Workforce Research and Information collects, analyzes, and reports on Maine's labor market to assist a wide range of users in assessing conditions and trends. The Center provides the Department of Labor and other interested parties with economic, management, and strategic analysis to support policy-making and to inform decision-making on programs impacting Maine's labor market.

ORGANIZATION:

Before its reorganization in 2007, the Center previously operated as the Division of Labor Market Information Services and the Division of Economic Analysis and Research. The Director, who reports to the Commissioner of the Department of Labor, oversees a team of statisticians and analysts who carry out the programs and services described below.

PROGRAM:

Program activities involve data collection, classifying data according to industry, occupation, or geography, reviewing data for quality, and conducting research and analysis. Data and research are published to support decision-making. Much of the Center's information can be found online at www.maine.gov/labor/cwri. The Center works to produce data in collaboration with the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics in four core labor market information programs. These programs include: 1) Current Employment Statistics (CES), a survey of employers used to develop monthly estimates of nonfarm payroll jobs and wages by sector for the State and its metropolitan statistical areas; 2) Local Area Unemployment Statistics (LAUS), which provides monthly civilian labor force and unemployment estimates based on a survey of households and other data inputs; 3) Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages (QCEW), uses jobs and wages reported through quarterly unemployment insurance tax filings to provide the most detailed information on jobs and wages by industry and location; and 4) Occupational Employment and Wages Statistics (OEWS), a survey of employers on jobs and wages paid by occupation to develop estimates for more than 600 occupations across the State and for substate areas. The Center also manages MaineEARNS, a longitudinal database that integrates many of the Department of Labor's administrative datasets with information provided by data sharing partners. MaineEARNS provides information on employment and earnings for graduates of the University of Maine System and the Maine Community College System available at https://www.maine.gov/labor/cwri/mpso/. Students, parents, educators, administrators, policy makers, and anyone interested in earning education credentials and employment in Maine are able to use this data to research, plan, and make informed decisions. In addition, the Center provides employment projections by industry and occupation and conducts an annual woods survey in support of H2A immigrant wage certifications in

The Senate is the upper chamber of the Maine Legislature, and serves as the final confirming body of all bills passed before they are sent to the Governor. Under Article IV, Part Third, Section 9 of the Constitution of Maine, the Senate may originate all bills except those proposed for the purpose of raising revenue. It may, however, amend bills for the raising of revenue, provided that the amendment is not in fact used to introduce new raising of revenue.

The Senate is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members. It maintains sole authority to punish or censure its own members; it has the power to imprison persons who are not Senators for contempt; it determines its own rules for Senate proceedings; and it maintains a permanent journal of its proceedings.

By Constitutional Resolution, passed during the First Regular Session of the 107th Legislature and adopted by the voters in November, 1975, the Senate is empowered to confirm all gubernatorial nominations requiring Legislative approval (formerly confirmed by the Executive Council). Article IV, Part Second, Section 7, empowers the Senate to try all impeachments.

ORGANIZATION:

The Senate has remained constant in its form of organization as a Constitutional body since its establishment in 1820. As defined under Article IV, Part Second, Section 1 of the Constitution, the Senate currently consists of 35 Senators. Each Senator is elected for a term of two years, and limited to four consecutive terms. A Senator must be a citizen of Maine for at least one year, be a resident of the district for at least 3 months prior to the election and continue to reside within the district during the term of office, and be 25 years of age at the commencement of the term for which they are elected

The Constitution requires that the Senate be reapportioned every 10 years, by the Senate itself or, if the Senate fails to do so within the required time, by the Maine Supreme Judicial Court. In 2021, the Legislature, by a vote of 2/3rds of the members in each body, apportioned the Senate and House districts.

The Senate elects a President who presides over all its proceedings and a Secretary and Assistant Secretary who serve as chief administrative officers. The major political parties in the Senate each elect their own leaders and assistant leaders who are permitted to hire their own staff assistants, with the approval of the presiding officer.

PROGRAM:

The First Regular Session of the 131st Maine Legislature convened on Wednesday, December 7, 2022. The Senate met for 21 legislative sessions and adjourned Sine Die on Thursday, March 30, 2023.

ADVISORY COUNCIL (TO MARINE RESOURCES)

BUREAU OF PUBLIC HEALTH
BUREAU OF POLICY AND MANAGEMENT

BUREAU OF MARINE SCIENCE

BUREAU OF MARINE PATROL BUREAU OF SEA RUN FISHERIES AND HABITAT

PURPOSE:

The Department of Marine Resources was established to conserve and develop marine and estuarine resources of the State of Maine by conducting and sponsoring scientific research, promoting and developing the Maine commercial fishing industry, administering and enforcing marine laws and regulations, and by advising agencies of government concerned with development or activity in coastal waters.

The Department has the authority to enter into reciprocal enforcement agreements with other states, interstate regional authorities and the federal government; to cooperate, consult and advise with other appropriate state agencies on all interrelated matters involving the coast and its marine resources; to assist the industry in the promotion and marketing of its products; to close contaminated shores, waters and flats; to make regulations to assure the conservation of renewable marine resources in any coastal waters or flats of the State; and to hold hearings and to publish notices as may be required by law.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department currently consists of five bureaus, including the Bureau of Policy and Management, the Bureau of Marine Science, the Bureau of Public Health, the Bureau of Sea Run Fisheries and Habitat and the Bureau of Marine Patrol. Advisory councils are established by statute for Lobster, Scallop, Sea Urchin, Shellfish, and Seaweed as well as Commercial Fishing Safety and Aquaculture. In addition, seven lobster policy management councils (Zones) are established with authority to hold referenda regarding lobster fishing regulations.

PROGRAM:

The Department is responsible for managing Maine's commercial and recreational fisheries. The seafood industry is an important economic driver of Maine's coastal communities, generating approximately $3.2 billion in economic activity annually. The Department continues to focus on conservation and management of marine resources, on seafood safety and public health, boating safety, and marine education.

In addition to management of state water fisheries, many fisheries management issues are addressed through the State's participation in the New England Fishery Management Council (e.g. groundfish, scallops, herring, monkfish) and the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (e.g. lobster, menhaden, shrimp). There will be continued demands on agency time to participate in development of federal and interjurisdictional fisheries management plans. The Department has specific regulatory authority to place immediate restrictions on emerging new fisheries. The Department gathers both commercial and recreational fishery landings statistics.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Marine Patrol (BMP) is the law enforcement arm of the Department of Marine Resources. Marine Patrol Officers are responsible for the enforcement of all commercial and recreational fishing laws and regulations in Maine's tidal waters. Maine has over 5,000 miles of coastline, over 125,000 registered boats, and 20,000 licensed harvesters. The enforcement of Maine's robust marine resources involves a great deal of at-sea enforcement and patrol work dedicated to monitoring both inshore and offshore fisheries. Commercial and recreational fisheries of note include lobster, groundfish, scallop, sea urchin, striped bass, herring, and menhaden. Agency efforts also involve onshore enforcement of fisheries including but not limited to shellfish, marine worm, and elver. Maine is unique in that it has authority over all State licensed fishermen in both territorial waters and within the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) of the United States. In other words, BMP is required to travel well offshore in order to meet its mission. Enforcement plays a significant role in the continued success of the State's fisheries whether it be the inspection of over 3 million lobster traps fished along the coast or the necessary monitoring of the shellfish industry for public health risks. BMP also participates in aquaculture site inspections up and down the coast in support of this expanding industry.

In addition to the work performed at the harvester level, BMP is in part responsible for overseeing activity at seafood dealers in Maine; this includes wholesale and retail businesses from seafood processors to seafood restaurants. BMP plays a lead role in boating safety along the Maine coast sharing the responsibility with the United States Coast Guard (USCG). BMP performs Homeland and Port Security services working closely with the Maine State Police (MSP), Maine Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) and the USCG. Marine Patrol Officers are also federally deputized for fisheries enforcement with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) through a joint enforcement agreement. This added responsibility requires officers to have knowledge and expertise in the enforcement of federal requirements. BMP is the State agency responsible for coastal searches and recovery. Search and Rescue efforts are routinely coordinated with the USCG, as well as other State agencies.

For decades Maine Marine Patrol has embraced and stood behind the policing model of voluntary compliance. BMP officers promote this philosophy on a daily basis by working very closely with the commercial fishing industry and the recreational fishing and boating public.

ORGANIZATION

Marine Patrol Officers were initially Fish Wardens and later became Coastal Wardens. BMP was officially established in 1869, although Fish Wardens began serving in 1843. In 1917 the appointment authority was transferred to the Commissioner of Sea and Shore Fisheries. In 1978 Sea and Shore Fisheries wardens were renamed Marine Patrol Officers.

BMP headquarters is currently located in Augusta and the state is divided into two divisions with offices in Boothbay and Lamoine. Currently BMP is made up of 49 sworn personnel and five support staff and marine mechanics.

BMP has a large fleet of watercraft for both inshore and offshore enforcement. The fleet boosts six large patrol vessels between 35 and 46 feet, nine mid-range patrol vessels between 23 and 33 feet, over a dozen small patrol vessels, and one sea plane. BMP patrol vessels and officers maintain a year-round presence on the coastal waters of the State.

PROGRAM:

BMP enforces the State's marine fisheries laws, federal regulations under a joint enforcement agreement, public health regulations, recreational and boating safety laws, and environmental regulations in cooperation with the Department of Environmental Protection. In addition, BMP collaborates with the USCG for search and rescue operations and Homeland Security issues. BMP continues to take on added responsibilities within the maritime environment. These, in part, include maintaining an active Underwater Recovery Team and Maritime Security Team in conjunction with the State Police, and a Whale Disentanglement Team in conjunction with NOAA. BMP officers routinely work closely with partner agencies at the local, State, and federal levels, including Inland Fish and Wildlife (IF&W), USCG, National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS/NOAA) and MEMA, in order to support and respond to potential threats to the citizens, environment and infrastructure of the State of Maine.

LICENSES

Marine Patrol Officers are responsible for monitoring regulations that apply to all commercial and recreational fisheries within the coastal waters of Maine. There are over 20,000 commercial licenses and several thousand recreational licenses issued by DMR. In addition, BMP is tasked with the inspection and oversight of approximately 1,800 wholesale and retail seafood facilities within Maine. The enforcement of DMR licensing laws is a cornerstone of resource management. Marine Patrol Officers also enforce boating registration laws on tidal waters.

PUBLICATIONS

A summary of marine resource laws is published biannually following adjournment of the First Regular Session of each Legislature. All current marine resource regulations are available from the DMR website online.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Public Health is primarily responsible for implementation of the National Shellfish Sanitation Program (NSSP) in the State of Maine. Members of the Bureau participate in the Interstate Shellfish Sanitation Conference which is a cooperative management program comprised of state shellfish authorities, the federal government and the shellfish industry charged with development of the NSSP. The Bureau accomplishes compliance with the NSSP by monitoring bivalve shellfish resources and ensuring their safety to consumers through regulation of the growing areas, harvest practices, processing, and distribution. There are four major programs within the Bureau: Growing Area, Dealer Inspection, Laboratory and Nearshore Marine Resources.

The Growing Area Program conducts water quality monitoring and pollution source identification for the classification of shellfish growing areas and monitors biotoxin or Harmful Algal Blooms (HABs) to ensure shellfish are safe for human consumption. This program closes and reopens harvest areas due to emergency situations and oversees harvest from restricted areas.

The Dealer Inspection Program inspects and certifies bivalve shellfish dealers to ensure they have sanitary conditions and practices that reduce time and temperature abuse and eliminate contamination or adulteration. This program element is also responsible for illness investigations including product tracebacks, recalls and embargos and for the Vibrio Control Plan voluntarily implemented by the State.

The Laboratory Program element includes the State's two US Food and Drug Administration certified laboratories that support the water quality and biotoxin sampling efforts through advanced methods including membrane filtration for fecal coliform and High-Performance Liquid Chromatography for Amnesic Shellfish Poisoning and Paralytic Shellfish Poisoning. The labs have also expanded capacity to test for Vibrio bacteria using PCR technology.

The Nearshore Marine Resources Program (formerly Shellfish Management) within the Bureau is responsible for the assessment and management of bivalve shellfish and other intertidal marine resources such as seaweeds, marine worms and gastropods. This program works closely with municipalities that choose to manage their bivalve shellfish resources with municipal shellfish conservation ordinances according to State laws and regulations. Staff in the Shellfish Management Program are also tasked with assessing climate change in the intertidal zone and reviewing environmental permits to evaluate the impacts of activities such as construction and dredging.

The Bureau also facilitates the Shellfish Advisory Council comprised of industry members who advise the Department on issues related to bivalve shellfish.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Public Health was created in fiscal year 2014 and separated from the Bureau of Resource Management which became the Bureau of Marine Science. The Bureau is comprised of four programs: Growing Area, Dealer Inspection, Laboratory and Nearshore Marine Resources. Microbiology and biotoxin laboratories are located both at the West Boothbay Harbor and Lamoine State Park facilities serving the entire coast of Maine. Staff are stationed in Scarborough, Augusta, West Boothbay Harbor, Lamoine and Jonesboro.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau of Public Health evaluates shellfish growing areas and conducts a wholesale dealer evaluation and certification program to protect public health under the guidelines of the National Shellfish Sanitation Program. Staff and volunteers conduct water quality monitoring of shellfish growing areas Volunteers conduct water quality monitoring of shellfish growing areas and shoreline surveys to identify pollution sources with the goal of maintaining and/or increasing the amount of shellfish-producing areas open to harvest. Biotoxin sampling is conducted to monitor the occurrence of Harmful Algal Blooms (HABs) which can cause Paralytic Shellfish Poisoning, Amnesic Shellfish Poisoning and Diarrhetic Shellfish Poisoning. Volunteers and staff monitor phytoplankton in coastal waters to determine the presence of HABs. The Growing Area Program is evaluated by the US FDA every two years. Water quality and biotoxin samples are run in the laboratories according to NSSP standards and requirements. The labs have an internal evaluation annually and external evaluations by the US FDA every years. Shellfish dealer inspectors conduct routine site visits to all certified shellfish dealers and enhanced retailers to ensure compliance with bivalve shellfish sanitation regulations. The Dealer Inspection Program is evaluated by the US FDA annually. Area biologists from the Nearshore Marine Resources Program work with municipalities with shellfish conservation ordinances to ensure they follow State guidelines and maintain healthy resources. They also conduct research on marine worms, seaweed and subtidal shellfish resources and monitor climate change in the intertidal zone. Environmental Permit Reviews are conducted in coordination with other State agencies and experts within the Department.

LICENSES:

No licensing activity.

The Growing Area Program issues permits for restricted area harvesting, relay activities and harvest under specific circumstances. The Dealer Inspection Program issues dealer certifications and import/export permits as authorized by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration as well as Vibrio certificates. The Nearshore Marine Resources Program issues permits for shellfish transplant activities and conservation closures as well as certifications for Municipal Shellfish Wardens.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Marine Science conducts scientific research, monitoring, assessment, restoration and education to conserve, restore, and manage the marine and estuarine fishery resources of the State of Maine. The Bureau encompasses five divisions: Biological Monitoring and Assessment; Ecology and the Environment; Education; Facilities Maintenance; and the newly formed Marine Mammal Research.

The Biological Monitoring and Assessment Division conducts long-term fishery monitoring programs and research to provide information on stock status of commercially and recreationally valuable marine organisms that inhabit the State's coastal and offshore waters. The Ecology and the Environment Division was created in 2021 in recognition of emerging issues that are directly impacting marine resources along the Coast of Maine, such as climate change and offshore wind development. The Education Division operates the Maine State Aquarium, the Burnt Island Lighthouse Station Resource Center and provides education programs for numerous school groups and others throughout the year. Nearly 40,000 members of the public, students and teachers learn of the Department's mission and Maine's marine resources through the Education Division's programs. Together the three divisions provide scientific information, services, and assistance to the public, industry, and governments. The Facilities Maintenance division maintains buildings and grounds of the West Boothbay Harbor Laboratory and Burnt Island, located in Southport. The newly formed Marine Mammal Research Division will lead the Department's scientific work on large whale species, including survey, modelling, acoustics, and gear development. This Division was formed in 2023, in preparation for dramatically expanded work by the Department in this field in the coming years.

ORGANIZATION

The Bureau of Marine Science was established administratively in 1946 and is the oldest continuously operating marine research laboratory in the Gulf of Maine based on McKown Point in Boothbay Harbor that includes fishery, microbiology and biotoxin laboratories; GIS mapping facilities; wet lab; and the Maine State Aquarium. The Bureau encompasses five divisions: Biological Monitoring and Assessment; Ecology and the Environment; Education; Facilities Maintenance; and the newly formed Marine Mammal Research.

All five divisions work primarily out of the West Boothbay Harbor facility. However, division activities cover the coastal counties and waters out to seventy-five miles from shore.

The Marine Education Program operates the Maine State Aquarium, located immediately adjacent to the West Boothbay Harbor laboratory, from May through September and provides education programs for numerous school groups and others throughout the year. Educational and living history programs are conducted at the Burnt Island Lighthouse Station Resource Center. Educational materials are provided to schools throughout the year and presentations of living marine organisms are made at sportsman shows and other events throughout the year.

PROGRAM:

The Biomonitoring and Assessment Division, Ecology and the Environment Division and the Marine Mammal Research Division are engaged in interstate management of commercially and recreationally important species including American lobster, Atlantic herring, striped bass, Atlantic menhaden, bluefish, horseshoe crab, northern shrimp, and winter flounder through the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission. Scientific staff participates in data collection, stock assessment, and management plan development for species including groundfish, monkfish, sea scallops, ocean quahogs, and Atlantic herring that are managed by the New England and Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Councils and National Marine Service. Commercial landings data are collected from seafood dealers and fishermen and provided to the National Marine Fisheries Service and Atlantic Coastal Cooperative Statistics Program. Tagging studies are conducted on selected species such as Atlantic halibut and winter flounder. Scientists participate in stock assessments and fishery management plan development through the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission and New England Fishery Management Councils. Saltwater angler catches are sampled along the coast for the National Marine Fisheries Service Marine Recreational Fishery Information Program and Large Pelagics Survey. Long-term monitoring of atmospheric and oceanographic conditions is conducted. Research on large whale and fishing gear in Boothbay Harbor interactions are conducted along the entire length of the coast. Halibut research is conducted largely in eastern Maine.

PURPOSE

The Bureau of Sea Run Fisheries and Habitat was created in 2007 when the Maine Atlantic Salmon Commission (Commission) was consolidated with DMR's Division of Stock Enhancement. The Bureau has the management responsibility for twelve diadromous species and is engaged in interstate management as it relates to their commercial and recreational importance.

The Bureau's overall mission is to conserve, manage, restore, and enhance diadromous fish populations to their historic range within the State; to secure sustainable commercial and recreational fisheries for diadromous species; and to conduct and coordinate projects involving research, planning, management, restoration, or propagation of diadromous species.

Until 2010 the Maine Atlantic Salmon Commission remained as a policy board for the Management of sea-run Atlantic salmon. The Commission was ultimately abolished during the 124th Maine Legislature due to budget cuts and recognition that a single species management program had limited value within a multi-species management program. All responsibilities including policy direction and research programs were transferred to the Bureau.

The Bureau remains very active in the management of Atlantic salmon. Because this species is listed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), the coordination and collaboration on projects involving research, planning, management, restoration, or propagation remains a major focus of work. The Bureau has the sole authority to introduce Atlantic salmon into the inland waters, other than in commercial aquaculture facilities. In addition, the Bureau has management responsibility for the Atlantic Salmon Conservation Plan and has cooperative management responsibilities with the Federal Atlantic Salmon Recovery Plan and the newly developed Atlantic Salmon Management Framework.

There are 11 other species of native diadromous fishes, each of which has specific habitat requirements and differing management needs. The historical ranges of commercially harvested species were fairly well documented by Maine's first Commissioners of Fisheries. Shortnose sturgeon and Atlantic sturgeon spawned only in the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers. Populations of Atlantic tomcod, rainbow smelt, and striped bass were more widely distributed along the coast. Most watersheds had runs of alewife, American eel, American shad, Atlantic salmon, and blueback herring, and in large rivers these fish traveled almost 100 miles from the ocean. Sea lamprey and sea-run brook trout were not harvested commercially, and their historic ranges were not described. By the time the Commissioners of Fisheries were appointed in 1867 most runs of diadromous fishes were greatly reduced or extirpated. Much of the focus now is to restore access to historic habitat to restore these species to their fullest potential.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau's main office is in Augusta with a field office in Jonesboro. Because of Maine's large river systems and the nature of diadromous fishes' life cycle, staff work in all counties of the state.

The Bureau Director with the oversight of the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner oversees management activities.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau has several major recovery areas:

Atlantic salmon focus areas are historic salmon rivers including the Aroostook, Penobscot, Kennebec, Androscoggin, Saco River, Dennys, East Machias, Machias, Pleasant, Narraguagus, Cove Brook, Duck Trap, and Sheepscot. This program involves stocking salmon at various life stages, enumerating and tagging wild salmon parr, identifying and restoring salmon habitat and access to the habitat, and water quality monitoring studies.

The Kennebec, St. Croix, and Androscoggin Rivers are the focus of the most intense shad and river herring restoration on the east coast. The Bureau is involved in developing and implementing over $100M in fisheries restoration through the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law and other opportunities. DMR is the lead for the largest river herring restoration project in North America on the St. Croix River.

A major focus for diadromous fish restoration is the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (FERC) licensing process for hydropower dams. This provides the best opportunity for State agencies to obtain fish passage. The re-licensing process often leads to comprehensive settlement agreements that encompass multiple projects, provide for sequential fish passage, eliminate the need for extensive litigation, and sometimes provide funding for restoration programs. State fisheries agencies expend considerable time and effort in the development of these agreements. Obtaining passage at hydropower projects within historic diadromous fish habitat remains a priority for DMR, because these dams are located on the mainstem of large rivers and impact the greatest number of diadromous fishes.

Habitat restoration and access to historic habitat remains and has become a higher priority focus over the past 3 years. Aside from FERC re-licensing the Bureau has also refocused on the connectivity of smaller rivers and streams. Non-hydro dams as well as road crossings continue to impact the passage of fish to historic habitat. The Bureau organizes fish passage project across the State to prioritize barriers statewide and to secure funding to address passage needs.

Maine Maritime Academy (the Academy) is a public, co-educational college offering 23 programs of study in engineering, management, science, and transportation. Undergraduate and graduate-level majors prepare students for professional careers and as officers for the merchant marine and the uniformed services of the United States. The mission of the Academy is to provide a quality education focused on marine and related programs. The curriculum empowers students to take on leadership roles, encourage rigorous self-discipline, promote curiosity, and provide graduates with the skills, ethics, and knowledge needed to succeed in the global economy

ORGANIZATION:

The administrative organization of the Academy is structured to fulfill the mission set forth in its charter. This is accomplished through the following five divisions: Academic Affairs; Advancement; Enrollment Management; Student Affairs; and Financial and Institutional Services. Under the policy guidance furnished by the Board of Trustees, the President of the Academy is the principal executive, being assisted by five division heads, each of whom oversees the respective operating departments. The operation of the Academy is subject to review by the federal government through the Maritime Administration, under review by the tederal government through the Maritime Administration, under regulations prescribed in 46 CFR, 310A. Fiscally, the Academy is supported by state appropriations, student fees and a subsidy from the Maritime Administration. The training ship 'State of Maine' is made available to the Academy by the Maritime Administration, which funds major repairs. The Academy pays the cost of operating the ship on training cruises and while in port in Castine from its operating budget.

The Academy, through its Board of Trustees, is empowered to provide facilities and support services; to hire instructors and other employees; to determine compensation and dispose of property; arrange for actual experience for its students; to borrow money not in excess of $10,000,000 in aggregate at any time outstanding for the construction or improvement of any buildings or equipment; and to mortgage its property and pledge its revenues.

The Academy student enrollment numbers are approximately 900 students. Students from the State of Maine typically represent about two-thirds of this total. Approximately 90 percent of graduates are employed in a wide range of marine, engineering, business, transportation, and other professions within three months of graduation.

The Academy students benefit from hands-on education, international sea-time aboard the training ship the State of Maine or the schooner Bowdoin, cadet shipping aboard commercial vessels, and cooperative education assignments. Students become world-class mariners and engineers, supply chain managers, logistics professionals, and scientists in Maine and beyond.

The schooner Bowdoin, the official vessel of the State of Maine, provides a traditional sail training experience and serves as an enduring symbol of Maine's seafaring heritage. Alumni of the Academy work all over the world. Their success has resulted in a worldwide reputation for excellence and reliability in maritime, business, and scientific fields. The Academy's history dates back to 1941 when the Academy was founded by an act of the 90th Maine Legislature on March 21 of that year.

The Department of Professional and Financial Regulation serves and protects the public through a broad range of responsibilities and activities, such as examining and overseeing state-chartered financial institutions; regulating bank holding companies; regulating insurance companies, agencies, and producers; regulating grantors of consumer credit; administering and enforcing the Maine Uniform Securities Act; and by licensing and regulating numerous professions and occupations.

The Department protects Maine consumers through its licensing, examining, and auditing activities. It conducts programs aimed at increasing voluntary compliance with State laws, investigates possible violations of law, and undertakes enforcement actions. The Department responds to consumer complaints and requests for information and conducts educational and outreach programs to make consumers aware of their rights under Maine laws.

The Department of Business Regulation was created in October 1973 as part of state government reorganization designed to consolidate related agencies along functional lines and strengthen executive direction. Some of the agencies originally placed under the jurisdiction of the Department were the Bureau of Banking, the Bureau of Insurance, and the Real Estate Commission.

The Special Session of the 106th Legislature established the Bureau of Consumer Protection (eventually renamed the Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection) to enforce the Maine Consumer Credit Code, which became effective January 1, 1975. In 1987 the name of the Department was changed to Professional and Financial

The special session of the 107th Legislature established a central licensing division, now called the Office of Professional and Occupational Regulation (OPOR). Since that time, several new state licensing programs have been created and placed within OPOR. Licensing programs have also been transferred to OPOR from other departments, and existing independent agencies have been moved into OPOR. Today, the Office oversees 29 professional and occupational licensing boards and directly administers 8 licensing programs without boards.

Today, the Department consists of a centralized Administrative Services Division, which includes the Commissioner's Office, and 5 agencies: the Bureau of Financial Institutions (formerly the Bureau of Banking), the Bureau of Insurance, the Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection (formerly the Office of Consumer Credit Regulation), the Maine Office of Securities, and the Office of OPOR.

In addition to programs directly administered by OPOR, 5 professional licensing boards are affiliated with the Department: the Board of Licensure in Medicine, the Maine State Board of Nursing, the State Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers, the Maine State Board of Optometry, and the Board of Osteopathic Licensure.

PROGRAM:

The Commissioner is the administrative head of the Department. In this capacity, the Commissioner provides centralized budgeting coordination, initiates and monitors all policy implementation and strategic planning, and directs the day-to-day management of the Department. The Commissioner develops the Department's legislative program and coordinates it within the Department and with the Administration.

The Commissioner is responsible for reviewing the policy and operation of agencies within the Department to ensure that each complies with its statutory and public service responsibilities. The Commissioner may not interfere with the exercise of discretionary regulatory or licensing authority vested by statute directly in the bureaus, offices, boards, and commissions of the Department.

In the case of affiliated boards, the Commissioner acts as a liaison with the Governor and with other units of state government. Affiliated boards submit their budgets through the Department.

The Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection was established to protect the citizens of Maine from unfair and deceptive practices with respect to consumer loans, credit sales, and debt collection. A primary responsibility of the agency is to protect Maine consumers through implementation of the Maine Consumer Credit Code.

The Code requires the agency to promote the development of equitable consumer credit practices, encourage competition among credit grantors, and ensure that the regulation of consumer credit transactions in Maine conforms to the policies of the federal Truth-in-Lending Act.

In addition, the agency is responsible for administration of consumer-related state laws regulating check cashers, collection agencies, consumer finance companies, credit, loan and mortgage servicers, credit reporting agencies, debt management and debt settlement companies, employee leasing companies, foreclosure purchasers, foreign currency exchangers, insurance premium finance companies, I.R.S. Code Section 1031 exchange facilitators, litigation funding companies, loan brokers, money order issuers, mortgage companies, mortgage loan originators, non-bank ATM operators, pawnbrokers, payday lenders, payroll processors, "plain language" consumer loan contract certification, real estate transaction settlement agents, refund anticipation loan facilitators, rent-to-own companies, repossession companies, residential real estate property preservation companies, retail creditors, returned check diversion program providers, student loan servicers, and "guaranteed asset protection" (GAP) debt cancellation contract administrators.

The agency is also responsible for facilitating the state's foreclosure intake, counseling and referral program, receiving information from mortgage lenders and servicers relating to homeowners in default on their loans and providing those consumers with information detailing the availability of counseling, mediation, and legal defense resources. The agency administers and staffs a toll-free mortgage foreclosure prevention hotline (1-888-NO-4CLOZ), providing financial counseling and referral services to homeowners.

The agency serves as the state's "Student Loan Ombudsman," assisting student loan borrowers to resolve disputes with servicers and is required to maintain a registry of student loan servicers.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Consumer Credit Code, enacted by the 106th Legislature, took effect on January 1, 1975 and established an independent Bureau of Consumer Protection within the Department of Business Regulation. All personnel of the Division of Personal and Consumer Finance of the Bureau of Banking were absorbed by the Bureau of Consumer Protection. The 110th Legislature changed the name of the agency to the Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection. Public Law 1995, chapter 309 again changed the name of the agency, to the Office of Consumer Credit Regulation, effective January 1, 1996. This legislation also shifted responsibility for ensuring Consumer Credit Code compliance by banks and credit unions to the Bureau of Financial Institutions. The 123rd Legislature re-designated the agency as the Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection, effective September 20, 2007.

PURPOSE:

The State Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers protects the public by establishing and maintaining professional standards for the regulation of the practice of engineering in Maine. The Board is authorized to examine qualifications of applicants and certify Engineer Interns and license Professional Engineers in Maine; to renew licenses upon receipt of required fees; to maintain a roster of all licensees; to make rules not inconsistent with state laws relating to professional engineers; to investigate complaints of alleged violations of such laws and rules; to conduct hearings; to subpoena witnesses and evidence; and to institute disciplinary action as warranted.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board has seven members. The Governor appoints five Professional Engineers and one public member for staggered five-year terms. The seventh board member is the Chief Engineer of the Maine Department of Transportation, who serves ex-officio. Board members elect a chair and a vice-chair from their membership each year.

The Board maintains membership in the National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES). Board members and staff participate in NCEES activities and serve on national committees with other member boards from all fifty states, the District of Columbia, and four U.S. territories. NCEES members promote reciprocal licensure and help assure minimum standards of competence to practice. Board members also maintain membership in professional engineering societies. These efforts keep the Board informed of trends in the engineering profession.

PROGRAM:

As of June 30, 2023, there were 7,469 professional engineers licensed in Maine. Of that total, 2,031, or 27%, are Maine residents.

During FY23, 539 candidates were licensed as professional engineers: 90 qualified for original licensure through examination. 449 qualified for licensure by comity with other jurisdictions. The 443 comity applicants (98.6% of comity applicants) who submitted an NCEES Record with their application received an expedited approval process because their credentials are reviewed and verified in advance by NCEES to a standard that meets or exceeds the standards required under Maine law.

Professional qualifying examinations are administered under an agreement between the Board and the National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES). All computer-based testing (CBT) format exams are administered in Maine at the Pearson Vue Test Centers in Westbrook and Bangor.

The Principles and Practices of Engineering Exam (PE) and the Structural Exam (SE) are qualifying exams for professional engineering licensure. The Fundamentals of Engineering Exam (FE) is the qualifying exam for engineer intern certification.

The final administration of the NCEES SE examinations in paper format will be held in regional locations through the US in October 2023. No paper SE examinations were administered in Maine in FY23.

Beginning in 2024, the SE exam will be offered in computer-based testing (CBT) format in 4 separate 4-hour component parts, which can be taken individually over a span of up to 5 years. A passing score is achieved only after a candidate has received an acceptable result on all 4 component parts.

Since January 1, 2022, the NCEES PE exams are only offered in computer-based testing (CBT) format. Major exams are offered year-round, while minor exams (those with a limited examinee pool) are offered on a single date in either April or October

PE Exam results for FY23 are as follows:

PE exam candidates: 170 PE exam candidates passing: 104 (61%)

The FE exam is administered year-round through computer-based testing (CBT) at Pearson Vue Test Centers. Applicants apply for Engineer Intern Certification after passing the FE exam and graduating from an approved degree program.

FE Exam results for FY23 are as follows:

FE exam candidates: 240 FE exam candidates passing: 126 (52.5%)

Board meetings were held on these dates during FY23: August 18, 2022; November 17, 2022; January 19, 2023; March 23, 2023; and June 15, 2023.

To regulate all insurance entities and persons authorized to transact the business of insurance in Maine for the purpose of protecting the public interest. To accomplish this purpose the Maine Bureau of Insurance (MBOI) is empowered to license insurance companies, non-profit hospital, medical or other health service organizations, health maintenance organizations, medical utilization review entities, third-party administrators, advisory organizations, captive insurance companies, multiple employer welfare arrangements, pharmacy benefit managers, and reinsurance intermediaries/managers. The MBOI registers preferred provider organizations, risk purchasing groups, risk retention groups, managing general agents, pharmacy benefits managers, and service contract providers.

The MBOI examines and analyzes insurance companies domiciled in the State of Maine. Financial examinations are performed not less than once every five years. Financial examinations assess domestic insurance companies' internal control environment, identify the insurer's prospective risks, and validate balance sheet accounts. Financial analysis is performed quarterly. Financial analysis includes follow-up of issues identified through the examination process, ratio analysis, ongoing compliance analysis, and capitalization analysis. In addition, the MBOI has certain limited responsibilities for the examination of foreign insurers authorized to do business in the state. The MBOI also reviews the annual statutory financial statements of insurance companies and licenses qualified applicants as insurance producers, consultants, and adjusters.

The MBOI is responsible for the administration of the rate-regulatory law of the State of Maine, and all policy forms, contracts, and illustrations. For those lines, where it is required, the MBOI reviews the advertising/marketing materials proposed to be used in Maine. The MBOI provides assistance to consumers regarding certain insurance related matters. The MBOI may seek suspension or revocation of licenses or impose financial penalties in instances where insurance companies, producers, consultants, or adjusters have failed to comply with the lawful regulations of the MBOI or the statutory provisions of 24 M.R.S.A. or 24-A M.R.S.A. Such enforcement action may result from a complaint or other investigation or a market conduct examination undertaken by the MBOI. The MBOI also, pursuant to 39-A M.R.S.A., authorizes and reviews workers' compensation self-insurers including entities, groups, and certain reinsurance accounts.

ORGANIZATION:

In 1868, a State Bank and Insurance Examiner was appointed and charged with making annual examinations of banks and insurance companies. Two years later, in 1870, the Office of the Insurance Commissioner was created, with the provision that this person could not at the same time serve as the Examiner of Banks. Office of the Insurance Commissioner became the Insurance Department in 1959. Under the plan for State Government reorganization, the Insurance Department became the MBOI and was placed within the Department of Professional and Financial Regulation effective October 3, 1973.

PROGRAM:

PURPOSE:

The Board of Licensure in Medicine (Board) was established in 1895, and was named at that time the Board of Registration of Physicians and Surgeons. The Board's mission is to protect the public. It accomplishes this by: ensuring that applicants for licensure are ethical and competent to practice medicine or render medical services; investigating and, when appropriate, disciplining licensees; and educating licensees through rule-making, letters of guidance, and by providing educational outreach such as links to relevant medical practice issues on its website.

ORGANIZATION:

When established in 1895, the Board consisted of 6 physicians appointed by the Governor. The physicians served for terms of 6 years. Since that time, the Legislature has changed the name and composition of the Board. At present, the Board is comprised of 11 members: six physicians; three public members; and two physician assistants. All members are appointed by the Governor for terms of six years unless they are completing the term of a former member.

Although the law only requires the Board to meet quarterly, the Board convenes regular monthly meetings and typically meets 12 times per year. In July of odd-numbered years the Board elects a chair and a secretary, each of which have specific duties. Board meetings are open to the public and meeting dates and times are published on its website, and in the "Weekly Legislative Calendar." Any person may receive a public agenda in advance of any meeting by visiting the Board's website, https://www.maine.gov/md, or by telephone request to the Board office.

The Board is affiliated with the Department of Professional and Financial Regulation but retains operational management and decision-making autonomy. Physician appointees to the Board must be graduates of legally chartered colleges or universities which confer degrees in medicine and must have actively engaged in the licensed practice of medicine in Maine for at least five years preceding appointment. Public representative appointees or their immediate household member(s) may not earn income from activities related to the practice of medicine. The physician assistant appointees must be licensed by the Board and actively engaged in rendering medical services in Maine for at least five years preceding appointment to the Board.

Organizations in which the Board participates include the Eastern Region Medical Boards, the Federation of State Medical Boards, the Interstate Medical Licensure Compact Commission, the International Association of Medical Regulatory Authorities, and Administrators in Medicine.

PROGRAM:

LICENSURE: The Board utilizes the Federation Credentials Verification Service (FCVS) of the Federation of State Medical Boards as well as employment history to evaluate the qualifications of applicants for licensure. In addition, the Board is a member of the Interstate Medical Licensure Compact and issued letters of qualification and expedited licenses to qualified applicants.

COMPLAINTS, INVESTIGATIONS, AND DISCIPLINE: The Board receives complaints from the public including patients or relatives of patients. In addition, the Board initiates complaints and investigations based upon information received from a variety of sources including but not limited to healthcare providers, healthcare entities, law enforcement, the Department of Health and Human Services, other licensing boards, and the Federation of State Medical Boards Disciplinary Alert system. The Board imposes discipline by either entering into a Consent Agreement with the licensee and the Office of Attorney General or by issuing a Decision and Order following a hearing in conformance with the Maine Administrative Procedure Act. All disciplinary actions are reported to the National Practitioner Data Bank and the Federation of State Medical Boards. In calendar year 2022, the Board issued 19 adverse actions. License and discipline information is available at no cost at the Board office, by telephone, and on the Board's website: https://www.maine.gov/md.

PROGRAM:

Revision of statutes relating to the Board of Osteopathic Licensure in 1973 specified an increase in the registration fee from $4 to $25 per year as voted in June 1982 becoming effective in January 1983. The Board, at its meeting in July 1987, voted to increase the registration fee in order to increase revenue to meet expenses. Effective in 2000, licensees began renewing on a biennial basis by the final day of their birth month. The renewal fee is capped at $600.

Licensees must obtain 100 hours of Continuing Medical Education (CME) every two years for renewal of their license to practice. The Board statute and rules require that at least 40% percent of the 100 hours are in Category 1 as approved in the rules established by the Board. Per the CME rule, specialists may obtain Category 1 CME within their specialty - American Osteopathic Association (AOA), American Medical Association (AMA) or Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) - thus providing the public with the assurance that osteopathic physicians remain current with advances in osteopathic medicine as well as medicine at large. If randomly audited, licensees must furnish the Board with satisfactory evidence of completion of the statutorily required hours.

As a rule, the Board meets each month. Special meetings may be called by the Chair with proper public notice.

PURPOSE:

The principal mission of the Office of Securities is to protect Maine investors. To accomplish this mission, the Office administers and enforces the Maine Uniform Securities Act. The Office reviews applications to register securities for sale in Maine and filings for exemptions from registration; licenses broker-dealers, agents, investment advisers, and investment adviser representatives doing business in Maine; suspends or revokes those licenses for misconduct as defined in the Act; conducts on-site examinations of the operations of licensees; administers an investor education program; responds to consumer complaints; investigates possible violations of the securities laws; and, when warranted by the circumstances, issues cease and desist and other administrative orders or refers matters to the Attorney General for civil or criminal action. The Office also enforces the State Commodity Code and the Regulations of the Sale of Business Opportunities.

ORGANIZATION:

In 1913, two years after Kansas adopted the first "blue sky" law, Maine enacted a statute relating to "Dealers in Securities," to be administered by the Bank Commissioner. Over the years, that law was the subject of numerous changes, including the creation of a Securities Division, the establishment of a requirement for the registration of securities offerings, and the addition of antifraud and civil liability provisions. In 1986, legislation was passed giving the Securities Division enforcement powers over the sale of certain types of business opportunities and commodity contracts. In 1989, the Legislature transferred from the Bank Superintendent to the Securities Administrator the responsibility for administering and enforcing the securities laws, and, in 2001, the Securities Division was separated from the Bureau of Banking, becoming the Office of Securities.

In 2005, the Legislature approved the Maine Uniform Securities Act (MUSA) which became effective on December 31, 2005. MUSA represented the first major overhaul of the state's securities laws since 1985. Maine adopted MUSA as part of a national effort to increase uniformity in state securities law, thus eliminating unnecessary burdens on the regulated industry, while still maintaining strong investor protection.

PROGRAM:

In FY23, the Office received and processed 29,237 applications and amendments to register securities, terminations of registrations, and notice filings for federally covered securities (decrease of 12% over FY22) and 562 private placement filings and amendments (decrease of 29%). As of June 2023, there were 1,361 broker-dealers licensed to do business in Maine (a 1% increase from June 2022); 153,061 licensed agents of broker-dealers (increase of 5%); 1,389 investment adviser licensees or notice filers (increase of 5%); and 3,126 licensed investment adviser representatives (1% increase). In connection with the Office's review of licensing applications, the Office processed 100 broker-dealer applications, (21% decrease from FY22); 40,212 agent applications (4% increase); investment adviser license applications (17% decrease); and 643 investment adviser representative applications (36% increase). The Office now receives and processes most securities filings and license applications electronically.

In FY23 the Office conducted 2 examinations of licensee offices.

In FY23, through its enforcement efforts, the Office sanctioned 12 respondents. The Office assessed $1,461,419 in penalties for violations of Maine's securities and business opportunity laws. The Office entered into 6 consent agreements and 4 consent orders. The Office referred 1 case for criminal prosecution and has 3 criminal cases awaiting trial.

In FY23 the Office collected $27,888,415 for the General Fund through its filing fees (registration, licensing, and notice filing fees) and penalties.

PURPOSE:

The Office of Program Evaluation and Government Accountability (OPEGA) assists the Legislature in ensuring that public funds are expended in the most effective, efficient and economical manner possible. It also aids the Legislature in ensuring that such funds are used to support activities and functions that produce satisfactory results and comply with State and Federal mandates.

ORGANIZATION:

The Legislature created this non-partisan office by statute, PL 2001, chapter 702, with an effective date of July 25, 2002, but the start-up of the Office did not occur until the Director was hired in January 2005. The Director is appointed by the Legislative Council for a term of 5 years. By Joint Rule, the Legislature established the 12-member, bi-partisan and bi-cameral Government Oversight Committee which oversees the activities of OPEGA.

PROGRAM:

OPEGA conducts independent and objective program evaluations of State Government operations including reviews of State tax expenditures. When determined necessary by the Government Oversight Committee, OPEGA may also conduct reviews of other entities receiving state funds or which expend private monies for public purposes. Such other entities include: local and county governments, quasi-municipal governments, special districts, utility districts, regional development agencies, municipal or nonprofit corporations, state contractors and any public official or public employee.

Program evaluation topics are selected by the Government Oversight Committee according to an established process. OPEGA defines the scope of each project in conjunction with the Committee, and then performs the review independently from the Committee. The work of OPEGA follows an established process that provides for ongoing communication with the entity under review.

OPEGA produces a final report on each review discussing the work performed, the conclusions reached, and any identified areas for improvement with related recommendations. The report is released and orally-presented to the Committee during a public meeting and is then distributed as a public record.

PURPOSE:

The Department of Public Safety was established to serve the people by providing, coordinating, and leading a responsive and comprehensive public safety system to protect their lives, rights, and properties.

Employees of the Maine Department of Public Safety will continue to serve the public to the best of their ability by being dedicated and accountable and by managing resources effectively and efficiently. The Maine Department of Public Safety seeks to preserve the public order and to protect the persons, property, rights, and privileges of all people in the State through ethical leadership and the development of employees, while upholding and respecting the constitutional rights of all persons to liberty, equity, and justice.

ORGANIZATION:

The Department of Public Safety was created in 1971, consolidating the former Department of State Police, the Enforcement Division of the State Liquor Commission, the employees of the Vehicle Equipment Safety Commission, the Division of State Fire Prevention of the Department of Insurance, and the Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Academy, under the Commissioner of Public Safety.

In 1978, the Bureau of Capitol Police was added to the organization of the Department. The responsibility for the administration of the Highway Safety Program from the Department of Transportation was added and in 1990 the Legislature changed the name to the Bureau of Highway Safety.

The Maine Drug Enforcement Agency and the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency Advisory Board were created by the 113th Legislature to develop and carry out a Statewide Drug Enforcement Program.

Public Law 1991, chapter 588 transferred the responsibility for Emergency Medical Services from the then Department of Human Services to Public Safety.

During 1993, the 116th Legislature created the Missing Children Information Clearinghouse requiring the Department to collect and disseminate complete information related to missing children.

The 121st Legislature passed Public Law 2003, chapter 678, An Act Relating to the Establishment of a Central Maine Regional Public Safety Communication Center. Historically, emergency communications dispatch had been the responsibility of the Bureau of State Police within the Department of Public Safety. Sixty positions were transferred from the Bureau of State Police into the new Consolidated Emergency Communications Bureau. In addition, to provide the unit with a civilian director, the position of Director, Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications was created. The new Director began on October 25, 2006.

The 121st Legislature passed as Public Law 2003, Chapter 687, An Act to Establish the Gambling Control Board To License and Regulate Slot Machines at Commercial Harness Racing Tracks. The Gambling Control Board's responsibilities are to establish rules and policies as well as licensing for slot machine operators and slot machine distributors. The 125th Legislature passed as Public Law 2011, chapter 417, An Act to Allow Table Games at a Facility Licensed to Operate Slot Machines on January 1, 2011, to include the licensing of Slot Machine operators to operate table games.

The Bureau of Building Codes and Standards was established within the Department of Public Safety to provide administrative support and technical assistance to the Codes and Standards Board, established in Title 5, section 12004-G, subsection 5-A. This Bureau has been consolidated under the Fire Marshal's Office.

PROGRAM:

Other than administration of the Department, the activities during fiscal year 2022-23 are discussed in the individual reports of its bureaus.

PURPOSE:

The Division of Building Codes and Standards within the Office of the State Fire Marshal was established within the Department of Public Safety to provide administrative support and technical assistance to the Technical Building Codes and Standards Board in executing its duties pursuant to 10 MRSA §9722, sub-§6.

The Technical Building Codes and Standards Board, established in 5 MRSA §12004-G, subsection 5-A was established to adopt, amend, and maintain the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code, to resolve conflicts between the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code and the fire and life safety codes in 25 MRSA §2452 and §2465, and to provide for training for municipal building officials, local code enforcement officers, and 3rd-party inspectors.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board consists of 11 voting members, appointed by the Governor.

The Assistant State Fire Marshal of Inspections, who is certified in building standards, serves as the Division Director and principal administrative and supervisory employee of the Board. The Assistant State Fire Marshal supervises the staff employed to carry out the duties of the Board including, but not limited to, providing technical support and public outreach for the adoption of the code, amendments, conflict resolutions and interpretations. The Division and Board will provide nonbinding interpretations of the code for professionals and the general public and will establish and maintain a publicly accessible website to publish general technical assistance, code updates and interpretations, and post-training course schedules.

PROGRAM:

The Board adopts rules necessary to carry out its duties under this chapter. The Board adopts, amends and maintains the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code and identifies and resolves conflicts between the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code and the fire safety codes and standards.

On January 31st of each calendar year beginning in 2011 the Board reports to the joint standing committee of the Legislature having jurisdiction over building code matters on any proposals for conflict resolutions for codes and standards, proposals to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of those codes and standards, and alternative methods of funding for the Board to create an equitable source of revenue.

The Board develops technical advisory groups of experts and interest group representatives as needed to provide the Board with detailed information and recommendations on amendments to the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code, national model codes revisions, and conflict resolution with other building-related codes and standards adopted in the State. The Board may direct the technical advisory groups to identify economic impacts on small businesses, housing affordability, construction costs, life-cycle costs, or code enforcement costs of proposed changes to the Code.

The Board ensures that training and certification regarding the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code is readily available, affordable and accessible to municipal building officials and that historic preservation is a policy priority in the adoption and amendment of the Maine Uniform Building and Energy Code.

The Board approves methods of energy performance rating for use in generating any consumer information labels that may be required in the marketing and sale of residential and commercial buildings.

BUREAU OF CAPITOL POLICE MATTHEW CLANCY, CHIEF

Central Office: 111 SEWALL STREET, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 68 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0068 FAX: (207) 287-6212 Established: 2009 Telephone: (207) 287-4357 Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 16 Unit: 656 Citation: T00025 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 00002902 Average Counts-All Positions: 20.500 Legislative Count: 20.50

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Capitol Police is a law enforcement agency responsible for the safety of the people and the security of the buildings that make up Maine's seat of government. The Bureau's area of responsibility includes all state-owned or controlled property in the statutorily outlined Capitol Region, including the State House, and the other State buildings within the region as defined. Bureau police officers patrol these properties, investigate crimes, enforce laws, and respond to all calls for law enforcement and emergency medical calls for service in the assigned area.

Capitol Police officers are empowered with statewide law enforcement authority to carry out our defined mission, which, at times, extends well beyond the Capitol region for investigative purposes and/or the transportation of detainees to and from various state facilities on behalf of the Riverview Psychiatric Center, the Department of Corrections or various other law enforcement agencies both state, county, and municipal. The Bureau is made up of 5 small operational units: Patrol, State House Screening, Riverview Operations, Investigations, Overnight Interior Security, and Administration/Command.

ORGANIZATION

The Capitol Security Police Force was created by the Legislature in 1968 and was made a bureau of the Department of Public Safety in 1977. The Legislature changed the bureau's name from Capitol Security to Capitol Police in 2009 to better reflect the agency's law enforcement role. FY23 head count is 20.5: one Chief of Police, one Police Lieutenant, one Police Sergeant, 10 Police Officers, one Night Watchpersons, one Security Screeners, one Office Specialist II, and one part-time Office Associate I.

PROGRAM:

The major objectives of the Bureau are ensuring the safety of members of the legislature, staff, employees, and visitors as well as the security of the state buildings and property for the complexes to which we provide police service. During FY23, the employees within the Bureau found, initiated, or responded to 32,663 incidents. 98 of these incidents resulted in criminal investigations being initiated. These investigations range from thefts of property, fraud, assaults, burglaries, criminal trespass, or criminal threatening. Officers investigated a number of threatening communications aimed at legislators or state employees and kept the peace at numerous public hearings, rallies, and protests during the vear.

Capitol Police State House Screeners, now known as Security Agents, vetted 76,719 visitors to the State House, examined by x-ray 80,090 items being brought into the building, and prevented 1,354 dangerous or prohibited items from being brought into the State House. The Security Agents conducted 1,897 secondary searches of persons who created a magnetometer alert which could not initially be alcored.

Our Night Watchpersons, now identified as Security Guards, and our night shift police officers, conducted 22,506 overnight building safety and security checks resulting in the discovery of 497 actionable events/conditions. The security guards and officers logged 72,990 miles on patrol in FY23.

LICENSES

The Bureau of Capitol Police issues Capitol facility activity and use permits. In FY23, the Bureau approved and issued 109 activity permits for rallies, demonstrations, and other events at the State House complex, Capitol Park and other State parks and facilities within the Capitol region. The Bureau also issued 755 parking permits in FY23.

The Maine Criminal Justice Academy was established to provide a central training facility for state, county, and municipal law enforcement and corrections officers. The campus is located at the former Oak Grove-Coburn School in Vassalboro, Maine. From 1972 until December 28, 2000, the Academy was located at 93 Silver Street in Waterville, at the former Thomas College facility. The new campus has a lecture hall that seats 70 students and 10 additional classrooms, extensive meeting space, on-site dining facilities, and can house 130 students. The building also has a state of the art special training center, a fully equipped weight/exercise room, an indoor running track, an outside obstacle course, and formal parade grounds.

The mission of the Maine Criminal Justice Academy is to provide the highest level of training, within given resources, to law enforcement and correctional officers in the State. By statute, the Academy is required to provide a basic training program for all full-time law enforcement officers, judicial marshals, capitol police officers, pre-service training for all part-time law enforcement officers, and basic corrections training for all county and state correctional officers. The Academy also coordinates the 8 Regional Training Districts across the State, which provides in-service training to officers in remote areas.

ORGANIZATION:

The Academy has 11 full-time employees and operates with an annual budget where approximately one-third is derived from the General Fund and the remainder comes from fees, tuition, and other revenues. In addition to the full-time staff, the Academy relies heavily on volunteer instructors from state, county, and municipal law enforcement agencies, county, and state corrections agencies and other criminal justice fields. The Academy provides many instructor development classes so that these students can be the future volunteer instructors. This partnership philosophy has been supported by the Police Chiefs and Sheriffs in Maine to provide very cost-effective training to their respective agencies.

During calendar year 2022, the Maine Criminal Justice Academy Board of Trustees certified 121 full-time state, county, and municipal law enforcement officers who graduated from the Basic Law Enforcement Training Program, 184 corrections officers who graduated from the Basic Corrections Training Program, and 146 part-time law enforcement officers who graduated from the Law Enforcement Pre-service Training Program. MAINE DRUG ENFORCEMENT AGENCY RICHARD DESJARDINS, DIRECTOR

Mail Address: 166 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0166

Established: 1987

Telephone: (207) 626-3850

Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 16 Unit: 230 Citation: T0025 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 0000002955

Average Counts-All Positions: 3.000

PURPOSE:

The Maine Drug Enforcement Agency was established to address the unprecedented threat to the health and safety of this State created by the distribution of scheduled drugs into, out of, and within the State. The Maine Drug Enforcement Agency provides a central administrative structure for the establishment, coordination, and oversight of investigative task forces within the State of Maine through a multi-jurisdictional drug task force approach. The Maine Drug Enforcement Agency focus is to address the upper and mid-level drug dealers that operate below the interest of the Federal law enforcement authorities that focus on international, interstate, and substantial violators, and the street level efforts that focus on the small dealers and those caught in possession. The task force concept is an effective tool in proactively addressing the distribution of scheduled drugs through the pooling of skills, enhanced intelligence sharing, increased personnel resources, more equipment available, concentration of effort on a clear goal, and reduced jurisdictional boundary problems. In addition to the consolidation of investigatory resources, the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency also integrates prosecuting personnel with the day-to-day case work investigators.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Intergovernmental Drug Enforcement was created by the 113th Legislature by passage of 25 MRSA, chapter 353. Funding of the Agency was established by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986. In 1991, the Legislature changed the Agency name to the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency. This Agency has been placed within the organizational structure of the Department of Public Safety and is managed by a Director who reports to the Commissioner of Public Safety. The Commissioner establishes and operates within the Maine Drug Enforcement Agency such regional task forces as the Commissioner determines are required for effective drug law enforcement throughout the State. The investigative component of each task force is comprised of law enforcement officers drawn from municipal, county, and state law enforcement agencies.

PROGRAM:

The mission of the Agency is to disrupt the drug market, thereby undermining the ability of drug suppliers to meet, expand, and profit from drug demand while supporting prevention efforts and contributing to treatment efforts. Its goals are to: reduce the availability of drugs; protect the State's borders by stemming the flow of drugs into and through Maine; strengthen the State's drug law enforcement infrastructure; strengthen intelligence and information sharing; enhance collaboration and coordination with all law enforcement agencies; and establish effective partnerships with agencies focused on reducing drug use.

CONSOLIDATED EMERGENCY COMMUNICATIONS BUREAU BRODIE HINCKLEY, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 45 COMMERCE DRIVE, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 42 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0042 FAX: (207) 287-3042 Established: 2006 Telephone: (207) 624-7001 Reference: Policy Area: 06 Umbrella: 16 Unit: 219E Citation: T00025 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 00001533 Average Counts-All Positions: 64.000 Legislative Count: 64.00

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications carries out the policies, procedures, and standards that have been established to provide cooperative use of the Department of Public Safety's communications system for municipal, county, and state governmental agencies.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications was established in Public Law 2009, chapter 317, which also transferred the responsibilities of the Maine Communications System Policy Board (established in Public Law 2003, chapter 678) to the newly created Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications.

Historically, emergency communications dispatch has been the responsibility of the Bureau of State Police within the Department of Public Safety. The State Police ran four dispatch centers in Houlton, Orono, Augusta, and Gray which provided services not only for themselves, but for several other state agencies, some municipalities, the Maine Turnpike Authority, and for Aroostook County. The Policy Board legislation called for a separate communications unit within the Department. This administrative change was achieved in fiscal year 2006-07. Fifty-four existing Emergency Communications Specialist positions and 6 Emergency Communications Supervisor positions were transferred from the Bureau of State Police into the new Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications. In addition, to provide the unit with a civilian director, the position of Director, Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications was created and the new Director began on October 25, 2006.

Public Law 2003, chapter 359, "An Act To Facilitate the Implementation, Maintenance and Operation of the E-9-1-1 Emergency System," directed the Emergency Services Communication Bureau at the Public Utilities Commission (PUC) to seek reduction of the number of public safety answering points (PSAP) to between 16 and 24. This resulted in the closing of a number of local PSAPs and in some cases caused not only emergency call-taking to be relocated, but also emergency dispatch to be moved. Public Law 2008, chapter 622, required that this Bureau submit to a rate setting case through the Maine PUC. The resulting Order on Docket 2008-225 would be the rates that the Bureau can charge to all it's state and local partners for PSAP call-taking and public safety dispatching services. With the issuing of that Order, several jurisdictions did not renew contracts and went to agencies that provided services for a lesser rate. Public Law 2009, chapter 617, in part removed the requirement that the Maine PUC hold a rate case for the setting of the Emergency Services Communications Bureau's user fees. This ability was returned to the Bureau of Consolidated Emergency Communications.

In 2019, the Gray Regional Communications Center (RCC) relocated to the Augusta RCC and combined both the RCCs into one larger center.

PROGRAM:

These Communications Centers provide emergency and non-emergency call taking and dispatching for 7 state agencies, one county Sheriff's Office and 18 municipal fire and/or emergency medical services. The centers also provide backup PSAP capabilities for local and county PSAPs.

The Maine Emergency Medical Services (Maine EMS) Bureau and the Maine EMS Board are responsible for the regulation, direction, coordination, and licensure of the EMS system within the State of Maine. This includes oversight of all EMS services, personnel, educational facilities, educators, emergency medical dispatch centers, and emergency medical dispatchers.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board is comprised of 17 members that function as the sole emergency medical services (EMS) rulemaking authority and provide systemic direction to the Maine EMS Bureau and the system. The Maine EMS Bureau is staffed by a team of eight individuals who provide support to the entire statewide system in all aspects of the delivery and monitoring of EMS care and dispatching guidance. Additionally, there are also three independent (non-state) regional contracts to assist in coordinating education and providing support to local EMS agencies regarding quality assurance, medical control, and mutual aid planning.

Maine has 276 ambulance and non-transporting EMS services that provide basic and advanced emergency medical care, this number also includes specialized air medical and rescue transportation services. There are over 6,000 licensed EMS clinicians and emergency medical dispatchers within the State of Maine as well as approximately 500 licensed EMS vehicles. The EMS system works symbiotically with Maine's larger healthcare system of acute care facilities, long-term care facilities, physicians, nurses, and other healthcare professionals to deliver the highest quality care available to the residents of, and visitors to, the State of Maine

PROGRAM:

Maine EMS supports a variety of internal programs and committees that function as advisory groups for the Board including, but not limited to, community paramedicine, education, licensure examination, data, emergency medical dispatch, EMS for Children, interfacility transportation, investigations, quality assurance and improvement, Maine Stroke Alliance, Trauma Advisory Committee, and the Medical Direction and Practices Board. The system and Bureau office support a variety of training opportunities both in-person and online to help support EMS services, clinicians, and leadership throughout the system. The Bureau also manages the electronic patient care reporting system that is used by all EMS agencies in the State of Maine to document patient encounters. Maintaining consistent, quality data is a key priority of Maine EMS and imperative for collaborative projects with other state agencies and external stakeholders. Maine EMS functions at the nexus between public health, emergency management, and clinical medicine. Coordination with systemic stakeholders, like the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention, are vital to monitoring, supporting, and improving the public's health in the State of Maine.

STATE BUREAU OF IDENTIFICATION COL. WILLIAM ROSS, CHIEF, MAINE STATE POLICE MATTHEW R. RUEL, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 45 COMMERCE DRIVE, SUITE 1, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 42 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0042 Established: 1937 FAX: (207) 287-3042

PURPOSE:

The State Bureau of Identification, a division of the Maine State Police, is the central repository of criminal history record information for the State of Maine. The Bureau provides criminal history and sex offender registry information to agencies and persons authorized by law to receive such information, serves as the repository of fingerprint images provided by local agencies, and serves as the single point of transmission to the Federal Bureau of Investigation of all criminal history and fingerprint images.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau was created in 1937 as the central repository of criminal history record information.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau is enhancing and implementing new software to computerize its record systems and improve its biometric systems to better provide information to law enforcement agencies and the public. This is achieved by developing and enhancing automated information sharing with local law enforcement, the prosecutorial districts, and the court system. The automated Fingerprint Identification System went online in August 1998. These systems serve as a major component in law enforcement information sharing, not just at the state level but on the federal level also.

The Bureau provides information to its law enforcement partners in a 24/7 environment through an automated response. The Bureau also provides public criminal history information to the public as a fee-based service. Along with criminal history records information, the Bureau operates and maintains the sex offender registry. The registry staff work with local law enforcement agencies to refer new offenders and update verification information. In addition, the agency maintains all the information that is posted on the State Sex Offender Registry website.

FINANCES, FISCAL YEAR 2023: The Bureau of the Budget does not maintain comprehensive fiscal data relative to this unit.

PURPOSE:

The primary mission of the Bureau of State Police is to safeguard the constitutional rights, liberty, and security of its citizens by enforcing the motor vehicle and criminal statutes of Maine and to provide professional aid in times of need and crisis. The Bureau was established to patrol the highways, especially outside the compact portion of cities and towns without local law enforcement agencies. The Bureau provides specialized response teams to support major critical incidents and manages the State's crime laboratory, the State's designated intelligence fusion center, the State Bureau of Identification, and Maine's Computer Crimes Unit. The Bureau also provides security for the Governor and family on a twenty-four hour basis.

ORGANIZATION:

2021 marked the 100th anniversary as the Bureau of State Police was established in 1921. In 1931 a reorganization act was passed by the Legislature designating the Chief as executive head of the Bureau of State Police under the direction of the Governor. Six years later, the Division of Highway Safety and the State Bureau of Identification were created by the Legislature under the control of the Bureau of State Police. In 1939, the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and the Communications Division were established, along with the division of the State Police into six districts. Because of the increased demands for State Police services, the Bureau was reorganized several times during the 1950s and 1960s. In 1971, the Legislature incorporated the Bureau of State Police into the Department of Public Safety.

Today, the Bureau of State Police is comprised of eight field troops patrolling the rural areas and the Maine Turnpike, one troop focused on commercial vehicle enforcement regulations, three Major Crimes Units, an Unsolved Homicide Unit, and seven other units and numerous specialty teams organized within the Support Services Division.

PROGRAM:

The programs of the Bureau of State Police have primary goals of 1) patrolling rural areas of Maine without organized police departments for the purpose of preventing and investigating criminal activity; 2) enforcing traffic safety laws in rural areas, on the Maine Turnpike, and on the nterstate System; 3) overseeing the Motor Vehicle Inspection Program and enforcing the Commercial Motor Vehicle laws and rules; 4) investigating homicides that occur outside Portland and Bangor; 5) investigating child abuse/neglect cases; 6) providing specialized support, such as response teams, computer, and crime laboratory services, to all law enforcement agencies; 7) providing a repository for criminal history and records information; and 8) providing specialized administrative, licensing, and enforcement services.

EMERGENCY SERVICES COMMUNICATION BUREAU

E-9-1-1 COUNCIL

PURPOSE:

The Public Utilities Commission's purpose is to ensure that utilities in the State of Maine provide safe and reliable utility services at rates that are just and reasonable for customers and public utilities, while also helping achieve reductions in greenhouse gas emissions to meet the greenhouse gas emissions reduction levels set forth in Title 38, section 576-A. The Commission acts as a quasi-judicial body which decides cases involving rates, service, financing, and other activities of the utilities it regulates. The Commission also has investigatory and rulemaking authority. The Commission currently has jurisdiction over approximately 160 water utilities, 1 belectric utilities, 4 gas utilities, 2 local telephone utilities, 1 water carrier, 294 competitive electricity providers, and 192 competitive local and interchange carriers.

The Commission is divided into five operating divisions with respective powers and duties as follows:

The ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISION is responsible for fiscal, personnel, contract, docket management and information technology, as well as physical plant. The Division provides support services to the other divisions and assists the Commission in coordinating its activities. The CONSUMER ASSISTANCE AND SAFETY DIVISION (CASD) receives, analyzes, and responds to complaints from Maine utility customers. This Division is also responsible for gas safety and Dig Safe activities. The LEGAL DIVISION represents the Commission before federal and state appellate and trial courts and agencies. It provides hearing examiners and staff attorneys in cases before the Commission. The TELEPHONE AND WATER DIVISION is responsible for financial, technical, and policy related investigations and analyses conducted by the Commission on telephone and water utilities. The Division provides expert advice to the Commission on such matters as revenues, expenses, engineering, economics, technology, and other technical aspects related to the telephone and water industries. The ELECTRIC AND GAS DIVISION is responsible for financial, technical, and policy related investigations and analyses conducted by the Commission on electric and gas utilities. The Division provides expert advice to the Commission on such matters as revenues, expenses, engineering, economics, technology, and other technical aspects related to the electric and gas industries.

ORGANIZATION:

The Public Laws of 1913, effective by Proclamation, after referendum on October 30, 1914, created the Public Utilities Commission. It was organized December 1, 1914. The Act abolished the Board of Railroad Commissioners, established in 1858, and conferred upon the Public Utilities Commission all powers vested in that Board, as well as the State Water Storage Commission, including custody and control of all records, maps, and papers pertaining to the offices of the Railroad Commissioners and the State Water Storage Commission, the latter of which was not legally abolished until 1916. The Commission retains jurisdiction over the transportation of passengers and property for compensation by vessel in Casco Bay under chapter 174 of the Private and Special Laws of 1963. Chapters 207 and 617 of the Public Laws of 1983 specifically exempted dealers of gas in liquid form from Commission jurisdiction, which had not been previously exercised. Central tanks serving more than 10 customers are still subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. Chapter 304 of the Public Laws of 1983 deregulated one-way paging service. Public Law 1991, chapter 342, exempted cellular telephone providers, from regulation as public utilities, as long as one provider does not "exclusively control" the assigned service area and unless the Commission determines that the cellular provider is engaged in providing basic exchange telephone service. Public Law 1999, chapter 718, gave the Commission enforcement authority over the Dig Safe damage prevention statute. Public Law 2003, chapter 359, moved the Emergency Services Communication Bureau to the Commission giving it oversight responsibility for the E-9-1-1 program. Chapter 623 of the Public Laws of 2011 and chapter 462 of the Public Laws of 2015 largely deregulated the telecommunications industry. Public Law 2015, chapter 462 provided for the removal of the obligation to provide Provider of Last Resort service, regulated by the Commission, in 22 specific municipalities.

The present Public Utilities Commission consists of 3 Commissioners appointed by the Governor subject to review by the legislative committee having jurisdiction over public utilities and to confirmation by the Senate, for terms of 6 years. The Governor designates one Commissioner as Chair and all 3 Commissioners devote full time to their duties.

PROGRAM:

The Commission regulates the State's electric transmission and distribution companies, telephone, gas, and water utilities, as well as water carriers. The basic purpose of this regulatory system is to assure safe, reasonable and adequate service at rates that are just and reasonable to customers and public utilities. During the 12 months ending June 30, 2023, 325 cases were filed with the Commission and the Commission closed 355 cases.

The CASD is charged with ensuring that consumers and utilities receive fair and equitable service through CASD educational and complaint resolution programs. During the 12 months ending December 2022, CASD handled 9,281 consumer contacts, including 5,534 information requests and 1,360 complaints. Most complaints (93%) were related to the electric utilities, with 1% attributable to telephone utilities, 1% attributable to gas utilities, and 5% attributable to water utilities. In addition, the CASD ordered $75,195 in abatements to customers. The CASD received 31 utility exemption requests during 2022. Finally, CASD received 178 requests from utilities to disconnect customers' service during the winter months in 2022.

LICENSES:

LICENSES, PERMITS ETC: The Commission issues orders approving schedules of rates, terms, and conditions; certificates of public convenience and necessity to construct, own, or contract for major transmission facilities or to rebuild or relocate major transmission facilities; applications by providers of telephone, electric, or gas utility services to provide telephone, electric, or gas service in a municipality in which an existing utility is furnishing or authorized to furnish service, upon declaration by the Commission that the public convenience and necessity requires a second public utility; applications by competitive electricity providers for licenses to sell electricity to consumers (246 licensed to date although not all are active); and issues certificates of convenience and necessity to provide service to carriers of passengers and freight by water in Casco Bay.

PURPOSE:

The Emergency Services Communication Bureau (the Bureau) is responsible for the implementation and management of the Enhanced 9-1-1 system (E-9-1-1). The Bureau, in consultation with the E-9-1-1 Council, is responsible for developing all system elements, standards, and cost estimates necessary to provide for the installation and operation of a statewide E-9-1-1 system.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau was established in 1994 within the Department of Public Safety. Public Law 2003, chapter 359 moved the Bureau to the Public Utilities Commission giving it oversight responsibility for the E-9-1-1 program. The Bureau is charged with the implementation and management of statewide E-9-1-1, including the deployment of E-9-1-1 service using emerging communications technologies including, but not limited to, internet protocol enabled services that can connect users to public safety answering points (Maine Revised Statutes, Title 25, section 2526).

PROGRAM:

Today, the Bureau oversees a statewide Next Gen 9-1-1 system, an advanced emergency communications system that allows access to 9-1-1 from non-voice services such as text messaging and automated crash notification systems as standards are developed and tested. This technology positions Maine's system well to receive and recognize the location of 9-1-1 requests from any device.

Geographic Information Systems play a critical role within the Next Gen 9-1-1 system. Bureau staff provides local municipalities and counties technical assistance in the naming and numbering of all streets and road networks. The Bureau also offers a variety of courses at its training center at the Maine Criminal Justice Academy to ensure that 9-1-1 call takers and dispatchers have all the necessary skills to handle emergency calls.

PURPOSE:

The Office of the Secretary of State provides administrative and policy oversight for the Department of the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State is provided for in the Constitution of the State of Maine and therein is required to attend the Governor, the Senate and the House of Representatives as they shall respectively require, to keep and preserve the records of all their official acts and proceedings, and to perform such other duties as required by law.

Maine statute provides for additional duties of the Secretary of State as follows: Title 4 (Notaries); Title 5 (Office of the Special Advocate, Address Confidentiality Program, Archives, Notaries, Boards and Commissions, and the Administrative Procedures Act); Title 10 (service and trade marks); Title 11 (Uniform Commercial Code filings); Titles 13, 13-A, 13-B and 13-C (corporations); Title 21-A (elections and citizen initiated legislation); Title 29-A (motor vehicles); Title 30-A (election of county officers) and Title 31 (limited partnerships and limited liability companies). There are approximately 800 separate sections of Maine law which refers to the duties of the Secretary of State

Specifically, the Office of the Secretary of State is responsible for the overall administration, including finances, personnel and programs, of the Department of the Secretary of State's respective bureaus: the Maine State Archives; the Bureau of Corporations, Elections and Commissions; and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

ORGANIZATION:

The Secretary of State, as established by the Constitution of the State of Maine in 1820, is elected biennially, by ballot at a joint caucus of both bodies of the Legislature. In 1862, certificates of incorporation were required to be deposited with the Secretary of State, leading to the formation of a Corporation Division in 1870.

The Elections Division was established in 1891, when the Secretary of State was designated the responsibility for printing and distributing ballots to towns, providing returns and performing other duties related to elections.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles was established in 1905, to provide for the registration of motor vehicles by the Secretary of State. In 1919, the registration of legislative counsel and employers became a function of the Secretary of State. In 1963, the State adopted the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC) to be administered by the Secretary of State as a function of the Corporations Division. Also in 1963, the Department of the Secretary of State was first recognized under the law with the Secretary of State being designated as its executive head.

The Maine State Archives, created in 1965 and administered by the State Archivist, was made a bureau of the Department in 1973. The Administrative Procedures Act became effective July 1, 1978. The Bureau of the Special Advocate was created in 2011 to aid small businesses.

PROGRAM

The Department is made up of three bureaus: the Maine State Archives, the Bureau of Corporations, Elections and Commissions (CEC), and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV), and two offices, the Office of the Secretary of State and the Office of Information Services. As a Constitutional Officer, the Secretary of State is charged with carrying out the Department's diverse responsibilities and unique mission.

Customer service and government efficiency are top priorities. The Department is recognized as a leader in the effort to enhance access to information and services using technology. With more than 27 online services in place, the Department continues to identify services that can be offered electronically and made available to the public and businesses 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Through a partnership with the Information Resource of Maine (InformE), new online services are launched on a regular basis.

The Department takes its responsibilities in elections and civic education very seriously and conducts a variety of projects designed to strengthen our democracy. The Department is committed to equity and inclusion to improve representation for all Maine people.

The Department's commitment to the State's younger generation is evident in programs such as the Maine Student Mock Election, John Lewis Youth Leadership Award and the Eighth Grade Citizenship Awards. That commitment carries throughout the entire Department, as evidenced by improvements in teen driving laws and the Parent's Supervised Driving Program.

The Small Business Advocate works to resolve regulatory issues between state agencies and small businesses.

PURPOSE:

The powers and duties of the State Archivist include responsibility for establishing rules, standards and procedures governing the creation, use, maintenance, retention, preservation, and disposal of State records. Under this general authority, the Maine State Archives assists the three branches of state government, as well as county and municipal government agencies, in making their operations more efficient and economical by applying modern records management techniques, including establishing disposition schedules under which agencies may destroy records having exhausted their value to the State; providing technical assistance in specialized fields such as files, forms, general paperwork, and electronic records procedures; and providing centralized storage and retrieval facilities for records that must be temporarily retained.

Professional archival services include the selection and preservation of hard copy and digital records that have permanent value to the State, accompanied by the application of specialized technologies and techniques designed to make such records readily accessible for use by the government and the public. These efforts include identifying and arranging records, developing finding aids (inventories, indexes, and guides) to record groups or series, assisting in-person users, responding to mail and electronic mail requests, publishing by microfilm services (duplication, digital to microfilm conversion, microfilm to digital conversion), printing selected records in high demand by the public, and posting electronic documents on the internet.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Legislature created the State Archives in 1965. In 1973 Archives was designated a central staff agency extending its jurisdiction to the counties and municipalities.

Two operating functions comprise the Maine State Archives: Records Management Services and Archives Services. The Office of the State Archivist is organized to supervise overall administrative and programming responsibilities and exercises general control over publications and agency participation in intergovernmental and public activities.

The State Archivist, with advice from the Archives Advisory Board, is responsible for authorizing the deaccession and destruction of archival government records that are no longer deemed to have permanent value. The Archives works with the Maine Historical Records Advisory Board to serve historical records repositories throughout Maine and serves as chair of the Board.

PROGRAM:

Records management consulting and training is available to all government agencies, including counties and municipalities. A comprehensive database system allows for retrieval of records. Special projects include scanning, digitizing, and/or re-filming of records whose original versions are in poor condition as well as deploying searchable databases in the Archives' Research Room. When funding is available, the Archives makes financial grants available for archival preservation and access projects.

To fulfill this requirement, the division purchased a digital preservation system during this fiscal year.

PROGRAM:

During fiscal year 2022-23, the Division of Archives Services responded to 2,548 requests for information and research assistance. The creation of finding aids in the form of computerized indexes has continued with many now available online. Further online access has become available on the Digital Commons and through the ArchivesSpace catalog database. The division also provided 38 educational programs to schools, libraries, and organizations.

DIVISION OF DRIVER LICENSE SERVICES CHRISTOPHER IRELAND, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 101 HOSPITAL STREET, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0029

Mail Address: 29 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0029 FAX: (207) 624-9295 Established: 1920 Telephone: (207) 624-9124 Reference: Policy Area: 00 Umbrella: 29 Unit: 250L Citation: T0029A M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000001251

PURPOSE:

The Division of Driver License Services was established with the ultimate objective of assuring the safety of licensees and other users of the public ways. This objective is accomplished through effective administration of the laws via four programs: oversight of driver/rider education; examinations; license issuance; and license control. Today, the Division proudly employs 93 public servants.

ORGANIZATION:

The Division was established during a reorganization of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. It originated as the Court Records Section in the early 1920s and remained as such until 1970 when it was formed into the Bureau of Driver Improvement and Financial Responsibility. Multiple smaller reorganizations occurred in the 1970s and 1990s. In 1999, as the result of Bureau reorganization, the Division came to be known as the Division of Driver License Services. In 2017, a Bureau reorganization transferred the oversight of driver/rider education from the Division. In 2022, oversight of driver/rider education was returned to the Division.

PROGRAM:

The Driver License Services Division contributes to roadway safety in Maine through professional application of laws, rules, and policies governing licensure and identity documentation for Maine citizens and ensures the safe and legal operation of motor vehicles at all stages of a driver's history. The Driver/Rider Education Unit verifies the quality of the education received by new operators by licensing all driver education, commercial vehicle driver education and motorcycle rider education schools and instructors. It is responsible for the training and certification of motorcycle safety instructors, and the education of individuals interested in obtaining a motorcycle license. In fiscal year 2022-23, there were 445 licensed instructors and 201 licensed schools. In total, this community trained and prepared over 14,000 students for their driver license examination.

Within the Division's Issuance Section, the Examination Scheduling Unit confirms that all necessary driver education has been completed and schedules examinations so that drivers seeking licensure can demonstrate they possess all the necessary skills for safe operation of a motor vehicle. The Medical Unit, with the support of the Medical Advisory Board, determines physical, emotional, and mental competence to operate a motor vehicle before a license is issued. The License

Information Unit checks that all required documentation of identity, legal presence, and residency has been provided and oversees the renewal and replacement of licenses, to include REAL IDs, once they have been issued.

After the Issuance Section has determined that a driver is eligible to be licensed, our cadre of professional Examiners provides the last stamp of approval before a new driver is licensed to operate any class of vehicle. These 25 professionals administer written, skills, and road exams year-round, in all weather, and across the State. Most of the commercial vehicle skills and road examinations take place on lots that belong to the Maine Department of

The License Control Section monitors driver records to ensure compliance with state and federal motor vehicle laws. The Court Records and Operating Under the Influence (OUI) Units applies abstracts of motor vehicle-related convictions and adjudications received from the Maine Judicial System and from other states to driver history records. The OUI Unit suspends licenses based on administrative determination that a person operated a motor vehicle with an excessive alcohol level and manages the Ignition Interlock program that allows a driver to restore driving privileges early with the installation of an approved ignition interlock device. The Financial Responsibility and Accidents Unit reviews reports of traffic accidents to verify that all involved vehicles were insured as required by law and ensures drivers are appropriately insured in accordance with Maine statute.

The Division of Information Services was originally established in August of 2006 and continues to provide information technology support and operations, help desk, cybersecurity, and software development services to the bureaus and offices within the Department of the Secretary of State.

PROGRAM:

In fiscal year 2022-23, the Division made improvements across the board to improve information technology capabilities in the datacenter and business offices

The Division restructured the application development process, enhancing efficiency, collaboration, and project management processes and plans to make further improvements. Benefits include streamlined workflows, shortened development cycles, and improved resource allocation. We are utilizing new GUI/REACT software libraries to enhance user experience across applications as part of the modernization process. Code is also being restructured to interact with that GUI via REST APIs following secure coding practices and improving maintainability. These efforts bolster the responsiveness, aesthetics, and functionality of our user interfaces, aligning them with contemporary design standards.

The Division updated the Notaries application to implement changes regarding marriage officiants in response to legislative requirements.

The Division has implemented changes due to rulemaking that unstacks driver license reinstatement fees to make customer ability to restore their driving privileges more equitable.

The Division collaborated with a vendor to modernize the technology used by the driver license examiners Road Scholar application by implementing REST APIs and deploying new ToughBook hardware and software.

The Division implemented medical rule changes into our systems facilitating efficient processing of medical-related transactions and ensuring compliance with new regulations. The successful completion of the vanity plate recall project demonstrated our commitment to proactive safety measures and efficient management of vehicular identification systems.

In branch offices, the Division updated kiosks and otherwise supported implementation of appointment scheduling.

In the datacenter we transitioned from tape-based secondary backups to cloud-based, enhancing our data resilience, disaster recovery capabilities, and overall data management efficiency. Our team implemented a direct-to-cloud backup solution for selected archive storage.

The Division successfully implemented OAuth/OIDC-based authentication servers, which provide multifactor authentication and centralized user identity management for modernized applications.

The Division created and filled a Director of Digital Data Records position to collaborate with others in alignment with legislative objectives on how the State's Data Governance will promote data privacy, accommodate record-keeping, improve data collection, increase equity, and enable evidence-based answers about access, bias, and equity in relation to state services.

The Division's adoption of Jenkins for batch job execution has streamlined our workflows, improved scheduling accuracy, and enhanced the efficiency of our database management processes. Our DBA Team successfully completed Oracle upgrades, ensuring optimal performance, security, and compatibility across our database systems; streamlining of our deploy process has led to improved efficiency, reduced downtime, and enhanced overall system reliability.

In addition to these accomplishments, we successfully upgraded oracle forms on which some BMV and CEC applications are based, optimizing form management and accessibility for our stakeholders. We also updated the Oracle DBMS software on all systems except the old Corporations application which will be replaced later.

PURPOSE:

The Medical Advisory Board was established to advise the Secretary of State on medical criteria and vision standards relating to the licensing of drivers. It assists the Secretary of State in determining whether a person is qualified to be licensed as a motor vehicle operator. When the Secretary of State has cause to believe that a licensed driver or applicant may not be physically or mentally qualified to be licensed, advice may be sought from the Board. The Board formulates its advice from research, records, and reports. The Board may also initiate an examination or confidential report and may designate additional experts to help inform its advice to the Secretary. The licensed driver or applicant may cause a written report to be forwarded to the Board by a physician of their choice, which must be given due consideration by the Board.

ORGANIZATION

The Medical Advisory Board was authorized in 1971 to consist of five members appointed by the Secretary of State. Today, Title 29-A directs minimum board composition to include specialists from the following medical fields: cardiology, gerontology, internal medicine, neurology or neurological surgery, ophthalmology, psychiatry, family practice, and rehabilitative medicine. PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles serves the residents of the State and all users of Maine highways by qualifying and licensing drivers and by issuing state credentials and maintaining records of driver history, vehicle ownership, and vehicle registration. Under the auspices of the Secretary of State, the Bureau provides various motor vehicle registration, license, and title services to the residents of Maine at the main office and thirteen branch locations throughout the State.

The Bureau ensures that applicants applying for operator's licenses have the ability, knowledge, and necessary skills for safe vehicle operation; investigates and licenses motor vehicle and trailer dealers; and conducts hearings on violations of motor vehicle laws to determine if the individual's privilege to operate or register a vehicle should be suspended, withheld, or revoked and determines when reinstatement is permissible.

The Bureau provides a method of registering and titling motor vehicles and collects the sales tax due when a vehicle is purchased from anyone other than a registered dealer.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau was organized in 1905 for the purpose of issuing lifetime licenses. In 1911, the Legislature changed the registration and licensing from a lifetime issue to an annual issue. In the 1920's, the Bureau had grown to the extent that it was headed by a Chief Clerk, had a Registration and Licensing Section and a Court Records Section. In 1935, the requirements for semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles became a responsibility of the Bureau and in 1939 an Examination Section was added to administer the required rule on new licenses.

In 1942, the Bureau was reorganized and placed under the direction of the Director of Motor Vehicles, with an Assistant Director named in 1943. This organizational structure remained until 1970 when the Bureau was reorganized into four bureaus: Public Services, Finance and Administration, Data Processing and the Bureau of Driver Licenses. Several minor structural changes were made between 1970 and 1976 when the Bureau was reorganized into the Executive Section and three bureaus. Duties and responsibilities were added, and the Bureau evolved into an Office of the Deputy and six divisions: Administrative Services, Commercial Vehicles and Reciprocity, Driver Licensing and Control, Enforcement and Regulation, Information Services and Public Services.

In 1997, the Bureau began regulating driver education programs. In 1999, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles was reorganized once more into the Office of the Deputy, the Office of Investigations, and three divisions: Division of Administrative Services, Division of Driver License Services, and the Division of Vehicle Services. In 2001, the functions of the Planning Office were transferred to the Administrative Services Division. In 2007, the Division of Public Services was created to focus on customer service. In 2009, the Division of Driver License Services was reorganized resulting in the creation of the new Division of Legal Affairs, Adjudications, and Hearings. In 2017, the Office of Investigations was reorganized resulting in the creation of the new Division of Enforcement, Anti-theft and Regulation. In 2021 the Division of Title Services was created.

PROGRAM:

The Bureau provides licensing, registration, and title services through 13 branch office locations, the main office in Augusta, 468 municipal agents and 12 non-governmental agents.

The Bureau continues to expand its online services to include driver license and ID card renewals and replacements, organ donation, driving records, trailer registration renewals, over-limit permits, title lien releases and vanity plate search and order.

Reference: Policy Area: 00 Umbrella: 29 Unit: 250T Citation: M.R.S.A., Sect.:

PURPOSE

The Division of Title Services is responsible for the title program which establishes and maintains proof of ownership for most motor vehicles and trailers in order to protect ownership interests and to deter theft and fraud. The program also records and releases liens and manages any brands that may be placed on a vehicle title such as rebuilt, repaired, or salvaged.

ORGANIZATION:

The Division of Title Services is a stand-alone division. The division has 32 positions: one Director, two Office Specialist II Supervisors, one Management Analyst II, three Office Specialist II positions, 16 Office Specialist I positions with one vacancy, and nine Customer Representative Associate II-MV positions with one vacancy.

PROGRAM:

The Division continues to determine ownership of a vehicle, lienholder information, and issue titles pursuant to the laws and policies of the Bureau while assisting customers with compliance.

Maine titles 1995 and newer model year vehicles participate in the National Motor Vehicle Title Information System (NMVTIS). NMVTIS is a federally mandated program to collect and share title information among states and with certain authorized users. The title program is dependent on the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) system for identification of stolen vehicles and National Insurance Crime Bureau (NICB) for insurance and salvage vehicle information. In fiscal year 2022-23, 547,799 title applications were examined; 492,918 titles were issued, and 54.881 title applications were rejected.

Communication between the title division, stakeholders, and citizens is detrimental in providing accurate and timely services to all customers. Oral and written communication (system generated letters) is the Division's primary mode of communication. The clerical staff (Customer Representative Associate II-MV positions) are responsible for handling all incoming phone calls, while the Office Specialists examine title applications and create the system-generated letters for applications that are incomplete. 77,858 phone calls were answered with an increase of 3,209 phone calls from the previous year. 68,976 system-generated letters were created with an increase of 12,954 letters from the previous year. The increase in letters was due to improving communication and taking the necessary steps to provide follow through with stakeholders regarding their title applications needing missing or additional information.

The Division has two online programs through INFORME: online duplicates and online lien releases. 37,201 liens were released online while 54,845 liens were released manually by internal staff. 7,366 online duplicates were issued while 12,830 duplicates were issued manually by internal staff.

The Division anticipates launching the Electronic Lien Titling Program (ELT) in January 2024. This program, which allows lenders to receive an electronic title record in lieu of a paper title, is a key part of the Division's ongoing efforts to modernize the title process for Maine residents. Work on this program has included thorough research on best practices for ELT, identifying business and software requirements, developing the regulatory and legal framework for the program, and extensive communication with stakeholders. Information Services has supported this project by developing a database and batch interface in consultation with the Division.

Furthermore, the Division administers the federal heavy vehicle use tax program (HVUT), other tax programs, verifying required insurance coverage for for-hire vehicles, the Unified Carrier Registration (UCR), and over dimensional/overweight permits for the movement of non-divisible loads. The Division also establishes and maintains motor vehicle reciprocity agreements between the State of Maine and other jurisdictions. The Division conducts motor carrier audits for IRP, IFTA, and UCR compliance.

The Division's Municipal Coordinators are responsible for training town municipal registration agents as well as non-governmental agents.

The Motor Carrier Section within the Division participates in the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration's Performance and Registration Information Systems Management (PRISM) program and the Commercial Vehicle Information Systems and Networks (CVISN) program. These programs are designed to improve motor carrier safety and efficiency.

ORGANIZATION:

This Division is managed by a director, a chief of Motor Carrier Services, a district tax audit manager, a section manager, and 31 additional staff.

PROGRAM:

The Division continues to provide a single point of contact for the trucking industry and oversees the issuance of various commercial vehicle credentials. The effort to increase administrative efficiency and improve the database on commercial vehicles is ongoing. The Division also oversees the administration of laws pertaining to the registration of all classes of motor vehicles with passenger cars being the largest class. checking vanity plate availability, choosing type of vanity plate, ordering vanity plates, applying for over dimensional permits, IFTA E-file registration and payment of IFTA tax returns, UCR registration, certain nonresident military renewals, and various specialty and recognition registration plate programs.

In more recent years, the Division has issued several new types of vanity plates including Commemorative Maine Bicentennial, Emergency Medical Services, Barbara Bush Children's Hospital, Autocycle, Maine Lighthouse Trust registration, and redesigned Special Veteran plates. In 2022, the Division implemented the vanity plate law update and the new vanity plate rule. The Division began recalling vanity plates, as well as denying new vanity plates, that meet certain criteria.

The Division also offers the IFTA computer system and a non-governmental registration agent program that allows non-governmental agents to issue long term and annual trailer registrations and motor vehicle registrations. The Division also offers an overlimit permit routing application that imports highway restriction information from the Maine Department of Transportation. The application allows permittees to apply online for permits at any time. Currently, the application is showing a self-issuance rate of nearly 82%. Self-issue means that the carrier completed the process with no employee intervention 82% of the time. The Division also administers the toll violation suspensions.

The Municipal and Agent Services website provides additional tools for all municipalities. The website is a one-stop shop allowing for easy access to information, fillable forms and improved communication between the agents and the Bureau.

PURPOSE:

The mission of the Maine Department of Transportation (MaineDOT) is to support economic opportunity and quality of life by responsibly providing our customers the safest and most reliable transportation system possible, given available resources. MaineDOT was established to plan and develop transportation facilities and services designed to contribute to the economic growth of the State of Maine and the well-being of its people. MaineDOT plans for future transportation needs and assists in the development, operation, and maintenance of services and facilities, while promoting transportation safety. Key links in the transportation network are a highway system developed to promote safety, personal mobility, economic considerations, community values, and environmental conservation; port and water transportation facilities that support development of coastal resources; freight and passenger rail facilities to serve commerce and provide transportation alternatives; transit services for inter- and intra-city travel and for elderly and disabled populations; and an aviation infrastructure developed with the assistance of the Department. MaineDOT, on behalf of the State, also administers all federal or other monies intended for transportation uses.

ORGANIZATION:

MaineDOT had its origin in 1905, when a Commissioner of Highways was appointed by the Governor and charged with compiling statistics, disseminating information, working for better highways, and advising local officials on the best means of building and maintaining roads and sidewalks. In 1907, the Commissioner became head of a new State Highway Department, which was created to apportion money to political subdivisions, plan road improvements, and contract for road construction. In 1913, both the Department and the Office of Commissioner of Highways were abolished and replaced by a State Highway Commission, which consisted of three members whom the Governor appointed.

When the state highway system began to grow and state responsibility for highway construction and maintenance increased, the State Highway Commission expanded to include a central office in Augusta and seven offices located throughout the state. During the state government reorganization of 1972, the Commission was dissolved, and all its functions were transferred to a newly established Department of Transportation headed by a Commissioner appointed by the Governor.

At the same time, several independent, transportation-related agencies such as the Maine Port Authority were integrated into the department. Major changes occurred once again in 1981 when the Commissioner was authorized to organize the Department into bureaus and other units.

PROGRAM:

The program of MaineDOT is accomplished through its statutorily and administratively created units and the various activities of these units are individually reported in subsequent entries.

MaineDOT Goals are:

1. MANAGE THE EXISTING SYSTEM: Effectively manage Maine's existing transportation system for safety and effectiveness within reliable funding levels.

2. SUPPORT ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY AND QUALITY OF LIFE: Wisely invest available resources to support economic opportunity for our customers.

3. BUILD TRUST: Demonstrate our core values of integrity, competence, and service, both individually and organizationally.

BUREAU OF MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS KYLE HALL, DIRECTOR

Central Office: 24 CHILD STREET, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

Mail Address: 16 STATE HOUSE STATION, AUGUSTA, ME 04333-0016 FAX: (207) 623-2526 Established: 1980 Telephone: (207) 624-3567 Reference: Policy Area: 08 Umbrella: 17 Unit: 234 Citation: T0023 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000004206 Average Counts-All Positions: 1261.019 Legislative Count: 179.00

PURPOSE:

To sustain Maine's transportation network, the Bureau of Maintenance and Operations (M&O) performs work in three primary areas: Maintenance, Operations, and Production Support. Each area includes numerous work activities recorded by M&O as a measure of yearly accomplishments. The information collected is measured to the established levels of service of the Department of Transportation (MaineDOT). Heavy and medium trucks and any associated heavy equipment are managed through an internal services account managed by MaineDOT Fleet Services. Our workforce has expertise in many diverse specialties. These subject areas combined with the knowledge of M&O and its employees allow for successful navigation of the geographical challenges realized within Maine. Utilizing both state forces and contractors allows M&O to realize a streamlined delivery of projects. This partnership allows M&O to achieve department goals.

ORGANIZATION:

M&O consists of five geographic regions, the Maine State Ferry Service, Fleet Services, and a Central Headquarter Unit. The Central Headquarters Unit is the support center for regional operations as well as the statewide divisions of Traffic Engineering, Community Services, Multimodal Operations, and Radio Operations.

PROGRAM:

M&O operates, inspects, and maintains Maine's diverse transportation system. This includes the State's highways, 478 miles of rail owned by the State, the Maine State Ferry Service, operations and oversight of state-owned airports, and numerous bridges owned and maintained by the State.

Within the State highway systems, M&O is responsible for snow and ice control for Maine's 8,300 lane miles of state highways per established Customer Service Levels. Six hundred of these lane miles are contracted to be maintained by contractors and municipalities. Additionally, M&O provides emergency response services 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

M&O's work also includes summer highway maintenance for 8,400 centerline miles of state and state aid highways; the inspection and maintenance of over 2,700 bridges and minor spans; 229 railroad bridges; and the inspection of approximately 800 municipality owned structures. The Maine State Ferry Service (MSFS) provides a vital link between the mainland and the island communities of Islesboro, North Haven, Swan's Island, Vinalhaven, Frenchboro, and Matinicus. M&O oversees the maintenance and operations of approximately 478 miles of state-owned railroad lines, with 372.61 miles of this being active rail, assisting in the transporting of goods across the State. M&O also manages highway access, signing, and additional traffic services to state, federal and municipal projects. M&O maintains a Transportation Management Center (TMC), open 24 hours a day 365 days a year. The TMC allows for the management of emergency field operations, communication to travelers on highway conditions, and provides centralized communication with other State entities during events. Maintenance of rest areas, Visitor Information Centers, the Penobscot Narrows Bridge Observatory, and Maine's 511 Traveler Information system, which keeps residents and visitors to the State, informed, safe, and comfortable during travel on our highways, all fall within the purview of M&O. The operating resources required to maintain established service levels within M&O include:

=> Augusta headquarters, five regional offices, seven Ferry Service terminals, and Fleet Services that are responsible for the maintenance, purchase, and inspection of the M&O's heavy equipment. Within the five regions there are 150 smaller crew maintenance facilities;

=> 778 pieces of heavy equipment; => Allocation of 1,416 full-time employees (FTEs), including 89 FTEs responsible for the year-round operation of the MSFS.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Department of Transportation (MaineDOT) Bureau of Planning conducts continuing, cooperative, and comprehensive transportation planning for all modes of transportation, statewide. The Bureau also develops MaineDOT's work plan to support its mission, "To responsibly provide our customers the safest and most reliable transportation system possible, given available resources." The planning activities of the Bureau are directed towards development and implementation of the MaineDOT's annual Work Plan. In it, the Bureau documents what projects will be constructed or undertaken, and what activities will be performed in pursuit of MaineDOT's mission and goals. The Bureau fulfills federal and state transportation planning requirements and Bureau staff provides technical assistance in transportation planning to municipalities, regional entities, and partner agencies. The Bureau works closely with other MaineDOT bureaus and offices and shares support staff with the Freight and Business Services Office.

ORGANIZATION:

In the state government reorganization of 1972, the State Highway Commission was abolished and functions of the Division of Planning and Traffic were transferred to the new Department of Transportation, later to be assumed by the Department's administrative Bureau of Transportation Planning and Services. In 1996, the Bureau revised its organizational structure to be consistent with the transportation planning requirements contained in federal and state laws including the federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act, the federal Clean Air Act Amendment, and Maine's Sensible Transportation Policy Act. In 2015, the Bureau's structure was again updated to increase efficiency and better align its work units with the MaineDOT's needs and its strategic plan. The Bureau is under the direction of the Deputy Commissioner and is comprised of four work units: the Statewide Planning Office, the Scoping Division, the Program Development Division, and the Multimodal Planning Division.

PROGRAM

Statewide Planning Office:

The Statewide Planning Office focuses on customer/partner, agency/stakeholder outreach and education; establishing and building relationships with local officials; carrying out federal long-range planning requirements; and efficiently meeting other periodic and ongoing federal and state planning requirements. The Office works with MaineDOT region offices and with partner agencies to conduct regional transportation planning and to engage with the general public and various stakeholders.

Scoping Division:

The focuses of the Scoping Division are to develop project purpose and need, define projects, assign appropriate cost shares, and secure project agreements. The Scoping Division is involved with high-profile or high-cost projects, as well as with potential economic-development opportunities. This Division is responsible for enhanced project scoping, traffic analysis, traffic modeling, maintaining MaineDOT's statewide travel-demand model, Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) planning and engineering oversight, major planning studies, competitive grant project-scoping, safety project scoping, connected and autonomous vehicles research, and Intelligent Transportation Systems (ITS) planning.

Program Development Division:

The Program Development Division is responsible for development and publication of MaineDOT's Work Plan (including ongoing candidate management), development and publication of Maine's Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP), for STIP and TIP amendments, and development of the Bureau's Planning Work Program. This Division is also responsible for developing and reporting Series 500 (Fuels and FASH) information to the Federal Highway Administration. This Division prepares grant applications to exploit funding opportunities and develops and maintains expertise related to federal planning requirements.

Multimodal Planning Division:

The Multimodal Planning Division is responsible for planning and programming of passenger (mass transit and other public) transportation activities and projects. Planning and programming for multimodal freight are conducted and coordinated by the Freight and Business Services Office, which is a separate unit. This Division is responsible for preparing program compliance documentation for the Federal Transit Administration and Federal Aviation Administration, for coordinating with other state agencies with transit-related responsibilities, and for identifying, prioritizing, and selecting non-highway and bridge projects for the Work Plan. Working with the Bureau of Project Development, this Division also coordinates funding allocation for non-highway and bridge projects, both passenger and freight related.

PURPOSE:

The Bureau of Project Development's mission is to deliver safe, cost-effective, and high-quality transportation projects and services to bureau customers on schedule and budget. This entails development of transportation improvement projects from approval of funding through construction completion as well as delivery of certain non-project related engineering and technical services.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bureau of Project Development was formed as a result of the Ernst & Whinney Management Study completed in the early 1970's. Its internal organization has evolved over the years to a new unique form that now combines functions into four project delivery Programs: Bridge, Highway, Regional, and Multimodal. Each program is composed of multi-functional project teams each having full responsibility for delivery of a specified collection of projects. The Bureau's organization also includes three support units: Construction Contracts, Property Office and Materials Testing & Exploration. Each of these units provides support for development of projects, but also departmentwide assistance and external non-project services appropriate to their expertise.

PROGRAM:

The Department of Transportation's overall transportation improvement program continues to emphasize improvement of the existing transportation network and facilities. Projects are developed through an inclusive process that is centered on minimizing and avoiding impacts during construction to the surrounding natural environment, to abutting property owners and to the traveling public. Available federal funding, application of innovative financing and contracting techniques, and the willingness of the Legislature and Maine voters to provide matching dollars have allowed the Department to make significant improvements to Maine's transportation infrastructure. This past year the Bureau continued high production levels with delivery of many road and bridge improvements as well as other projects that improve facilities for other transportation modes such as marine, air, and rail.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SYSTEM DANNEL P. MALLOY, CHANCELLOR TRISH RILEY, CHAIR OF THE BOARD

Central Office: 15 ESTABROOKE DR., ORONO, ME 04469

FAX: (207) 581-9212 Telephone: (207) 581-5844 Mail Address: 15 ESTABROOKE DR., ORONO, ME 04469 Established: 1968 Reference: Policy Area: 02 Umbrella: 78 Unit: 421 Citation: P&SL196W.R.S.A., Sect.: CH 229

The University of Maine System (UMS) is the coordinating, policy and planning entity for Maine's seven public universities and public law school. In that role, it provides undergraduate, graduate and professional education in a variety of fields, conducts research and performs public service for the people of the State. UMS was established to "develop, maintain and support a structure of public higher education in the State which will assure the most cohesive system possible for planning, action and service in providing higher educational opportunities..." (M.R.S.A., Title 20-A, subsection 10902).

The UMS Board of Trustees is empowered by its charter to appoint a Chancellor of UMS to serve as chief administrative and education officer and, on the nomination the Chancellor, appoint University Presidents. The Board of consultation with the Chancellor, is the governing and planning body of UMS and in addition has responsibility to prepare and approve the operating and capital budgets; support and enhance UMS and its mission; provide sound financial management of UMS; exercise prudent stewardship of UMS assets; plan strategies for programs and allocation of resources that most effectively serve the educational needs of the citizens of the State; develop and maintain a strong system of accountability to the public for performance results of UMS; visibly advocate higher education as a means to strengthen the economy and communities of the State; and authorize contracts.

ORGANIZATION:

The UMS is organized into the following units:

- > Governance and University Services (including Board of Trustees, Chancellor's Office, and centralized statewide operations)
- > University of Maine (including the regional campus of the University of Maine at Machias)
- > University of Maine at Augusta (includes eight UMA academic outreach centers located around the state)
- > University of Maine at Farmington
- > University of Maine at Presque Isle > University of Maine at Fort Kent > University of Southern Maine

- > University of Maine School of Law

INSTRUCTION. UMS offers the associate, baccalaureate, master's and doctoral degrees plus the certificate for advanced study, the professional degree in law and credits for Maine high school students through its early college programs. In the last decade, UMS has awarded nearly 56,000 degrees and certificates. Academic programs include the arts and sciences, agriculture, forestry, technology, business, education, life sciences, marine sciences, engineering, law, and nursing.

PUBLIC SERVICE. In addition to its instructional programs, UMS uses its university facilities, research capabilities and faculty, staff and student talent in direct support of community and individual needs throughout the state. For example, University of Maine Cooperative Extension, supported by federal, state, and county governments, provides education and information directly to families, farmers, businesses, organizations, communities and individuals. Public service activities are encouraged at each university and include direct aid by faculty experts to business and industry, the application of new research technologies and the communication of information of importance to the citizens of Maine.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MAINE SYSTEM

RESEARCH. The research mission of UMS includes expanding faculty knowledge and teaching competence, providing hands-on experiential research learning to students that prepares them for the workforce, increasing knowledge of Maine resources and improving their practical use and supporting growth of the Maine economy. Research and innovation is encouraged at all universities but is emphasized most at the University of Maine - a land, sea and space grant that has received R1 Carnegie designation - and the University of Southern Maine, which have been designated major centers for basic and applied research within UMS. Contributions have been particularly strong in forestry, engineering, climate change, clean energy applied science, public policy including in education and health and advanced manufacturing. UMS research unquestionably has benefited Maine's citizens, business, natural resources and government. State investment in research results in additional federal and private grants and creates jobs and economic and community growth in Maine.

Perkins federal funds; and review student transfers requested by a parent or superintendent dissatisfied with the decision of the Commissioner of Education. As part of its ongoing activities, the Board monitors the work of the Maine Charter School Commission and reviews annual monitoring reports of authorized charter schools.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board originated in 1846 as the Board of Education, consisting of one member from each county of the State. The Board was abolished in 1850 and recreated in 1869 as the State Board of Education, with a membership comprising the Superintendent of Common Schools (established 1854) and County Supervisors of Public Schools (established 1869). In 1872, the Board was again abolished along with the county supervisors, and its functions shifted to the superintendent who, in 1923, was designated Commissioner of Education. The Department of Education was created in 1931 in a major state government reorganization. However, it was not until 1949 that the Board was reestablished, this time consisting of ten members, five of whom were appointed by various interests in the State and five appointed by the Governor. At this point, the Board was delegated great authority over education activities of the State, including appointment of the Commissioner of Education and personnel of the Department. In 1957, authority to appoint all ten members of the Board was transferred to the Governor with the advice and consent of the Board. Effective July 1, 1972, the Board was changed to consist of 9 members. Since January 1, 1977, the Governor appoints members for five-year terms subject to review by the joint standing committee having jurisdiction over education and cultural affairs matters and to confirmation by the Senate. In 2007, the Legislature passed Public Law 2007, chapter 200 allowing student representation on the Board. As a result, in 2008 the Board's membership expanded from nine to eleven as it added two high school students (non-voting) who are also appointed by the Governor.

PROGRAM:

In addition to fulfilling its statutory obligations in school construction, career and technical education, and certification and higher education, the Board continues to lead Maine's effort to advocate for high quality educator preparation programs, to advise the Maine Department of Education and the Education and Cultural Affairs Committee of the Legislature in policy development, and to elevate the teaching profession. Its members also serve on the Maine Teacher of the Year Program, the Maine Charter School Commission, and the Professional Standards Board.

In 2020, the Governor reactivated the Professional Standards Board, which makes recommendations to the Board, including, but not limited to, preservice education, continuing education, professional growth, initial certification, recertification and paraprofessional training and certification. The Board promulgated Chapter 112, a routine and technical rule providing procedures guiding the operations of the Professional Standards Board in its role under Title 20-A, Chapter 502-B to make recommendations to the Board and advise the Department of Education.

Also In 2020, the Board received U.S. Department of Education approval of Maine's 4-year State Plan which covers Fiscal Year 2021 - Fiscal Year 2024 to implement the requirements of the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Act of 2006, as amended by the Strengthening Career and Technical Education for the 21st Century Act (Perkins V). The Board approves any needed revisions to the State Plan and an annual budget every spring.

The Board developed its 2022-2026 Strategic Plan to guide its ongoing work. The priorities outlined in the plan are framed from the powers and duties given to the Board in the Maine Education and School Statutes, Title 20-A. Priority areas include board effectiveness, career and technical education, certification and higher education, and school construction and renovations. Progress on the Strategic Plan is documented annually in the milestones of the plan.

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the Maine Health Data Organization (MHDO) as defined in Title 22, Chapter 1683, is to create and maintain a useful, objective, reliable, and comprehensive health information database that is used to improve health care quality for Maine people and to promote transparency of the cost and quality of healthcare in the State in conjunction with the Maine Quality Forum through a publicly accessible website.

ORGANIZATION:

The MHDO was created in 1996 as an independent executive agency to maintain and expand the health information database of its predecessor agency, the Maine Health Care Finance Commission. The MHDO has implemented rules and internal policies and procedures specific to data governance for the collection, processing, storage, protection and security, data release and analysis of claims data, hospital inpatient and outpatient encounter data, prescription drug data, hospital financial, organizational, and healthcare quality data. The organization exercises responsible stewardship specific to the security and privacy of the data when making the information accessible to the public.

The MHDO is governed by a multi stakeholder Board of Directors as defined in Title 22, Chapter 1683, Section 8703. The Governor appoints the members of the Board. Representation on the Board includes individuals from hospitals, payors, employers, consumers, providers, and government.

The MHDO makes data publicly available and accessible to the broadest extent consistent with the laws protecting individual privacy, and proprietary information. Acceptable uses of MHDO data include, but are not limited to, study of health care costs, health care disparities, utilization, and outcomes; benchmarking; quality analysis; longitudinal research; other research; and administrative or planning purposes.

MHDO's health care transparency website, www.comparemaine.org, provides average cost and quality information for over 200 common healthcare procedures at over 150 health care facilities for the top 5 health insurers in the State; and prescription drug costs for the top 25 most costly and utilized drugs in Maine. This website is updated annually.

MHDO's health care data supports other Legislative reports and requirements including Workers' Compensation: Title 39-A, Section 209-A(3)(5): An Act to Prevent Opiate Abuse by Strengthening the Controlled Substances Prescription Monitoring Program: Public Law 2015, chapter 488, Section 38: Maine Guaranteed Access Reinsurance Association Program: Title 24-A, Chapter 54-A: Annual Report to the Health Coverage, Insurance and Financial Services Committee on the state of Healthcare Associated Infections in Maine: Title 24-A, Chapter 87, §6951: An Act to Encourage Maine Consumers to Comparison Shop for Certain Health Care Procedures and to Lower Health Care Costs: Public Law 2017, chapter 232: An Act TO Establish Transparency in Primary Health Care Spending (Annual Report on Primary Care Spending in Maine): Public Law 2019, chapter 244: Directing the Maine Health Data Organization To Determine the Best Methods and Definitions To Use in Collecting Data To Better Understand Racial and Ethnic Disparities in the Provision of Health Care in Maine: Resolve 2021, chapter 34: An Act to Further Protect Consumers from Surprise Medical Bills: Public Law 2021, chapter 222: An Act to Lower Health Care Costs through the Establishment of the Office of Affordable Health Care: Public Law 2021, chapter 459: An Act Directing the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention To Release Annually Public Health Data Regarding Certain Fatalities and Hospitalizations: Public Law 2021, chapter 369: An Act To Determine Potential Savings in Prescription Drug Costs by Using International Pricing (International Referenced Rate Pricing for Prescription Drugs): Public Law 2021, chapter 606: and An Act Regarding Reporting on Spending for Behavioral Health Care Services and To Clarify Requirements for Credentialing by Health Insurance Carriers: Public Law 2021, chapter 603.

MAINE CONNECTIVITY AUTHORITY ANDREW BUTCHER, PRESIDENT DAVID WEDICK, CFO

Central Office: 100 FORE STREET, PORTLAND, ME 04101

PURPOSE

In 2021, the Legislature created the Maine Connectivity Authority (MCA) to be more proactive and flexible in deploying funding and programming to provide universal, affordable, reliable high-speed internet to all and underserved locations in the State. MCA is committed to expanding access to reliable, high-speed and affordable internet service and to maximize digital equity and inclusion needs throughout the State. Led by an experienced staff and board appointed by the Governor, the MCA works to ensure three goals:

- 1. That effective, accessible connectivity be universally available in the State;
- 2. That there be secure, affordable, reliable, competitive, sustainable and forward-looking infrastructure that can meet future needs; and
- 3. That all residents, businesses, and institutions in Maine be able to take full advantage of the economic, health, educational and other opportunities available through connectivity services.

ORGANIZATION:

MCA is a body corporate and politic and a public instrumentality of the State of Maine, established in 2021 by 35-A MRSA Chapter 94-A, section 9404 to carry out the powers conferred by Chapter 94-A as an essential governmental function, and to achieve the State connectivity goals set forth in section 9403. Established to be the primary broadband agency responsible to plan, develop, invest, and enable broadband, MCA was operational in early 2022 and functionally integrated with the ConnectMaine Authority (CME) via a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU). Beginning July 1, 2022 MCA provided functional oversight of the CME. MCA consists of a board with eleven voting members and a president both of whom are nominated by the Governor and approved by the Legislature.

PROGRAM:

A quarter of one percent (0.25%) assessment on all communications, video and internet service bills, and a ten-cent ($0.10) surcharge on all landline numbers is collected by the ConnectMaine Fund through CME. Through the organizational MOU between MCA and CME, these funds are used to assist MCA's efforts to expand the universal availability of broadband service by administering funds, supporting broadband investment, facilitating state support of the deployment of broadband infrastructure, collecting and disseminating broadband information, and promoting use of broadband service. The majority of operating funds for MCA currently derive from the administration of several federal grants through the American Rescue Plan and Bipartisan Infrastructure Law.

MCA currently administers funds through grant programs, technical assistance and functional programs structured to optimize the impact of broadband deployment. Infrastructure grants are awarded to reach the last mile in the most rural places, connect communities ready to scale their infrastructure, ensure affordable options for everyone, and invest in partnerships to build a modern broadband infrastructure for Maine. Digital equity, partnership, and planning grants are awarded to accelerate community broadband planning at a regional scale through tailored technical assistance, and to build and support digital inclusion efforts to regions and tribes around the State.

In 2022, MCA received funding through two American Rescue Plan programs (State and Local Fiscal Recovery Funds / Maine Jobs Recovery Plan) and the Capital Projects Fund, informing the design and development of The All-In programming, which included technical assistance and organizational capacity grants, wireless pilot projects, regional scale public-private infrastructure grants, and a line extension program. The first of the awards was made in April 2022.

Additionally, MCA assumed responsibility for the administration and management of CME's 2020 bond funded programs as well as the 2021 Broadband Infrastructure Program through the National Telecommunications and Information Administration.

PURPOSE:

In 2019, the Maine Legislature created The Permanent Commission on the Status of Racial, Indigenous, and Tribal Populations, established by section 12004-I, subsection 74-J. The Commission is an independent entity with a mission to examine racial disparities across all systems and to specifically work at improving the status and outcomes for historically disadvantaged racial, Indigenous, and tribal populations in the State.

The Commission is comprised of seventeen volunteer members who serve for 2-year terms. There are no term limits. While not part of the criteria, the Commission is primarily led by people who identify as part of the state's racial, Indigenous, and tribal populations. All Commissioners are appointed by either: the Governor, the Senate President, the Speaker of the House, or the Permanent Public Law 2021, chapter 436 established the Permanent Commission as its own agency, as opposed to a Commission within the Department of Labor. This allocated four FTEs to the Permanent Commission, as well as an operating budget. Public Law 2021, chapter 717 established a Maine state data governance program, which allocated one additional FTE to support the program. Public Law 2023, chapter 412 allocated one additional FTE to support communications work related to the Permanent Commission's activities.

PROGRAM:

The Commission provides a mechanism for the State to address generational inequities that are rooted in systemic racism and colonization. The initial duties include the following: conduct research necessary to determine the status of the state's historically disadvantaged racial, Indigenous, and tribal populations; work to strengthen/build the state's capacity to collect and analyze data related to these populations; research and document opportunities, services, programs, investments and best practice models that will improve the status of these populations; submit legislation, as needed, to adopt policies that improve the status of these populations; advise Maine's three branches of government on issues that affect the status of these populations; create a system for ongoing communication and input from people who comprise these populations along with those who have been most impacted by systemic racism and colonization; engage the public on issues related to structural racism and colonization; and, beginning January 1, 2020, and biennially thereafter, report to the Governor and the Legislature concerning the work and interests of the Commission.

PURPOSE:

The mission of the Workers' Compensation Board is to serve the employees and employers of the State fairly and expeditiously by ensuring compliance with workers' compensation laws, ensuring prompt delivery of benefits legally due, promoting the prevention of disputes, utilizing dispute resolution to reduce litigation and facilitating labor-management cooperation.

ORGANIZATION:

Policy is established by a seven-member board of directors having three labor representatives, three management representatives and an Executive Director who is Chair of the Board. The Governor appoints labor members from a list of nominees submitted by the AFL-CIO and management members from a list of nominees submitted by the Maine Chamber of Commerce and Industry. The Governor also appoints the Executive Director. These appointments are subject to review by the Joint Standing Committee on Labor, Commerce, Research and Economic Development with confirmation by the Legislature. Regional offices are in Caribou, Bangor, Augusta, Lewiston and Portland. Mediations and formal hearings are conducted at these offices. The central office is in Augusta.

PROGRAM:

The Board exists to facilitate the timely, fair and efficient resolution of disputes between employers and employees about work-related injuries and to ensure that all parties comply with their obligations under the Workers' Compensation Act. To administer the Workers' Compensation Act, the Board formulates and promulgates agency rules, facilitates the resolution of disputes through formal and informal means, tracks benefit payments, monitors employers for compliance with insurance coverage requirements, supervises medical protocols, tracks medical charges under the Board's fee schedule, administers an independent medical examiner system, and investigates and prosecutes complaints of fraud and misrepresentation. The Board accomplishes its mandates through the dispute resolution process, the Worker Advocate Program, the Monitoring, Audit and Enforcement (MAE) Program, the Abuse Investigation Unit and support staff.

The Board of Directors meet monthly to set policy pursuant to the mandates of the Act. The directors sit on three standing subcommittees: Budget, Personnel and Independent Medical Examiners (IME). The Budget subcommittee considers all budgetary matters, performance budgeting and determines the assessment. The Personnel subcommittee maintains the table of organization and prepares personnel policy. The IME subcommittee deals with the implementation of the Independent Medical Examiner Program. The Board has adopted standard operating procedures for all levels of dispute resolution that have eliminated backlogs and significantly reduced the length of time a case is in the system. The Board requires the use of Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) for filing of mandatory documents including First Reports of Injury and Notices of Controversy (claim denials). Interpreter services are provided by the Board at its expense. Notification of the availability of services is clearly displayed in all regional offices and is printed in an employee pamphlet.

The MAE Program was created in 1997 (1) to provide the Board, Legislature and Governor with timely and reliable data; (2) to monitor and audit payment and filing requirements; (3) to detect those insurers, self-insurers and third-party administrators that are not in compliance with workers' compensation laws; and (4) to ensure that all filing and compliance obligations under the Act are met. MAE compliance reports are issued quarterly and annually.

In 1996, the Legislature created a Workers Advocate Program to assist unrepresented employees through the mediation and formal hearing phases of dispute resolution.

PUBLICATIONS:

Except where noted, WCB publications are available free of charge and can be downloaded from the WCB website: https://www.maine.gov/wcb/. This includes Workers' Compensation Board Rules and Workers' Compensation Board of Directors meeting minutes. Through the collaborative efforts with local stakeholders, the Council identified current projects and developed actionable steps for addressing the gaps. The Plan identifies four strategic priorities: (1) Improve access to brain injury services, natural supports, transportation, and housing, and a reduction in waitlists for adults and children; (2) Increase awareness; (3) Improve Screening; and (4) Improve statewide data collection and reporting. PROGRAM:

During fiscal year 2021-22, the Commission was officially seated and appointed by The first official meeting of the Commission occurred in July the Governor. 2022. This delay was essentially due to the Public Health Emergency created by COVID-19. Prior to July of 2022, the Commission gathered monthly reports from the OBH, the Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention (MeCDC), and from the Director of Opioid Response.

These delays were beneficial to the Commission as it was able to reorganize itself into what it believes is a more effective structure to succeed in meeting statutory mandates. The Commission restructured around what it calls a Paradigm Shift to an Integrated Wellness-Oriented System of Care. The Commission is now shift to an integrated wellness-oriented system of care. The commission is how structured in a format that includes full Commission meetings that alternate monthly with five Pillar meetings. To support the good efforts of the Commission, the OBH has assigned representatives to both the full Commission as well as the Pillar groups. The OBH's commitment to the Commission includes ongoing communication and collaboration through consistent representation, as well as coordination with various DHHS stakeholder groups such as the MeCDC and Opioid Coordination Council. The OBH is looking forward to ongoing engagement with the Commission as part of its strategic planning for substance use disorder policy and program development, in addition to implementation of the Comprehensive Behavioral Health Plan and Opioid Response Strategic Action Plan.

The Commission decided to replicate the "Report Card on OBH" that was done in 2010. Since 2010, the landscape and profile of substance use disorders has dramatically changed and continues to change. When the organizing statute for the Commission was signed on June 20, 2019, the Commission was organized into the four pillars of prevention, intervention/harm reduction, treatment, and recovery. Two of those pillars, Intervention/Harm Reduction, and Recovery, did not exist in The Report Card process itself has involved developing benchmarks within the four pillars related to the original Report Card's 4 evaluation criteria: Leadership, Structure and Sustainability, Resources, Legislative Activities, and Measurement and Accountability. The Commission has held work sessions and are working on establishing benchmarks within those criteria. The goal is to use the Card as an Annual Report to the Governor, Health and Human Services Committee, the Commissioner of DHHS and the Director of the OBH.

TELECOMMUNICATIONS RELAY SERVICES COUNCIL TERRY MORRELL, COUNCIL POC

Telephone: (207) 470-7668 Reference: Policy Area: 05 Umbrella: 92 Unit: 538 Citation: T0035A M.R.Ś.A., Sect.: 000008704

PURPOSE:

The Telecommunications Relay Services Council, as established by Title 5, section 12004-G, subsection 30-C, shall evaluate telecommunications relay services in the State of Maine and implement the Maine Telecommunications Relay Services program as certified by the Federal Communications Commission pursuant to 47 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 64, Subpart F.

ORGANIZATION:

The Council is authorized to hire a part-time Executive Director to assist in carrying out the powers and duties of the Council. Council members consist solely of those individuals appointed pursuant to statutory mandate. From within the members of the Council, a slate of officers is elected comprised of the Chair, the Vice-Chair, the Treasurer and the Clerk. The Council provides direction to the Chair, who has the authority to form subcommittees to carry out the directives of the Council. The Clerk is responsible for ensuring filings are made as necessary for any state or federal certifications or reports. The Treasurer is responsible for receiving reimbursement requests for activities on behalf of the Council. The Treasurer and the Chair are jointly tasked with the approval of any reimbursement requests.

The Council is tasked with administering the Telecommunications Relay Service (TRS) program within the State. TRS is a program where individuals call a single number, 7-1-1, which connects them to the TRS Provider for the State who acts as a translator between hearing individuals and deaf or hard of hearing individuals to permit telephonic communications among all users of the public switched telephone network. The primary benefit of this system is that it does not require both parties to the call to have assistive devices, such as TTY machines, thus opening the door for deaf and hard of hearing individuals to contact any other telephone user in the State, from their grandchild to their bank to the local pizza shop, without limitations or added costs by either party.

One priority for this program is to ensure that there is a high quality, reliable TRS program in the State that is compliant with federal standards and trends. To accomplish this goal, the Council has engaged in a request for proposal (RFP) proceeding to select the TRS provider for the State. The current TRS provider for Maine is Sprint Communications Company, LP.

Another priority for this program is to ensure that people are aware of TRS and educated in how to use the system. To accomplish this goal, the Council requires the TRS provider to support outreach throughout the State in conjunction with Maine groups who work with the deaf and hard of hearing communities. The Council also requires the TRS provider to support the Council in its efforts to perform outreach to constituencies beyond the deaf and hard of hearing community to ensure that when people or businesses receive a TRS call they do not hang up. In addition, the TRS provider supports the Council's continued involvement with federal organizations to ensure that the Council can adequately address existing standards for services provided by the TRS provider.

MAINE ARTS COMMISSION JULIE HORN, INTERIM EXEC DIRECTOR

Central Office: 193 STATE STREET, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

PURPOSE

The Maine Arts Commission was established by the Legislature to encourage and stimulate public interest and participation in the cultural heritage and cultural programs of our state; to expand the State's cultural resources; and to encourage and assist freedom of artistic expression for the well-being of the arts, and to meet the needs and aspirations of persons in all parts of the State.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Arts Commission, an independent state agency, is governed by a board appointed by the Governor for their interest in the arts and related fields. The Maine Arts Commission works to advance the arts by providing services and limited funding to artists, arts organizations, communities and schools throughout Maine. During the past year, the Commission has focused on providing support for organizations and individuals through our grants program, which was boosted by American Rescue Plan Act funding provided from the National Endowment for the Arts.

PROGRAM:

The Commission staff is focused on service to the field, and provided leadership, guidance, and peer partnership to organizations and individuals as we all navigated the ever-changing landscape due to the pandemic and other factors that have affected our day to day lives. As part of the process of information gathering for our strategic plan, the Commission has held virtual meetings in communities throughout the State. We have also engaged individuals to participate in four committees - each focusing on a portion of the plan. Further, the Commission is engaged in a process of examining our work through an equity lens and considering making changes to our grant giving to ensure access for all Maine arts organizations and artists. We are actively reaching out to other state agencies to develop relationships and look for ways in which the arts might help them accomplish their goals. Partnering is an effective way of ensuring that the arts reach as many Mainers as possible. One example of this work is our Memorandum of Understanding with the Maine Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry to help them bring art to the walls of one of their buildings on the east side of Augusta. Like existing partnerships with the State House and Cross building, having Maine art on the walls enhances the experiences for employees as well as visitors and provides a necessary opportunity for Maine artists to display their work for the public. We look forward to continuing such discussions in the coming year.

PURPOSE:

Baxter State Park is the result of a vision of former Governor Percival P. Baxter, who donated the first parcel of land in 1931 and, over the years, added various parcels until his final acquisition in 1962 brought the Park's area to 201,018 acres. Since then, the Authority has purchased and been gifted additional acreage to bring the Park to its current size of 209,644 acres. In addition to the various gifts of land, Governor Baxter also left two sizable trust funds to carry out the operation and maintenance of the Park without the need for state funding.

Governor Baxter's expressed desires were that this Park "shall forever be retained and used for state forest, public park, and public recreational purposes ... shall forever be kept and remain in the natural wild state ...shall forever be kept and remain as a sanctuary for beasts and birds".

ORGANIZATION:

While Baxter State Park bears the name "State", it is separately administered, free from any connection with the larger state park system (Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry).

The Baxter State Park Authority, a three-person authority consisting of the Maine Attorney General, the Director of Maine Forest Service, and the Commissioner of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, has full power in controlling and managing the Park and in exercising all Trust obligations. Responsibility for the operation and management of Baxter State Park is delegated from the Baxter State Park Authority to the Park Director, who supervises the chief Ranger (operations), Natural Resource Director (natural resource and visitor experience), and Director of Administrative Services (business operations).

Approximately 40% of the cost of Park operations is financed from a combination of use fees, entrance fees, and wood products revenues, with the remaining 60% provided by revenues from trusts established by Percival Baxter in 1945 and again through his will after his death in 1969 to provide funds for the care and maintenance of Baxter State Park.

PROGRAM

Both the forever wild and forest management portions of Baxter State Park are managed according to the donor's wishes, Percival Baxter, as expressed in the Trust Deed Communications. In all policy issues, preserving and protecting Park resources is considered above recreational needs. The process of policy and decision-making of the Authority is assisted by Park staff and several Advisory

There are over 40 peaks and ridges besides Katahdin in the Park. The trail system features over 215 miles of trails popular with hikers, mountain climbers, and naturalists. Baxter State Park operates eight (8) roadside campgrounds and two (2) backcountry campgrounds, providing an overnight capacity of slightly over 1,000 campers. Fishing within the Park is sought after as the Park has over 40 Heritage Brook Trout waters. There are also numerous individual backcountry sites for visitors to enjoy and over 40,000 acres open to hunting for the public.

The Park is a premier year-round destination for outdoor enthusiasts. A year-round staff of 22 swells to about 61 in the summer, including office administration and reservation personnel, field and law enforcement rangers, and resource specialists. Roughly 60,000 people visit the Park in the summer months.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Economic Growth Council was established to develop, maintain and evaluate a long-term economic plan for the State. The Council's responsibilities include the development of a long-range plan, goals, benchmarks and alternative strategies for a sustainable state economy. Additionally, the Council will monitor progress in accomplishing the State's goals and benchmarks and recommend changes in the plan to reflect the dynamics of the international, national and state economy.

ORGANIZATION:

The Council's full complement is 19 members appointed for 3-year terms. The Commissioner of the Department of Economic and Community Development is a permanent member. The remaining 18 members are jointly appointed by the Governor, President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives. Fourteen members are appointed from the public to represent a broad range of expertise in areas including labor, environment, business and education, one of whom must also serve on the Maine Innovation Economy Advisory Council. Also appointed to the Council are four members of the Legislature having a demonstrated interest in economic development. A 2013 law requires that legislative membership is one senator and one representative from both the majority and minority parties.

By statute, the Council is staffed by the Maine Development Foundation.

PROGRAM

The Council's first report, Goals for Growth: Progress 95, was released in fiscal year 1995 and proposed to monitor progress in six key areas: Businesses, Productive Workers/Reward Employment, Vital Communities, Healthy Natural Resources, Efficient Government and State-of-the-Art Infrastructure. Measures of Growth 97 identified 57 benchmarks in the six areas, with subsequent reports tracking and evaluating Maine's performance on these indicators. Since those initial reports, the Council has constantly modified and refined the core product to ensure it is measuring the key indicators of Maine's economy, using the best available data to provide a clear and comprehensive evaluation of the most critical factors affecting Maine's economy. The 2021 report released in December 2021 added two additional metrics (Labor Force Participation and Entrepreneurship) for a total of 30 benchmarks. It was also accompanied by improved web and mobile presentation of the content. The 2022 Measures of Growth report released in November 2022, added Mental & Behavioral Health for a total of 31 indicators. The Council distributes the Measures of Growth report widely and The Maine conducts briefings for organizations and agencies statewide. Development Foundation uses the Measures to inform its broader work and to anchor the Policy Leaders Academy for legislator economic education. The Council has also informed and aligned progress reporting and insights to the 10-Year Economic Development Strategy, developed in 2019 by Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) with Council input and collaboration. A refresh of the Strategy with Council input, is pending for late 2023.

PURPOSE:

To enable municipalities that have fallen into financial difficulties to receive assistance from the State, to be reestablished on a sound financial basis and to assure collection of taxes due from those municipalities to the State.

ORGANIZATION:

The Commissioner of the Department of Administrative and Financial Services, the State Treasurer and the State Tax Assessor compose the Board of Emergency Municipal Finance.

PROGRAM:

Any municipality that is financially unable to provide for its direct relief and work programs or its contributory share of public assistance programs of any nature, may apply to the Department of Health and Human Services for funds from the State for that purpose. The municipal officers must apply in writing and send a copy of the application to the Board. Prior to the expenditure of such funds, the affairs of the municipality must be taken over by the Board.

If a municipality falls one year and six months behind in the payment of its taxes to the State, defaults on any bond issue or payment of interest due, or neglects to pay school and other salaries due and has received funds from the State in support of its poor, the Board may audit or investigate the financial condition of the municipality. If after the audit or investigation the Board finds it necessary it may, by a majority vote, take over local government.

Once the Board takes control, a return to municipal self-governance requires repayment of relevant debts and a finding by the Board or its appointee that the financial affairs of the municipality may be resumed under local control.

PURPOSE:

The State Emergency Response Commission (the SERC) oversees the implementation of a comprehensive program of planning and training for effective emergency response to releases of hazardous materials.

The SERC facilitates and coordinates the development of statewide plans implemented for comprehensive and effective response to hazardous materials emergencies for the safety and well-being of people and the environment.

ORGANIZATION:

The SERC is composed of 14 members. The Director of the Maine Emergency Management Agency serves as the chair. Other members include the Commissioners of the Departments of Environmental Protection, Health and Human Services, Labor and Transportation or designees, the Director of the Office of Emergency Medical Services or designee, the Chief of the State Police or designee, 4 gubernatorial appointees, 2 appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and an environmental organization representative of the general public appointed by the President of the Senate.

PROGRAM:

The SERC in support of its vision and mission statement has developed a three-pronged approach to its goals. First, under federal and state law it monitors the performance of facilities that store or use large volumes of hazardous substances. This includes receiving annual inventory reports, assisting facilities in developing emergency plans, reviewing emergency plans and collecting information relating to spills of hazardous substances at facilities.

Second, the SERC provides support to Local Emergency Planning Committees (LEPCs) that are required under federal law to develop plans in the event of an accidental release of a hazardous substance. This assistance may be either in the form of grants to enable LEPCs to hire assistance in completing the plan or technical support as it relates to risk assessment and hazard analysis.

Third, as part of the mission to protect the public and environment, the SERC supports several Regional Response Teams (RRTs) and Decontamination Strike Teams (DSTs). These teams, who receive funds through both SERC special revenue and Homeland Security Grants for both training and equipment, are placed strategically throughout the State of Maine in such a manner that they can respond to quickly assess and mitigate any accidental or intentional release of hazardous substances.

The SERC also supports an aggressive campaign of education of Maine's first responders by providing training grants to communities. These programs may include Hazardous Materials Awareness and Operations and Technician level courses along with several other specialized programs.

The Finance Authority of Maine (FAME), a quasi-independent state agency, is Maine's business and higher education finance authority. FAME's mission is to provide financial solutions that help Maine people achieve their business and higher educational goals.

FAME initially was established in 1983 as Maine's business finance agency. In that role, FAME was charged with supporting the start-up, expansion and growth of Maine businesses by working with Maine's banking community to improve access to capital. FAME provides direct loans, loan insurance, tax credits, bonds, and other programs to help Maine businesses grow. In 1990, FAME's mission was significantly expanded by the Maine Legislature when it assumed responsibility for administering the State's higher education finance and outreach programs.

Through grants, loans, loan repayment, and other programs, FAME helps students and their families meet the costs associated with higher education. FAME administers Maine's Section 529 Education Savings Program, NextGen 529, and oversees outreach and financial education activities that are designed to encourage Maine people to aspire to and pursue higher education.

FAME works to grow the number of Maine residents with quality in-state jobs by deploying financial resources needed to obtain relevant postsecondary education and increase economic development. As such, the State Librarian has administrative oversight of operations and programs offered by the Maine State Library. These programs include Collection Development, Digital Initiatives and Promotion; Library Development; and Public and Outreach Services, Research and Innovation. Such requirements include, but are not limited to: contents and exchanges - essentially building a collection and making it available through the lending of materials statewide; ensuring an operation open to the public to conduct research and utilize numerous library resources; overseeing the collection of state agency publications; and using resources to make libraries stronger throughout Maine. The Maine State Library has three primary operating departments:

1) The Collections Development, Digital Initiatives and Promotion Department is responsible for the acquisition and care of over 600,000 books, serial volumes and government documents as well as other special collections belonging to the Maine State Library. - B-Rate. 3) The Public and Outreach Services, Research & Innovation Department oversees the development and delivery of all direct one to one service. Embracing a philosophy of service that people are at the center of the library's mission to inspire and cultivate learning, advance knowledge and nurture and strengthen communities, this department models best demonstrated service practices through direct library lending (circulation), reference, outreach (to the underserved) and innovation. Specific activities of the division can be categorized as public dervices; outreach dervices for underserved; and research and innovation.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Lobster Marketing Collaborative markets and promotes the sale of Maine lobster in local, regional, national and world markets year-round.

The Maine State Legislature established the Maine Lobster Promotion Council in 1991 at the request of the Maine lobster industry. In 2013, the Maine Lobster Promotion Council was renamed the Maine Lobster Marketing Collaborative (MLMC) and funded through 2018, with subsequent legislatures funding the organization at the same level through 2021 and again through 2026. In 2022, the legislature passed a bill redirecting 20% of funds collected through the marketing surcharge to the Lobster Legal Defense Fund for a 2-year period ending June 2024. The MLMC is a public instrumentality of the State, funded primarily through assessments paid by lobster license holders, dealers and processors and managed by an 11-member Board of Directors composed of four harvesters, three dealers/processors and two public members; the Commissioner of the Department of Marine Resources and the Commissioner of the Department of Economic and Community Development (or the Commissioners' designees) serve as ex officio members.

PROGRAM:

Over the past year, MLMC worked to maintain the fishery's brand reputation while driving demand for Maine Lobster among consumer and trade customers, with a focus on the U.S. market. The marketing program employed a variety of tactics including proactive and reactive public relations, social media, digital advertising, educational outreach, trade shows and content creation. MLMC reached over 98 million consumers with messages about sustainability to help maintain confidence in the lobster brand. MLMC engaged over 2 million consumers with home-cook friendly content designed to stimulate produce usage. Consumers viewed videos with positive information about the fishery over 4 million times. MLMC drove over 17,000 potential customers to the websites of individual dealers.

Mail Address: 127 COMMUNITY DRIVE, AUGUSTA, ME 04330 Established: 1972 FAX: (207) 623-5359 Telephone: (207) 622-9386 Reference: Policy Area: 00 Umbrella: 94 Unit: 376 Citation: T0030A M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000005951

The Maine Municipal Bond Bank (the Bank) was established to reduce overall long-term borrowing costs of governmental units within the State for capital improvement projects through lower interest rates and reduced processing costs of bond issues. The Bank is empowered to issue bonds and notes in its own name and to use the proceeds therefrom to directly purchase the bonds or notes of governmental units. The result is to combine a number of smaller bond issues into a single attractive package which the Bank then offers to the national market.

ORGANIZATION:

The Bank, established in 1972, consists of a five-member Board of Commissioners, including the Treasurer of State and the Superintendent of Financial Institutions, ex officio, and three Commissioners appointed by the Governor, for terms of three years. The Board elects one of its members as chairman and appoints an Executive Director who also serves as both secretary and treasurer.

No dtate appropriations are allocated to the Bank's General Bond Resolution program. The Bank pays all costs of issuance on behalf of local governmental units using the Bank's General Bond Resolution, except for local bond counsel, a prorated share of underwriters' sales commission and any negative arbitrage on the moral obligation reserve fund. Operating expenses are covered by the bond refunding savings, grant administrative fees and income from investment of operating funds.

The Bank does not receive any appropriations from the State to operate these programs but does receive administrative and/or loan servicing fees from participating eligible borrowers.

PROGRAM:

In November of 2022, bonds were issued in the General Tax-Exempt Resolution totaling $8,705,000 that assisted 7 governmental units in financing their capital projects. In May of 2023, bonds were issued in the amount of $30,030,000 that assisted 14 governmental units in financing their capital projects.

PURPOSE:

The Maine State Museum seeks to share what is meaningful about Maine and its place in the world in order to inspire people to discover Maine's past, understand its present, and imagine its future (Mission Statement). The Museum pursues this mission through the selection, preservation, research, and educational use of objects and information representing the compelling significance of Maine's natural and cultural heritage. Located in Augusta, the museum maintains collections comprising some 800,000 items representing the full range of Maine's archaeological, cultural, and environmental history. Museum exhibits in the Cultural Building are presently closed because of a major renovation project there, though museum work proceeds in the State House and Blaine House and internally through planning substantial new exhibits; the development and delivery of on-line educational programs; collections management; publications; and research. The museum expects to re-open to the on-site public in late 2025.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine State Museum, established by the legislature in 1836, is the nation's oldest state museum. Re-established several times, in 1965 it became an autonomous agency of state government under its own Commission, and moved into Augusta's new Cultural Building in 1971. It operates three off-site collections storage locations. Since 2020 it has been closed to the public for a massive Cultural Building renovation project directed by the Bureau of General Services. In fiscal year 2023 considerable museum staff time was devoted to renovation-related care and moving of collections, and to the monitoring of ongoing Cultural Building construction.

PROGRAM:

EDUCATION: Temporarily lacking on-site programming or exhibits, the museum has developed online live public educational programs and off-site live outreach engagements about Maine history, natural science, and other topics reaching 3,200 people in FY23. In FY23 the museum organized 469 State and Blaine House tours serving 5,971 visitors and the museum had a total virtual visitation of 212,345. Programs offered include teacher training workshops; primary source resources using museum collections; live online class and other presentations; and videos on exhibits and many other topics. A digital State House tour neared completion and planning continued for the Lunder Education Center and for two new major exhibits: Meet Maine Here and Whales. There were 21 full-time equivalent museum staff positions in FY23 and the separate but affiliated Friends organization had 1.3 FTE positions.

COLLECTIONS: Online history and archival cataloging projects advanced. Nearly 1,000 museum objects were added to the online, publicly accessible database. FY23 museum collections added over 40 history accession groups comprising approximately 350 separate objects and 30 linear feet of archival collections such as manuscripts, books, correspondence, publications, family histories, etc. and about 800 photographs. Some highlights include slides of one of the last log drives on the Kennebec, 1975; 1783 Samuel Sewall letter describing celebrations in Bath following the end of the American Revolution; two mid-19th c. Wabanaki utilitarian baskets, noteworthy for rarity and condition; Portrait painted by Jack Havey in 1999 of hunting guide Harry `Buster' Prout; tall case clock made about 1810 by Samuel Aspinwall of Pittston; and Maine's oldest dated quilt (1804). During FY23 the museum loaned some 50 objects to borrowers that included the US Navy, the Harvard Peabody Museum, a museum consortium in Madrid (Spain), and the Maine Mineral and Gem Museum. In the Natural Science/Archaeology Division, visiting and resident researchers investigated pre-historic and Ceramic period Native American sites and the archaeology of the the brigantine sailing warship Defence built in 1779, artifacts from which are being prepared for new museum exhibits. The long-running exhibit Back to Nature was retired and removed to make way for the museum's new whale exhibit. The hiring of a new natural science collections manager allowed for improvements in the general collection organization and intensified work on the State's entomological holdings (that received new incoming specimens), new donated cabinetry, and over 1000 hours of volunteer assistance. The Historical Records of Indians of the Far Northeast project was completed through a $40,000 Mellon Foundation grant and the Merrymeeting Bay Trust awarded the museum a $38,600 grant to continue with its Pioneer archaeological project.

FRIENDS OF THE MAINE STATE MUSEUM: This independent support organization, under a new director, enacted important institutional and policy changes, held a successful first fundraising event since the end of the pandemic, received a significant gift for a Friends' permanent operational endowment, and worked with the museum on projects and planning for the 2025 re-opening.

EXHIBITS: The museum's exhibitions, past and planned, are represented on the museum website: www.mainestatemuseum.org during this period of the closure.

LICENSES:

Any person, agency or institution desiring to excavate an archaeological site on state-controlled land (including submerged lands beneath the ocean up to three miles offshore and beneath navigable rivers, lakes, and great ponds) must submit a written application for a permit to the Maine State Museum (approval must also be given by the Maine Historic Preservation Commission and the agency controlling

PURPOSE:

The Northern New England Passenger Rail Authority (NNEPRA) was created in 1995 by the Maine State Legislature as a result of a citizens' initiative to reestablish and support the provision of regularly scheduled passenger rail service to and within Maine. The Authority is directed to take actions to support passenger rail service, including the acquisition, holding, use, operation, repair, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, modernization, rebuilding, relocation, maintenance, and disposition of railroad lines, railway facilities, rolling stock, machinery and equipment, trackage rights, and real and personal property of any kind. In addition, NNEPRA manages host railroad agreements, a contract with Amtrak, insurance liability and marketing, and coordinates station operations.

NNEPRA consists of a board of 7 directors. The 7 directors are the Commissioner of Transportation, who is a director ex officio; the Commissioner of Economic and Community Development, who also is a director ex officio; and five directors who are members of the public, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Legislature for five-year staggered terms. The Governor shall name one of the appointed members as chair of NNEPRA.

Pursuant to its mandate, NNEPRA is currently providing intercity passenger rail service between Portland and Boston's North Station, and in 2012, service was expanded from Portland north to Brunswick.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Public Employees Retirement System (MainePERS) administers retirement programs that cover: 1) State employees, 2) all of the State's public school teachers and administrators, 3) the State's judges, 4) the State's legislators, and 5) employees of the various political subdivisions that choose to participate in the MainePERS as Participating Local Districts (PLDs). MainePERS is also responsible for the payment of benefits from the Governor's Retirement Fund. MainePERS is also responsible for administering the Group Life Insurance Program which provides life insurance benefits for both active and retired state employees, legislators, judges, public school teachers, and for employees of PLDs that elect to offer this coverage to their employees.

MainePERS also administers the MaineSTART defined contribution retirement plans that are established under sections 401(a), 403(b), and 457(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. These plans are presently available to employees of those employers in the PLD Consolidated Plan that have adopted one or more of the plans. As of June 30, 2023, there are 7 employers participating in the 401(a) plan with 95 participants, 77 employers participating in the 457(b) plan with 1,020 participants, and one employer participating in the 403(b) plan with 578 participants.

ORGANIZATION:

The responsibility for the operation of MainePERS is held by MainePERS' Board of Trustees, which is comprised of eight members. State law specifies the Board's composition. The State Treasurer is an ex officio member of the Board. The seven other trustee seats include three that are to be filled by MainePERS members: one is to be a teacher member elected by the Maine Education Association; one is to be a state employee elected by the Maine State Employees' Association; and one is to be a PLD member appointed by the Maine Municipal Association. The remaining four trustee seats are held by persons appointed by the Governor: two are to have training or experience in investments, accounting, banking, or insurance, or as actuaries; one is to be chosen from nominees submitted by the Maine Education Association - Retired; and one is to be a MainePERS retiree, chosen from nominees submitted by retired state employees, retired PLD employees, the Maine Association of Retirees or a committee composed of representatives of those groups.

The Board contracts with qualified professional actuaries for the actuarial services necessary for its oversight of plan funding and the discharge of those of its other responsibilities that involve actuarial information and analysis.

The Board's management of MainePERS investments is embodied in its investment policy. The policy states the Board's underlying investment objectives, sets out the investment strategies intended to realize the objectives, and establishes guidelines and criteria for implementation of the strategies. The Board employs an investment consultant to assist in development and implementation of investment policy.

The Board is the final administrative decision-maker in matters involving the rights, credits, and benefits of members. It has established an administrative appeals process for the making of such decisions, including the use of independent Hearing Officers who serve under contract. In decisions on disability retirement appeals, statutorily established medical review service providers and individual medical advisors provide recommendations as to the medical aspects of disability. The Board's final administrative decisions are appealable to Superior Court

The Board appoints the Chief Executive Officer of MainePERS, who is responsible for the work of MainePERS' staff. The staff is organized into the Office of the Chief Executive Officer and the Departments of Investments, Finance, Member Service, Information Technology, and Legal and Administration.

PROGRAM:

Covered members of MainePERS include both active and inactive members. Active members are those currently working for a MainePERS participating employer who are contributing to MainePERS. As of June 30, 2023, there are approximately 53,940 active members in MainePERS. Inactive members are those who have contributed in the past and whose contributions remain with MainePERS but who are not contributing presently. As of June 30, 2023, there are approximately 61,820 inactive members in MainePERS.

The MainePERS benefits payroll comprises benefits paid to service retirees, beneficiaries of service retirees, disability retirees and survivors of members who become deceased prior to retirement. At June 30, 2023, a total of 47,072 people were receiving benefits. The total monthly benefits payroll paid for the month of June 30, 2023 was $99,251,559. While this number fluctuates month to month, as does the number of benefit recipients, fluctuations are relatively small. Thus, the June 30 numbers can be viewed as an approximate monthly average for FY23.

Those looking for more details concerning the membership, finances, or benefits of MainePERS are invited to contact MainePERS for information.

Annual financial and actuarial reports, as well as various member, employer and retiree publications are available free of charge and can be downloaded from the MainePERS website: www.MainePERS.org.

PURPOSE

The Saco River Corridor Commission protects the drinking water quality of the Saco River and the integrity of the natural resources that make up the land base of the Corridor bordering the Saco, Ossipee, and Little Ossipee Rivers. The Act, which is legislatively mandated, is the source of the Commission's authority, mission, and program elements, and seeks to protect all of the values of this land and water area. These values include the economic, natural, scenic, recreational and wildlife resources, which clearly highlights the importance of this natural treasure. The Act states that "In view of the dangers of intensive and poorly planned development, it is the purpose of this Act to preserve existing water quality, prevent the diminution of water supplies, to control erosion, to protect fish and wildlife populations, to prevent undue extremes of floods and drought, to limit the loss of life and damage to property from periodic floods; to preserve the scenic, rural and unspoiled character of the lands adjacent to these rivers; to prevent obstructions to navigation; to prevent overcrowding; to avoid the mixture of incompatible uses; to protect those areas of exceptional scenic, historic, archaeological, scientific and educational importance; and to protect the public health, safety and general welfare by establishing the Saco River Corridor and by regulating the use of the land and water within this area." The Saco River serves as a drinking water reservoir which requires the additional oversight and protection of the Saco River Corridor Commission. Several hundred thousand people rely on this river for their drinking water needs

The Corridor area, 300 miles of river front, includes the Saco River from Saco Bay to the New Hampshire border, the Ossipee River from its confluence with the Saco River to the New Hampshire border, and the Little Ossipee River from its confluence with the Saco River to the New Hampshire border at Balch Pond. The Saco River Corridor Commission is a perfect example of regional communities working together toward a common goal to protect a dynamic, regional resource of economic importance to the entire area.

The Saco River Corridor Commission administers regulations developed for our region because the water in our rivers serve as a drinking reservoir for Biddeford, Saco, and several adjacent communities. As important as this is today, it will be even more critical as a drinking water source well into the future possibly extending far outside of the region. It is a function of this Commission to review applications for permits and variances filed under provisions of this Act and to ensure the continuing land and water quality of the Saco River Corridor.

ORGANIZATION:

The Saco River Corridor Commission is a single unit agency consisting of one regular and one alternate member from each of the twenty municipalities in the three counties whose jurisdiction includes lands or bodies of water encompassed by the Saco River Corridor. These forty members are appointed for a staggered three-year term to serve on the Commission by various elected officials within the municipalities with lands in the Corridor. The Commission members are the deciding body of the organization, while the staff presently consists of an Executive Director, Administrative Assistant, Environmental Compliance Evaluator, Water Quality Program Manager, Water Quality Coordinator, and volunteers who provide support services to the Commission, applicants, and various municipal officials concerned with the Saco River Corridor Act, the rivers, or other state-related matters.

PROGRAM:

The Commission meets to review permit applications for development and certain uses within the corridor. Their decisions ensure compliance with the Act and avoid the mixture of incompatible or detrimental uses within the Corridor. With available resources, the Commission's staff assists applicants, abutters, code enforcement officers and municipal officials to support the purpose of the Act. During this fiscal year, the Commission conducted 2 public hearings, 14 subcommittee meetings and 11 Commission meetings. Members considered a total of 127 permit applications for development within the Corridor. Under the guidance of the Commission, staff manages the permit process and recordkeeping, conducts site inspections and compliance checks, and brings emerging matters to the attention of the Commission.

The Commission continues to coordinate enforcement efforts with the Office of the Attorney General and/or the Department of Environmental Protection. Although the Commission's primary function is regulatory, it also continues its historic role as an advocate for the river and its surrounding environment. To this end, the Commission engages staff and volunteers to coordinate a water quality monitoring program at 43 separate sites. From May to Mid-September, samples are taken on a bi-weekly basis at each monitoring site with additional samples taken at highly recreated sites weekly. Ten trained volunteer monitors participated during the 2023 season. The program includes in-house bacteria analysis as well as nutrient parameter sampling by a certified laboratory. The Commission staff provides annual reports of water quality data to each Corridor municipality to track short-term trends and identify water quality problems. With assistance from the Maine Outdoor Heritage Fund, the Commission is exploring applications of environmental DNA analysis to better track the source of bacterial contamination and identify any potential threats to wildlife or public health.

PURPOSE

The Maine Technology Institute (MTI) was established to encourage, promote, stimulate, and support research and development activities leading to the commercialization of new products and services in the State's technology-intensive sectors; to enhance the competitive position of those sectors; and increase the growth of clusters of industrial activity within those sectors, thereby generating new jobs for Maine people. MTI is critical to the State's economic development strategy and a significant driver to the long-term expansion of research and development assets resulting in the creation of new ventures. In the past fiscal year, MTI used its $6.7 million appropriation, along with investment returns and loan repayments, to put $7.07 million to work in 118 distinct projects across Maine. This funding helped leverage $45.8 million in private sector matching investment.

ORGANIZATION:

MTI leads the development of a strong culture of innovation in the State of Maine and is well-positioned for continued growth and effectiveness. It is organized as a nonprofit corporation, consistent with the provisions of the Federal Internal Revenue Code. Bylaws were drafted and corporation documents were filed in September 1999. Bylaws were updated in October 2019. A Board of Directors consisting of thirteen voting members and two nonvoting members governs MTI. The Governor appoints ten directors, eight represent the targeted technologies and two have demonstrated finance, lending, or venture capital experience. The Commissioner of the Department of Economic and Community Development, the Chancellor of the University of Maine System, the President of the Maine

Community College System and the Director of the Governor's Office of Policy, Innovation and the Future, or their designees, are ex-officio members. The MTI President is a nonvoting director. Seven subsidiary boards, each representing a targeted technology sector, were formed, and function to advise and support the MTI Board. Approximately 120 domain experts comprise the membership of these technology boards. MTI operates from an office located in Brunswick.

PROGRAM:

MTI makes direct investments in ventures pursuing promising technologies, providing targeted commercialization assistance to Maine companies, and strengthening Maine's technology clusters. It works with organizations and individuals focused on expanding the State's entrepreneurial ecosystem to stimulate new venture formation. Regarded as the leader and dominant player in this effort, MTI programs require at least a 1:1 matching contribution from award recipients. MTI award programs are based on scientific or technical merit, commercial feasibility, and economic impact potential to the State. Funding from MTI signals a critical validation or endorsement of an idea, product, or service. The MTI application process requires a disciplined approach demanding that the entrepreneur attempt to define a business model and build a business case for his or her idea, product, or service. That validation helps lend credibility and better positions the product or process for success in the marketplace and with investors and traditional lenders.

For bond administration, once bond initiatives are approved by voters, MTI is asked to administer the funds on behalf of the State. MTI is currently mane $68 million in bond-funded research and development infrastructure projects. MTI is currently managing In addition to managing its core state funds, MTI was also asked to assist the State as it worked to distribute approximately $1 billion in federal discretionary American Rescue Plan Act funding as part of the Maine Jobs & Recovery Plan (MJRP). The MJRP makes substantial investments in economic development, worker attraction and training, affordable housing, health and human services, and higher education, to name just a few. MTI was specifically involved in three sectors related MJRP buckets of funding in FY23. MTI managed $20 million for one-time grants to support economic recovery and development opportunities in the forest products industry. Working collaboratively with the Maine Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry and the Maine Department of Economic and Community Development, MTI developed programming to help achieve the objectives of the legislation. The $20 million was deployed in two phases. Phase 1 of the program, awards totaling approximately $6 million, occurred in FY22 and resulted in 224 awards to forest products companies across Maine. Phase 2 was administered in FY23 and resulted in 19 consequential awards totaling approximately $14 million. MTI also collaborated with the Maine Department of Marine Resources to make 107 awards in FY22 through the Seafood Dealers and Processors Program (SDPP) totaling $15.3 million.

Finally, the MJRP included meaningful allocations to support innovation, including $39.6 million to help address revenue losses in Maine small businesses and high growth enterprises and deployed through a newly created Pandemic Recovery for an Innovative Maine Economy (PRIME) Fund. The PRIME Fund awards grants in three phases: Phase 1 focused on direct support to businesses who suffered negative impacts from the pandemic. More than $23 million in awards were associated with Phase 1 and 174 Maine companies benefited. Phase 2 was developed to assist entrepreneurial support organizations in Maine. $5 million in total awards were made to 16 entrepreneurial support organizations in FY23. The third and final phase will occur in FY24.

WELLS NATIONAL ESTUARINE RESEARCH RESERVE MANAGMNT AUTHORITY

Central Office: LAUDHOLM FARM, WELLS, ME 04090

Mail Address: 342 LAUDHOLM FARM ROAD, WELLS, ME 04090 FAX:

PURPOSE

The Wells National Estuarine Research Reserve was established in 1986 pursuant to Section 315 of the Federal Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, as amended. The objective of the Act is protection and management of estuarine resources. Wells Reserve addresses this mission through environmental education, research and natural resource stewardship programs. The Wells National Estuarine Research Reserve Management Authority was established in 1990 by Private and Special Law 1989, chapter 108. As an instrumentality of the State, the Authority supports and promotes the interests of Wells Reserve through managing and sustaining the coastal lands and other resources within the reserve; furthering coordination and cooperation among state agencies, the Town of Wells and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the Laudholm Trust; developing and implementing programs for research, education, and natural resource stewardship; and providing public access.

ORGANIZATION:

The Authority was established by the State Legislature in 1990. The Authority is governed by a Board of Directors composed of the Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry (DACF), or the Commissioner's designee; the Regional Director of Region 5 of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service or the Director's designee; a representative of the town of Wells, as designated by the town's board of selectmen; a representative of the Laudholm Trust, as designated by the Board of Trustees; and a public member with an established reputation in the field of marine or estuarine research, appointed by the Governor for a term of three years. In addition, the following members are ex officio nonvoting members: The Director of the Maine Coastal Program and the Director of the Office for Coastal Management, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, or the Director's designee.

An Executive Director serves as chief executive to the Authority. The Executive Director supervises staff with program responsibility in the areas of research, education, natural resource stewardship and facility management.

Core program funding is provided by the Office for Coastal Management/National Ocean Service/National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Laudholm Trust, a nonprofit organization with 1,600 members, provides most of the nonfederal match funds for this federal grant. Other funds come from income earned from programs and admission fees and from private and government grants.

PROGRAM:

OPERATIONS and MANAGEMENT

Headquarters and visitor center are located at the historic Laudholm Farm. The Reserve is open 365 days a year. Seven miles of interpretive trails are open daily, from 7 a.m. to sunset. The Reserve has a visitor center with exhibits, a gift shop, a library, an auditorium, and a research lab. Another feature of the Reserve is the Maine Coastal Ecology Center, a 6,000 square-foot building that houses a research lab, interpretive exhibits, a Geographic Information Systems (GIS) lab and offices. Annual visitation is approximately 30,000. The Reserve also has the Alheim Commons, a campus consisting of two buildings that provide housing to visiting coastal scientists, educators and resource managers.

COASTAL TRAINING PROGRAM

The Reserve Coastal Training Program (CTP) provides vital science-based information and technology to decision makers whose work impacts the coastal environment. CTP also sponsors workshops and conferences on coastal resource topics.

RESEARCH and MONITORING

Estuaries and salt marshes, where fresh and salt water meet, are critical in protecting marine resources from pollution that filters toward the ocean. Estuaries are vital links to the Gulf of Maine, and support one of the most important fisheries in the world. The field and laboratory research, aided by volunteers, town/state officials, students and visiting investigators, support such projects as: Estuarine Fish Distribution-quantify value of marsh dominated estuaries and watersheds for the survival, growth/reproduction of Gulf fishes; Estuarine Water Quality-long term monitoring of water quality to detect improvements/decline in water resources as a result of land use and human activities; and Salt Marsh Restoration-identify/measure damaging effects of tidal restriction.

EDUCATION

The educational programs of the Wells Reserve are designed to inform the public and coastal management decision-makers about the significance of coastal environments and watersheds. The Education Program has a popular Spring and Fall guided program for school groups called Exploring Estuaries. The Reserve has several summer programs for children. The Junior Researcher Day Camp allows children ages 9-11 to assist scientists with ongoing research and to learn about the varied habitats of the Reserve. The Reserve also offers one-day exploration sessions introducing children ages 6 to 11 to science and nature. The Education Program also offers the following: guided walks, events, and lectures; internships and fields studies for high school and college students; and exhibits and self-quided interpretive tours.

NATURAL RESOURCE STEWARDSHIP

The Reserve conserves and manages wildlife habitats and maintains trails for the public, and cooperates on management activities with Rachel Carson National Wildlife Refuge. The Reserve encompasses 2,250 acres of protected lands. Furthermore, the Reserve works with community groups and organizations in southern Maine towns on coastal habitat restoration, watershed management and land conservation.

PURPOSE

The Maine Quality Forum (MQF) was established in 2003 as part of Dirigo Health in Title 24-A, Chapter 87 and is responsible for monitoring and improving the quality of health care in the State of Maine.

ORGANIZATION

Title 24-A, Chapter 87, Section 6951 describes the duties of the MQF which include: coordinating the collection of healthcare quality data; promoting the transparency of comparative healthcare quality and performance data on a publicly accessible website; reporting annually on both the amount of primary care and behavioral health care spending there is in the State of Maine; conducting educational campaigns to help consumers make informed decisions and engage in healthy lifestyles; and several healthcare infection prevention activities including an annual report on the rates of healthcare associated infections in Maine hospitals.

PROGRAM:

Specifically, MQF is required by statute to develop three annual reports and submit to the Legislature and the Commissioner of DHHS in January of each year. The three reports are in the following areas: the total spending in the State for primary health care services; the rate of healthcare associated infection rates in our hospitals; and the total spending in Maine on behavioral health care services. MQF is mandated to promote the transparency of health care quality data in collaboration with the Maine Health Data Organization (MHDO). As such, MQF is responsible for making recommendations for proposed changes to Rule 90-590 Chapter 270, Uniform Reporting System for Quality Data Sets; and for the public reporting of these data which can be found here: https://mhdo.maine.gov/quality_data_reports.htm.

Rule Chapter 270 also requires MQF and Maine Center for Disease Control and Prevention (Maine-CDC) to develop and implement an external validation process to assure the accuracy of the healthcare associated infection data Maine hospitals are required to submit. Additionally, MQF is responsible for the strategy and maintenance of the quality data presented on the MHDO and MQF health care cost and quality transparency website www.comparemaine.org

PUBLICATIONS:

In collaboration with DHHS Maine-CDC and the University of Southern Maine, MQF is responsible for Maine's Infection Prevention Forum (MIPF) website, https://maineinfectionpreventionforum.org/. The MIPF website is a repository for the latest infection prevention courses and resources designed to support the educational needs of health care and direct care workers. MQF supports the ongoing maintenance, including content updates, and developing new relevant courses for Maine's Infection Prevention Forum website. Additional publications include the Annual Primary Care Spending and Behavioral Health Care Spending Reports and the Annual Healthcare Associated Infections in Maine Report, which can be found here: https://mhdo.maine.gov/mqf.html

PURPOSE:

The Downeast Institute for Applied Marine Research and Education (DEI) is a private non-profit organization whose mission is to improve the quality of life for the people of downeast and coastal Maine through marine research, marine science education, and innovations in wild and cultured fisheries. DEI serves as the Marine Science Field Station of the University of Maine at Machias.

ORGANIZATION:

DEI is overseen by a 16-member volunteer board of directors and employs 11 full time and four part time employees. Dr. Brian Beal, a professor and researcher at the University of Maine at Machias, serves as DEI's Director of Research. Undergraduate interns assist at DEI's Great Wass Island shellfish hatchery and running seawater laboratory during the summer months, but may also work on special projects through the year.

PROGRAM:

Originally the Beals Island Regional Shellfish Hatchery, DEI has been conducting successful applied marine research that has been transferred to individual harvesters/fishermen, communities and fisheries managers since 1987. DEI's commercial-scale research hatchery supports marine research, public stock enhancement, aquaculture development, and K-12 education. DEI is the only hatchery in Maine producing soft-shell clam seed for municipal shellfish conservation programs. Recent research has resulted in commercialization of seeded mussel ropes for aquaculture, and has focused on developing new candidate species for aquaculture such as razor clams, sea scallops, European oysters and Arctic surf clams. Current projects include intertidal monitoring to help municipalities quantify the settlement and survival of intertidal species, such as soft-shell clams, at a total of 25 sites along the Maine coast; a selective breeding program to develop American oysters that will grow well in the colder waters east of Franklin; commercialization of Arctic surf clam farming technology; and developing hatchery and nursery technology for sea scallops. Besides its hatchery, DEI's facility includes a variety of laboratories with and without flowing seawater, and a specially designed lab to conduct independent experiments on the effects of ocean acidification and warming on marine life. A residence hall and conference room enable DEI to accommodate students and host a variety of educational events. DEI's education center offers marine science research opportunities for students of all ages, marine science summer camps for K-12 youth, and professional development opportunities leading to recertification for teachers interested in enhancing STEM learning in their classrooms. DEI's education programs focus on the use of the local marine environment as a tool to engage and excite students in science using hands-on, inquiry-based projects that highlight marine science. The $12,500 annual allocation by the Maine Legislature has provided the matching funds and demonstration of state support that allows DEI to attract over $1$ million in annual funding for operations, research and education programs.

PURPOSE:

Maine Humanities Council (the Council) is an independent statewide nonprofit organization committed to creating connections, fostering agency, and inspiring engagement in Maine people of all ages and educational levels. The Council's programs, events, grants, and online resources encourage critical thinking and conversation across social, economic, and cultural boundaries. Primary audiences include grades 3-12 teachers and students, low literacy adults, immigrants and refugees, public library patrons, Veterans, adults in the justice system, and the general public.

ORGANIZATION:

The Council was founded in 1976 as a nonprofit affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) and is overseen by a board of trustees drawn from around the State. The 2023 budget was approximately $1.2 million, derived from federal funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), as well as individuals, private foundations, and earned revenue. The Council has been recognized nationally for its innovative and exemplary programming.

The Harriet P. Henry Center for the Book is the programming arm of the Council. This designation was awarded to the Council by the Library of Congress.

At present the Council's only funding from state government is an appropriation for grants. 100% of this appropriation is returned to Maine communities as awards for historical, civic, and educational activities in museums, historical societies, libraries, and other community nonprofits. None of these funds are retained by the Council for administration, personnel or overhead.

The Council reaches a wide range of audiences through book groups, lecture series, and other activities. The Discussion Project, a multi-session facilitated book discussion program, meets the specific needs of individual communities. It partners with organizations statewide and prioritizes people and organizations serving those who are the most isolated from each other and the wider community, whose work has a public impact, and those serving and led by members of communities traditionally under-resourced in the humanities (including but not limited to Black and indigenous populations, people of color, the LGBTQ community, people in rural areas, disabled people, and immigrants and refugees), reaching over 7,000 people.

The Council's library programming takes place statewide. Programming includes the Discussion Project, Maine Speaks (a speaker program on current events), and Read ME, which provides to public libraries an easy-to-implement community reading program that highlights the work of Maine authors and helps promote Maine authors early in their careers. Library programming reaches over 2,500 people each year.

The Council offers a grants program that supports and increases access to community-driven humanities initiatives in Maine, particularly in rural or under-resourced communities; increases the capacity of nonprofits, especially those less experienced in grant writing; stimulates meaningful community dialogue; and invites diverse audiences to discover the humanities. In 2022, the Council gave 35 grants to Maine nonprofits.

Veterans Programming connects Maine Veterans with books, short stories, and poems, and shares the opportunity to reflect on the unique concerns they face while exploring issues relating to military service. These programs serve approximately 600 people each year.

The Council partners with the Civil Rights Team Project. A program of the Maine Attorney General's office, it coordinates student groups in Maine schools to increase the safety of elementary, middle level, and high school students by reducing bias-motivated behaviors and harassment. The Civil Rights Team Project reaches approximately 900 students in grades 3-12 in 160 schools.

The Big Question is an annual public event focused on a large philosophical question. The Council draws guides from a range of disciplines who present their approach from within their expertise. Recent questions have included "How can we know," "Who is we?" and "How should life be?" This program reaches approximately 60 people each year.

Readers Retreat is a two-day series of talks in which participants focus on an important text and interact with each other and with scholars in a conference-like setting. Readers Retreat serves over 300 people.

Poetry Express is a workshop that connects Maine's poets with Maine communities. Community members explore poetry with a poet and reflect on local issues and themes, then perform poetry related to those issues. This program served 278 people in 2022.

ATLANTIC STATES MARINE FISHERIES COMMISSION A.G. "SPUD" WOODWARD, CHAIR JOSEPH CIMINO, VICE CHAIR

Central Office: 32 BLOSSOM LANE, AUGUSTA, ME 04330

PURPOSE:

The purpose of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission (ASMFC) is to promote the better utilization of the fisheries - marine, shell and anadromous - of the Atlantic seaboard by the development of a joint program for the promotion and protection of such fisheries, and by the prevention of physical waste of the fisheries from any cause.

ASMFC provides a forum for discussion and resolution of common problems amongst the 15 Atlantic coast states, and assists the states in developing joint programs. In addition, the Commission participates in the Interstate Fisheries Management Program, whose goal is uniform management and protection of the nation's fisheries resources and viable commercial and recreational fishing industries.

ORGANIZATION:

ASMFC was established by a compact entered into by the various Atlantic coastal states beginning in 1941. The Congressional Consent Act was signed by the President on May 5, 1942, and ASMFC met and organized in New York on June 5,

The participating states are Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. Each is represented by a member of the administrative agency in charge of marine fisheries, a Legislative member appointed by the Presiding Officers of the Legislature, and a person appointed by the Governor. Maine's three members are the Commissioner of the Department of Marine Resources, a member from the Legislature, and a member from ASMFC operates through boards and committees comprised of groups of states. National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) of the Department of Commerce's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) is designated as the primary research agency of the Commission, cooperating with the research agencies of each state and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) for that purpose.

Through its executive office, ASMFC maintains active liaison with all Washington-based fisheries organizations of professional or industry status, including the American Fisheries Society, the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, the American Sportfishing Association and the National Fisheries Institute as well as other environmental, conservation and industry groups.

Contract funds from NMFS and USFWS, as well as Congressional appropriations, are used to reimburse travel expenses for state biologists, law enforcement, managers, and administrators who participate in the various committees that have been established to develop regional management programs for interstate Atlantic coast species. Lobster, shrimp, eels, striped bass, bluefish, Atlantic sturgeon, Atlantic sea herring, winter flounder, American shad and river herring programs are of special concern to Maine.

ASMFC has continued its cooperative agreement with the NMFS to administer the Interjurisdictional Fisheries Management Program. This "Interstate Fisheries Management Program" includes state/federal projects involving Northern Shrimp, Shad, and River Herring, Sciaenid, American Lobster, Atlantic Menhaden, Striped Bass, Atlantic Sturgeon, Bluefish, Summer Flounder, the Cooperative Statistics Program, and related activities such as interstate shellfish transportation and fish/shell fish disease control. The major focus of the Commission's interstate program has expanded to implement P.L. 103-206, the Atlantic Coastal Fisheries Cooperative Management Act. The Act establishes affirmative obligations on the states to implement the Commission's Fishery Management Plans or be subject to a federal moratorium on all fishing for the species at issue within the offending state until that state achieves compliance with the plan.

The Northeastern Interstate Forest Fire Protection Commission was established to promote effective prevention and control of wildfires in the Northeastern Region of the United States and adjacent areas in Canada. The primary functions of the Commission are to: provide mutual aid; coordinate wildfire protection plans; consult and advise on the prevention and control of wildfires; provide centralized training in uniform wildfire protection methods; and request research assistance from the U.S. Forest Service. The Commission also includes a forest health working team to address forest pest situations, which could impact wildfire response.

ORGANIZATION:

The Northeastern Interstate Forest Fire Protection Commission was established under the Northeastern Interstate Forest Fire Protection Compact, of which the State of Maine became a contracting state in 1949. Maine's representation on the Commission consists of three members, including the Director of the Bureau of Forestry or designee (ex officio), a legislator appointed by the Governor, and a citizen appointed by the Governor, both of the latter for a term of three years.

The activities of the Northeastern Interstate Forest Fire Protection Commission are designed to further promote the effectiveness of wildfire protection in each of the member states and provinces within the Compact. Commissioners meet annually to provide program oversight and approve the annual budget. There are several working teams that conduct collaborative work comprised of regular agency employees. The Operations Committee, consisting of each agency's fire supervisor, meets twice a year to review and approve the Compact's actions, giving operational leadership. Member agencies working together create a heightened state of regional wildfire preparedness and response.

 M.R.S.A., Sect.: 000011002

PURPOSE:

The New England Board of Higher Education (NEBHE) is a congressionally authorized regional, non-profit agency that seeks to encourage cooperation and efficient use of educational resources among the region's six states and 260 public and private colleges and universities. Basic funding comes from the six states, private foundations and New England corporations. The NEBHE seeks to increase New England educational opportunities and services; promote regional coordination and cooperation among New England state governments and public and private institutions of higher education; analyze and publish regional information related to higher education; and sponsor studies and forums on regional public policy.

ORGANIZATION:

Of the eight members who represent the State of Maine, two are ex officio, the Chancellor of the University of Maine and the Commissioner of Education. Four others are named by the Governor for 2-year terms, one is a member of the Senate appointed by the President of the Senate and another is a member of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House. All members are reimbursed for their actual expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties.

Each state is represented on the NEBHE by members of academic, professional, governmental and citizen groups appointed by the Governor and Legislature of each state. Each state delegation annually elects a chairman who serves on the NEBHE's Executive Committee. The Maine Delegation to the New England Board of Higher Education for 2023 is as follows:

State Representative Mattie Daughtry; Rachel Hendrickson; Daniel Chuhta, Deputy Commissioner (Representing Pender Makin, Commissioner), Maine Department of Education; State Senator Holly Sargent; Dannel Malloy, Chancellor, University of Maine System; and Karen Pardue, Associate Provost, University of New England.

PROGRAM:

The NEBHE sees the following as primary in achieving its purpose: to provide a facility and staff capable of continuous research and evaluation relevant to higher education in New England; to serve as a center for the collection and dissemination of information pertinent to the institutions and agencies concerned with higher education; to serve as an administrative and fiscal agent for higher educational contracts and agreements among the institutions and governments in New England; to provide consultative services on educational topics of major regional significance to the institutions, agencies and governments of New England; to serve as a vehicle for the regional implementation of federally and privately financed programs related to higher education; and to serve as the agent for the Regional Students Program.

Although programmatic directions are flexible in response to changing educational the NEBHE anticipated that the following basic programs will continue to be included among NEBHE's services to the region: Task Force on Minority Student Enrollment and Retention, Commission on Legal Studies and Practice in New England, International Education and the Economy of New England, and research and compilation of enrollment, program, tuition and cost data at institutions of higher education in the region. Recent initiatives include the New England: Public Policy Collaborative, Excellence Through Diversity Program, Technology Partnership, Telecommunications and Distance Learning Program, and College Ready New England. In addition, they sponsored the New England - State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (NE-SARA) program.

20-A M.R.S.A. §405, sub-§3(W) authorized the State Board of Education to participate in the State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (SARA) through the NEBHE. Thus, the Maine Department of Education is the new portal agency for SARA. SARA is an agreement among its member states, districts and U.S. territories that establishes comparable national standards for interstate offerings of postsecondary distance-education courses and programs. It is intended to make it easier for students to take online courses offered by postsecondary institutions in a state other than the one where they reside. SARA is overseen by a national council and administered by four regional higher education compacts, with the NEBHE being the regional entity for the State of Maine.

PURPOSE:

The St. Croix International Waterway Commission (The Commission) was established through a 1986 Memorandum of Understanding and subsequent reciprocal legislation between the State of Maine and the Province of New Brunswick to create a cooperative commission to manage common heritage along the St. Croix River, including East Grand Lake and Spednic Lake. The St. Croix River is noted for its recreational fisheries, outdoor recreation, and other outstanding natural resources. The St. Croix International Waterway corridor includes two of the State's largest lakes, a 30 mile/48 km outstanding river segment, twelve communities, being the ancestral homeland of the Passamaquoddy Tribe, and the site of the earliest European settlement in North America at the International Historic Site located on Saint Croix Island.

The Commission's purpose was set out in the Memorandum of Understanding in seven (7) objectives:

- a) Protect and manage natural and recreational resources;
- b) Encourage and maintain a high quality back country recreational and educational experience;
- c) Encourage tourism and resultant economic benefits;
- d) Protect and promote awareness of human heritage resources, including both Indian and early European;
- e) Ensure coordination in the planning and management of shared resources;
- f) Establish mechanisms and processes to be used to ensure fair representation of all user groups; and
- g) Obtain optimal benefits for recreational and educational use of the resources while recognizing the historic and current economic importance of the forest resource, including its management and commercial utilization.

Overall, The Commission functions to coordinate the transboundary management of natural resources, recreation, and economic development along the 110 mile/177 KM international St. Croix River corridor. The St. Croix International Waterway: A Heritage - A Future Management Plan was developed in October 1993 defining the goals, management directions and policies, and was adopted by Maine and New Brunswick in 1994.

ORGANIZATION:

The Commission is an independent, international body governed by eight commissioners, four (4) appointed by the Governor of the State of Maine and four (4) by the Premier of the Province of New Brunswick. From those appointed, a Co-Chair is assigned from each country. State and Provincial liaisons and U.S. and Canadian federal observers also serve on the Commission to support the Commission in an advisory capacity.

PROGRAM

The Commission offers programs that run April to October, including the Heritage

River Recreation Program and environmental programs that provide employment opportunities for regional residents, often students seeking to gain experience and build skills in the outdoor recreation, biology, or environmental management fields.

RECREATION

The Recreation Program is the longest running and most established program. It represents several of our objectives by protecting, managing and promoting shared natural and recreational resources, in a fair and equitable manner to help ensure future access to backcountry camping, most at no charge, that supports the regional fishing, guiding and outfitter industries. Through funding from the State of Maine, the Province of New Brunswick, a private endowment fund, and campsite fees, the Commission maintains 102 backcountry facilities (portages, boat launches, access points, and campsites) along the St. Croix River, including Spednic Lake and East Grand Lake in both Maine & New Brunswick. It continues to implement a Leave No Trace policy for all sites. Maintenance includes cleaning, inspection, and repair of campsite facilities on a rotating weekly or bi-weekly schedule, depending on site utilization and governmental funding.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT & COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The Commission continues to work with several rural revitalization efforts in both Maine and New Brunswick. In addition to our previous collaborations, the Commission has become members in both the St. Croix Valley and St. Stephen Area Chambers of Commerce, and now sit on the Washington County Community College Recreation Tourism Committee and New Brunswick Power Community Liaison Committee, as it relates to the proposed decommissioning of the Milltown Power Dam. The Commission continued to interact and engage with the community, agencies, and both regional and State and Provincial governments. The administration office is located in Calais and staff are afforded work visas to work in both Canada and the U.S. during employment. In 2022, the Commission was awarded the non-profit of the year by the St. Croix Valley Chamber of Commerce.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROGRAMS

The Commission is contracted by various organizations, primarily governmental, to collect scientific data through our experienced field staff. This includes:

- New Brunswick Power Sea-run anadromous fish population monitoring at the Milltown Research Trap continued with the final year of the fish count at Milltown with the decommissioning of the facility pending. Results were communicated to various groups, agencies, and stakeholders in both the U.S. and Canada. The Commission also undertook a fish tagging/tracking project to assess migration routes and efficiency of passage at several dams throughout the watershed.
- Water Quality Monitoring Water Quality monitoring was conducted throughout the St. Croix Watershed in both Maine and New Brunswick through two simultaneous projects investigating nutrient loading and routine monitoring at upwards of 60 sites from April December.

PUBLICATIONS:

Since the Commission's inception, it has produced several technical publications on St. Croix water quality, fisheries, recreation, and development topics. The website (www.stcroix.org) has been undergoing new changes to totally revamp its appearance and materials. The Commission will continue to actively engage in activities that reflect its original purpose, including the 5-year review of the 2015-2025 strategic plan, respond to technical and general inquiries, and engage stakeholders and the community. Further information is available on the Commission's website www.stcroix.org, by phone at 207-952-9069 or by emailing programs@stcroix.org.

New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission (NEIWPCC) is a regional commission that helps the states of the Northeast preserve and advance water quality. Our work and impact fall into five interconnected categories: (1) Connection (2) Protection; (3) Training; (4) Education and (5) Engagement.

ORGANIZATION:

In 1947 the 80th U.S. Congress passed legislation allowing for the formation of interstate water pollution control agencies. The states of Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts responded at once by forming the New England Interstate Water Pollution Control Commission (NEIWPCC). Shortly thereafter, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire and New York (because of interstate waterways connecting it with the New England states) joined by signing NEIWPCC's new Compact Agreement.

PROGRAM.

NEIWPCC's primary task is to coordinate the activities of its member states as they strive for water quality improvement. NEIWPCC encourages personal communication and information exchange while its professional staff provides a variety of services to member states.

Maine benefits directly from NEIWPCC's capabilities through its management of the Maine Joint Environmental Training Coordinating Committee (JETCC). Located in South Portland, JETCC was established in 1985 as part of the former New England Regional Wastewater Institute. JETCC was created to work in conjunction with the Maine Department of Environmental Protection and Maine Water Environment Association in offering training and re-certification opportunities for Maine's water and wastewater treatment plant operators.

In addition to maintaining its original role as a vehicle for training, JETCC has evolved into a tool for collaboration among personnel in the water pollution control community and regulatory staff from a variety of state agencies facing environmental issues. As a result, JETCC not only assists with the delivery of specific training and outreach programs but also furthers the goals of many state agencies with public education and training for a variety of environmental professionals as well as personnel in the fields of drinking water supply and water pollution control.

PURPOSE:

The Wild Blueberry Commission of Maine is charged to allocate and administer wild blueberry tax funds to better conserve and promote the prosperity and welfare of this State and of Maine's wild blueberry industry by fostering wild blueberry research and extension programs, supporting the development of promotional opportunities, and carrying out other activities in support of the State's wild blueberry industry. We work towards our vision of creating an agricultural business environment that promotes a vibrant wild blueberry community and fosters profitability, innovation, and the social, economic, and environmental sustainability of Maine's wild blueberry farms and food processors across all scales of production.

ORGANIZATION:

The Wild Blueberry Commission of Maine consists of ten seats appointed by the Commissioner of Agriculture, Conservation, and Forestry, five of which are grower-representatives and five of which are processor representatives. The Commission elects a chair and a vice chairperson from among its members and employs an executive director to execute the administrative responsibilities of the wild blueberry tax program.

The legislation also creates a Wild Blueberry Advisory Committee, our bylaws create a Fresh Pack and Value Added Committee, and the legislation provides for the formation of additional committees as needed.

PROGRAM:

Wild blueberry tax revenue is allocated to promotion and advertising, research and extension, administration, and other activities related to the economic viability of the Maine wild blueberry industry. Most of the research and all of the extension activities are programmed through the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station and the Cooperative Extension at the University of Maine. The Experiment Station maintains a research farm known as Blueberry Hill Farm in the town of Jonesboro. The Commission's collaborative relationship with the University of Maine is responsible for dramatically increasing Maine's production capacity over the last 50 years. Today, Maine is capable of producing over 100 million pounds of wild blueberries, up from a five-year average of 19 million pounds in 1981.

Market development and promotion activities are carried out primarily through the allocation of funds to the Wild Blueberry Association of North America - United States (WBANA-US) promotion program. This organization conducts wild blueberry promotions for domestic and export markets. Special emphasis is given to trade, food service, frozen retail sales, as well as new distribution channels. organization also funds wild blueberry health research. Closely married to promotion, compelling findings are promoted through WBANA-US's website, social, $\ensuremath{\mathsf{NSANA}}$ and other promotional avenues.

2023 marks the third year of the Commission's Wild Blueberry Weekend (WBW). WBW is an agritourism event bringing Mainers and tourists alike to wild blueberry farms and partner establishments across the State.

Other recent activities funded by the Commission include a national school food service marketing program, exhibits at trade shows and fairs, engagement in state and federal policy that affects the industry, and ongoing opportunistic promotional opportunities carried out in collaboration with state and private partners.

PUBLICATIONS:

Bulletins, fact sheets, scientific articles, and newsletters are published by the Commission, the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station, and Cooperative Extension at the University of Maine, Orono, Maine. The Wild Blueberry Commission releases an annual report of its activities, which is available for download on its website www.wildblueberrycommissionofmaine.org.

CIVIL AIR PATROL COL BLAIN A COTE, WING COMMANDER

PURPOSE:

The Civil Air Patrol (CAP) provides an organization to aid United States citizens through voluntary contribution of their efforts, services and resources for the maintenance of aerospace education and to assist in meeting local, state and national emergencies, particularly air search and rescue, and disaster relief.

To accomplish the purposes for which it was chartered, the Civil Air Patrol: (1) conducts a nationwide internal and external program of aerospace education, including coordination of workshops conducted at local schools and communities; (2) conducts a comprehensive cadet program, including an International Air Cadet Exchange, special activities, and supervision of cadet encampments; (3) maintains an emergency services capability to meet the requests of the Air Force and state and local officials for search and rescue, disaster relief, and other support missions; (4) conducts a comprehensive Senior Training Program to provide qualified personnel at all levels of CAP; (5) assists local, state, and other federal agencies in emergency operations; (6) conducts a flight management program for assigned aircrew members and manages an aircraft maintenance program for corporate owned aircraft; and, (7) maintains a nationwide communications capability to support emergency services operations and conduct official CAP business.

ORGANIZATION:

The Civil Air Patrol (CAP) is the official auxiliary of the United States Air Force and a nonprofit corporation which functions in accordance with its constitution, bylaws, regulations, and other directives issued by its National Headquarters. It was formed on December 1, 1941, and incorporated by the United States Congress on July 1, 1946. On May 26, 1948, the Civil Air Patrol became an auxiliary of the United States Air Force. The Secretary of the Air Force has been given authority to furnish assistance to the CAP and to accept and utilize the services in the fulfillment of noncombat missions of the Air Force.

The organization consists of the National Headquarters at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama; eight regional headquarters - Northeast, Middle East, Great Lakes, Southeast, North Central, Southwest, Rocky Mountain, and Pacific; and fifty-two wings - one for each state, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. A wing is composed of a wing headquarters unit and all subordinate units within geographical boundaries of a state. Wing Commanders are appointed by the National Headquarters and have command authority over all CAP units and members thereof, within their respective wings. The squadron is the community level organization of the CAP, and includes three types: Senior Squadrons, composed of senior members only; Cadet Squadrons, composed primarily of cadets with a minimum of three seniors to meet supervisory, administrative and training requirements; and Composite Squadrons, composed of both senior and cadet members conducting both senior and cadet programs.

PROGRAM

One of the primary missions of the CAP is to save lives and relieve human suffering while protecting the lives and equipment of those involved in providing these services. The Emergency Services Mission includes search and rescue; civil defense and disaster relief operations (in support of local, state, federal and other emergency services organizations). Mutual support relationships exist with the National Association for Search and Rescue (NASAR); U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary (USCGA); the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA); Federal Aviation Administration (FAA); U.S. Army Forces Command (FORSCOM); various Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and other Department of Defense agencies; the Maine Emergency Management Agency (MEMA); The Maine National Guard; American National Red Cross; Salvation Army; Volunteers of America (VOA); and other humanitarian organizations.

The Cadet Program provides opportunities for learning, maturing and accepting leadership to young Americans from 12 to 21 years of age. With advice and assistance from the United States Air Force, the Air Force Reserve, and CAP senior members at the national, regional, state, and local levels, cadets are exposed to a structured program of aerospace education leadership, physical fitness, and moral and ethical values in group and individual activities. As a cadet progresses through this structured program, he or she accomplishes a series of 15 achievements, each involving study and performance in the five program areas. Upon completion of each achievement, the cadet earns increased cadet rank, decorations, awards, eligibility for national special activities, and an opportunity for both flight and academic scholarships.

Civil Air Patrol has an internal and external aerospace education program. The internal program is designed to provide aerospace education to the CAP membership, both senior and cadet. The external program provides the general public with the aerospace education necessary to ensure the development of aerospace and the maintenance of aerospace supremacy. The Aerospace Education Program provides all American citizens with an understanding of, and an appreciation for, the importance of aviation and space exploration to our society and to our national security.

PURPOSE

In 2006, the Legislature created the ConnectMaine Authority (CME) to identify unserved areas of the State; develop proposals for broadband expansion projects, demonstration projects and other initiatives; administer the process for selecting specific broadband projects; and provide funding, resources, and incentives. The CME expands the universal availability of broadband service by administering funds, supporting broadband investment, facilitating state support of deployment of broadband infrastructure, collecting and disseminating broadband information, and promoting use of broadband service. The CME supports local and regional broadband planning by providing technical and financial assistance to identify broadband needs and to develop and implement plans to meet those needs.

ORGANIZATION:

The CME began operations in June 2007 with the goal of expanding broadband services in the State. CME consisted of a seven voting member board and a staff until July 2022, then CME entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the Maine Connectivity Authority (MCA) and MCA began providing functional oversight of CME.

Although the CME and MCA remain separate legal entities, with separate Boards of Directors, the CME and MCA have agreed that given their similar operational objectives, functional integration represents the best course to ensure efficient and well-coordinated broadband planning and oversight services. The CME and MCA have an MOU whereby MCA staff provide contractual support services to the CME Board of Directors (BOD) to implement CME programs, with MCA staff providing supervision of all CME Funds starting August 1, 2022. The goal of the CME-MCA MOU is to enable alignment of the CME and MCA programs within the framework of the two separate legal entities with their respective Boards of Directors to better serve Maine citizens.

Any federal funds already awarded to CME will remain with CME, and future federal funds received under existing awards will remain with CME. The CME BOD has authorized the MCA to administer those funds on behalf of the CME and has appointed the President of MCA as the contract representative for the CME federal grants.

PROGRAM:

The goal of both CME and MCA is to facilitate the universal availability of broadband to all Maine households and businesses, and to help them understand the valuable role it can play in enriching their lives and helping their communities thrive. A quarter of one percent (0.25%) assessment on all communications, video and internet service bills, and a ten-cent ($0.10) surcharge on all landline numbers is collected by the ConnectMaine Fund through CME. Through the organizational MOU between MCA and CME, these funds are used to assist MCA's efforts to expand the universal availability of broadband service by administering funds, supporting broadband investment, facilitating state support of the deployment of broadband infrastructure, collecting and disseminating broadband information, and promoting use of broadband service.

CME administers funds through grant programs. Infrastructure grants are awarded to support investments in expanding the availability of broadband service, in unserved areas for the greatest relative improvement to existing internet service. Additionally, CME may use funds to assist proposed projects qualifying for other sources of funding. Planning grants have been awarded to develop plans for expanding the availability of broadband services.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council is a USDA qualified dairy checkoff organization. It is the nutrition education, public and industry relations component of the total dairy checkoff initiative in Maine to increase demand for dairy products through nutrition education. The industry wide dairy marketing plan stresses the nutritional benefits and contributions of dairy products, in accordance with scientific recommendations and in conjunction with dietary quidelines.

ORGANIZATION:

The Council was established in 1949 as the Milk Advisory Committee, later renamed the Maine Dairy Council, and in 1975 became the Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council. In 1996, the Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council became a public instrumentality of the State of Maine. Maine law provides for funding, Council appointments, and Council members' term limits.

The Council is funded under the Dairy Production Stabilization Act of 1983 National Dairy Promotion and Research Order, dairy checkoff assessment paid by Maine dairy farmers to the Maine Dairy Promotion Board and by milk dealers and/or dairy processors. This assessment is incurred by dealers and processors purchasing Maine produced milk, Maine producer dealers selling their own milk and out of state processors and dealers purchasing milk produced outside of the State and sold within the State. First handlers incur the assessment when purchasing Maine produced milk and selling it outside the State.

PROGRAM:

The Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council is an affiliated unit of National Dairy Council®, United Dairy Industry Association, and is one of Dairy Management Inc, 16 state and regional organizations across the country. The Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council utilizes and provides to educators, health professionals and consumers a variety of nutrition education materials, programs, and resources. Many of the programs and resources are developed by National Dairy Council®, and are reviewed and/or endorsed by organizations such as the American Academy of Pediatrics, American Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics, National Medical Association, and the School Nutrition Association.

The nutrition education and physical activities program "Fuel Up To Play 60" is a partnership between National Dairy Council® and the National Football League implemented in Maine schools with students and program advisors, focused on creating healthy school environments by making healthy food choices and stressing the importance of sixty minutes of daily physical activity. Grants and incentives to accomplish Fuel Up To Play 60 goals, based on prescribed criteria, are made available to schools by the Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council and channeled through the GENYOUth Foundation.

Maine Dairy and Nutrition Council has at its disposal nutrition education resources, research reports and findings, and downloadable/printable materials. The Council exhibits at many health professional, school nutrition, and consumer education conferences and community events.

PURPOSE:

The Maine Dairy Promotion Board is a USDA qualified dairy checkoff organization. It is the communication, public and industry relations component of the total dairy checkoff program in Maine, focusing on increasing demand for dairy products as part of a dairy industry wide marketing plan. The Maine Dairy Promotion Board is one of 16 affiliated state and regional member organizations of United Dairy Industry Association. Maine Dairy Promotion Board is an affiliate of Dairy Management, Inc. located in Rosemont, Illinois and as such, an affiliate of National Dairy Council®, Innovation Center for U.S. Dairy®, Dairy Research Institute® and United States Dairy Export Council®.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board was established in 1953 as the Maine Milk Committee, later becoming the Maine Dairy Promotion Board. In 1996 the Maine Dairy Promotion Board became a public instrumentality of the State of Maine. Federal and Maine laws provide for funding. The Board is funded under federal Public Law 98-180, the Dairy Production Stabilization Act of 1983, National Dairy Promotion and Research Order, and the dairy checkoff assessment. The Dairy Act authorized a national dairy producer funded program for dairy product promotion, research, and nutrition education, to increase human consumption of milk and dairy products. The dairy checkoff assessment is paid by Maine dairy farmers on each hundredweight of milk produced. Maine law also provides for Board appointments and Board members' term limits.

PROGRAM:

The Maine Dairy Promotion Board implements the national Unified Marketing Plan in Maine along with other United Dairy Industry Association state and regional dairy checkoff organizations across the country. The Unified Marketing Plan is a coordinated marketing program designed to communicate, promote and encourage the use of milk and dairy products to all aspects of the general public to strengthen the dairy industry's position in the marketplace. A portion of the promotion budget is allocated to media messaging and communications, supplemented by other promotions designed to call attention to dairy products, dairy ingredients, the dairy industry, and to encourage the consumption of milk and other dairy products.

Dairy Optimization is an initiative targeted to increase the consumption of milk and other dairy products with children in Maine and the nation's schools. Nationally, programs in quick-serve restaurants, such as McDonald's, Domino's, Pizza Hut and others have resulted in dramatic increases in the utilization of dairy products. Promotion activities include consumer messaging, conference exhibits, trade shows, dairy industry events, school cafeteria programs and promotions, recipe development, dairy industry posters and education programs such as specific Media Trainings, "Telling Your Story" and the website "Dairy Good". Other promotions supplement media messaging and public and industry relations programs such as National June Dairy Month and Milk2MyPlate. A dairy crisis communications program in Maine is part of a national effort to protect and enhance the dairy industry. Dairy industry communications are a key factor within the Maine Dairy Promotion Board. 3-Every Day of Dairy and Undeniably Dairy are consumer education initiatives targeting consumers, dairy processors, dairy manufacturers and retailers. The website usdairy.com provides access to information about dairy farming and related dairy industry information as does Maine's website www.drinkmainemilk.org.

For the benefit of Maine dairy farmers selling milk on the Boston Regional Market, the Maine Dairy Promotion Board can, at the Board's discretion, elect to transfer a portion of the dairy checkoff income to the New England Dairy Promotion Board to help support promotion programs in the other five New England

The Maine Development Foundation (MDF) is a nonprofit economic development corporation created by the Maine Legislature in 1977 to capitalize on the interests, resources, and efforts of the public and private sectors. Maine Development Foundation champions sustainable, long-term growth for Maine. It is a catalyst for new ideas and provides common ground for solving problems and advancing issues.

ORGANIZATION:

Enabling legislation (10 M.R.S.A. Sec. 915-928) for the MDF was passed by the 108th Legislature and took effect in October, 1977. MDF has the power of a private corporation, which allows the Board of Directors the freedom to establish and change the activities of MDF as it sees fit, and act decisively to take advantage of economic development opportunities. All but two of MDF's Board of Directors are elected by contributors to MDF. The Board includes both public and private members. This is designed to encourage active participation of private business and local development interests, and establish the public/private partnership at the Board level. This partnership has improved MDF's access to the private sector's ability to generate new business activity and has helped organize public and private resources to stimulate additional business activity in Maine.

The Board of Directors consists of up to 19 people: sixteen elected by the membership and two appointed by the Governor. Of these sixteen, eight must come from the public sector and eight from among the private sector. The president is appointed by the other directors and is the final member.

The Foundation is financed by membership dues, fee for service, contracts, and grants. Corporations, counties, cities, towns, and other organizations can become members by contributing to MDF.

PROGRAM:

Incorporated by the State of Maine in 1822, the Maine Historical Society (www.mainehistory.org) is a charitable, educational, nonprofit corporation whose mission is to preserve and share Maine's story.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Historical Society (MHS) is governed by a Board of Trustees which oversees a professional staff that includes 25 full-time and 13 part-time employees. MHS's mission, vision, values, core commitments, and goals are articulated in MHS's 2022-2027 Business Plan and Audience Engagement Plan. Two years after Maine achieved statehood, the Legislature passed a bill in 1822 incorporating the Maine Historical Society, charging it to collect and preserve Maine's history. Governor Albion K. Parris presided over the first meeting in Maine's first State House in Portland. The Society housed its collections at Bowdoin College until 1881 and held its Annual Meetings coincidental to the College's commencement into the early 20th century. Through the efforts of civic leader, philanthropist and scholar James Phinney Baxter, the Society moved its collections and many of its programs to Portland in 1881. Baxter provided space in the new Portland Public Library built in 1889. In 1901, the Society opened the Wadsworth-Longfellow Pierce. The House, childhood home of famed poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, became Maine's first historic house museum. During 1907, the Society finished its new library at 485 Congress Street, adjacent to the Wadsworth-Longfellow House. The Wadsworth-Longfellow House was restored in June 2000. The Society's capital campaign and 1992 purchase of 489 Congress Street allowed expansion of collections storage, exhibition and program space. The Wadsworth-Longfellow House underwent an extensive restoration in 2001. The Brown Library underwent a complete renovation and expansion which was completed in 2009. In 2014, MHS established an offsite Collections Management Center in an innovative partnership with Portland Public Library to support the long-term preservation, care, and expansion of MHS collections. In the 1990's MHS became a full member of the Maine Cultural Affairs Council. Staff members participate in collaborative efforts throughout Maine and New England including the Maine Archives and Museums Association, the Maine Library Association, Maine Historical Records Advisory Board, New England Archivists, the Academic and Cultural Collaborative of Maine, and the New England Museum Association. From its inception MHS has received state support, including, since 1940, a small annual appropriation from the General Fund to support the essential historical and educational services it provides to the people of Maine. Throughout the 19th century, special state appropriations supported a variety of MHS publication projects, including publication of the Documentary History of Maine. A special State appropriation in 1999 helped MHS start development of the Maine Memory Network.

PROGRAM:

MHS consists of the Brown Research Library, Maine Memory Network, MHS Museum, an unlisted Collections Processing & Storage Facility, and the Wadsworth-Longfellow House & Garden. MHS serves a statewide audience, visitors to Maine, and people interested in Maine throughout the world. The Brown Research Library is the premiere resource for studying Maine history. Staff facilitate research at MHS and direct researchers to resources at institutions throughout Maine. Through its online catalog and reading room, MHS provides access to collections that span the 15th to 21st centuries, including 150,000 books and pamphlets, 200,000 photographs, 3,000 maps and atlases, 2,000,000 archival pages, and 28,000 artifacts. These include: materials that illustrate the experience of Wabanaki people; maps and treaties that document exploration, settlement, and land-use; collections that illustrate the evolution of Maine communities and industries; family, business, and institutional records; immigration, religion, social and political movements, and recreation; Maine participation in national and international events; natural resources, maritime history, and the Maine Woods; and architecture and engineering records. The Library serves over 6,000 in-house researchers each year and hosts fellowships and scholarly forums. The nationally-recognized Maine Memory Network (www.mainememory.net) is a statewide digital platform that empowers Maine communities and individuals to share their history. Since its launch in 2001, Maine Memory evolves constantly and provides a robust platform for a wide range of historical interests and activity. MHS provides training, support, and infrastructure to 270+ contributing partners - museums, archives, and local historical societies, libraries and community organizations throughout Maine. Maine Memory provides access to 70,000+ historical items, hundreds of online exhibits, community websites, educational resources, and more. It provides a gateway for exploring Maine history and key platform for sharing Maine's story. The MHS museum features changing exhibitions, public programs, and K-16 programs, activities, and curriculum. Exhibits and programs explore how Maine is shaped by its history and feature the collections of partners across the state who share their knowledge, expertise, and perspectives about Maine. Exhibitions provide context for topics of contemporary importance, recent initiatives explored immigration, veterans' issues, Maine's evolving paper industry. The Museum includes the Wadsworth-Longfellow House & Garden. More than 25,000 visitors, including more than 3,500 school children, visit the House, Gallery, take walking tours, or attend public programs on an annual basis. PURPOSE:

The Maine Hospice Council (MHC) exists to ensure increased access to high quality end-of-life and palliative care in Maine. MHC's mission is to promote universal access to quality end-of-life care through innovation, creativity, education, advocacy and collaboration.

ORGANIZATION:

MHC was incorporated in 1984. Initially, funding for MHC's operations was made possible by legislation in 1989. Today, the annual grant from the General Fund represents approximately 16% of the Council's operating budget.

MHC is overseen by a volunteer Board of Directors comprised of 7 members. The organization employs one full-time Executive Director, one part-time Executive Assistant and one part-time subcontracted bookkeeper. Other project managers may be hired as grant monies allow. Workplace giving (Maine Share), annual appeal, private donations, estate planning, education conferences, special events, grant funding, consulting and membership dues comprise some of the diverse sources of funding. However, it should be noted that the Coronavirus Pandemic has had a significant impact on revenue.

MHC remains the only statewide organization focused solely on end of life and palliative care. Hallmarks of MHC's work encompasses inclusivity, collaborative partnerships, outreach and program development for the underserved and disenfranchised. Access to quality end of life and palliative care remains MHC's priority.

Examples of MHC's collaborative partnerships have been the Maine Cancer Pain Initiative, Maine Consortium of PC (Palliative Care) and Hospice, Robert Wood Johnson Community/State Partnership, ALS Collaborative, Maine State Prison Hospice Program, Hospice Veterans Partnership, Palliative Care and Quality of Life Interdisciplinary Advisory Council and the POLST (Physician Orders for Life Sustaining Treatment) Coalition.

MHC has often taken a leadership role in relevant policy development and MHC also continues to be a placement site for interns, graduate students and Doctoral candidates. At the request of the Maine legislative joint standing committee on judiciary matters, MHC developed and published "Pain Management at End of Life: A Physician's Self Study Packet", which qualified for 3 Category 1 Continuing Medical Education credits (CMEs). In addition, MHC acts as a clearinghouse and resource center for consumers and healthcare professionals by offering information, resource materials, education and trainings.

PURPOSE:

Tthe Maine State Housing Authority (MaineHousing) was created by the Maine Legislature in 1969 to address the problems of unsafe, unsuitable, overcrowded, and unaffordable housing. MaineHousing's mission is to assist Maine people in obtaining and maintaining quality, affordable housing and services suitable to their housing needs. In carrying out this mission, MaineHousing provides leadership, leverages federal, state, and private resources, and promotes partnerships to develop and implement sound housing policy. MaineHousing's programs, on an annual basis, benefit more than 90,000 Maine households - about one of every six households in the State.

ORGANIZATION:

MaineHousing "is a public body, corporate and politic and an instrumentality of the State." It functions as an administratively independent authority and receives no General Fund appropriations from the Legislature for its operations.

MaineHousing is governed by a board of 10 commissioners, 8 of whom must be appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Legislature upon the recommendation of the Labor and Housing Committee. The Director of MaineHousing, who is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Legislature, serves as an ex officio nonvoting commissioner. The State Treasurer serves as an exofficio voting commissioner. The other 8 commissioners vote.

MaineHousing couples the methods and efficiencies of the private financial markets with the federal tax incentives of tax-exempt bonds to invest in affordable housing for Maine people.

MaineHousing also is a conduit for bringing a wide range of federal and other funding to Maine, including low income housing tax credits, block grants and competitive grants.

MaineHousing is both Maine's finance agency and a public housing authority for those parts of the State without one.

PROGRAM

MaineHousing's programs and services fall into the following general categories:

HOUSING DEVELOPMENT. MaineHousing provides financing and financial incentives for private development of affordable rental housing for families, older Mainers and persons with special needs. This both provides affordable rents and stimulates Maine's economy

HOME BUYING ASSISTANCE. MaineHousing provides low fixed rate mortgages to first time homebuyers and other assistance to help make homeownership affordable for more Maine people.

HOME IMPROVEMENT ASSISTANCE. MaineHousing offers programs to help with home improvement needs, including: grants to abate contaminated well water; low- or no-cost loans to make heating, electrical, or structural repairs and improve home accessibility; grants to make homes lead safe; and loans to fund repair of homes damaged in a declared natural disaster.

HOMEOWNER ASSISTANCE. In 2022 MaineHousing assumed management of the temporary federal Homeowner Assistance Program, to assist Maine homeowners with relief for financial hardships they suffered due to the coronavirus pandemic.

WATER ASSISTANCE. In 2022-23 MaineHousing provided federally-funded assistance to customers of water and wastewater utility districts who had fallen behind on their water or sewer bills.

ASSET MANAGEMENT. MaineHousing oversees the operation of the thousands of rental units that MaineHousing financed or that MaineHousing manages via federal programs, including ensuring the units meet fiscal affordability and safety standards.

RENTAL ASSISTANCE. Properties developed with MaineHousing financing offer more affordable rents to consumers. Rental assistance also is provided in the form of federal Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers.

ENERGY ASSISTANCE. MaineHousing offers fuel assistance using funds from the federal Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP), and home energy improvements such as home weatherization and heating system repair or replacement that make homes

HOMELESS ASSISTANCE. MaineHousing subsidizes emergency shelters and other housing options for people who are homeless. MaineHousing also works with homeless service providers and other organizations toward a shared goal of preventing and eliminating homelessness in Maine.

PURPOSE:

The Midcoast Regional Redevelopment Authority (MRRA), a component unit of the State of Maine, is a municipal corporation created by Maine Revised Statutes, Title 5, section 13083-G, and charged with the responsibility to acquire and manage property at the former Naval Air Station Brunswick (NAS Brunswick) and the Topsham Annex and to facilitate the rapid redevelopment of properties in order to recover from economic and employment loss as result of base closure.

ORGANIZATION:

MRRA is governed by an eleven-member Board of Trustees appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Maine State Senate. Power and duties of the Board are established by statute. NAS Brunswick was a 3,200-acre military enclave within the jurisdictional limits of the Town of Brunswick, in Cumberland County, Maine. Now known as Brunswick Landing, the base was built as a multi-purpose campus that has changed over many years to serve a variety of purposes. It has been an airport since its initial development in the late 1930s, built on the site of the State's first municipal airfield. The Brunswick Executive Airport opened as a general aviation airport on April 2, 2011. In total there are over 200 buildings totaling over 1.75 million square feet on the base; forty of which would be considered significant facilities that will be redeveloped by MRRA. A mixed martial arts (MMA) competition or professional boxing, exhibition or event may not be held in the State prior to the adoption of rules pursuant to this chapter.

The duties of the board consist of registering the event and working with the promoters on approving the fight card. CSAM also registers all fighters and verify that all proper medical clearance has been received, blood work done and an eye exam performed. CSAM monitors weigh-ins to make sure fighters make weight and on fight day we instruct inspectors who oversee the taping of hands, pre-fight medicals, counting of tickets, escorting fighters to post fight exams, and general enforcement of Maine rules regarding MMA and professional boxing. PURPOSE:

The Maine Seed Potato Board was established to foster and improve the seed potato industry of the State of Maine. Its primary responsibilities are to produce, or cause to be produced, through contract or otherwise, sufficient acreages of foundation seed potatoes of various varieties for distribution and sale to Maine potato growers; to work with and through the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Maine in conducting a program of foundation seed potatoes annually; to purchase, own, sell or convey farm real estate and farm equipment as necessary for the purpose of producing seed potatoes; and to make rules and regulations pertaining to its program of production, distribution and sales of seed potatoes. Proceeds from the sale of seed potatoes are credited to the operating account of the board.

ORGANIZATION:

The Maine Seed Potato Board was organized in April 1945. It initially consisted of six members appointed by the Governor from specified areas for terms of three years, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, Conservation and Forestry served as chairman. A number of changes in the board's structure have occurred since then, and the last one occurred in 2009 when the Legislature voted to transfer oversight of the Board from the Department to the Maine Potato Board. The Commissioner now serves as a member and appoints two members to include a representative of the potato industry in a county other than Aroostook County and a person producing potatoes in Aroostook County primarily for processing. The Maine Potato Board appoints six members representing the potato industry in Aroostook County and to include one grower producing primarily tablestock potatoes and another grower producing potatoes primarily for processing. The board is authorized to elect a secretary, who need not be a member of the Board.

PROGRAM:

The Board carries out its mission through the operation of a foundation seed potato production facility known as the Porter Farm in Masardis, Maine. Over 200 different varieties are maintained in a tissue culture bank and approximately 30 varieties of seed potatoes are produced in the fields each year. The facility is equipped with tissue culture production, disease testing laboratories, seed storages with climate control systems, greenhouses and an irrigation system to support the production of nuclear and foundation seed. In 2009, the Board began producing minitubers in a state-of-the-art greenhouse using hydroponics that allowed them to produce high quality minitubers at very competitive prices. It also enabled them to increase the volume of seed at a much faster rate to meet growing demands for new varieties.

The Maine Rural Development Authority (MRDA) was established to provide loans to communities, agencies or businesses for the development of commercial facilities as a lender or investor in the acquisition, development, redevelopment and sale of commercial facilities or on a speculative basis in areas where economic and financial needs are not adequately supported by private investment.

MRDA's purpose is to also assist areas of the State hard hit by the loss of a substantial number of jobs or the loss of a large employer. The authority works with private investors, banks and municipalities to help develop commercial buildings to attract businesses and employers and to redevelop existing properties for commercial or industrial use that would otherwise remain vacant.

ORGANIZATION:

MRDA is a public instrumentality of the State. A Trustee Board, consisting of seven members governs MRDA. The Governor appoints five of the trustees; the CEO of the Finance Authority of Maine (FAME) and the Commissioner of the Department of Economic and Community Development serve as ex officio voting members. The commissioner is chair of the Board. Bylaws were adopted in the fall of 2002. MRDA contracts with FAME for staff and project support.

PROGRAM:

MRDA meets its purpose through three specific programs: the Speculative Industrial Building Program, the Commercial Facilities Development Program, and the Rural Manufacturing and Industrial Site Redevelopment Program. The programs are governed by statute and by rules adopted by the MRDA. In the programs, MRDA acts as a stimulus to private and public investment in these facilities to create more job opportunities in Maine communities.

The Speculative Industrial Facilities Program (Chapter 99-626-01) provides loans to communities to develop commercial or industrial facilities on a speculative basis. This program was developed in 1973, and was housed in the State Development Office, and later the Department of Economic and Community Development before being transferred to the MRDA.

The Commercial Facilities Development Program (Chapter 99-626-02) allows MRDA to serve as the principal, partner, lender or investor to initiate the redevelopment of existing facilities that are suitable for commercial or industrial use for subsequent sale or lease. This program requires at least a 25% match per project, which the MRDA can waive in cases of severe economic distress.

The Rural Manufacturing and Industrial Site Redevelopment Program (Chapter 99-626-03) is intended to provide grants for technical assistance, planning or implementation related to the rehabilitation, revitalization and marketing of manufacturing and industrial sites in rural communities.

DIIDDOGE

The Maine Community College System (MCCS) Board of Trustees was established in 1986, to be the policy making authority of the MCCS. It is charged with developing and adopting policies for the operation of the MCCS, establishing the administrative council, and approving programs and policies recommended by the MCCS president and the administrative council; preparing and adopting a biennial line-category, operating budget; and developing and adopting personnel policies and procedures

ORGANIZATION

The MCCS Board of Trustees consists of 15 members. Twelve are from the fields of business, industry, labor, education, and the general public, and one is a student from one of the community colleges. The Commissioner of the Department of Education and the Commissioner of the Department of Labor serve ex officio.

Public Law 1985, chapter 695, "An Act to Establish the Maine Vocational-Technical Institute System" was signed into law in 1986, setting in motion an evolving reorganization of a statewide network of vocational-technical institutes into today's MCCS. The names of the seven colleges were all changed on July 1, 2003.

The MCCS constitutes a "public instrumentality of the state" but not a "line" state agency included in or attached to a cabinet department; its status vis-a-vis state government is similar to that of the Maine Maritime Academy and the University of Maine System.

Maine law defines the basic mission of the MCCS in the following terms: "To provide associate degree, diploma, and certificate programs directed at the educational, career and technical needs of the State's citizens and the work force needs of the State's employers." The law further defines the primary goals of MCCS as follows: "to create an educated, skilled and adaptable labor force that is responsive to the changing needs of the economy of the State and to promote local, regional and statewide economic development."

PROGRAM:

The MCCS offers more than 300 certificate, advanced certificate and associate degree program options designed to prepare students for careers and/or transfer to four-year colleges and universities. Credentials are awarded in the following program areas: Arts, Humanities, Digital Media and Communication; Business and Hospitality; Computer Science and Information Technology; Education, Human Services, and Social and Behavioral Sciences; Health Sciences; Industrial Technology and Transportation; Public Safety; and Sciences, Engineering and Mathematics. MCCS also offers a wide range of non-credit short-term workforce training.

The MCCS Office, set up by legislation to provide statewide coordination and leadership to the seven colleges, operates in Augusta. The seven-college system consists of Central Maine Community College in Auburn, Eastern Maine Community College in Bangor, Kennebec Valley Community College in Fairfield and Hinckley, Northern Maine Community College in Presque Isle, Southern Maine Community College in South Portland and Brunswick, Washington County Community College in Calais, and York County Community College in Wells. Off-campus centers are located in East Millinocket, Houlton, Damariscotta, and Dover-Foxcroft.

The MCCS operates the Maine Quality Centers, an economic development program established by the Legislature in 1994 that provides new or expanding Maine firms and their employees with grants for customized education and training. The MCCS also operates the Embark program, which provides scholarships and college-transition services for high school students who face barriers to college.

PURPOSE:

The Board of Trustees of the Maine Veterans' Homes was established to plan, build and manage homes for veterans, their spouses and widowers. There are currently six State Veterans Homes with a total of 628 beds.

ORGANIZATION:

The Board of Trustees of the Maine Veterans' Homes was established in 1977 and consists of 13 members appointed by the Governor. The Board elects a Chairman, Vice Chairman, Treasurer, and Secretary from its members. The members of the board serve without pay, but may be reimbursed for expenses.

PROGRAM:

Maine Veteran's Homes (MVH) was established by the Maine Legislature in 1977 as a quasi-state "body corporate" to provide long-term care and support to eligible veterans and family members. Unique to State Veterans Homes across the nation, MVH operates as a nonprofit organization and receives no routine direct state appropriations. MVH operates six facilities in locations that were set statute: Augusta, Caribou, Scarborough, Bangor, South Paris, and Machias. MVH's mission statement is "Caring for Those Who Served". Seventy-five percent of all admissions are reserved for veterans, but other candidates for admission include the spouse of the veteran, widow or widower of such veteran, and Gold Star Parents, in need of nursing home care and residential care.
