POINTED RECEIVERS

Kelleher

PL 1983, c. 454

SUMMARY: Provides a mechanism for continuing the operation of a long-term care facility whose operators have demonstrated an unwillingness or inability to comply with state licensing standards. Long term care facilities include boarding homes and nursing homes. Provides the department with an alternative to the issuance of a conditional license, which requires the operator to make needed corrections, and to the revocation of a facility's license. It is a remedy of last resort before closing the facility.

Authorizes receivership proceedings to be brought by the Commissioner or acting commissioner of Department of Human Services when the welfare of facility residents is in jeopardy. Court hearings must be conducted within 10 days of a petition for receivership. Ex parte proceedings may be held only in the event of an emergency.

The court may appoint any responsible person, other than a state employee, to be the receiver. The receiver is allowed to operate the facility essentially as an owner under court supervision.
