SUMMARY

This bill embodies the recommendations of the Commission to Review the Laws Relating to Registered Maine Guides, a 13 member group that met repeatedly over the interim, to revise the guiding laws. A number of major changes were enacted through this bill including limiting camping trips requiring a guide to those in primitive camping areas and defining those areas as those not having access to a water supply approved by the Department of Human Services.

- * Changing the license period to 3 years;
- * Phasing in a requirement for first aid training;
- * Dropping hunting and fishing privileges from the license;
- * Reducing the license fee in light of the reduced privileges;
- * Exempting camp trip leaders from having to obtain a guide license to lead a camping trip with adults;
- * Requiring certification in watercraft safety for guides carrying clients in boats;
- * Establishing a process for mandatory revocation of guiding licenses for habitual offenders, guides assisting clients in violating fish and wildlife laws, and not reporting a violation by a client within a reasonable time;
- * Making it illegal to knowingly hire an unlicensed guide; and
- * Requiring guides to report violations by their clients as soon as possible.
