SUMMARY

This resolve would have established an advisory committee within the Department of Educational and Cultural Services charged with the responsibility of developing a model curriculum which school administrative units may use to expose students to the economic, political, social and environmental forces shaping the future of Maine.

The committee amendment would have changed the name of the advisory committee created in the original resolve, expanded the membership of the advisory committee, moved the sunset and reporting date from 1993 to 1990 and changed the appropriation section to reflect changes in the resolve.
