LD 15 An Act to Amend the Laws Relating to Licensed Maine Guides
(Reported Pursuant to Resolves of 1987, Chapter 105)

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

SUMMARY

This bill contained the recommendations of the study by the Commission to Review the Laws Relating to Registered Maine Guides which was charged with examining the issues involved with developing a system for licensing outfitters and assistant guides. Although the commission was also charged with examining the issues surrounding licensing or registering outfitters, they felt that at this time there was no need for licensing outfitters.

This bill, as enacted, requires the department to hold guide examinations at regional headquarters when 10 or more applicants reside in that region; and requires the department to approve a curriculum for training Maine guides by March 1, 1990. The curriculum is to be developed by an advisory group consisting of all the interests that are involved in guiding or that may be affected by any recommendations.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

This bill contains minority recommendations of the Special Commission on Boating, created by Resolve 1987, chapter 111.

This bill would have added restrictions on the use of personal watercraft, such as jet skis. Personal watercraft would be permitted only on coastal waters and on great ponds larger than 150 acres in surface area. Personal watercraft would have been banned on any section of water that is less than 3 miles across. An operator would have been required to be at least 16 years old and to have completed hands-on training before operating a personal watercraft. The noise level limits would have been tested at the peak sound emission, which is when the personal watercraft is bouncing over the water. No personal watercraft would have been permitted to operate within 200 feet of any other watercraft, including rafts, as well as any swimmer or the shore, except when the operator is leaving the shore to reach the area at least 200 feet from the shore. Within 200 feet of shore, however, the water safety zone restrictions would have required that the operator operate at no greater than headway speed. An operator could not have allowed the personal watercraft to continue to move if no one is operating it. Personal watercraft could not have been used to tow skiers, rafts, rubber tubes or other similar conveyances.

A violation of this law would have been a Class E crime.
