SUMMARY

This bill requires registration and bonding of credit services organizations, which are defined to include persons who charge a fee to assist consumers to obtain credit for 3rd parties (so-called "arrangers of credit" or "loan brokers"), and persons who charge a fee to improve consumers' credit reports or ratings ("credit clinics" or "credit repair services"). Arrangers of credit have historically been required to register with the Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection, but without any bonding to protect consumers. Credit clinics are not currently required to register or provide a bond.

Committee Amendment "A", in addition to making several minor technical changes to the bill, adds requirements for a written agreement between the consumer and the service provider and adds provisions for a disclosure form notifying consumers of the various protections granted by the bill. Finally, the amendment supplements the "penalties" section of the legislation by granting the consumer an independent right to bring a civil suit against a service provider for actual out-of-pocket losses, plus costs of the action.
