COMMITTEE REPORT
OTP-AM

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED
H-124

SUMMARY

Legislative authority has been given to the Board of Environmental Protection to adopt rules in a number of environmental areas. However, legislative enactment is required for almost all of the rules regarding air quality adopted by the Board of Environmental Protection. Unless enacted by the Legislature, these rules become void 90 days after the adjournment of the next regular session of the Legislature. This additional level of rulemaking is both time-consuming and resource-intensive.

The committee amendment (H-124) clarifies the relationship between the Legislature and the Board of Environmental Protection in establishing both air quality standards and emission standards. It removes the board's authority to adopt air quality standards and replaces it with the authority to recommend to the Legislature any changes in those standards. The amendment also removes the requirement for legislative enactment of emission standards, allowing emission standards approved by the board to remain in effect without legislative approval. Legislative authority is retained for those emission standards that are currently within state law. The requirement for legislative approval is removed from the section empowering the board to adopt emission standards for hazardous air pollutants.
