AMENDMENTS ADOPTED

H-191

SUMMARY

This bill, as amended (H-191), changes the classifications of surface waters in the Androscoggin and Kennebec River basins. The amended version places a January 1, 1992 repeal date on certain language in the classification of the Gulf Island Pond stretch of the Androscoggin River. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency was concerned that this language could be read to undercut the regulatory impact of the Class C status of this stretch. Most of the changes resulted in upgrading of the current classification. Two stretches were downgraded from "B" to "C" where the Legislature's previous reclassification in 1986 had been based on the old "B-2" classification. The dissolved oxygen parameters of the old "B-2" class were more comparable to the current Class C parameters. Primarily because of agricultural and other nonpoint discharges and flow conditions the two stretches in question, the Sabattus River and the Sebasticook River mainstem, are not expected to attain full Class B status.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTEDSUMMARY

This bill proposed to convey title to 2 properties owned by the Bureau of Parks and Recreation to a municipality and a county. It was argued that the use and operation of each property could be better managed locally. The Committee was not comfortable conveying title of state land and suggested leasing the Lincolnville site to the municipality. The selectman asked to bring this issue to town meeting, the timing of which necessitated not passing the bill. The parcel on the Penobscot also was considered too valuable to convey.
